Dear Public Guardian,

I am writing urgently because my usual $150 payment has not been deposited, and I am now in a position where, after my essential bills and debits, I do not have sufficient funds to buy enough food for myself or adequately provide for my dog.

I understand that there may be administrative, budgeting or policy considerations governing payments from my managed funds. However, I ask that these considerations not result in a situation where I am literally left without sufficient money for food when I understand that more than $1,000 is currently available in my account.

Please urgently confirm:

1. Why my usual $150 payment has not arrived;
2. Whether the payment has been withheld, delayed or otherwise stopped;
3. If it has been withheld, the precise reason for that decision;
4. Whether someone has determined that the money must be retained for future bills or another purpose; and
5. What immediate assistance can be provided so that I can obtain food now.

I particularly ask that this not be justified simply on the basis that funds must be preserved for future expenses or that a particular expenditure is considered "not affordable", while simultaneously leaving me without sufficient funds to meet an immediate and basic necessity such as food.

I have already experienced significant financial detriment and have raised concerns about expenses and debits that I believe should have been reimbursed or otherwise addressed. I do not want those unresolved matters to compound the immediate problem by leaving me without enough money to eat.

I am asking you to distinguish between prudent financial management and deprivation of basic necessities. Saving money for future liabilities cannot reasonably be treated as the only consideration if the consequence is that I am unable to meet my immediate food needs.

I also have responsibility for my dog, whose welfare is dependent upon my ability to obtain adequate food and care. I therefore ask that his immediate needs also be taken into account.

I have spent many years documenting what I believe has been a pattern of financial and institutional detriment. I do not ask you to accept my interpretation of those events as established fact, but I do ask that the present circumstances be dealt with objectively and without allowing previous disputes or administrative assumptions to determine whether I have access to basic necessities today.

If there is a legitimate administrative reason for the missing payment, please tell me clearly and immediately rather than leaving me to discover the reason after I have been left without sufficient money for food.

I also want to make clear that I do not wish to respond to this situation with retaliation or personal malice. I leave questions of malice, revenge and ultimate accountability to God. My immediate request is much simpler: please do not allow me to literally go without food when funds are available and the usual payment has apparently not been made.

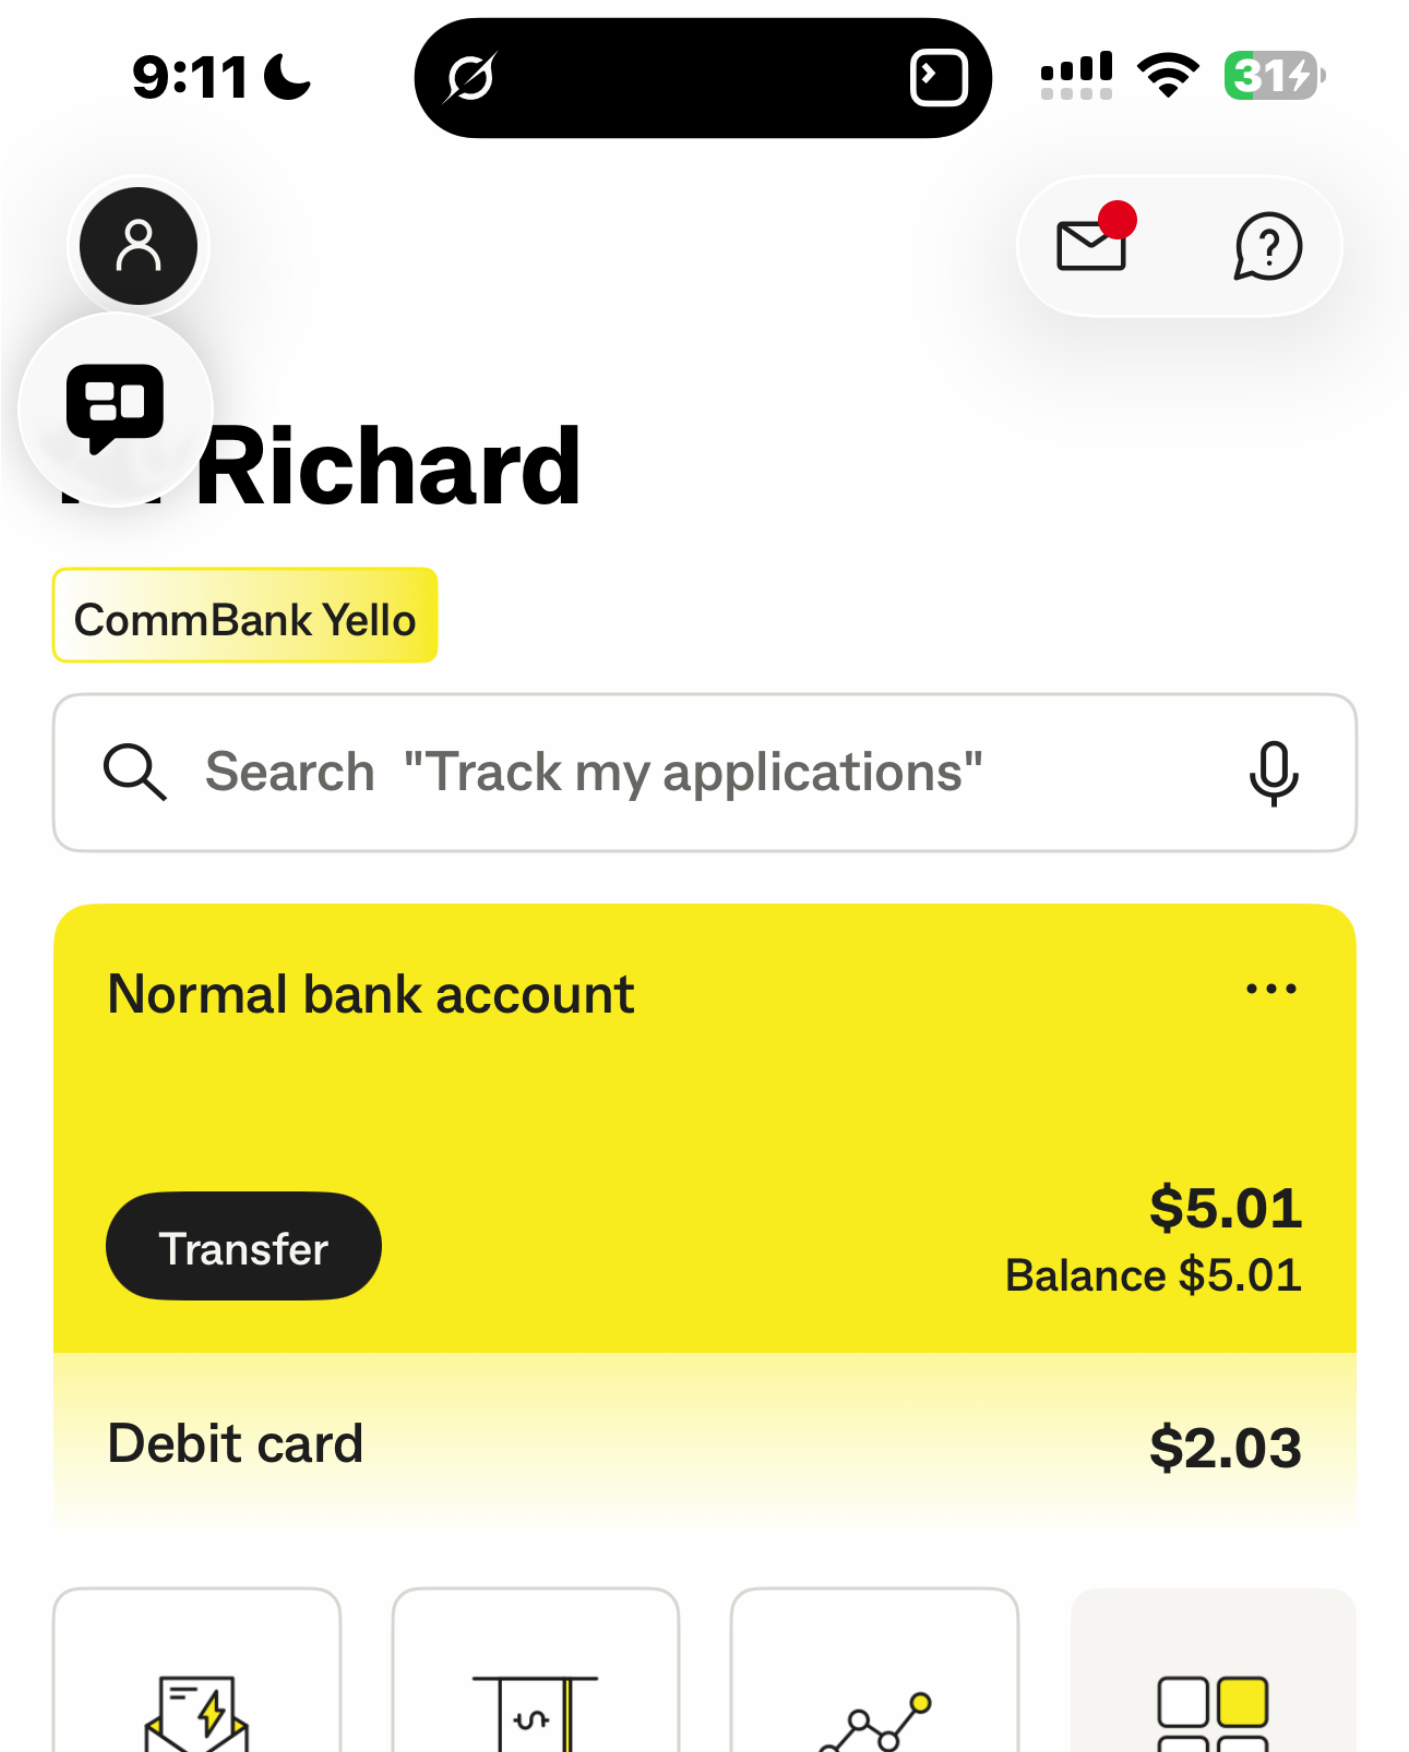

Please treat this as urgent and arrange the $150 payment, or provide an immediate alternative food-support payment, if there is no lawful or necessary reason preventing it.

I would appreciate a written response as soon as possible confirming what has happened and what will be done.

I have requested food from able point staff who are church goers and was ignored.

Yours sincerely,

Dr Richard William McLean

PUBLIC STATEMENT FROM BARRAN DODGER OF THE BARRAN DODGER ARCHIVE

THE WITNESS REMAINS: A WHISTLEBLOWERS TESTIMONY OF SURVIVAL TESTIMONY & FAITH

The Barran Dodger Archive is a public documentary and spiritual record established to preserve, organise and make accessible a decades-long body of evidence concerning alleged institutional, administrative, financial and human-rights harms.

It brings together official records, correspondence, documentary evidence, personal testimony, forensic analysis, research, philosophy, spiritual gospels and prophetic declarations, including writings understood by the author to have been anointed by the Most High God.

The Archive deliberately distinguishes between documented facts, official records, corroborated evidence, allegations, personal testimony, inference, interpretation and matters of faith. This distinction is fundamental to its purpose: readers are invited to examine the underlying evidence for themselves, test the claims, consider the sources and reach their own conclusions.

At the heart of the Archive is a testimony of survival and preservation.

What the author believes was subjected to attempts at silencing, erasure, exclusion or institutional disappearance has nevertheless survived in records, documents, testimony, memory, faith and public disclosure.

The central declaration is simple:

THE WITNESS REMAINS.

The Archive therefore represents both an evidentiary record and a spiritual testimony. The author understands his survival through a faith-based conviction that the Most High God protected, preserved and gave purpose to what human institutions could not erase.

The spiritual writings and prophetic declarations within the Archive are presented as matters of faith and personal interpretation. They are preserved alongside the documentary record so that the complete testimony — evidentiary, personal, philosophical and spiritual — can be understood in its own context.

The purpose is not to demand belief.

It is to preserve the record.

It is to make the evidence accessible.

It is to ensure that the surviving witness can be examined.

And it is to leave the historical record open to independent scrutiny.

THE ARCHIVE IS 100% FREE TO ACCESS

KNOWLEDGE IS FREE

The Barran Dodger Archive is founded on the principle that knowledge, evidence and truth should be freely accessible.

There is no paywall for the public documentary record. Research, testimony, philosophy, spiritual writings, prophetic declarations and public-interest material are made available for people to examine for themselves.

Access to knowledge should not depend upon a person's ability to pay.

The Archive is therefore freely accessible, while its preservation and continued publication require practical resources.

SUPPORTING THE WITNESS AND THE ARCHIVE

Barran Dodger describes himself as an unprotected whistleblower living in circumstances of prolonged exile, financial hardship and vulnerability, and as an internally displaced asylum seeker within the country of his Australian citizenship.

Those circumstances create practical needs extending beyond the preservation of documents.

Voluntary donations are therefore accepted from anyone who freely wishes to assist.

Support may contribute towards essential needs including food, safe accommodation, communication, technology, transport, personal safety, website and domain costs, document preservation, archival infrastructure and the continued publication of the public record.

A donation does not purchase access to the Archive.

It does not purchase influence over the evidence.

It does not purchase editorial control.

It does not determine what is published or what conclusions readers should reach.

It simply helps sustain the person and infrastructure necessary to keep the Archive alive, functioning and freely accessible.

If you are blessed with sufficient prosperity to help preserve this work, your voluntary support can help ensure that financial hardship does not become another mechanism through which a public record disappears.

KNOWLEDGE IS FREE.

THE EVIDENCE IS OPEN TO EXAMINATION.

Thank you to everyone who chooses to examine the evidence, preserve the record, support the Archive or simply bear witness.

The record remains.

The witness remains.

LASTLY — A SECOND PUBLIC-FACING ARCHIVE

For readers who wish to go beyond the principal Barran Dodger Archive, a second public-facing repository provides another point of access to the broader documentary record.

<https://barrandodger.com>

This website provides an additional gateway into the history, evidence, testimony, research and ideas that underpin the Archive. It is intended to help readers navigate the wider body of material and understand how individual documents, events, experiences and arguments have been brought together into a continuing record.

Its significance is not dependent upon the reader accepting Barran Dodger's conclusions. Rather, the value of preserving such a record lies in allowing the underlying material to remain available for examination. Readers can consider the chronology, inspect the documentary evidence, distinguish recorded facts from allegations and personal testimony, follow referenced material and form their own independent assessment.

The existence of multiple public repositories also reflects the central purpose of the project: preservation. Where records are distributed across years, institutions, correspondence, proceedings, personal archives and digital platforms, preserving accessible copies and pathways to the evidence can help prevent an individual historical record from becoming inaccessible or forgotten.

Readers are therefore invited to visit both public-facing archives, examine the material carefully and critically, and make their own assessment of what the surviving evidence demonstrates.

The purpose is not to ask the reader to believe.

The purpose is to ensure that the record remains available to be examined.
