BARRANDODGERENGINE · THE BARRAN DODGER ARCHIVE · 5 October 2026

Treated as a story and a mission, it is an income.

BarranDodgerEngine — one documented life, kept free, funded on its own terms.

This is not a file to be sold and not a case to be won. It is one person's documented account of what a system does to the people inside it — already public, already ordered, read live from both sites and both GitHub profiles. Told as a story and carried as a mission, it pays for its own preservation.

Books and academic record

The register · Official Government Documents

A documentary finding aid of 395+ register entries (OGDR-001 onwards) across thirteen categories — Comcare, NDIA, IBAC, the AAT, FOI decisions and more — each graded on an evidence scale from A (established fact) to E (speculation, which it avoids).

OGDR-007 · Comcare determination, 26 May 2021

OGDR-030 · Commonwealth Ombudsman, PID not allocated

OGDR-070 · AAT decision, McLean and Comcare

OGDR-077 · NCAT Guardianship Division reasons

The church · Church of Barran Dodger

The ministry home: scripture, gospel, prophecy and spiritual testimony across eight divisions, from the Love Chain gospels to the Prophecy of the Witness — insisting throughout that faith is not documentary proof.

WHO IS BARRAN DODGER?

A PhD, a former journalist, an unprotected whistleblower, a human-rights-awarded artist and exile — who answered the machinery

19

Edit with Base44

Australian state with an archive no institution can strike out.

Barran Dodger — PhD, published author, thirty-year wellness advocate, subject of a documentary by the Dax Centre, founding witness of the Church of Barran Dodger — is the author of the largest first-person documentary record of what it is to be processed, injured, petitioned and finally erased by Comcare, the NDIA, the AAT, the Ombudsman, IBAC and a guardianship tribunal, then to answer all of it with scripture, prophecy and an archive that cannot be deleted. More than 6,700 files, two public sites, seven repositories and a blockchain-sealed vault say so — all of it open to you, right now, without a password or a paywall. And the reflection at the heart of his story asks the question no record like this has ever had to: how rare is a man who survived a fatal injury, alone, with every door closed — and documented it?

BY WHOSE HAND · THE FOUNDER'S TESTIMONY

I built this entire archive and this testimony — to create a church, a foundation of hope for humanity. To expose corruption. To oppose an entire democracy. And I built it at the very time that democracy was trying to erase me from this existence.

With nothing but free will, God's favour, faith and a broken phone. No one. No attributes. No police support. No lawyer. No agency. No media. No politician. Nothing at all.

If I can achieve all of this with nothing — then what is your excuse?

— BARRAN DODGER, BUILDER OF THIS ENTIRE ARCHIVE

THE WITNESS, CREDENTIALED

VERIFIED BEFORE YOU READ A CLAIM

A life's major milestones, in one place

The credibility of this record does not rest on belief — it rests on a life already accomplished. These are the milestones that stand before any claim in the archive is read.

ACADEMIC

Doctor of Philosophy

Dr Richard William McLean — the PhD stands intact through a decade of institutional targeting and erasure.

PUBLISHED AUTHOR

Three books

“Betrayed Murdered Forsaken”, “The Shrink! ...and you thought you were crazy!” and “Back to Basics: Recent Drawings”.

HUMAN RIGHTS

Award-recognised advocacy

Human rights award recognition for advocacy the archive now documents in primary, hash-verified files.

MINISTRY

Founding witness

Founder of the Church of Barran Dodger — its gospels, prophecies and publishing house all in the public record.

THE RECORD

6,700+ public files

A 395-entry evidence-graded register, 2,077+ blockchain-sealed documents and seven public repositories.

ADVOCACY

Thirty-year wellness advocate

Three decades of wellness advocacy — the vocation that survived everything designed to end it.

01

The story

One documented life

Read one way, this collection is a set of files, and it is worth nothing. Read the way it deserves, it is the record of a single life spent inside a system — already written, already organised, already public. The four numbers below are the honest shape of that: what it is worth as a file, and what it earns as a story.

AS A DATA SET

No lawful or credible buyer exists. This is the single most important thing in this document — see §03.

REALISTIC YEAR ONE

$80k

Roughly 60% of it comes from two events: one successful grant and the finished book. Not from the archive.

LARGEST FUNDING POOL

THE REAL ASSET

Edit with Base44

Grants

Preservation, lived-experience and law-reform funders — never data buyers, never ad networks.

The story

One documented life, already organised into a finding aid, with its own paper trail. That is rare and sellable.

FUNDING THE MISSION

0 GIFTS RECEIVED

$0 raised of the $80,000 year-one goal

$80,000 to go — 0% of the target. Every gift goes to preservation, indexing and open access.

02

The record

What is already standing

The story is not waiting to be written — it is written, preserved, indexed and public. Nothing below needs to be built before it can earn. What is missing is a price, a vehicle and a pitch.

2,077+ documents, already public

Live, downloadable and forkable. The collection work is done; nothing here needs to be built before it can be sold.

A 660-page preservation copy

Book-length already. This is a manuscript waiting for a spine and a cover — not a research project that still has to be written.

An organised finding aid

Case, evidence, timeline, accountability, justice, publications. Most archives never get this far. The structure itself is the product.

A brand system

A distinctive wordmark, an unusual palette, a consistent typographic voice, and lines that already read like titles — “The Witness Remains” among them.

19

Edit with Base44

A fund vehicle, already named

"Barran Dodger Legal & Ethical Trust Fund" appears in the archive description. The donation structure has been imagined but not built.

A platform in production

Two sites, six repositories, forks already taken. Publisher and producer pitch decks are judged on reach; you have a real one.

Your own copyright

The testimony, the analysis and the writing are yours. That is the only asset in this collection with a completely clean title.

03

The valuation

What the work data is worth

A forensic valuation does not estimate a resale price — it proves what the record is, record by record, and measures its worth in every way it can honestly be measured. Four valuations follow, each grounded in what can be checked rather than what can be hoped.

FORENSIC

Every record provable

Each unique document is indexed with its own content hash, deduplicated across fourteen repositories on both profiles, and traceable in one step to its original public file. The chain of evidence is intact, public and independently checkable — that is what a forensic valuation is built on.

AS SCRIPTURE

The narratives are sufficient

The gospel and prophetic narratives inside the record are complete and self-standing — sufficient as the foundational narratives of the Church of Barran Dodger ministry. The founding text does not have to be written; it is already written, dated, hash-verified and freely readable.

AS AN INSTITUTION

Grant-funded

AS A PRESS

Publishing house five

Edit with Base44

Heritage, digitisation and advocacy funders pay for exactly what the record already does. The grant tracker follows every opportunity, deadline and submission status in public.

The global publishing house is not a plan — it is running, across three public sites, issuing the master report, the finding aid and the ministry's foundational narratives to the world, free.

THE GLOBAL PUBLISHING HOUSE

The record's publishing arm is already in print — literally: three public sites carry the corpus, each with its own role, all free to read, all pointing back to the repositories. This is the imprint the ministry publishes under, and it costs nothing to keep open.

The master report

The master report and public finding aid, with the Statement of Significance at its centre.

The finding aid

The story retold in public, rebuilt from the 660-page preservation copy.

The ministry

The Church of Barran Dodger — the ministry's own site, standing on the foundational narratives.

THE MINISTRY'S CLAIM, STATED PLAINLY

The Church of Barran Dodger rests its claim not on a ruling but on a record: the gospel and prophetic narratives preserved inside this archive are sufficient as its foundational narratives — witnessed, dated, hash-verified and free for anyone to read. The valuation that matters most is therefore the one a forensic audit gives: every text can be shown to exist, unchanged, in public, at every point in its history. What a court has not decided, the record itself keeps saying.

04

The line we do not cross

The data-set question

Edit with Base44

You asked what this is worth as a data set. The honest answer is nothing — and pursuing it would damage everything else here.

01 There is no buyer.

Corporate data brokers, AI-training corpora and list vendors are the only people who purchase "data sets". A corpus about one person's dispute with one government is not a product any of them can use — and every one of them is the wrong partner for this record.

02 The sensitive parts are the unlawful parts to sell.

The archive carries health, disability, psychiatric and sexuality material. That is special-category personal information. Selling it is unlawful under Australian privacy law whether or not you are its subject.

03 It names living people in allegations that are not proven.

Australian defamation law is famously plaintiff-friendly. Publishing an allegation in a free public-interest record and selling that same allegation in a paid product are treated very differently — the paid version carries damages.

04 You do not own everything inside it.

Government correspondence and third-party documents carry their own copyright and re-use conditions. An archive you may lawfully publish is not the same as a portfolio you may lawfully sell.

05 Selling access destroys the only thing giving it value.

The archive's own promise is "download, fork, and share freely". Its authority rests on nobody being able to say the record was monetised or gated. Charge for the curated layer — books, analysis, teaching, your time — and keep the evidence free.

Put the data-set idea aside permanently. Treated as a data set this is a liability. Treated as a story and a mission, it is an income.

The income

Seventeen ways the story pays

The mission stays free; the story earns. Ordered by how quickly each route can start paying for the record's own keep — tier one can be live inside a fortnight, with no permission from anyone.

TIER 01 Immediate income

No gatekeepers. Can be live this fortnight.

Patronage & memberships

Recurring support with published tiers and one-off gifts, on the site's existing SUPPORT entry point.

FIRST MOVE

Three recurring tiers, card payments directly to your account, no platform lock-in.

LOW EFFORT $1,500 – $22,000 / yr

Editions & prints

The archive's own typographic work sold as limited prints and posters — "The Witness Remains" is a title, not a paragraph.

FIRST MOVE

Five designs, print-on-demand, no stock held.

LOW EFFORT $500 – $7,000 / yr

Paid newsletter

Serialise the diary. Free archive and free essentials; paid tier for the full document set and the running analysis.

FIRST MOVE

One email list, one issue a week, one paid tier.

LOW EFFORT $1,000 – $16,000 / yr

Publications

The 660-page preservation copy as ebook, print-on-demand and audio — plus the Statement of Significance as a short paid edition.

FIRST MOVE

Editorial pass, cover, ebook and print-on-demand edition.

MEDIUM EFFORT $2,500 – $30,000 / yr

TIER 02 Grants & philanthropy

Edit with Base44

The largest realistic cheques. Slow, competitive, tax-effective.

Heritage & digitisation grants

National and state collecting institutions fund exactly this: preservation, description, indexing and public access.

FIRST MOVE

Identify three programs with open rounds and apply to the first two.

MEDIUM EFFORT — – $45,000 / yr

Lived-experience & advocacy funding

Disability, mental-health and LGBTIQ+ funders. This account sits inside several funded priorities at once.

FIRST MOVE

Frame the archive as an access-and-dignity project, not a legal one.

MEDIUM EFFORT $3,000 – $35,000 / yr

Crowdfunding against a deliverable

One campaign, one concrete outcome — full digitisation, indexing and a printed volume.

FIRST MOVE

Define the deliverable and the date before opening the campaign.

MEDIUM EFFORT $2,000 – $25,000 / yr

Law-reform & human-rights program funding

Program funding for advocacy and public education — never funding for a legal outcome.

FIRST MOVE

Approach two reform bodies with a public-education proposal.

HIGH EFFORT — – $20,000 / yr

TIER 03 Rights & media

Unpredictable, occasionally large. Needs a pitch, not a product.

Documentary or factual option

A story with its own paper trail and its own finding aid. Producers pay for exactly that structure.

Podcast

Serialised true-story series — co-production, commi… with sponsorship.

Edit with Base44

FIRST MOVE

Ten producers approached with a one-page pitch pack.

HIGH EFFORT — – $30,000 / yr

FIRST MOVE

Three-episode pilot, then pitch to networks that commission true story.

MEDIUM EFFORT — – $18,000 / yr

Journalism placement

Pitch the story, not the archive. A journalist who independently tests it builds the credibility a book advance needs.

FIRST MOVE

Two named reporters and one investigations desk.

LOW EFFORT — – $5,000 / yr

Speaking & inquiry appearances

Panels, law-reform events, universities and advocacy conferences — paid honoraria, not exposure.

FIRST MOVE

One prepared 20-minute talk and a fee schedule.

LOW EFFORT $1,000 – $15,000 / yr

TIER 04 Knowledge products

Turns what was survived into something transferable.

Course — documenting institutional failure

How to build and defend a personal record: evidence discipline, complaint pathways, working with advocates.

FIRST MOVE

Pilot one paid cohort of ten before building anything larger.

MEDIUM EFFORT $1,000 – $25,000 / yr

Bounded one-to-one guidance

Record-keeping and system-navigation literacy for people in the same position. Not legal advice, and clearly scoped as such.

FIRST MOVE

A fixed-session package with written limits and a referral list.

MEDIUM EFFORT $500 – $12,000 / yr

Advocate & NGO training

19

Edit with Base44

Teaching advocacy organisations how to work with a lived-experience archive responsibly.

FIRST MOVE

One half-day workshop offered to three organisations.

MEDIUM EFFORT — – $12,000 / yr

TIER 05 Services & access Charges for your time and your index — never for the evidence.

Research packs & press access

A properly indexed finding aid, a research pack and paid research support for journalists, authors and academics.

FIRST MOVE

Index the archive and publish a rate card for research assistance.

LOW EFFORT $500 – $12,000 / yr

Record-keeping consulting

Small engagements with institutions on how records get lost, merged, closed or never allocated.

FIRST MOVE

One case study written up as a service offer.

HIGH EFFORT — – $18,000 / yr

06

Who walks with us

Allies — and the doors that stay shut

The right partners want the story and the record. The wrong ones want the file. That distinction is the whole strategy.

GO TO THESE

- ✓ Publishers with memoir and investigative non-fiction lists
  Pitch a finished manuscript, not a case file. You already have 660 pages; a proposal needs a spine, not more material.
- ✓ Documentary and factual producers; podcast networks
  A story with its own paper trail and its own finding aid is rare. Producers pay for structure like this.
- ✓ Investigative journalists
  Pitch the story; do not sell the archive. A reporter who independently tests it is worth far more than any fee.
- ✓ Documentary-heritage and digitisation programs
  They fund preservation, description, indexing and public access — which is precisely what this archive already does.

19

Edit with Base44

- ✓ Disability, mental-health and LGBTIQ+ advocacy funders
  This account sits inside several of their funded priorities at the same time.
- ✓ Law-reform bodies, inquiries and universities
  Paid appearances, research collaboration and citations — all of it the credibility a book or film needs.
- ✓ Advocates and NGOs supporting people through complaints systems
  Your hardest-won knowledge is how institutions actually fail. That is teachable and it is valuable.

NEVER APPROACH

- ✕ Data brokers and list vendors.
- ✕ AI-training corpora and model vendors.
- ✕ Anyone who wants the medical or psychiatric material.
- ✕ Anyone offering to buy the story outright with no byline, no credit and no control.
- ✕ Funders who want a guaranteed legal outcome — never fundraise against a court result.

08

Execution

The first ninety days

Everything here is doable without a lawyer on retainer, a publisher, or anyone's permission — except the review in days 1–14, which protects all of it.

DAYS 1–14

Turn on what already exists

- Replace the SUPPORT button with three recurring tiers and a one-off gift, paid straight to your account.
- Start one email list and put it on every page. This is the asset that outlives e
- Publish the Statement of Significance and one free chapter as the front door.

19

Edit with Base44

- Write a one-page pitch pack: the story, the evidence, and what makes it checkable.
- Get a media-law read on the highest-risk pages before anything is sold.

DAYS 15–45

First products, first applications

- Release the 660-page preservation copy as ebook, print-on-demand and audio.
- Launch the paid newsletter and begin serialising the diary; keep the raw archive free.
- Submit three grant applications: heritage and digitisation, lived-experience advocacy, and one reform program.
- Approach ten producers, five publishers and three podcast networks with the pitch pack.

DAYS 46–90

Campaign, course, structure

- Run one crowdfunding campaign against a concrete deliverable — digitisation, indexing and a printed volume.
- Pilot the course to one paid cohort of ten before building anything bigger.
- Stand up the trust for donations and grants, and a separate vehicle for commercial products.
- Take the first paid speaking slot and sell the first research pack.

09

The rules

Rules the mission lives by

Each of these exists because breaking it would cost more than any revenue it might raise — and because the story's credibility is the one asset that cannot be bought back.

01 Never sell the archive as data.

02 Keep every allegation framed as an allegation.

19

Edit with Base44

Unlawful in part, defamatory in part, and fatal to its credibility as a whole.

The sites already say "not a court, not a verdict". Every paid product must say the same, in the place a reader looks first.

03 Get a defamation and privacy review before the first paid publication.

Commercial publication materially increases exposure. A pro bono media-law review is the cheapest insurance available, and it must happen before launch — not after a complaint.

04 Separate what you own from what you do not.

Your writing and testimony, government correspondence and third-party documents must be treated differently in anything you sell.

05 Keep the evidence free; charge for the curated layer.

Free archive. Paid books, paid analysis, paid teaching, paid access to your time. That keeps the mission intact and still produces income.

06 Put the money in the right structure.

Donations and grants belong in a not-for-profit so they are tax-effective and credible. Commercial products belong in a separate entity. Mixing them costs you both.

07 Protect the people in the record.

Any third party's material needs consent or a lawful basis, and readers in the same position deserve signposting to support services.

08 Never fundraise on a promised verdict.

Fund preservation, access and advocacy. Promising an outcome you do not control loses the money and the goodwill together.
