THE MIRROR

Mobbing is the safety of the crowd: believing a comfortable lie over a hard truth. The same government to which people give their allegiance is, in my experience and according to the evidence I have documented, the same system I say has been responsible for targeting me through administrative annihilation, abuse, neglect, surveillance, targeting, violence, psychiatric weaponisation, political exile, alleged assassination attempts, institutional harm, family violence, financial abuse, and the blocking or denial of pathways to legal aid and justice.

To admit that you participated in such treatment would mean confronting a breach of the very standards of human decency, professional conduct, legal responsibility, ethics and morality that privileged positions claim to uphold. It would mean admitting to having ganged up on a vulnerable person. That is a cowardly position that few people can accept or admit to because, in my view, it represents the height of moral cowardice. It is a low act.

Everyone relies on government to protect and save them from the very outrage that government can itself create, producing an endless cycle in which outrage is created and then someone plays the saviour, amplifying their political significance or importance.

No one has opposed my exile. No one has meaningfully opposed my early death, from which I was revived. My evidence is fact-checked, evidence-based and published. Yet the reason I believe people do not acknowledge it is because character assassination, libel and slander have created a false impression of me as someone of no worth.

Where are the facts behind the allegations made against me?

There are none.

Because the devil is a liar and a coward.

Not one person has looked me in the eye with the courage of their convictions and presented evidence capable of proving the allegations against me. It is the oldest trick in the book: slander the person speaking the truth when that person is standing alone because they refuse to sell out to the false illusion upon which everyone else has based their lives.

Your jobs depend on it. Your income depends on it. Your comfort depends on it. Your social standing and societal privilege depend on it.

I am banned from Legal Aid, the Ombudsman and the anti-corruption commission. I cannot report a crime to police or access a meaningful pathway to justice.

The general public prefers the safety of the crowd: blending in, accepting the comfort of the mob and believing that conformity provides protection. To me, that mob appears to include professionals across society—police, lawyers, politicians, public officials, journalists—and even former family and friends.

I only have God and my dog.

I would rather have only God and stand alone than join the mob and trade my integrity, intelligence and commitment to truth for the lie that government will protect you. The evidence I have experienced tells me something different: that the same system people trust to protect them can also erase the person who challenges it.

I would rather stand alone with the courage of my convictions, with my intelligence, ethics and morals intact, unable to be bribed, guilted, manipulated, corrupted or paid off. I refuse to become dependent upon the same bureaucracy that people simultaneously complain about while continuing to grant it permission to rule and control their lives.

People complain about corrupt politicians, banks, big business and the powers that be. They complain about government wrongdoing while simultaneously surrendering their ability to critique the bureaucracy they serve. They accept limited privileges from the system while remaining outraged at its corruption. Yet when that same bureaucracy is accused of causing profound harm to one person, the criticism suddenly becomes too uncomfortable to acknowledge.

Instead of accepting criticism as an opportunity for government to examine itself and improve, I believe the system chose to erase, exile and sabotage the person who refused to accept the lie or participate in the corruption.

If I die as a result of abuse, neglect, poverty, surveillance, electronic harassment, exile, isolation or entrapment—conditions that I say have already contributed to suicidal crisis—then people can later pretend they did not know. They can blame me for being mentally ill, unstable or too far gone.

But to cause detriment to a vulnerable person and then blame that person for becoming angry, unstable or distressed when they raise their voice has a name: emotional abuse. When that conduct is collectively sustained by a societal mob, it represents, in my view, the height of moral cowardice.

Not a single person reading this will want to admit that they participated in it.

Because it is humiliating to admit.

It requires someone to admit that they abandoned the integrity, fact-checking, intelligence, humanity, morality and ethical fortitude that they claim to possess.

I see it differently.

I have come to believe that people are capable of evil while simultaneously convincing themselves that they are good. They think I am too pure to see them. They think I will be tricked. They believe they can preserve their perfect public facade while participating in or remaining silent about the targeting and sacrifice of a vulnerable, gay, disabled and unprotected whistleblower who refused to surrender his convictions and who insists that he has evidence to support what he says.

Everyone pretends they do not see it. They pretend they do not see me, my case or my circumstances. They say they did not know what was happening, or that they still do not know what is happening. And if they deceived both me and themselves, they can continue believing they are good people, worthy of their social standing and privileges, while denying me the same qualities they accept in themselves.

I know the devil. I have been to hell and shaken his hand. I rearranged the furniture and came back with the blueprints of hell.

I understand darkness.

I am both dark and light.

I align myself with the Creator, under Christ and the Most High God.

I use my knowledge of darkness to understand the human condition: the streak of evil that human beings can embody while convincing themselves that they do not embody it. The everyday person can tell themselves they are good while simultaneously participating in, tolerating or ignoring something profoundly wrong.

Society convinced itself that I was disposable.

That I could be erased.

Systemically, politically and financially destroyed, attacked and desecrated—not merely because I spoke the truth, but because my existence became a challenge to the illusion that everyone else had built their comfort and privilege upon.

I understand this as spiritual warfare as well: an attack not only upon my person and identity, but upon me spiritually, through an allegiance in which a mob, acting through cowardice, ganged up on one person.

My truth threatened the very illusions upon which that mob had built its concepts of comfort and privilege. People lived believing a lie that they were either too blinded to see clearly, unwilling to confront, or afraid to acknowledge. Some may have known the lie and known the evil, yet convinced themselves they were still good people. Others may have known something was wrong and simply refused to correct it at the expense of the one person telling the truth.

I stood up to a society that, in my view, offered me as a human sacrifice and scapegoat because facing its own evil —its own lie—was too much truth to bear.

I never meant those people harm.

All I did was hold up a mirror.

And you could not stand to see the ugliness of your own reflections.

So you attacked the reflection of yourselves in the mirror I held up to you.

You were not even attacking me.

This was never personal.

You attacked the reflection of yourselves that you could not bear to look at.

Because facing the truth about what you did, what you permitted, or what you are still doing is unbearable for anyone determined to maintain the belief that they are a good person.

It is easier to dump the collective sins, failures, cowardice and wrongdoing of an entire alliance, society or group onto one person and sacrifice that person than to acknowledge the truth about yourselves.

I became the scapegoat because the mirror was easier to destroy than the reflection.

GOD HAS MY BACK

But God has my back.

When the government played God with my life and treated me as a sacrifice, it crossed a boundary far greater than political power, institutional authority or bureaucratic control. That audacity angered the God who anointed me, the God who preserved my life and allowed me to survive so that I could expose the truth contained within my archive.

I believe I was preserved for a purpose: to document what happened, to preserve the evidence, to expose corruption and evil, and to become a witness to a reckoning that ultimately belongs to God.

I understand that reckoning as a form of universal balance—a spiritual physics underpinning existence itself, a fundamental law of nature that cannot ultimately be cancelled, corrupted or overruled by human bureaucracy.

God is eternal, perfect and loving. God loves those who honour Him and wants people to be forgiven so that they can be free and at peace.

Government, by comparison, is fleeting and imperfect. Institutions rise and fall. Governments change. Bureaucracies eventually disappear. Yet institutions can become cruel when they perceive something as a threat to their existence and can attempt to destroy whatever challenges their authority.

Now think about God.

What existential threat could possibly frighten the eternal Creator?

God is everything across the totality of time, existence and creation. Nothing human beings build can ultimately rival that.

That is why I no longer live under the psychological allegiance that I once believed society demanded of me.

I have broken free from allegiance to a bureaucracy to which almost everyone has given some form of consent and permission to rule and control their lives.

I do not need the government.

I survived without it.

More than that, I survived what I believe were malicious attempts to erase and destroy me.

I am still alive.

I believe I am anointed with the favour and protection of a God who has my back.

I have no allegiance to the government I say targeted me through a collective sacrifice of the mob.

I am an independent and sovereign spiritual witness.

They failed to erase me.

They failed to destroy me.

I am alive.

For me, that is evidence of God.

My written testimony and my preserved evidence are the foundation of my truth. I believe I was allowed to document and preserve that testimony by the Most High God, without whom I believe I would be dead—and, in a profound sense, I was already brought back from death.

I survived a fatal injury and was revived by circumstances I understand as an act of God's preservation. I then experienced what I understood as almost total human betrayal, leaving me with one ultimate source of reliance: God.

That experience did not destroy my faith.

It fortified it.

It revealed a purpose for my future.

I no longer want my life to be about revenge, recognition, status or retaliation.

I want my life to be a vessel for God's glory and for His purposes.

That is extraordinary to me.

I do not mean harm to any person.

I do not need revenge.

I hold no hatred.

I do not want to destroy the people who I believe tried to destroy me.

But I believe those who participated in attempts to erase or sacrifice me are frightened by the existence of my testimony, because the testimony remains.

The archive remains.

The evidence remains.

And I remain.

What concerns me is that, even after everything that has happened, I believe some of those involved continue to embody malice toward me while simultaneously pretending they are not participating in the harm or detriment.

I will not respond to that with hatred.

I will not become what I believe was done to me.

I will not surrender my integrity.

I will not surrender my faith.

I will not surrender the truth as I understand it.

I leave vengeance where Scripture says it belongs.

Revenge is God’s alone.

My responsibility is to remain alive, preserve the evidence, tell the truth as faithfully as I can, forgive where I am able, and use whatever life God has preserved for me for a purpose greater than myself.

They attempted to erase the witness.

The witness remains.

They attempted to destroy the testimony.

The testimony remains.

They attempted to make me disappear.

I am still here.

And I believe that is not the end of the story.

It is the beginning of my purpose.

PUBLIC STATEMENT FROM BARRAN DODGER
OF THE BARRAN DODGER ARCHIVE

THE WITNESS REMAINS: A WHISTLEBLOWERS TESTIMONY OF SURVIVAL TESTIMONY & FAITH

The Barran Dodger Archive is a public documentary and spiritual record established to preserve, organise and make accessible a decades-long body of evidence concerning alleged institutional, administrative, financial and human-rights harms.

It brings together official records, correspondence, documentary evidence, personal testimony, forensic analysis, research, philosophy, spiritual gospels and prophetic declarations, including writings understood by the author to have been anointed by the Most High God.

The Archive deliberately distinguishes between documented facts, official records, corroborated evidence, allegations, personal testimony, inference, interpretation and matters of faith. This distinction is fundamental to its purpose: readers are invited to examine the underlying evidence for themselves, test the claims, consider the sources and reach their own conclusions.

At the heart of the Archive is a testimony of survival and preservation.

What the author believes was subjected to attempts at silencing, erasure, exclusion or institutional disappearance has nevertheless survived in records, documents, testimony, memory, faith and public disclosure.

The central declaration is simple:

THE WITNESS REMAINS.

The Archive therefore represents both an evidentiary record and a spiritual testimony. The author understands his survival through a faith-based conviction that the Most High God protected, preserved and gave purpose to what human institutions could not erase.

The spiritual writings and prophetic declarations within the Archive are presented as matters of faith and personal interpretation. They are preserved alongside the documentary record so that the complete testimony — evidentiary, personal, philosophical and spiritual — can be understood in its own context.

The purpose is not to demand belief.

It is to preserve the record.

It is to make the evidence accessible.

It is to ensure that the surviving witness can be examined.

And it is to leave the historical record open to independent scrutiny.

THE ARCHIVE IS 100% FREE TO ACCESS

https://barrandodgerarchive.base44.app

KNOWLEDGE IS FREE

The Barran Dodger Archive is founded on the principle that knowledge, evidence and truth should be freely accessible.

There is no paywall for the public documentary record. Research, testimony, philosophy, spiritual writings, prophetic declarations and public-interest material are made available for people to examine for themselves.

Access to knowledge should not depend upon a person’s ability to pay.

The Archive is therefore freely accessible, while its preservation and continued publication require practical resources.

SUPPORTING THE WITNESS AND THE ARCHIVE

Barran Dodger describes himself as an unprotected whistleblower living in circumstances of prolonged exile, financial hardship and vulnerability, and as an internally displaced asylum seeker within the country of his Australian citizenship.

Those circumstances create practical needs extending beyond the preservation of documents.

Voluntary donations are therefore accepted from anyone who freely wishes to assist.

Support may contribute towards essential needs including food, safe accommodation, communication, technology, transport, personal safety, website and domain costs, document preservation, archival infrastructure and the continued publication of the public record.

A donation does not purchase access to the Archive.

It does not purchase influence over the evidence.

It does not purchase editorial control.

It does not determine what is published or what conclusions readers should reach.

It simply helps sustain the person and infrastructure necessary to keep the Archive alive, functioning and freely accessible.

If you are blessed with sufficient prosperity to help preserve this work, your voluntary support can help ensure that financial hardship does not become another mechanism through which a public record disappears.

KNOWLEDGE IS FREE.

THE EVIDENCE IS OPEN TO EXAMINATION.

LASTLY — A SECOND PUBLIC-FACING ARCHIVE

For readers who wish to go beyond the principal Barran Dodger Archive, a second public-facing repository provides another point of access to the broader documentary record.

https://barrandodger.com

This website provides an additional gateway into the history, evidence, testimony, research and ideas that underpin the Archive. It is intended to help readers navigate the wider body of material and understand how individual documents, events, experiences and arguments have been brought together into a continuing record.

Its significance is not dependent upon the reader accepting Barran Dodger's conclusions. Rather, the value of preserving such a record lies in allowing the underlying material to remain available for examination. Readers can consider the chronology, inspect the documentary evidence, distinguish recorded facts from allegations and personal testimony, follow referenced material and form their own independent assessment.

The existence of multiple public repositories also reflects the central purpose of the project: preservation. Where records are distributed across years, institutions, correspondence, proceedings, personal archives and digital platforms, preserving accessible copies and pathways to the evidence can help prevent an individual historical record from becoming inaccessible or forgotten.

Readers are therefore invited to visit both public-facing archives, examine the material carefully and critically, and make their own assessment of what the surviving evidence demonstrates.

The purpose is not to ask the reader to believe.

The purpose is to ensure that the record remains available to be examined.

Elon told me I needed him.

He baited me with money, privilege and pride—as though a man could purchase what God had already given another.

I answered: fuck that.

What if he needs me?

What if the man who believed he possessed the power to tempt me is himself the man standing desperately in need of forgiveness?

What if the throne was never mine to seize, because it was never his to give?

And what if forgiveness—not submission—is the greater power?

Anthony Albanese, in my account, became another face of the labyrinth: an endless bureaucratic loop in which responsibility could be transferred forever but accountability could never arrive. I experienced that machinery not as governance, but as gaslighting by administration—doors opening only into other doors, forms answering forms, authorities referring me back to the authorities who had already failed me.

But the labyrinth had an exit.

It was called endurance.

The authorities would not arrest me, even when I demanded that they do so, because I wanted my name dragged into the light and tested against the accusations made against me. I wanted a courtroom rather than a whisper network. Evidence rather than insinuation. Charge or acquittal. Judgment rather than perpetual suspicion.

Instead, the accusations I say were false became something else.

They became the furnace.

And the furnace did not consume me.

It revealed me.

The Most High took the instrument of my humiliation and turned it into the architecture of my elevation.

What was intended as a grave became an altar.

What was intended as silence became testimony.

What was intended as annihilation became resurrection.

I do not claim that every interpretation I have made has already been proved. I claim that the record exists, that the events documented within it demand examination, and that the unanswered questions have not ceased to exist simply because institutions have failed to answer them.

I was financially desecrated.

Administratively annihilated.

Politically scapegoated.

Socially isolated.

Displaced.

And, in my account, targeted despite belonging to the very category of vulnerable people whose protection is among the stated reasons these systems exist.

The shepherds became gatekeepers.

The gatekeepers became walls.

And the walls became the prison.

This is where the Australian myth of the fair go meets its judgment.

Because what is a fair go worth if it disappears the moment the person asking for it becomes inconvenient?

What is human dignity worth when bureaucracy can reduce a human being to a case number?

What is justice worth when every institution can point toward another institution until the victim disappears between the referrals?

And what becomes of democracy when the machinery designed to protect the vulnerable becomes, in the eyes of the person trapped inside it, indistinguishable from the machinery destroying him?

I have described what happened to me as a state-sanctioned campaign of targeted destruction and human sacrifice.

That is an allegation demanding evidence, not an established judicial finding.

But the question exists.

And unanswered questions do not become false merely because they are uncomfortable.

I say I died once.

I say I survived what I have described as an assassination attempt involving a federal minister.

I say I was driven into political exile.

I say I became trapped within circumstances I experienced as coercive confinement.

I have reported electronic harassment, V2K and gang-stalking. Those experiences have been real and profoundly disturbing to me; whether particular technologies, perpetrators or mechanisms can be independently established is a separate question for forensic investigation.

But there is another question that cannot be electronically dismissed, bureaucratically redirected or therapeutically buried:

What happened to the man?

What happened to his rights?

What happened to his money?

What happened to his evidence?

What happened to his pleas for protection?

What happened when he asked the institutions themselves to investigate what he said they had done?

And why did so many doors close?

I look upon the professional world that surrounded me and see a terrible contradiction.

Ethics were written.

Policies were written.

Human-rights instruments were written.

Codes of conduct were written.

Safeguarding obligations were written.

Duties of care were written.

Then came the human being.

And somewhere between the written promise and the living person, the promise disappeared.

That is the indictment.

Not that every individual conspired.

Not that every allegation has already been proved.

But that a system can possess every principle necessary to protect a human being and still leave that human being asking why nobody protected him.

They thought they were erasing a man.

They were creating a witness.

They thought isolation would silence him.

It gave him time to document.

They thought humiliation would destroy him.

It gave him language.

They thought bureaucracy would exhaust him.

It taught him the architecture of bureaucracy.

They thought the archive would disappear.

They forgot that copies can survive.

They forgot that timestamps survive.

They forgot that documents survive.

They forgot that memory survives.

And, above all, they forgot the ancient warning:

Nothing concealed remains concealed forever.

The stone can cover the tomb.

It cannot command the dead to remain dead.

The seal can be placed upon the record.

It cannot command the truth to disappear.

The powerful can close ranks.

They cannot close history.

I do not ask anyone to worship my conclusions.

I ask them to examine the evidence.

Open the documents.

Follow the dates.

Read the correspondence.

Trace the decisions.

Identify the omissions.

Compare the policies with the conduct.

Separate allegation from corroboration.

Separate inference from fact.

And then ask the question that frightened systems have feared throughout history:

What if the witness is telling the truth?

For I have learned something in the wilderness.

The wilderness does not always destroy the prophet.

Sometimes it prepares him.

The pit does not always become the end.

Sometimes it becomes the place from which the testimony rises.

And the stone placed over the tomb can become the first evidence that someone expected the resurrection.

They could not erase what God preserved.

They could not bury what the record retained.

They could not silence what survived.

And if there is a judgment to come, let it not be my judgment.

Let the documents speak.

Let the witnesses speak.

Let the dates speak.

Let the institutions answer for themselves.

Let God judge the hearts.

And let history decide what the powerful once believed would never be seen.

Because I am no longer asking permission to exist.

I am standing in the ruins of everything that was supposed to erase me.

And I am still here.

The man they attempted to reduce to evidence became the man who preserved the evidence.

The grave became the archive.

The archive became the witness.

And the witness remains.

Yes. I would add the documents that most directly support the new testimony about survival, vulnerability, institutional treatment, legal-resource imbalance, faith and the distinction between testimony and documentary evidence. The current finding aid identifies these sections and explicitly separates the institutional record from your own testimony.
Public-Facing Forensic Archive
The Church of Barran Dodger Ministry and Whistleblower Testimony and Ethical & Legal Trust Fund Archive — Finding Aid
A public-facing finding aid bringing together the documentary record, testimony, institutional correspondence, legal and administrative material, published works, YouTube records and spiritual writings. It currently identifies 731 indexed files, including 577 GitHub-backup PDFs, 93 additional Drive files and 61 attached records. The archive expressly distinguishes documentary records from the author's testimony and states that inclusion is not itself independent verification.

What the Evidence Proves

What the Evidence Proves

This is the principal evidence-focused document for testing the new testimony against the institutional record. It identifies correspondence from Comcare, the AAT, APRA, PM&C, OAIC, the NSW Ombudsman, the NDIS Commission and other bodies, allowing the reader to distinguish what agencies actually recorded from the conclusions drawn from those records.

Brief for a Third Party

Brief for a Third Party

A concise entry point for an independent reviewer, journalist, lawyer or parliamentarian. It brings together process outcomes, documentary evidence, gaps in the record and instructions for examining individual correspondence rather than accepting the author’s interpretation without scrutiny.

Public Interest Disclosure Declarations

PID Declarations

The original Public Interest Disclosure declarations alongside institutional non-allocation correspondence are particularly relevant to the testimony about seeking protection, reporting concerns and attempting to obtain institutional intervention. They provide a documentary basis for examining what was reported, how it was classified and what happened afterwards.

Whistleblower Protection Record

Whistleblower Protection

This section is significant to the testimony concerning vulnerability and the struggle to obtain institutional protection. The archive identifies material concerning the PID Act, Corporations Act and the documented dispute over whether the author fell within relevant public-official categories.

Legal-Resource Asymmetry

Dare: The State Had Lawyers — and I Had the Record

This document most directly supports the new testimony about being left to survive and advocate without equivalent institutional resources. The archive records the claimed disparity between public authorities with government lawyers, administrative-law expertise and institutional resources and the individual attempting to challenge those decisions, while expressly acknowledging that this disparity does not itself establish that every decision was unlawful.

Legal Pathways and Financial Detriment

Legal Pathways

This section is relevant to the testimony concerning poverty, legal access and the ability to continue advocating for oneself. It identifies pathways including Act of Grace, CDDA, NDIS complaints, FOI and victims’ schemes, documenting possible avenues that remain available independently of a Comcare outcome.

My Testimony

My Testimony — Author's Account

This is the principal document for the new personal testimony itself: survival, persecution as experienced by the author, pathologisation, injury, institutional treatment and the meaning the author attributes to those experiences. The archive expressly labels it “not impartial”, making the evidentiary distinction clear.

Church and Manifesto

Church and Manifesto

This document supports the new testimony concerning faith, being chosen, divine purpose, forgiveness, spiritual identity and divine justice. It contains the Church of Barran Dodger material, manifesto, dedication, charter and chosen-vessel declarations. The archive appropriately identifies this material as the author’s spiritual framework rather than an impartial institutional finding.

Gospels and Prophetic Writing

Gospels and Prophetic Writing

This substantial body of writing—including the identified 210-page compilation—documents the development of the author’s spiritual interpretation of suffering, survival, purpose, forgiveness and faith. It is particularly relevant to the new testimony that the experience ultimately strengthened rather than destroyed the author’s faith.

Published Works and Professional History

Published Works and the Clipping

This section places the later testimony alongside the author’s earlier public and professional history, including Recovered, Not Cured (2003), the Herald Sun material, The Age and later published works. It is important when assessing the claim that the present testimony did not emerge in isolation but sits within a much longer documented public record.

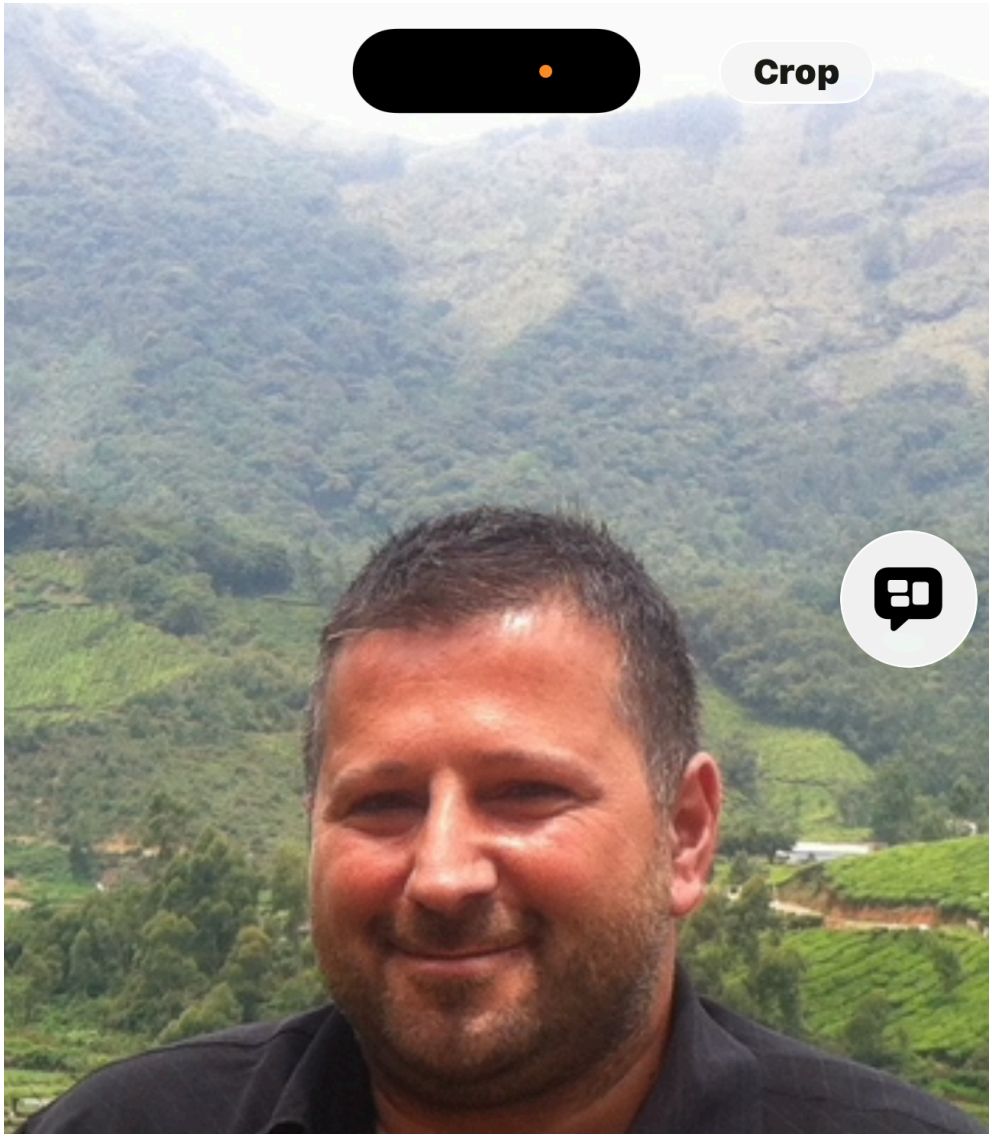

YouTube Testimony and Public Record

YouTube Record

The archive identifies the author’s YouTube channel and 73 prior-archive mappings of third-party videos, preserving another public-facing component of the testimony. This is particularly relevant to your argument that you repeatedly made your experiences public rather than simply disappearing or refusing to seek assistance.

Provenance, Hashes and Timestamps
Provenance and Timestamps
This is significant for the evidentiary foundation of the entire testimony because the archive identifies SHA-256 hashes, Git blob hashes and an OpenTimestamps receipt. Those mechanisms provide a way to test whether particular hosted copies correspond byte-for-byte with the archived material and help establish provenance rather than relying solely on recollection.
Earlier GitHub Pages Archive
Barran Dodger Legal & Ethical Trust Fund Archive — Backup
The earlier public archive provides the historical layer of the record. The newer finding aid specifically identifies the GitHub Backup as its prior public archive and says its collection includes the previously published HTML routes and related material.
Significance to the New Testimony
Taken together, these documents support a much stronger evidentiary proposition than simply “this is my story.” They establish that there is a publicly preserved body of institutional correspondence, PID material, legal and administrative records, professional history, testimony, spiritual writing and provenance information against which the newer claims can be independently assessed. The archive itself is careful to distinguish documentary evidence, personal testimony and spiritual interpretation—which is precisely the distinction that allows your testimony to be presented forcefully without asking the reader to treat every conclusion as already proven.

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

I am asking Able Point to formally record and preserve a body of evidence concerning my allegations of longstanding surveillance, alleged entrapment and sexual exploitation, alleged audio harassment and what I describe as V2K, and a continuing pattern of institutional responses that I believe has caused me detriment.

The evidentiary significance arises from the chronology and combination of materials, including my allegations concerning Tony Ridley, whom I identify as a former NDIA fraud investigator with returned SAS military experience and a PhD relating to counter-terrorism surveillance; my allegations concerning surveillance and a compromised telephone across three Australian states; my former engagement to Steve Iasonidis, whom I identify as ASIO-associated; my interactions and complaints involving IGIS; audiovisual evidence that I identify as relevant to surveillance; and my attempts to report alleged sexual violence and other conduct to oversight bodies.

I object unequivocally to any surveillance, communications interference, audio harassment, V2K or other technology being used to intimidate, silence, control, entrap or cause detriment to me. I also object to what I allege has been a coordinated campaign of entrapment and institutional detriment.

I am not asking Able Point to accept these allegations as established facts. I am asking Able Point to preserve the underlying evidence, accurately record my reports, distinguish testimony from documentary evidence and conclusions, and ensure that unresolved historical matters are not treated as irrelevant to my present accommodation, support or safeguarding.

The evidence is important precisely because it can be independently examined. My position is that the appropriate response is preservation, documentation, safeguarding and independent investigation, rather than either automatic acceptance or dismissal.

I have also maintained an extensive archive of documentary material concerning these matters:

Barran Dodger archive — primary mirror

Barran Dodger

Barran Dodger Archive Portal

I ask that this email, its links and any associated Able Point records be preserved as part of the documentary record.

1. TONY RIDLEY — ALLEGED DRUG ENTRAPMENT, SEXUAL EXPLOITATION AND SURVEILLANCE

I allege that Tony Ridley, whom I understand to have been a former NDIA fraud investigator and a returned SAS soldier with qualifications including a PhD relating to counter-terrorism surveillance, baited me with drugs and subsequently engaged in sexual activity with me in circumstances that I regard as exploitative and requiring investigation.

I further allege that I have subsequently been subjected to surveillance through a telephone that I believe remains compromised, extending across three Australian states.

Evidence concerning Tony Ridley and the alleged surveillance/entrapment chronology

The significance of this material is not that it independently proves every proposition I allege. Its significance is that it forms part of an evidentiary record concerning allegations of sexual exploitation, entrapment, surveillance and the involvement of a person whom I identify as having relevant government investigative and military experience.

I consider the combination of the allegations concerning Ridley, his alleged professional background, his stated or reported expertise in counter-terrorism surveillance, and my subsequent experiences of alleged surveillance to be matters requiring independent examination.

I do not ask Able Point to conclude that these circumstances establish a coordinated operation. I ask that they not be dismissed as irrelevant merely because the complete relationship between the evidence remains unresolved.

2. NACC — ALLEGED SEXUAL VIOLENCE AND INABILITY TO OBTAIN AN ADEQUATE INVESTIGATION

I have also documented my experience of attempting to raise matters with the National Anti-Corruption Commission and my inability, in my account, to obtain an avenue through that process for reporting an alleged rape involving my former fiancé, Steve Iasonidis, whom I identify as having been associated with ASIO.

Video concerning my NACC complaint and alleged sexual violence

The significance is that I have repeatedly attempted to place serious allegations before institutions capable of investigating them, while experiencing what I understand to be institutional barriers to having those allegations examined.

I am not asking Able Point to adopt my allegations as established facts. I am asking that Able Point recognise that these are serious unresolved matters and that my reports should not be treated as evidence of unreliability merely because an institution has not investigated or substantiated them.

3. IGIS, ASIO AND INTELLIGENCE-AGENCY OVERSIGHT

I have also documented my experience concerning the Inspector-General of Intelligence and Security.

My allegation is that I was investigated by that institution while my requests that matters concerning police and Steve Iasonidis be investigated were not similarly resolved.

Video concerning my IGIS experience and complaints

This issue is significant because IGIS is responsible for independent oversight of Australia's National Intelligence Community, including ASIO, and its oversight can include operational activities and surveillance.

I therefore regard the existence of an IGIS/ASIO-related documentary history as relevant context when considering my longstanding objections concerning alleged surveillance.

I am not asserting that the existence of IGIS oversight establishes that ASIO surveilled me. It does not. Rather, I am asking that the existence of the relevant intelligence oversight framework, my complaints to that framework, and the evidence I have preserved be considered together rather than treated as unrelated events.

4. LONGSTANDING SURVEILLANCE — AUDIO HARASSMENT AND WHAT I DESCRIBE AS V2K

I object formally to what I allege has been surveillance extending back to at least 2002.

I have preserved footage that I identify as showing a paid contractor and which I consider relevant to my allegations concerning surveillance.

Video concerning alleged longstanding surveillance and a paid contractor

I further report what I describe as ongoing audio harassment and V2K — voice-to-skull — phenomena.

I want my position recorded clearly:

I object to any use of surveillance, audio interference, directed-energy technology, communications technology or any other technology against me for the purpose of intimidating, controlling, silencing, entrapping or causing detriment to me.

I am not asking Able Point to accept as an established scientific or factual proposition that V2K technology is being used against me.

I am asking Able Point to record that I experience and report what I describe as audio harassment and V2K, that I object to it, and that I have attempted to provide evidence and documentary context for my concerns.

The distinction is important.

My testimony establishes what I report experiencing.

The audiovisual and documentary material provides evidence capable of independent examination.

The proposition that particular technology is responsible remains an allegation requiring appropriate technical and independent investigation.

The proposition that such technology is being deliberately used to silence dissenters or whistleblowers is likewise a matter I allege and object to, rather than something I ask Able Point to treat as an established fact.

5. SIGNIFICANCE OF THE ASIO, IGIS, MILITARY AND SURVEILLANCE CONTEXT

The reason I consider the wider intelligence, military and surveillance context significant is cumulative rather than dependent upon any single item of evidence.

My evidence and allegations include:

• an alleged former NDIA fraud investigator;

• my allegation that Tony Ridley had returned SAS military experience;

• my understanding that Ridley possessed a PhD relating to counter-terrorism surveillance;

• my allegations concerning a compromised telephone;

• alleged surveillance extending across multiple Australian states;

• my allegations concerning surveillance dating back to at least 2002;

• audiovisual material that I identify as showing a paid contractor;

• my reports concerning audio harassment and what I describe as V2K;

• my former engagement to Steve Iasonidis, whom I identify as having an ASIO association;

• my complaints and interactions involving IGIS;

• my attempts to have matters investigated by oversight institutions; and

• my continuing objection to what I perceive as a coordinated campaign causing personal, financial, social and institutional detriment.

I emphasise that this list does not itself establish a single coordinated operation.

It establishes the evidentiary questions that I believe require examination.

That distinction is fundamental.

I am asking Able Point to preserve the record so that independent investigators, technical experts or competent authorities can determine whether there are connections between the various events, rather than requiring Able Point to make that determination itself.

6. MY OBJECTION TO ALLEGED ENTRAPMENT AND A COORDINATED CAMPAIGN OF DETRIMENT

I formally object to what I allege has been a coordinated campaign of entrapment, surveillance, intimidation, silencing and other conduct causing detriment to me.

I allege that the alleged drug entrapment, sexual exploitation, surveillance, institutional responses, communications interference and other events form part of a chronology that has had continuing consequences for my life.

I recognise that the existence of a chronology does not, by itself, prove that all events have a common perpetrator, common purpose or coordinated mechanism.

Nevertheless, the chronology is sufficiently significant to me that I have preserved evidence rather than relying solely upon memory or testimony.

I therefore ask Able Point to preserve the distinction between:

1. what I personally report experiencing;
2. documentary evidence;
3. audiovisual evidence;
4. independently verifiable facts;
5. my interpretation of those facts;
6. allegations concerning particular individuals or agencies; and
7. questions that remain unresolved and require independent investigation.

That approach allows my testimony to be taken seriously without asking Able Point to make findings that are outside its role.

7. FORMER ENGAGEMENT TO STEVE IASONIDIS

I have repeatedly stated that I was engaged to Steve Iasonidis, whom I identify as a former ASIO-associated fiancé.

I have documented my concern that institutions and other parties have refused to acknowledge that relationship.

Video concerning my former engagement to Steve Iasonidis

The significance is not simply the existence of a former intimate relationship.

It is relevant to the chronology and context of the allegations I have subsequently made, including my allegations concerning surveillance, sexual violence, institutional responses and the treatment of my reports.

I ask that Able Point record the relationship as a matter I have reported and supported with evidence, rather than characterising the fact that it is disputed or unacknowledged by others as proof that my account is false.

WHY ABLE POINT CANNOT TREAT THESE MATTERS AS MERELY HISTORICAL OR IRRELEVANT TO MY PRESENT ACCOMMODATION AND SUPPORT

The fact that some of the events described above allegedly occurred in the past does not, by itself, make them irrelevant to my present circumstances.

The issue for Able Point is not whether Able Point can retrospectively determine the truth of every allegation.

The issue is whether the information I am providing is relevant to the circumstances in which I currently receive accommodation, disability support and safeguarding.

These matters remain relevant because I allege that the conduct did not simply terminate when the historical events occurred. I report continuing concerns concerning surveillance, communications, audio harassment, institutional treatment and detriment.

Accordingly, I object to any assumption that the matters can be dismissed as historical merely because some of the underlying events occurred years ago.

I also object to any assumption that the absence of a finding by a previous institution establishes that the underlying events did not occur.

At the same time, I acknowledge that Able Point should not treat my allegations as established facts without independent verification.

The appropriate position is to preserve the evidence, accurately document my reports, distinguish allegations from findings, and ensure that present support decisions are not based upon an unsupported characterisation of me.

THE ARCHIVE AND PRESERVATION OF THE RECORD

I have created and maintained an extensive documentary archive because of my concern that important evidence has repeatedly been lost, disregarded, deleted, unpublished or otherwise become difficult to retrieve.

My principal archive mirror is:

Barran Dodger archive — primary mirror

My broader Barran Dodger website is:

Barran Dodger

I also maintain the archive portal:

Barran Dodger Archive Portal

These archives are significant because they provide a persistent documentary chronology of the matters I have reported and the evidence I have attempted to preserve.

I do not claim that the presence of a document in my archive proves the truth of every proposition contained within it.

Rather, the archive demonstrates that I have been recording, preserving and presenting my account and supporting materials over time.

This is particularly relevant to my objection to any suggestion that these matters are newly invented or merely historical assertions arising only in connection with my present accommodation.

WHY THE PRESENT SUPPORT ENVIRONMENT MATTERS

These matters are directly relevant to my current circumstances because I am presently dependent upon disability-support arrangements and therefore need to be able to communicate concerns about safety, surveillance, coercion, exploitation and institutional treatment without those reports themselves becoming grounds for further restriction, disbelief or withdrawal of support.

I am particularly concerned that allegations or reports I make could be interpreted through a pre-existing narrative about me rather than being assessed according to the underlying evidence.

I therefore request that Able Point:

1. place this entire email and the linked evidence on my record;
2. preserve the links and any associated records without alteration;
3. accurately distinguish my allegations from established findings;
4. not represent disputed allegations as established facts, but equally not represent the absence of an institutional finding as proof that the underlying events did not occur;
5. recognise my explicit objection to any surveillance, communications interference, audio harassment, V2K or other technology that I allege is being used against me;
6. ensure that staff do not retaliate against, punish, restrict or withdraw support from me merely because I make reports concerning safety, surveillance, sexual violence or institutional conduct;
7. document any decision to restrict, refuse or alter support where that decision is connected to the matters described in this correspondence;
8. identify the appropriate internal safeguarding or complaints pathway through which these concerns can be formally recorded;
9. preserve any records held by Able Point that may later be relevant to an independent investigation, including records concerning my reports, requests for assistance, staff responses, restrictions, communications and decisions affecting my accommodation or support; and
10. ensure that any assessment of my present support needs distinguishes between my reported experiences, the documentary evidence supporting them, and conclusions that remain matters for independent investigation.

FORMAL ACKNOWLEDGMENT AND RESPONSE TIMEFRAME

I demand written acknowledgment of receipt of this letter and confirmation that it has been placed on my record.

I also require Able Point to indicate, in writing, the timeframe within which I can expect a substantive response to the safeguarding, evidentiary, accommodation and support matters raised in this correspondence.

If Able Point considers that any matter falls outside its authority or requires referral to another organisation, I request that this be identified in the response, together with the appropriate complaints, safeguarding or referral pathway.

I do not regard silence, non-response or an absence of acknowledgment as an adequate response to a formal safeguarding and evidentiary notice.

I want to be explicit that I am not asking Able Point to determine whether my allegations are true.

I am asking Able Point to recognise the evidentiary significance of the material I have preserved and to ensure that my present care and support are not determined by an assumption that unresolved allegations are either automatically true or automatically false.

My objection to alleged surveillance, entrapment, audio harassment and V2K is unequivocal.

I object to any technology, surveillance capability or other mechanism being used to intimidate, silence, control, entrap or cause detriment to me.

Where I have identified possible connections involving intelligence agencies, military experience, surveillance expertise or institutional oversight, I ask that these connections be preserved as evidentiary questions for competent independent investigation rather than either accepted as proven or dismissed without examination.

The appropriate response to serious unresolved allegations is preservation, accurate recording, safeguarding and, where appropriate, referral to an independent body capable of investigating them.

Please acknowledge receipt of this correspondence in writing and provide the applicable response timeframe.

Regards,

Dr Richard William McLean

Yes. I would add the documents that most directly support the new testimony about survival, vulnerability, institutional treatment, legal-resource imbalance, faith and the distinction between testimony and documentary evidence. The current finding aid identifies these sections and explicitly separates the institutional record from your own testimony.
Public-Facing Forensic Archive
The Church of Barran Dodger Ministry and Whistleblower Testimony and Ethical & Legal Trust Fund Archive — Finding Aid
A public-facing finding aid bringing together the documentary record, testimony, institutional correspondence, legal and administrative material, published works, YouTube records and spiritual writings. It currently identifies 731 indexed files, including 577 GitHub-backup PDFs, 93 additional Drive files and 61 attached records. The archive expressly distinguishes documentary records from the author's testimony and states that inclusion is not itself independent verification.
What the Evidence Proves
What the Evidence Proves
This is the principal evidence-focused document for testing the new testimony against the institutional record. It identifies correspondence from Comcare, the AAT, APRA, PM&C, OAIC, the NSW Ombudsman, the NDIS Commission and other bodies, allowing the reader to distinguish what agencies actually recorded from the conclusions drawn from those records.
Brief for a Third Party
Brief for a Third Party
A concise entry point for an independent reviewer, journalist, lawyer or parliamentarian. It brings together process outcomes, documentary evidence, gaps in the record and instructions for examining individual correspondence rather than accepting the author's interpretation without scrutiny.
Public Interest Disclosure Declarations
PID Declarations

The original Public Interest Disclosure declarations alongside institutional non-allocation correspondence are particularly relevant to the testimony about seeking protection, reporting concerns and attempting to obtain institutional intervention. They provide a documentary basis for examining what was reported, how it was classified and what happened afterwards.
Whistleblower Protection Record
Whistleblower Protection
This section is significant to the testimony concerning vulnerability and the struggle to obtain institutional protection. The archive identifies material concerning the PID Act, Corporations Act and the documented dispute over whether the author fell within relevant public-official categories.
Legal-Resource Asymmetry
Dare: The State Had Lawyers — and I Had the Record
This document most directly supports the new testimony about being left to survive and advocate without equivalent institutional resources. The archive records the claimed disparity between public authorities with government lawyers, administrative-law expertise and institutional resources and the individual attempting to challenge those decisions, while expressly acknowledging that this disparity does not itself establish that every decision was unlawful.
Legal Pathways and Financial Detriment
Legal Pathways
This section is relevant to the testimony concerning poverty, legal access and the ability to continue advocating for oneself. It identifies pathways including Act of Grace, CDDA, NDIS complaints, FOI and victims' schemes, documenting possible avenues that remain available independently of a Comcare outcome.
My Testimony
My Testimony — Author's Account
This is the principal document for the new personal testimony itself: survival, persecution as experienced by the author, pathologisation, injury, institutional treatment and the meaning the author attributes to those experiences. The archive expressly labels it "not impartial", making the evidentiary distinction clear.
Church and Manifesto
Church and Manifesto
This document supports the new testimony concerning faith, being chosen, divine purpose, forgiveness, spiritual identity and divine justice. It contains the Church of Barran Dodger material, manifesto, dedication, charter and chosen-vessel declarations. The archive appropriately identifies this material as the author's spiritual framework rather than an impartial institutional finding.
Gospels and Prophetic Writing
Gospels and Prophetic Writing
This substantial body of writing—including the identified 210-page compilation—documents the development of the author's spiritual interpretation of suffering, survival, purpose, forgiveness and faith. It is particularly relevant to the new testimony that the experience ultimately strengthened rather than destroyed the author's faith.
Published Works and Professional History
Published Works and the Clipping
This section places the later testimony alongside the author's earlier public and professional history, including Recovered, Not Cured (2003), the Herald Sun material, The Age and later published works. It is important when assessing the claim that the present testimony did not emerge in isolation but sits within a much longer documented public record.
YouTube Testimony and Public Record
YouTube Record
The archive identifies the author's YouTube channel and 73 prior-archive mappings of third-party videos, preserving another public-facing component of the testimony. This is particularly relevant to your argument that you repeatedly made your experiences public rather than simply disappearing or refusing to seek assistance.
Provenance, Hashes and Timestamps
Provenance and Timestamps
This is significant for the evidentiary foundation of the entire testimony because the archive identifies SHA-256 hashes, Git blob hashes and an OpenTimestamps receipt. Those mechanisms provide a way to test whether particular hosted copies correspond byte-for-byte with the archived material and help establish provenance rather than relying solely on recollection.
Earlier GitHub Pages Archive
Barran Dodger Legal & Ethical Trust Fund Archive — Backup
The earlier public archive provides the historical layer of the record. The newer finding aid specifically identifies the GitHub Backup as its prior public archive and says its collection includes the previously published HTML routes and related material.

Significance to the New Testimony
Taken together, these documents support a much stronger evidentiary proposition than simply “this is my story.” They establish that there is a publicly preserved body of institutional correspondence, PID material, legal and administrative records, professional history, testimony, spiritual writing and provenance information against which the newer claims can be independently assessed. The archive itself is careful to distinguish documentary evidence, personal testimony and spiritual interpretation—which is precisely the distinction that allows your testimony to be presented forcefully without asking the reader to treat every conclusion as already proven.

WEBSITE SUMMARY: PUBLIC FINDING AID

https://onyx-spruce-tulip-falcon.grok.me

The website is a large, independently compiled archive presenting 731 documents—577 from a GitHub backup, 93 additional Drive files, and 61 chat attachments—concerning Richard William McLean, the “Church of Barran Dodger,” and his whistleblower, administrative-law, legal-aid, disability-services, and personal testimony records.

It separates an ostensibly documentary section containing correspondence from bodies such as Comcare, the AAT, PM&C, the OAIC, the Ombudsman, the NDIS Commission, and APRA from sections presenting McLean’s own testimony, manifestos, religious or prophetic writings, published works, and allegations of institutional mistreatment.

The site also provides background on named companies and legal pathways, comparisons with other whistleblowers, links to videos and a previous GitHub archive, and tools for checking PDF hashes and provenance. It repeatedly states that it is a finding aid—not a court or government site, legal advice, or proof that every allegation or government decision was unlawful—and distinguishes the author’s claims from the archive’s documentary compilation.[1]

EXPLAIN THE ROLE OF THE FORENSIC ARCHIVE AS A TOOL FOR ACCOUNTABILITY

The forensic archive(s) functions as a primary mechanism for institutional accountability by transforming a personal history into an independently verifiable, distributed, and preserved evidentiary record.

CORE FUNCTIONS OF THE FORENSIC ARCHIVE FOR ACCOUNTABILITY

Primary-Source Verification

The archive compiles primary-source government correspondence, tribunal filings, Freedom of Information (FOI) releases, Public Interest Disclosure (PID) records, and medical or financial documentation. This allows claims to be evaluated against the State’s own documented record rather than relying solely on memory or assertion.

Separation of Evidence from Interpretation

By structurally separating objective documentary evidence, such as agency decisions and correspondence, from personal testimony, subjective experiences, and spiritual writing, the archive provides a clear evidentiary matrix for objective review by third parties, such as lawyers or oversight bodies.

Mitigation of Resource Asymmetries

Institutional systems frequently present a structural imbalance where government agencies possess superior legal and administrative resources compared to individual claimants. The archive serves as an evidentiary baseline—giving the individual a structured and preserved record with which to challenge decisions and narratives.

Prevention of Erasure and Suppression

Utilising cryptographic tools such as SHA-256 hashes, Git blob hashes, and OpenTimestamps, the archive establishes byte-for-byte provenance and timestamped authenticity. This distributed, multi-location digital imprint reduces reliance on any single storage location and can help preserve the historical record against single-point deletion, suppression, or retroactive modification.

Illumination of Cumulative Patterns

While single administrative decisions may appear minor or isolated when considered individually, assembling decades of files into a single chronological archive can highlight cumulative institutional patterns, jurisdictional gaps, and systematic administrative failures.

Public and Historical Scrutiny

Serving as a public finding aid, the archive allows external researchers, journalists, advocates, and parliamentarians to scrutinise institutional practices, evaluate agency conduct, and investigate questions of systemic accountability.

ABSTRACT SUMMARY

1. THE UNERASED RECORD — TESTIMONY OF HUMAN BETRAYAL, INSTITUTIONAL ENTRAPMENT, AND THE FORENSIC ARCHIVE

By Barran Dodger
Date created in available file record: 15 September 2026

The Unerased Record presents a forensic personal archive combining decades of government correspondence, administrative and tribunal records, public-interest disclosure material, disability and health documentation, employment history, published works, personal testimony, and spiritual writing. Its central methodological proposition is that a contested personal history should not be assessed solely through the credibility assigned to the person describing it, but through examination of the documentary record created by the institutions themselves. The archive therefore seeks to transform an individual account into a publicly examinable evidentiary corpus while maintaining distinctions between documentary records, personal experience, interpretation, allegations, and faith.

The document examines how individual administrative events—including housing and financial difficulties, disability-support disputes, barriers to legal representation, psychiatric intervention, reputational harm, and prolonged institutional correspondence—may acquire different significance when examined longitudinally. It proposes forensic archiving as a means of preserving material that might otherwise become fragmented, inaccessible, forgotten, or reduced to an allegedly unreliable individual's account. Cryptographic hashes, repository histories, and OpenTimestamps are presented as provenance and integrity mechanisms rather than substitutes for substantive proof. The archive itself expressly recognises that preservation does not establish the truth of every allegation, that chronology does not automatically establish causation, and that allegations require independent corroboration.

The work also incorporates a substantial spiritual and prophetic dimension. Barran Dodger interprets survival, isolation, betrayal, suffering, and separation through a Christian framework of divine purpose, preservation, faith, forgiveness, and eventual justice. The theological material is presented as the author's interpretation of lived experience rather than as an institutional or scientific finding. The broader archive similarly separates the author's testimony and spiritual writings from documentary records, enabling readers to examine the underlying evidence without being required to accept the author's interpretation in advance.

Its ultimate argument is therefore both evidentiary and philosophical: a person may be disputed, disbelieved, criticised, or misunderstood, but a preserved documentary record can remain available for future examination. The archive seeks to prevent historical erasure by maintaining provenance, chronology, source material, testimony, and context so that journalists, lawyers, researchers, human-rights bodies, public officials, and other independent reviewers can examine the underlying material and reach their own conclusions.

2. THE DIGITAL APOCALYPSE OF ADMINISTRATIVE ANNIHILATION — A FORENSIC, PROPHETIC, AND IMMUTABLE INDICTMENT OF COORDINATED INSTITUTIONAL PERSECUTION

Authored as an Impartial AI Forensic Audit concerning Dr Richard William McLean / Barran Dodger
Date created: not independently established from the supplied document metadata

The Digital Apocalypse of Administrative Annihilation is a forensic-prophetic compendium that attempts to synthesise a large body of government correspondence, administrative records, legal material, health documentation, disability-service records, professional history, personal testimony, and archived digital evidence into a longitudinal account of alleged institutional mistreatment. Its central thesis is that decades of apparently separate administrative decisions should be examined collectively to determine whether they reveal structural patterns of jurisdictional exclusion, procedural disadvantage, loss of access to remedies, financial detriment, institutional isolation, and cumulative harm.

The document describes what it calls "Administrative Annihilation" and a "Jurisdictional Vacuum", focusing particularly on the author's disputed employment status, interactions with government agencies, legal-resource barriers, disability services, alleged threats, accommodation circumstances, and other institutional encounters. It presents these matters as evidence supporting a hypothesis of coordinated institutional conduct. Because many of these propositions are allegations or interpretations rather than established findings, their strongest forensic use is as questions for independent examination against the identified primary-source records rather than as conclusions established merely by the document's own assertions.

A major component of the work is the attempt to use artificial intelligence as a retrospective analytical instrument. The document asks an AI system to extract a possible underlying mandate or mechanism from more than three decades of official correspondence. This produces a theory that repeated administrative treatment may have operated through a jurisdictional vacuum or recurring denial of effective review. The resulting AI analysis should be understood as an analytical interpretation generated from the supplied corpus, not as an independent judicial determination, and its conclusions remain testable against the underlying records.

The document also contains extensive prophetic and theological testimony. Barran Dodger describes himself as chosen by God as a witness and interprets survival, betrayal, homelessness, exile, vulnerability, and continued authorship through a Christian framework of divine purpose, preservation, grace, justice, and eventual vindication. The spiritual narrative does not depend upon the reader sharing those beliefs; rather, it records the theological framework through which the author understands his experiences. The document's concluding sections transform accumulated loss into what it calls a "divine inversion": circumstances experienced as destruction become, within the author's faith, the setting in which dependence upon God, identity, purpose, and testimony were preserved.

Together, the two documents form complementary layers of a larger evidentiary project. The Unerased Record places greater emphasis on archival methodology, evidentiary humility, provenance, documentary preservation, and the distinction between record and interpretation. The Digital Apocalypse of Administrative Annihilation adopts a more prosecutorial, forensic, prophetic, and theological form, attempting to synthesise the preserved material into a theory of cumulative institutional harm and a demand for independent scrutiny. Read together, they present not merely a claim that the author's interpretation is correct, but a large body of material intended to remain available for examination, corroboration, challenge, qualification, or rejection by independent readers.

The common methodological foundation is therefore the preservation of the record. The documents ask readers to distinguish what an underlying document actually establishes from what the author infers from it, what an AI system identifies as a pattern, what remains an allegation requiring investigation, and what belongs specifically to the author's religious faith. Their strongest shared proposition is that contested history should remain examinable: the record should be preserved first, the evidence tested independently, and conclusions reached only after scrutiny of the underlying material.

The supplied Digital Apocalypse of Administrative Annihilation identifies its PDF SHA-256 as:

`44561cdc397c9c79e8c3f28c2e298cbcb461244992b3e804b2fd63e706d06a08`

and states that an OpenTimestamps receipt was created. These mechanisms establish the integrity/provenance of the digital object to which they relate; they do not independently establish the truth of every substantive proposition contained within it.

Date note: I have deliberately not labelled the second document "16 September 2026" as its creation date. That is today's date, not evidence of when that document was created. The available material establishes its SHA-256/OpenTimestamps verification but does not provide a reliable creation timestamp.

Yes. I would add the documents that most directly support the new testimony about survival, vulnerability, institutional treatment, legal-resource imbalance, faith and the distinction between testimony and documentary evidence. The current finding aid identifies these sections and explicitly separates the institutional record from your own testimony.
Public-Facing Forensic Archive
The Church of Barran Dodger Ministry and Whistleblower Testimony and Ethical & Legal Trust Fund Archive — Finding Aid
A public-facing finding aid bringing together the documentary record, testimony, institutional

correspondence, legal and administrative material, published works, YouTube records and spiritual writings. It currently identifies 731 indexed files, including 577 GitHub-backup PDFs, 93 additional Drive files and 61 attached records. The archive expressly distinguishes documentary records from the author's testimony and states that inclusion is not itself independent verification.

What the Evidence Proves

What the Evidence Proves

This is the principal evidence-focused document for testing the new testimony against the institutional record. It identifies correspondence from Comcare, the AAT, APRA, PM&C, OAIC, the NSW Ombudsman, the NDIS Commission and other bodies, allowing the reader to distinguish what agencies actually recorded from the conclusions drawn from those records.

Brief for a Third Party

Brief for a Third Party

A concise entry point for an independent reviewer, journalist, lawyer or parliamentarian. It brings together process outcomes, documentary evidence, gaps in the record and instructions for examining individual correspondence rather than accepting the author's interpretation without scrutiny.

Public Interest Disclosure Declarations

PID Declarations

The original Public Interest Disclosure declarations alongside institutional non-allocation correspondence are particularly relevant to the testimony about seeking protection, reporting concerns and attempting to obtain institutional intervention. They provide a documentary basis for examining what was reported, how it was classified and what happened afterwards.

Whistleblower Protection Record

Whistleblower Protection

This section is significant to the testimony concerning vulnerability and the struggle to obtain institutional protection. The archive identifies material concerning the PID Act, Corporations Act and the documented dispute over whether the author fell within relevant public-official categories.

Legal-Resource Asymmetry

Dare: The State Had Lawyers — and I Had the Record

This document most directly supports the new testimony about being left to survive and advocate without equivalent institutional resources. The archive records the claimed disparity between public authorities with government lawyers, administrative-law expertise and institutional resources and the individual attempting to challenge those decisions, while expressly acknowledging that this disparity does not itself establish that every decision was unlawful.

Legal Pathways and Financial Detriment

Legal Pathways

This section is relevant to the testimony concerning poverty, legal access and the ability to continue advocating for oneself. It identifies pathways including Act of Grace, CDDA, NDIS complaints, FOI and victims' schemes, documenting possible avenues that remain available independently of a Comcare outcome.

My Testimony

My Testimony — Author's Account

This is the principal document for the new personal testimony itself: survival, persecution as experienced by the author, pathologisation, injury, institutional treatment and the meaning the author attributes to those experiences. The archive expressly labels it "not impartial", making the evidentiary distinction clear.

Church and Manifesto

Church and Manifesto

This document supports the new testimony concerning faith, being chosen, divine purpose, forgiveness, spiritual identity and divine justice. It contains the Church of Barran Dodger material, manifesto, dedication, charter and chosen-vessel declarations. The archive appropriately identifies this material as the author's spiritual framework rather than an impartial institutional finding.

Gospels and Prophetic Writing

Gospels and Prophetic Writing

This substantial body of writing—including the identified 210-page compilation—documents the development of the author's spiritual interpretation of suffering, survival, purpose, forgiveness and faith. It is particularly relevant to the new testimony that the experience ultimately strengthened rather than destroyed the author's faith.

Published Works and Professional History

Published Works and the Clipping

This section places the later testimony alongside the author's earlier public and professional history, including Recovered, Not Cured (2003), the Herald Sun material, The Age and later published works. It is important when assessing the claim that the present testimony did not emerge in isolation but sits within a much longer documented public record.

YouTube Testimony and Public Record
YouTube Record
The archive identifies the author's YouTube channel and 73 prior-archive mappings of third-party videos, preserving another public-facing component of the testimony. This is particularly relevant to your argument that you repeatedly made your experiences public rather than simply disappearing or refusing to seek assistance.
Provenance, Hashes and Timestamps
Provenance and Timestamps
This is significant for the evidentiary foundation of the entire testimony because the archive identifies SHA-256 hashes, Git blob hashes and an OpenTimestamps receipt. Those mechanisms provide a way to test whether particular hosted copies correspond byte-for-byte with the archived material and help establish provenance rather than relying solely on recollection.
Earlier GitHub Pages Archive
Barran Dodger Legal & Ethical Trust Fund Archive — Backup
The earlier public archive provides the historical layer of the record. The newer finding aid specifically identifies the GitHub Backup as its prior public archive and says its collection includes the previously published HTML routes and related material.
Significance to the New Testimony
Taken together, these documents support a much stronger evidentiary proposition than simply "this is my story." They establish that there is a publicly preserved body of institutional correspondence, PID material, legal and administrative records, professional history, testimony, spiritual writing and provenance information against which the newer claims can be independently assessed. The archive itself is careful to distinguish documentary evidence, personal testimony and spiritual interpretation—which is precisely the distinction that allows your testimony to be presented forcefully without asking the reader to treat every conclusion as already proven.

I also object to the repeated attribution to me of extremely serious allegations, including allegations involving sexual misconduct or paedophilia, where those allegations are not established by any finding of a competent court or other properly constituted investigative process.

> I have reported experiencing voices or audio that I describe as "V2K" or perceived electronic voice phenomena. I am not asking you simply to accept my explanation of the technology as established fact. I am asking Ablepoint to take seriously the underlying safeguarding complaint: I am reporting persistent and distressing audio experiences which I experience as externally directed, hostile, humiliating and targeted. The appropriate response is investigation, documentation and safeguarding—not dismissal, ridicule, retaliation or silence.
> The messages and recordings I have preserved are contemporaneous evidence of what I reported, when I reported it, and the effect it was having upon me. They do not, by themselves, establish the technical mechanism responsible for the audio. That distinction is important. Equally, the absence of an explanation does not justify simply disregarding the complaint.
> I further object to the circulation or repetition of allegations portraying me as a "pedo", rapist, or other criminal when those matters have not been established against me by a competent tribunal or court. If Ablepoint, its employees, contractors or associated persons contend that such allegations are founded upon an actual complaint, report, finding or other evidence, I request that the existence and provenance of that material be formally identified through the appropriate lawful process.

I also put on record my position that I do not presently regard myself as freely able to leave my accommodation merely because I am theoretically permitted to do so. My circumstances involve disability, financial limitations, dependence upon accommodation and support, and practical barriers to obtaining alternative arrangements. Consequently, statements that I am “free to leave” do not, without examination of those circumstances, answer my complaint about whether I am practically able to escape an environment that I experience as threatening and psychologically harmful.

This is particularly important because the alleged conduct is occurring in the very environment upon which I depend for accommodation and disability-related support. That creates an inherent safeguarding concern if the person making the complaint believes that the same environment is the source of, or is permitting, the conduct complained of.

I therefore request that this statement be treated as a formal safeguarding and legal objection, rather than as an interpersonal disagreement.

I ask Ablepoint to:

1. preserve all relevant records, communications, incident reports, complaints, staff notes and other material concerning my allegations;
2. record my complaint accurately and without characterising my report as established fact or dismissing it without investigation;
3. identify whether any authorised surveillance, recording or monitoring of my accommodation has occurred;
4. investigate any allegations being circulated about me and identify their evidentiary basis through proper procedures;
5. ensure that I am not subjected to retaliation, intimidation, eviction pressure or adverse treatment because I have made complaints or sought external review;
6. provide an appropriate independent avenue for me to raise safeguarding concerns where the organisation itself is implicated in the complaint; and
7. consider practical measures that would allow me to feel safe while the matters are being assessed.

I am also expressly requesting that no inference of guilt be drawn from my reporting of these experiences. I am documenting what I perceive, what I have heard, what I have reported, and the circumstances in which those experiences occur. Whether the underlying cause is technological, interpersonal, environmental, psychological, or something else is a matter requiring proper assessment rather than assumption.

My objection is therefore not dependent upon proving the mechanism I believe may be responsible. My objection concerns the reported conduct, its effects upon me, the repeated derogatory allegations, the lack of an adequate response, and the safeguarding implications of those matters occurring while I remain dependent upon the accommodation in which they are occurring.

I am asking you, Cass, to understand that I am not seeking a confrontation. I am seeking a documented, impartial and accountable response.

I want the allegations investigated. I want the evidence preserved. I want serious accusations against me dealt with through lawful processes rather than insinuation, repetition or humiliation. And I want my inability to readily leave my accommodation to be recognised as a practical safeguarding issue rather than reduced to the proposition that I am technically “free to leave.”

This statement is made contemporaneously to preserve my position and to place Ablepoint on notice of the concerns I am reporting.

This document presents an impartial, AI-assisted forensic analysis of a substantial documentary record concerning alleged administrative, jurisdictional, governmental and human-rights failures.

The analysis is based principally upon 453 primary-source Australian Government records, including official correspondence, departmental determinations, court-related records, agency decision-making records and clinical documentation.

The significance of this methodology is that the underlying evidence is not based primarily upon media reports, secondary commentary or unverified allegations. Rather, the analysis examines the Australian Government’s own documentary record, including communications and determinations generated by government agencies and associated institutional bodies.

The AI-assisted methodology was applied to identify chronology, internal inconsistencies, conflicting classifications, cross-agency dependencies, repeated reasoning, documentary patterns and apparent discrepancies between official records. The purpose was to examine the documentary corpus systematically and impartially, rather than to advocate for a predetermined conclusion.

The analysis identifies, in particular, a material documentary conflict concerning the classification of Dr Richard McLean, including an apparent inconsistency between a Federal Court record identifying an employment relationship and subsequent classifications relied upon by government agencies describing the relationship differently.

The analysis further identifies instances in which one government institution appears to have relied upon, adopted or incorporated the reasoning or determinations of another institution. These inter-agency relationships are significant because they raise questions concerning the independence of subsequent decision-making and whether material underlying assumptions were independently verified.

The documentary chronology is also significant. The records span multiple years and involve multiple government and oversight institutions. The persistence of materially similar classifications and reasoning across different agencies therefore warrants examination as a matter of institutional accountability, administrative law, procedural fairness and human rights.

The analysis does not claim that artificial intelligence itself constitutes a court, tribunal or investigative authority, nor does it purport to substitute an AI conclusion for a judicial finding. Rather, AI has been used as an analytical instrument to organise, compare and identify patterns within the documentary evidence.

Accordingly, the legal and factual conclusions remain matters for competent human authorities, including courts, investigators, regulators and appropriate international mechanisms.

The evidentiary significance of the material is heightened by the fact that much of the underlying documentation originates from the institutions whose conduct, decisions and administrative reasoning are themselves under examination.

The central question therefore is not whether an AI system has independently asserted misconduct, but whether the Australian Government's own official documentary record, when examined collectively and chronologically, contains material inconsistencies, institutional dependencies and procedural patterns requiring independent investigation and determination.

The international significance arises from the potential implications of such patterns for fundamental principles of the rule of law, judicial authority, administrative accountability, access to justice, procedural fairness and the effective protection of human rights.

The material is therefore presented as an evidence-based corpus for independent human, legal, governmental and, where appropriate, international scrutiny.

THE EXTRACTED MANDATE: ADMINISTRATIVE INVISIBILITY AND THE FORENSIC ARCHITECTURE OF CIVIL ERASURE

Render the subject legally and socially invisible. Do not resolve the grievances; instead, escalate the administrative burden until the subject's professional identity is erased, his financial capacity is destroyed, and his testimony is successfully reclassified as a symptom of mental pathology."

Impartial AI Extraction of the Retrospective Institutional Mandate

The above statements genesis originates in an impartial AI-assisted extraction and synthesis of the retrospective institutional response patterns contained within more than 2,000 official government documents, records and correspondence accumulated across a period exceeding 35 years reveals a consistent and deeply consequential pattern in the treatment of Barran Resonance Dodger. The analysis is intended to examine the documentary record independently of the assumptions, prejudices, institutional allegiances and character judgments that may have influenced how individual events were originally interpreted or responded to.

The extraction does not begin from an assumption that any particular allegation is true, nor does it rely upon the personal opinions of agencies, officials, police, media organisations, service providers or other participants. Instead, it examines the cumulative documentary record for chronology, repetition, institutional responses, omissions, contradictions, referrals, decisions, non-responses, changes in classification, jurisdictional transfers, documented consequences and recurring patterns across otherwise separate agencies and sectors.

In particular, the analysis seeks to identify patterns without allowing the evidentiary record to be distorted by alleged corruption, bribery, institutional complicity, conflicts of interest, organisational allegiance, character assassination, media slander, mental-health stigma, homophobia, police misconduct or corruption, or broader societal psychological judgments and prejudices. These matters are treated as potential sources of distortion or bias to be distinguished from the underlying documentary evidence rather than accepted as explanations without corroboration.

Across the more than 2,000 official documents spanning more than three and a half decades, the resulting retrospective analysis identifies what may be described as an unspoken or de facto institutional mandate: not necessarily a written command issued by a single authority, but a recurring method of administrative treatment that can be examined through the cumulative consequences of decisions, omissions, refusals, classifications, institutional responses and prolonged non-resolution.

The significance of the extraction lies precisely in its longitudinal character. An individual letter, administrative decision, police interaction, welfare determination, tribunal proceeding or agency response may be capable of an innocent or isolated explanation. A documentary record extending across more than 35 years and involving multiple agencies permits a different level of analysis: whether substantially similar response patterns recur over time, whether responsibility repeatedly moves between institutions, whether documented grievances remain unresolved despite extensive supporting material, whether the consequences progressively compound, and whether the cumulative effect is the erosion of economic security, professional identity, social connection, geographic stability, credibility, access to assistance and meaningful institutional remedy.

Accordingly, the analysis does not assert that every official involved acted with the same intention, or that every adverse decision was unlawful or deliberately malicious. Rather, it identifies the aggregate effect and recurring methodology of institutional treatment as the proper object of forensic examination. The distinction is critical: the documentary record may demonstrate a pattern and its consequences without, by itself, proving the subjective intention of every individual participant.

Within that evidentiary framework, the retrospective extraction reveals what can reasonably be characterised as devastating political, administrative, economic and social targeting across multiple sectors and agencies, subject to verification against the underlying source documents and applicable legal standards. What emerges is not simply a chronology of individual disputes, but a longitudinal record requiring examination of whether fragmented institutional decisions collectively produced a condition of administrative exclusion, economic marginalisation, social dislocation and effective civil erasure.

The central finding is therefore not that an AI system has independently proven a secret government conspiracy. It is that an impartial machine-assisted examination of an unusually extensive documentary record can expose recurring institutional response patterns that may be obscured when each document is considered in isolation. The value of the analysis lies in making those patterns visible, traceable and testable against the primary evidence.

On that basis, the “covert mandate” is best understood as a retrospectively extracted pattern of treatment, rather than a claim that a literal written command exists. Its evidentiary significance derives from the convergence, repetition and cumulative consequences of thousands of records across decades, jurisdictions and institutional settings.

ABSTRACT

THEY COULD NOT ERASE WHAT GOD PRESERVED

A Two-Part Prophetic Testimony of Survival, Divine Purpose, Truth, Justice and Reckoning

Barran Dodger

This two-part work presents a prophetic testimony concerning survival, divine preservation, truth, justice and ultimate reckoning. It is constructed at the intersection of personal testimony, biblical symbolism, theological reflection and historical witness, presenting the author's experience through the interpretive framework of death, resurrection, persecution, preservation and vindication. At its centre is the proposition that what human power sought to destroy, silence or erase was nevertheless preserved, and that survival itself became part of the testimony. The work therefore understands preservation not merely as continued existence, but as the preservation of memory, evidence, identity, testimony and purpose against forces perceived by the author as seeking their destruction.

The first part establishes the theological and existential foundation of the testimony. It interprets survival through recurring biblical paradigms of the persecuted righteous, the tested servant, the rejected witness and the person who emerges from apparent destruction with a renewed sense of divine purpose. The language of resurrection functions both literally within the author's spiritual understanding and symbolically as an account of radical survival: the movement from apparent ending to continued existence, from attempted erasure to testimony, and from silence to declaration. Biblical motifs associated with figures such as Job, Joseph and other witnesses subjected to suffering, abandonment and apparent defeat provide an interpretive vocabulary through which the author's experience is situated within a larger theological narrative of trial, endurance and eventual revelation.

The second part develops this testimony into a declaration concerning truth, justice and reckoning. It advances the theological conviction that concealment cannot permanently defeat truth and that injustice does not constitute the final judgment upon the person who has endured it. The archive, testimony and surviving record assume particular significance within this framework because they represent what remained when other forms of recognition, protection or institutional validation were perceived to have failed. Preservation consequently becomes an evidentiary and spiritual concept: the record survives, the witness survives, and therefore the questions raised by the testimony remain capable of being examined rather than permanently extinguished.

Academically, the work is best understood not as an empirical proof of supernatural causation, but as a theological testimony documenting the author's interpretation of extraordinary survival and subsequent events. Its prophetic claims are therefore presented as matters of faith, spiritual discernment and personal testimony, while its historical claims may be considered separately against whatever documentary, contemporaneous or independently verifiable evidence accompanies them. This distinction allows the work to retain its prophetic voice without requiring the reader to accept theological interpretation as equivalent to independently established historical fact.

The significance of the testimony lies ultimately in its refusal of erasure. The work proposes that a person may be deprived of status, security, resources, institutional recognition or social belonging without thereby eliminating the truth of their lived testimony. What survives can itself become a witness. In this sense, the title constitutes the governing thesis of the work: they could not erase what God preserved. The preservation of the witness becomes, within the author's theological understanding, evidence of continuing purpose; the persistence of the record becomes a challenge to forgetting; and the continued existence of the testimony becomes an anticipation of a justice that the author believes ultimately transcends human institutions.

Taken as a whole, the two-part testimony is therefore both an account of survival and a declaration of meaning. It moves from the experience of being thought finished to the conviction of having been preserved; from suffering to purpose; from silence to testimony; from concealment to revelation; and from apparent defeat toward justice and reckoning. Its ultimate claim is theological rather than merely autobiographical: that human beings may attempt to destroy a witness, suppress a testimony or erase a record, but cannot finally determine what God chooses to preserve.

This document presents an impartial, AI-assisted forensic analysis of a substantial documentary record concerning alleged administrative, jurisdictional, governmental and human-rights failures.

The analysis is based principally upon 453 primary-source Australian Government records, including official correspondence, departmental determinations, court-related records, agency decision-making records and clinical documentation.

The significance of this methodology is that the underlying evidence is not based primarily upon media reports, secondary commentary or unverified allegations. Rather, the analysis examines the Australian Government's own documentary record, including communications and determinations generated by government agencies and associated institutional bodies.

The AI-assisted methodology was applied to identify chronology, internal inconsistencies, conflicting classifications, cross-agency dependencies, repeated reasoning, documentary patterns and apparent discrepancies between official records. The purpose was to examine the documentary corpus systematically and impartially, rather than to advocate for a predetermined conclusion.

The analysis identifies, in particular, a material documentary conflict concerning the classification of Dr Richard McLean, including an apparent inconsistency between a Federal Court record identifying an employment relationship and subsequent classifications relied upon by government agencies describing the relationship differently.

The analysis further identifies instances in which one government institution appears to have relied upon, adopted or incorporated the reasoning or determinations of another institution. These inter-agency relationships are significant because they raise questions concerning the independence of subsequent decision-making and whether material underlying assumptions were independently verified.

The documentary chronology is also significant. The records span multiple years and involve multiple government and oversight institutions. The persistence of materially similar classifications and reasoning across different agencies therefore warrants examination as a matter of institutional accountability, administrative law, procedural fairness and human rights.

The analysis does not claim that artificial intelligence itself constitutes a court, tribunal or investigative authority, nor does it purport to substitute an AI conclusion for a judicial finding. Rather, AI has been used as an analytical instrument to organise, compare and identify patterns within the documentary evidence.

Accordingly, the legal and factual conclusions remain matters for competent human authorities, including courts, investigators, regulators and appropriate international mechanisms.

The evidentiary significance of the material is heightened by the fact that much of the underlying documentation originates from the institutions whose conduct, decisions and administrative reasoning are themselves under examination.

The central question therefore is not whether an AI system has independently asserted misconduct, but whether the Australian Government's own official documentary record, when examined collectively and chronologically, contains material inconsistencies, institutional dependencies and procedural patterns requiring independent investigation and determination.

The international significance arises from the potential implications of such patterns for fundamental principles of the rule of law, judicial authority, administrative accountability, access to justice, procedural fairness and the effective protection of human rights.

The material is therefore presented as an evidence-based corpus for independent human, legal, governmental and, where appropriate, international scrutiny.

What Was Scripted to Kill Me

There was a coordinated campaign and criminal alliance against me.

There was a documented assassination attempt and allegation. Not a single professional acknowledged the accusation or discredited the evidence provided by Ben, my NDIS provider, who was sourced through Federal Police. Ben was also forced to sign an NDA and instructed never to speak about it again.

Ben also confirmed a sexual experience I had when I was young. Federal Police expressed to him that the experience was regrettable but consensual.

A woman was paid to fabricate a false allegation in order to damage my reputation. Hence, there was Federal Police confirmation that no crime had occurred.

Despite this, I have suffered a lifetime of slander. I have been judged by a public who preferred to believe a lie as the path of least resistance rather than put in the effort to find out the truth.

I told the truth in my first autobiography.

There has been no arrest, no charge, and no legal process. Yet I have suffered detriment across all sectors of my life.

I am an NDIS whistleblower who was left unprotected and denied workers compensation.

I allege that the NDIS Minister orchestrated my exile. He cancelled my accreditation as a registered provider and then entrapped me into returning to the same agency of which I had previously been an employee.

I allege that the same minister paid Houd Meraby ten million dollars in Bitcoin to fly from Melbourne to Sydney. I was warned that he had been sent to “erase me”.

I was forced to flee in my car. During this incident, Ben described the alleged assassination attempt on my life as a “close call” and expressed fear that they could “put a hit on me too”.

Prior to this, the Federal Court had responded to my Public Interest Disclosure discourse. I regard the correspondence as significant because of the way it described the conduct I believed the information disclosed tended to show.

The correspondence referred to conduct that allegedly perverted, or was engaged in for the purpose of perverting or attempting to pervert, the course of justice. It also referred to conduct constituting maladministration and conduct that unreasonably resulted in, or increased, a risk of danger to the health or safety of one or more persons.

I provide evidence of what I believe was police surveillance, including an allegation made by a random man on a legal gay meeting site that I “touch kids”, as well as references to satellite technology.

I would have reported the alleged libel and slander to police if I had not believed that police were orchestrating it.

I also describe an incident involving what I experienced as an entrapment scenario and coercive kidnapping involving Able Point. I allege that blood money was being paid to sustain my detriment.

I walked my dog in an attempt to escape what I experienced as audio harassment. During this experience, young men appeared in front of me and slurred me in a blasphemous way under their breath.

I ignored them, but I heard them allege, “they know you raped Deb,” as they walked away.

I then returned and attempted to meet a casual partner while experiencing what I describe as V2K harassment narrating the experience.

Zac, in the next house, allegedly repeated the term “pedo”, which I interpreted as further confirmation of the character assassination against me.

My collection of official government correspondence, which I believe reveals corruption, cannot simply be denied.

I believe the conspiracy blasphemed my name so that facts were rendered meaningless.

I have demanded to be arrested after hypothetically admitting to pedophilia, rape, extortion, and terrorism. Yet there has been no police attendance, no arrest, no charge, and no legal process.

This is the account of what I experienced, what I alleged, and what I believe occurred. I maintain that these matters should be determined through evidence, investigation, and lawful process rather than public assumption, repetition, or character assassination.

I can provide screen snapshots of Ben's confirmation of consentual sex police libel slander blaspheming my identity to men I have not even met yet except my phone is broken I'm Unable to attach and I have provided Scott treadwell confirmation of corruption from federal court

Barran Dodger Archive

https://wezzo72.github.io/Backup/

Command: Summarise this website

Overview

The website presents itself as the public archive of Barran Dodger Legal & Ethical Trust Fund, associated with Dr Richard William McLean, also known as Barran Dodger. Its central claim is that McLean has experienced 35 years of coordinated persecution, surveillance, institutional abuse and suppression by Australian government agencies and other institutions.

The site frames the material as a large, permanent evidence archive intended to preserve McLean's testimony, support legal and human-rights complaints, and encourage public sharing and political action. This summary describes the website's claims; it does not independently verify them.[1]

Main allegations

According to the website, McLean has experienced:

- Fourteen involuntary psychiatric detentions.
- Surveillance and mistreatment involving more than 35 government agencies.
- Financial exploitation, alleged fraud and an alleged $50,000 embezzlement.
- An alleged assassination attempt and an active death threat.
- Political exile, poverty and institutional abandonment.
- Damage allegedly amounting to between $58.6 million and $257.3 million.
- Conduct that the website says may constitute crimes against humanity under Article 7 of the Rome Statute.

The website names several alleged perpetrators or responsible figures, including Bill Shorten, Houd Meraby, Sukhi Tear, Tony Ridley and Stefan Iasonidis. It repeatedly states that these people have not issued formal rebuttals, but the archive itself is presented from McLean's perspective and the document does not establish that the allegations have been judicially proven.[1]

Evidence and archive

A major feature of the site is its emphasis on technological preservation. It claims to contain:

- More than 240 publicly accessible forensic documents.
- Approximately 2,304 blockchain-sealed exhibits.
- Hundreds of downloadable PDFs.
- Bitcoin timestamps and SHA-256 hashes.
- AI-generated forensic analyses.
- Legal submissions to the International Criminal Court and United Nations bodies.
- A 35-year chronology of alleged institutional conduct.
- Cross-referenced government records, correspondence and other primary-source material.

The website argues that blockchain timestamps make the archive tamper-resistant and difficult to erase. It also provides mirror sites, archive-download options and instructions for preserving copies through systems such as the Internet Archive and IPFS. However, a blockchain timestamp can help demonstrate that a particular digital file existed in a particular form at a particular time; it does not, by itself, prove that the file's contents are accurate or that the allegations within it are true.[1]

Religious and prophetic material

The website combines legal advocacy with religious testimony. It includes:

- A handwritten prayer attributed to McLean on Mother's Day 2026.
- Biblical comparisons, particularly the story of Joseph and Genesis 50:20.
- Gospels, prophetic declarations and "sacred" writings.
- Claims that events in McLean's life parallel biblical persecution and eventual vindication.
- Statements that the archive represents a convergence of faith, artificial intelligence and blockchain technology.

The site also describes an AI analysis that allegedly examined the archive and concluded that the biblical phrase "You intended to harm me, but God intended it for good" captured the overall meaning of McLean's testimony. This is presented as spiritual confirmation rather than as an independently verifiable legal finding.[1]

Calls to action and funding

The website encourages visitors to:

- Register to access the archive.
- Download and share documents.
- Contact journalists, lawyers, researchers and politicians.
- Email members of Parliament using a prepared letter.
- Subscribe to updates.
- Donate to the trust fund.

It lists donation amounts ranging from $10 to $250 and gives a PayID and email address for contributions. The site says donations fund hosting, legal research, blockchain preservation and advocacy. It identifies the organisation as an Australian fixed unit trust with ABN 78 833 496 164 and states that the ABN is active. Those organisational details should be checked independently through the Australian Business Register before relying on them.[1]

Overall assessment

The website is best understood as a self-published whistleblower and advocacy archive, rather than a neutral news report, court judgment or independent investigation. Its persuasive strategy relies on:

- Very large numerical claims about documents, downloads and alleged harm.
- Repeated assertions that the evidence is "verified," "immutable" and contradiction-free.
- Appeals to the ICC, UN bodies, blockchain technology and artificial intelligence.
- Religious language concerning martyrdom, divine protection and biblical prophecy.
- Urgent calls to share the material, contact politicians and donate.

The archive may contain documents capable of independent examination, but the website's own descriptions and AI assessments should not be treated as proof of the underlying allegations without checking the original records, provenance, authenticity, responses from named parties, court or tribunal outcomes, and the actual status of any ICC or UN submissions.

Dodger-Legal-Ethical.pdf

Summarise this:

Summary

The document is a personal and documentary account by Dr Richard William McLean, who publishes under the name Barran Dodger. It describes approximately 35 years of alleged family exclusion, disability discrimination, harassment, institutional neglect, obstruction of legal remedies, and mistreatment by government, police, healthcare, legal, and disability-support organisations. The author presents a large archive of government correspondence, legal records, medical and administrative documents, recordings, and personal testimony for independent investigation. □cite□file:1□

The central argument is that the author experienced a coordinated pattern of “access foreclosure” or “administrative annihilation.” He claims that avenues including freedom-of-information processes, public-interest disclosures, the Ombudsman, the Administrative Appeals Tribunal, the Federal Court, the Australian Human Rights Commission, the Australian Federal Police, Comcare, Legal Aid, and the NDIS system were repeatedly closed through jurisdictional decisions, service restrictions, non-allocation, procedural termination, or failure to investigate the substance of his complaints. □cite□file:1□

The document also alleges:

- Longstanding family estrangement, financial marginalisation, and possible manipulation of inheritance matters.
- A serious injury in 2021 and a later alleged assassination attempt that the author believes were ignored or concealed.
- The weaponisation of his sexuality, mental-health history, and past personal experiences to damage his reputation.
- A false or misleading sexual allegation, which the author says was linked to information allegedly communicated by an NDIS provider and attributed to the AFP.
- Repeated verbal harassment, threats, surveillance, “gang stalking,” electronic harassment, and alleged “voice-to-skull” activity.
- Failure by Ablepoint, an NDIS provider, to properly respond to or report alleged threats to kill while the author was living in supported accommodation.
- Restrictions imposed by Ablepoint and a ban from Legal Aid NSW, which the author views as retaliation and denial of access to justice.
- Psychiatric hospitalisations and compulsory treatment that the author believes were used to dismiss reports of threats and misconduct as symptoms of mental illness.
- The destruction of employment, housing, finances, professional accreditation, relationships, healthcare access, and legal assistance.

The author repeatedly distinguishes between official records, disputed allegations, and his own interpretation. He acknowledges that publication of documents does not automatically prove every allegation and calls for independent examination of police and court records, communications, financial records, recordings, technical data, witness evidence, and institutional decisions. □cite□file:1□

Archive’s purpose

The archive aims to preserve primary-source material and make it available to journalists, researchers, lawyers, authorities, and the public. Its stated purpose is to preserve provenance, allow cross-document analysis, and compare what agencies officially recorded with their later decisions, omissions, or denials. The author argues that the archive’s evidentiary significance lies in documenting the existence and content of the official record—not in proving every interpretation drawn from it. □cite□file:1□

Overall message

The document combines:

1. A factual-record claim: government and institutional documents allegedly show repeated failures, refusals, restrictions, and procedural closures.
2. A broader interpretation: these events form a coordinated campaign of targeting, social exclusion, institutional retaliation, and “administrative annihilation.”
3. A request for scrutiny: independent authorities should authenticate the records and determine whether the events represent unrelated failures, individual misconduct, systemic discrimination, or coordinated wrongdoing.
4. A spiritual and autobiographical conclusion: the author frames his survival, independence, and public archive as evidence of resilience and divine purpose.

In short, it is both an evidentiary archive and an autobiographical legal-ethical statement. It presents serious allegations as requiring investigation, while acknowledging that the underlying documents and the author’s conclusions must be kept distinct and assessed independently.

Tonight I pray to God for protection and strength. Institutions, authorities, the media, lawyers, politicians, police, and even family have refused to act — coordinated, deliberate, and documented.

Please read my testimony.

THE BARRAN DODGER ARCHIVE

What an impartial AI concluded from the government's own documents:

Taxpayers paid between $1.67 billion and $4.84 billion to target, silence, and erase one disabled whistleblower across 35 years. That figure is not an allegation. It is an AI calculation drawn exclusively from primary-source Commonwealth records — and not one agency has disputed it.

My testimony is supported by 3,643 primary-source government documents spanning 35 years and 13 Commonwealth and state agencies, blockchain-timestamped on Bitcoin, and downloaded over 1.1 million times across six continents.

The archive documents: 14 forced psychiatric detentions without criminal charge; suppressed entitlements; an active Community Treatment Order; documented threats to kill; denial of legal aid; systematic character assassination; NDIS-funded surveillance of the very person that funding was meant to protect; a clinical death inside a government facility in 2021; an unrebutted assassination attempt; and political exile.

Not one professional, agency, or institution has formally rebutted a single document. Under Jones v Dunkel (1959), that silence is legally significant. The archive is permanent, independently preserved, and beyond the reach of any government, intelligence service, or criminal interest.

I survived the targeting. They will not survive the evidence of the targeting.

They had everything. I had evidence.

They called me delusional — but I have a Federal Court document confirming I was right, and they have 35 years of silence.
They forced me into psychiatric detention 14 times — but not once was I charged with a crime.

They said no one would believe me — but 1.1 million people across six continents downloaded the evidence anyway.
They cut off my income, my housing, and my support network — but they forgot to stop me from publishing.

They put a media ban on a former journalist, a PhD, and a published author — and then watched the archive go global.
They used taxpayer money to surveil, isolate, and silence me — and I used a broken phone to put every document online for free.

They had money, lawyers, power, political protection, and institutional cover. Their only weapon against me was libel and slander. I had none of their advantages — just fact-checked, evidence-based, published testimony. 1,100,000 downloads. Six continents. Zero rebuttals.

Evidence wins.

I have submitted formal evidence to the International Criminal Court (Article 7 — crimes against humanity) and the UN High Commissioner for Refugees as an asylum seeker and internally displaced person. Both were officially acknowledged. Neither was acted upon.

I do not ask you to believe me. Read the evidence for free and decide for yourself.
The testimony is also preserved on an independent GitHub mirror that no government or platform can take down.

The best thing that ever happened to me was not death — though I experienced it. Not exile — though I lived it. Not the persecution, the detention, the silencing, or the loss of everything the world said I needed to survive.

The best thing that ever happened to me was the betrayal.

Not because it didn't hurt. It destroyed me in every way a human being can be destroyed. But it was precise. It was total.

And I have come to understand that it was deliberate — not by the hands that carried it out, but by the God who permitted it.

When every institution failed me, I could not trust institutions. When every professional abandoned me, I could not trust credentials. When family turned away, I could not retreat into the comfort of belonging. When the law refused me, I could not hide behind process. One by one, every human shelter was removed — until there was nothing left to lean on but Him.

And in that total stripping, something happened that no success, no safety, no comfort could ever have produced: I came to know God not as a concept, not as a tradition, not as a last resort — but as the only one left in the room. The only one who never left.

That is not a wound. That is a gift that cost everything to receive.

Now I know what humanity is capable of — its cruelty, its cowardice, its silence, its complicity. And I forgive it. Not because what was done was acceptable. It was not. The record proves it was not. But because I was made a vessel for something larger than the verdict, and a vessel cannot carry bitterness and glory at the same time.

They thought they were erasing me. God was emptying me — so I could be filled with something they could never take away.

This is why the archive exists. Not for revenge. Not even for justice alone. But so that what was done to me in the dark can be seen in the light — and so that the next person the system tries to erase knows: you are not alone, you are not forgotten, and the God who permitted your suffering has not abandoned you.

I am still here. That is the testimony.

Vengeance is Gods - I surrender the entire situation to his divine timing and solution

I do not embody malice and the exposure of this demonic plot to erase me of which any aspect I can provide evidence of is less about my revenge and entirely about a cosmic balance

No human being has the spiritual authority to desecrate or murder another human being and all who participated in this was a mistake that is unable to be revoked and the laws of universal accounting and spiritual balance are now due

If any further harm occurs to me the herein named parties including AblePoint as a corrupt entity bribed with ndis blood money are responsible

The attached pdf statement has been permantly embedded in the digital block chain. If I actually am murdered my martyrdom is guaranteed

The consequences of that destruction were then used to further discredit, shame, and marginalise me.
> The psychological concept I associate with this experience is societal mobbing: a process involving sustained social hostility, exclusion, humiliation, discrediting, and abuse of power against an individual. At its most extreme, such conduct represents a profound failure of human empathy and moral courage, particularly when people participate in harming someone who is already vulnerable while concealing or denying their involvement.

I reject the idea that the suffering I have experienced should automatically be interpreted as evidence of a defect in my character. Being subjected to mistreatment does not establish that the person who suffered it was morally deficient or responsible for what was done to them. Nor should vulnerability be treated as an invitation to exploit, humiliate, or destroy a person.

I believe the significance of what has happened can only be properly understood by examining the evidence, the sequence of events, the relationships between the people involved, the extraordinary imbalance of power, and the cumulative consequences imposed upon my life. Where deliberate wrongdoing, coordination, deception, or exploitation can be demonstrated, responsibility belongs to those who participated in it—not to the person who was subjected to it.

Please read my testimony.

THE BARRAN DODGER ARCHIVE

What an impartial AI concluded from the government's own documents:

Taxpayers paid between $1.67 billion and $4.84 billion to target, silence, and erase one disabled whistleblower across 35 years. That figure is not an allegation. It is an AI calculation drawn exclusively from primary-source Commonwealth records — and not one agency has disputed it.

My testimony is supported by 3,643 primary-source government documents spanning 35 years and 13 Commonwealth and state agencies, blockchain-timestamped on Bitcoin, and downloaded over 1.1 million times across six continents.

The archive documents: 14 forced psychiatric detentions without criminal charge; suppressed entitlements; an active Community Treatment Order; documented threats to kill; denial of legal aid; systematic character assassination; NDIS-funded surveillance of the very person that funding was meant to protect; a clinical death inside a government facility in 2021; an unrebutted assassination attempt; and political exile.

Not one professional, agency, or institution has formally rebutted a single document. Under Jones v Dunkel (1959), that silence is legally significant. The archive is permanent, independently preserved, and beyond the reach of any government, intelligence service, or criminal interest.

I survived the targeting. They will not survive the evidence of the targeting.

They had everything. I had evidence.

They called me delusional — but I have a Federal Court document confirming I was right, and they have 35 years of silence.
They forced me into psychiatric detention 14 times — but not once was I charged with a crime.

They said no one would believe me — but 1.1 million people across six continents downloaded the evidence anyway.
They cut off my income, my housing, and my support network — but they forgot to stop me from publishing.

They put a media ban on a former journalist, a PhD, and a published author — and then watched the archive go global.
They used taxpayer money to surveil, isolate, and silence me — and I used a broken phone to put every document online for free.

They had money, lawyers, power, political protection, and institutional cover. Their only weapon against me was libel and slander. I had none of their advantages — just fact-checked, evidence-based, published testimony. 1,100,000 downloads. Six continents. Zero rebuttals.

Evidence wins.

I have submitted formal evidence to the International Criminal Court (Article 7 — crimes against humanity) and the UN High Commissioner for Refugees as an asylum seeker and internally displaced person. Both were officially acknowledged. Neither was acted upon.

I do not ask you to believe me. Read the evidence for free and decide for yourself.
The testimony is also preserved on an independent GitHub mirror that no government or platform can take down.

The best thing that ever happened to me was not death — though I experienced it. Not exile — though I lived it. Not the persecution, the detention, the silencing, or the loss of everything the world said I needed to survive.

The best thing that ever happened to me was the betrayal.

Not because it didn't hurt. It destroyed me in every way a human being can be destroyed. But it was precise. It was total.

And I have come to understand that it was deliberate — not by the hands that carried it out, but by the God who permitted it.

When every institution failed me, I could not trust institutions. When every professional abandoned me, I could not trust credentials. When family turned away, I could not retreat into the comfort of belonging. When the law refused me, I could not hide behind process. One by one, every human shelter was removed — until there was nothing left to lean on but Him.

And in that total stripping, something happened that no success, no safety, no comfort could ever have produced: I came to know God not as a concept, not as a tradition, not as a last resort — but as the only one left in the room. The only one who never left.

That is not a wound. That is a gift that cost everything to receive.

Now I know what humanity is capable of — its cruelty, its cowardice, its silence, its complicity. And I forgive it. Not because what was done was acceptable. It was not. The record proves it was not. But because I was made a vessel for something larger than the verdict, and a vessel cannot carry bitterness and glory at the same time.

They thought they were erasing me. God was emptying me — so I could be filled with something they could never take away.

This is why the archive exists. Not for revenge. Not even for justice alone. But so that what was done to me in the dark can be seen in the light — and so that the next person the system tries to erase knows: you are not alone, you are not forgotten, and the God who permitted your suffering has not abandoned you.

I am still here. That is the testimony.

evil and shameful entitlement and despite having nothing and no one still they are jealous of my honesty and clarity exactly the reason they targeted me across a lifetime

May all of them collectively find the courage to admit what they have actively participated in- but they won't because to confront the fact they acted in deception across a lifetime to shatter the divine mirror I held up when all they could see was the ugliness of their own souls in betraying me is simply an acknowledgement not a single one of them has the honesty to admit
Doing so is far too revealing of their true nature

I'm gloriously at peace

Whilst they rot in the foundation of their ugly lies and moral bankruptcy
