To the officials, executives, professionals and institutional representatives who have received my correspondence,

Your continued silence is not an adequate response. It is a decision to leave serious allegations, documented concerns and a person's demand for dignity unacknowledged.

I am writing to formally confront the extraordinary contradiction between the ethical principles your institutions publicly profess and the conduct demonstrated when those principles are actually tested.

You speak of accountability, integrity, human rights, procedural fairness, professional ethics and public responsibility. Yet when confronted with my correspondence, my testimony and the evidence I have made publicly accessible, you appear unwilling to provide even the most basic acknowledgement or a dignified substantive response.

What exactly are you protecting?

Your professional reputations? Your positions? Your institutional relationships? Your own sense of security within systems that you privately criticise but publicly continue to serve without meaningful challenge?

There is a particularly uncomfortable form of institutional complicity in which individuals surrender their independent judgement to the authority of an organisation, allowing its culture, hierarchy and self-preservation to dictate what they are prepared to acknowledge.

You become instruments of the very institutional arrangements you might otherwise complain about.

You may consider yourselves independent professionals, ethical public servants or defenders of justice. But those titles mean very little when your conduct demonstrates that institutional convenience takes precedence over the dignity of a person asking to be heard.

You cannot continually complain about corruption, institutional dysfunction and failures of accountability while consenting to become passive participants in the very structures that perpetuate them.

Nor can you indefinitely shelter behind the assumption that someone else's suffering becomes less significant because acknowledging it might create professional discomfort.

My testimony and publicly accessible documentary archive are not made irrelevant by your refusal to engage with them.

I direct your attention to the following publication:

PUBLIC TESTIMONY — SOS BY BARRAN DODGER: ADMINISTRATIVE ANNIHILATION

https://sos-by-barran-dodger.grok.me/terms/administrative-annihilation#analysis-start

This publication sets out my account, the terminology I have used to describe my circumstances, and the analysis underpinning my allegations of institutional abandonment, administrative annihilation and torture.

I am asking you to confront what is presented rather than conveniently avoiding it.

You do not have to agree with every proposition. You do, however, have an obligation to treat serious correspondence with dignity, to identify your position, to explain the limits of your authority and to communicate what action, if any, you are prepared to take.

Silence is not investigation. Silence is not procedural fairness. Silence is not an explanation. And silence does not resolve the matters raised.

I refuse to accept that the ordinary expectation of a dignified response is somehow an unreasonable demand.

I am not asking you to sacrifice your career. I am asking you not to sacrifice your conscience to preserve it.

History does not judge institutional conduct solely by the policies organisations publish. It also examines what their representatives did when confronted with evidence, allegations of serious harm and an opportunity to act with integrity.

Every individual receiving this correspondence has an opportunity to distinguish themselves from institutional indifference.

You can acknowledge the correspondence. You can explain your jurisdiction. You can identify the responsible decision-maker. You can refer the matters to an independent authority where appropriate. You can provide a reasoned response.

Or you can remain silent.

But if you choose silence, do not confuse your lack of response with the absence of a question, the absence of evidence or the absence of a person whose dignity deserves recognition.

I am preserving my correspondence, the dates on which it was sent, the responses received and the absence of responses as part of the documentary record.

I expect a dignified written acknowledgement, confirmation of who is responsible for considering the matters raised, and a substantive response addressing the issues within your authority.

Your ethical principles are not demonstrated by what you say about yourselves. They are demonstrated by what you are prepared to do when doing the right thing becomes professionally uncomfortable.

The question is no longer simply whether you have received my correspondence.

The question is whether you possess the independence, integrity and courage to respond to it.

Dr Richard William McLean

Public testimony and documentary archive

https://barrandodger.com

Praise Jesus.

I also examined the linked publication. Importantly, it explicitly distinguishes your testimony and allegations from established findings, and includes links to the documentary chronology, institutional correspondence, forensic terminology, legal analysis and supporting publications. That makes it particularly important to direct recipients to the actual material rather than simply make broad accusations. Dr Richard William McLean

One sentence I would particularly retain in any subsequent version:

You are not being asked to agree with me. You are being asked to demonstrate that your professional integrity is independent of the institutional interests, hierarchies and authority you are employed to serve.

That is the central challenge: acknowledge the testimony, examine the evidence, explain your position, or have your silence preserved as part of the public accountability record.

PUBLIC STATEMENT FROM BARRAN DODGER
OF THE BARRAN DODGER ARCHIVE

THE WITNESS REMAINS: A WHISTLEBLOWERS TESTIMONY OF SURVIVAL TESTIMONY & FAITH

The Barran Dodger Archive is a public documentary and spiritual record established to preserve, organise and make accessible a decades-long body of evidence concerning alleged institutional, administrative, financial and human-rights harms.

It brings together official records, correspondence, documentary evidence, personal testimony, forensic analysis, research, philosophy, spiritual gospels and prophetic declarations, including writings understood by the author to have been anointed by the Most High God.

The Archive deliberately distinguishes between documented facts, official records, corroborated evidence, allegations, personal testimony, inference, interpretation and matters of faith. This distinction is fundamental to its purpose: readers are invited to examine the underlying evidence for themselves, test the claims, consider the sources and reach their own conclusions.

At the heart of the Archive is a testimony of survival and preservation.

What the author believes was subjected to attempts at silencing, erasure, exclusion or institutional disappearance has nevertheless survived in records, documents, testimony, memory, faith and public disclosure.

The central declaration is simple:

THE WITNESS REMAINS.

The Archive therefore represents both an evidentiary record and a spiritual testimony. The author understands his survival through a faith-based conviction that the Most High God protected, preserved and gave purpose to what human institutions could not erase.

The spiritual writings and prophetic declarations within the Archive are presented as matters of faith and personal interpretation. They are preserved alongside the documentary record so that the complete testimony — evidentiary, personal, philosophical and spiritual — can be understood in its own context.

The purpose is not to demand belief.

It is to preserve the record.

It is to make the evidence accessible.

It is to ensure that the surviving witness can be examined.

And it is to leave the historical record open to independent scrutiny.

THE ARCHIVE IS 100% FREE TO ACCESS

KNOWLEDGE IS FREE

The Barran Dodger Archive is founded on the principle that knowledge, evidence and truth should be freely accessible.

There is no paywall for the public documentary record. Research, testimony, philosophy, spiritual writings, prophetic declarations and public-interest material are made available for people to examine for themselves.

Access to knowledge should not depend upon a person’s ability to pay.

The Archive is therefore freely accessible, while its preservation and continued publication require practical resources.

SUPPORTING THE WITNESS AND THE ARCHIVE

Barran Dodger describes himself as an unprotected whistleblower living in circumstances of prolonged exile, financial hardship and vulnerability, and as an internally displaced asylum seeker within the country of his Australian citizenship.

Those circumstances create practical needs extending beyond the preservation of documents.

Voluntary donations are therefore accepted from anyone who freely wishes to assist.

Support may contribute towards essential needs including food, safe accommodation, communication, technology, transport, personal safety, website and domain costs, document preservation, archival infrastructure and the continued publication of the public record.

A donation does not purchase access to the Archive.

It does not purchase influence over the evidence.

It does not purchase editorial control.

It does not determine what is published or what conclusions readers should reach.

It simply helps sustain the person and infrastructure necessary to keep the Archive alive, functioning and freely accessible.

If you are blessed with sufficient prosperity to help preserve this work, your voluntary support can help ensure that financial hardship does not become another mechanism through which a public record disappears.

LASTLY — A SECOND PUBLIC-FACING ARCHIVE

For readers who wish to go beyond the principal Barran Dodger Archive, a second public-facing repository provides another point of access to the broader documentary record.

https://barrandodger.com

This website provides an additional gateway into the history, evidence, testimony, research and ideas that underpin the Archive. It is intended to help readers navigate the wider body of material and understand how individual documents, events, experiences and arguments have been brought together into a continuing record.

Its significance is not dependent upon the reader accepting Barran Dodger's conclusions. Rather, the value of preserving such a record lies in allowing the underlying material to remain available for examination. Readers can consider the chronology, inspect the documentary evidence, distinguish recorded facts from allegations and personal testimony, follow referenced material and form their own independent assessment.

The existence of multiple public repositories also reflects the central purpose of the project: preservation. Where records are distributed across years, institutions, correspondence, proceedings, personal archives and digital platforms, preserving accessible copies and pathways to the evidence can help prevent an individual historical record from becoming inaccessible or forgotten.

Readers are therefore invited to visit both public-facing archives, examine the material carefully and critically, and make their own assessment of what the surviving evidence demonstrates.

The purpose is not to ask the reader to believe.

The purpose is to ensure that the record remains available to be examined.

I have previously raised concerns about intimidation, mistreatment, accommodation security and the possibility of psychiatric intervention being used inappropriately in response to complaints.

I do not consider it reasonable or fair that exercising my right to leave an environment in which I feel uncomfortable should result in further intervention, harassment or an assumption that I am incapable of making my own decisions.

For the avoidance of doubt:

1. I left voluntarily and made my own decision to do so.
2. I am currently safe with a friend.
3. I am not intending to harm myself or anyone else.
4. I am not threatening anyone.
5. I am not requesting psychiatric intervention.
6. I want my accommodation situation and outstanding complaints dealt with appropriately.
7. I anticipate returning tomorrow, subject to my circumstances.

I also wish to express my concern about the apparent breakdown of trust between myself and the institutions that should provide protection and assistance. I have serious reservations about the way police and hospital systems have responded to previous circumstances. I ask that those concerns be taken seriously and that no assumptions be made about my mental state simply because I have chosen to leave.

I am presently without a functioning phone, so I may not be contactable by telephone. I can respond through email where possible. If you need to communicate with me, please do so in writing or leave a message through an appropriate channel.

I am happy to communicate with police tomorrow if required.

I am not missing. I have not disappeared. I have made a voluntary decision to leave an environment in which I felt intimidated, and I have gone somewhere I feel safe.

Please record this notification and ensure that any officers receiving information about my departure understand the distinction between a voluntary departure and a missing-person incident.

I request written acknowledgement.

FORMAL WHISTLEBLOWER DECLARATION TO THE AUSTRALIAN SECURITIES AND INVESTMENTS COMMISSION (ASIC)

Subject: Formal Whistleblower Disclosure — Suspected Identity Misuse, Business Register Irregularities, ABN Associations and Potential Corporate Misconduct

Discloser: Dr Richard William McLean

Also known as: Barran Dodger
Date: 4 November 2026
Reference: Request for independent regulatory assessment and preservation of relevant records

To the Australian Securities and Investments Commission,

I submit this declaration as a formal whistleblower disclosure concerning matters that I believe warrant independent regulatory examination.

I have identified approximately 123 ABN-related links, registrations or business-record associations that appear to reference, or potentially connect to, my name, Dr Richard William McLean, and/or the name Barran Dodger.

These records are of particular concern because of the potential implications for my identity, reputation, business associations, financial affairs and the integrity of public business registers.

I am asking ASIC to take these concerns seriously and determine whether any of the identified registrations, corporate associations, business identities or related activities involve misconduct, fraudulent representations, unauthorised use of personal information, misleading records or other breaches of legislation administered by ASIC.

1. Nature of my disclosure

I am raising concerns about what I believe may constitute an exceptionally serious and extensive case of identity and character misrepresentation.

Over an extended period, I have experienced circumstances involving profound reputational damage, displacement, financial disadvantage, institutional failures and the loss of opportunities to protect and restore my personal and professional standing.

I have repeatedly attempted to document these circumstances and preserve the relevant records.

The existence of numerous business-register associations connected with my name raises questions that I believe should not be left to me to investigate independently.

In particular, I request examination of:

1. Whether my personal name or identifying information has been used in connection with ABN registrations or business activities without my knowledge or authorisation.
2. Whether any business entities have represented that I am an owner, associate, operator, director, representative or otherwise connected person without an appropriate factual or legal basis.
3. Whether any registrations contain inaccurate, misleading, duplicated or otherwise questionable information.
4. Whether any corporate entities or individuals have benefited financially or commercially from representations associated with my identity.
5. Whether there are connections between the identified ABN records and companies, directors, officeholders, financial arrangements or other regulated activities falling within ASIC's jurisdiction.

I am not asking ASIC to assume that every association is fraudulent. I am asking for the underlying records and authority for those associations to be independently examined.

2. The significance of the public records

The Australian Business Register and ABN Lookup provide publicly searchable business-registration information.

I understand that the Australian Business Register is administered through the Australian Taxation Office, while ASIC administers company and certain financial services registers.

Accordingly, I request that ASIC assess the corporate and regulatory aspects of this disclosure and identify any matters that should be referred to the Australian Business Register or Australian Taxation Office.

The central question is straightforward:

Why do these business-record associations appear in connection with my name, and what evidence establishes that each association is legitimate, authorised and accurately recorded?

I request that the relevant registration histories, associated entities, recorded officeholders, changes to business details and available supporting information be examined.

3. Personal and professional consequences

This matter is not an isolated administrative inconvenience.

My name and public identity are fundamental to my professional history, published work, personal reputation and ability to participate in ordinary economic and civic life.

I have spent years documenting circumstances that I believe have resulted in substantial personal, financial and reputational harm.

I regard the potential association of my identity with numerous business registrations, without a clear and independently established explanation, as a matter of considerable seriousness.

I have described my broader experience as a character-fraud issue of extraordinary scale in Australian history. I recognise that this is my characterisation and that the extent, mechanisms and responsibility for any misconduct require independent investigation.

I am seeking accountability through evidence, not assumptions.

4. Request for preservation and investigation

I formally request that ASIC:

- Register and assess this submission as a report of suspected misconduct.
- Examine the business and corporate records identified in my accompanying declaration and supporting material.
- Identify any companies, directors, officeholders or corporate relationships potentially relevant to the allegations.
- Consider whether there has been unauthorised use of my identity or misleading representation of my involvement in business activities.
- Preserve relevant regulatory records and information within ASIC's possession, subject to applicable retention and legal requirements.
- Refer ABN-specific matters to the Australian Business Register or ATO where appropriate.
- Advise me of the appropriate process for supplying further evidence, including a complete schedule of the approximately 123 identified associations.
- Provide an acknowledgement and reference number for this disclosure.

5. Whistleblower confidentiality and protection

I request that ASIC consider this submission under the whistleblower provisions in Part 9.4AAA of the Corporations Act 2001.

I specifically request appropriate confidentiality protections concerning my identity and the information supplied.

I also ask that any assessment distinguish between the protection available to an eligible whistleblower and the separate question of whether the substantive allegations are established.

I understand that statutory whistleblower protection has eligibility requirements, including the nature of the discloser's relationship with the relevant regulated entity and the subject matter of the disclosure.

I request that ASIC consider those requirements in assessing my submission.

6. Supporting material and public archive

I refer ASIC to the following public archive, which contains material relevant to my broader documentary record:

https://barran-dodgers-sos.grok.me

I provide this as supplementary contextual material, not as a substitute for examining original government, corporate and business-register records.

I have also attached my whistleblowing declaration and request that it be considered together with this submission.

I am prepared to provide further identifying information, documentary evidence, registration references and a structured schedule of the relevant records.

7. Final declaration

I am making this disclosure because the integrity of public business registers, the protection of individual identity and the accountability of corporate entities are matters of legitimate public importance.

I have experienced circumstances that I regard as an extraordinary betrayal of trust, dignity and fundamental fairness.

I have nevertheless continued to preserve records and seek independent examination.

I do not ask ASIC to accept my conclusions without scrutiny. I ask ASIC to examine the evidence, establish the facts, identify any misconduct within its jurisdiction and ensure that matters requiring regulatory attention are not disregarded.

My identity is not an administrative inconvenience. My professional reputation is not an expendable public record. And the integrity of Australian business registrations should never depend on an individual being able to investigate approximately 123 potentially relevant associations without institutional assistance.

I respectfully request formal acknowledgement of this disclosure and confirmation of the next steps.

Yours faithfully,

Dr Richard William McLean
Barran Dodger
Whistleblower and documentary record custodian

Date: 4 November 2026

Accompanying message to ASIC

Dear ASIC Whistleblower Team,

Thank you for providing the information concerning ASIC's whistleblower reporting framework and the protections available under the Corporations Act 2001.

Please find attached my whistleblowing declaration for formal consideration.

I am bringing to your attention approximately 123 ABN-related links or registrations that appear to have associations with my name, Dr Richard William McLean, and/or Barran Dodger, as identifiable through publicly available business-register information.

I consider this an exceptionally serious matter involving potential identity misuse, business-record irregularities and significant reputational consequences.

The circumstances in which I find myself are extremely difficult, and I have spent a considerable period attempting to preserve evidence and establish an accurate documentary record.

I am requesting that ASIC independently assess the information, identify matters falling within its regulatory jurisdiction and refer any ABN-specific concerns to the appropriate authority where necessary.

I would appreciate written acknowledgement of receipt, a reference number and confirmation of the appropriate process for submitting the supporting registration records.

Thank you for your consideration. I sincerely hope this disclosure receives the independent attention it warrants.

Yours faithfully,

Dr Richard William McLean
Barran Dodger

Important points before submission

Three things will strengthen this disclosure:

- The 123 records: Attach an indexed spreadsheet containing each ABN, registered name, entity type, status, the exact connection to your name and why you dispute or question it.
- Name accuracy: Check whether the records use Dr Richard William McLean, Barran Dodger, or another spelling. Keep each exact spelling as it appears in the register.
- Regulatory jurisdiction: ABN registration is administered by the ATO/ABR, not ASIC. ASIC can examine relevant corporate misconduct, but the ABR should also receive the specific registration complaints. ABN Lookup +1

One important legal qualification: ASIC's whistleblower protections do not automatically cover every person reporting a concern. Eligibility depends on the relationship to the regulated entity and other statutory criteria. Reporting directly to ASIC is an eligible disclosure channel, but it does not remove those requirements. ASIC +1

Official guidance:

- ASIC Information Sheet 238 — Whistleblower rights and protections Attachment.png
- ASIC Information Sheet 239 — How ASIC handles whistleblower reports Attachment.png
- Australian Business Register — ABN Lookup Attachment.png

My recommendation is to make the 123 individual associations the centrepiece of the submission. That gives ASIC something concrete, searchable and independently verifiable to investigate, rather than leaving the matter characterised only as a dispute about reputation.

URGENT SUPPLEMENTARY WHISTLEBLOWER STATEMENT

Subject: Immediate Accommodation, Personal Safety and Concerns Regarding Potential Psychiatric Weaponisation

I request that ASIC also take note of an urgent and developing set of circumstances affecting my personal safety, accommodation and ability to participate in the whistleblowing process.

I am currently concerned that interactions involving the mental health sector may be contributing to circumstances in which I could be removed or pressured to leave my existing accommodation following the complaints and concerns I have raised.

I am particularly concerned about what I describe as potential psychiatric weaponisation: the possibility that legitimate complaints, distress, requests for assistance and attempts to exercise my rights could be reframed as psychiatric issues and subsequently used to justify intervention, displacement or exclusion from my accommodation.

Today, 4 November 2026, I have experienced repeated contact and interactions that I have found distressing and intimidating. I have felt pursued and harassed, and I am concerned about the possibility of further escalation.

I have experienced what I regard as approximately sixteen previous episodes involving similar circumstances over the course of my history. I believe the repeated pattern warrants independent examination rather than automatically attributing my concerns to psychiatric explanations.

I am particularly worried about losing my accommodation, being separated from my companion dog, and being taken into a hospital environment when what I am seeking is safety, stability, practical assistance and the ability to communicate my concerns.

My immediate position is that I want to remain safe, retain my accommodation, preserve my independence and be able to communicate without intimidation or unnecessary escalation.

I also need to be able to return calls safely. I request that communications with me be conducted in a manner that respects my circumstances, does not place me under unnecessary pressure and allows me to respond without fear that requesting assistance will itself be used against me.

I ask that ASIC record this supplementary statement as part of the chronology surrounding my whistleblower disclosure.

I recognise that accommodation and mental health service matters may fall outside ASIC's direct regulatory jurisdiction. Nevertheless, I consider the circumstances relevant to my ability to make disclosures, preserve evidence and participate safely in any investigation.

I request that this information be handled confidentially and that my concerns about possible retaliation, intimidation or detrimental treatment be assessed within the limits of ASIC's statutory responsibilities.

I am seeking protection, not confrontation. I am seeking an opportunity to be heard, not to be discredited. I am seeking the right to remain safely housed while my complaints and documentary evidence receive independent consideration.

Signed,

Dr Richard William McLean

PUBLIC STATEMENT FROM BARRAN DODGER
OF THE BARRAN DODGER ARCHIVE

THE WITNESS REMAINS: A WHISTLEBLOWERS TESTIMONY OF SURVIVAL TESTIMONY & FAITH

The Barran Dodger Archive is a public documentary and spiritual record established to preserve, organise and make accessible a decades-long body of evidence concerning alleged institutional, administrative, financial and human-rights harms.

It brings together official records, correspondence, documentary evidence, personal testimony, forensic analysis, research, philosophy, spiritual gospels and prophetic declarations, including writings understood by the author to have been anointed by the Most High God.

The Archive deliberately distinguishes between documented facts, official records, corroborated evidence, allegations, personal testimony, inference, interpretation and matters of faith. This distinction is fundamental to its purpose: readers are invited to examine the underlying evidence for themselves, test the claims, consider the sources and reach their own conclusions.

At the heart of the Archive is a testimony of survival and preservation.

What the author believes was subjected to attempts at silencing, erasure, exclusion or institutional disappearance has nevertheless survived in records, documents, testimony, memory, faith and public disclosure.

The central declaration is simple:

THE WITNESS REMAINS.

The Archive therefore represents both an evidentiary record and a spiritual testimony. The author understands his survival through a faith-based conviction that the Most High God protected, preserved and gave purpose to what human institutions could not erase.

The spiritual writings and prophetic declarations within the Archive are presented as matters of faith and personal interpretation. They are preserved alongside the documentary record so that the complete testimony — evidentiary, personal, philosophical and spiritual — can be understood in its own context.

The purpose is not to demand belief.

It is to preserve the record.

It is to make the evidence accessible.

It is to ensure that the surviving witness can be examined.

And it is to leave the historical record open to independent scrutiny.

THE ARCHIVE IS 100% FREE TO ACCESS

KNOWLEDGE IS FREE

The Barran Dodger Archive is founded on the principle that knowledge, evidence and truth should be freely accessible.

There is no paywall for the public documentary record. Research, testimony, philosophy, spiritual writings, prophetic declarations and public-interest material are made available for people to examine for themselves.

Access to knowledge should not depend upon a person's ability to pay.

The Archive is therefore freely accessible, while its preservation and continued publication require practical resources.

SUPPORTING THE WITNESS AND THE ARCHIVE

Barran Dodger describes himself as an unprotected whistleblower living in circumstances of prolonged exile, financial hardship and vulnerability, and as an internally displaced asylum seeker within the country of his Australian citizenship.

Those circumstances create practical needs extending beyond the preservation of documents.

Voluntary donations are therefore accepted from anyone who freely wishes to assist.

Support may contribute towards essential needs including food, safe accommodation, communication, technology, transport, personal safety, website and domain costs, document preservation, archival infrastructure and the continued publication of the public record.

A donation does not purchase access to the Archive.

It does not purchase influence over the evidence.

It does not purchase editorial control.

It does not determine what is published or what conclusions readers should reach.

It simply helps sustain the person and infrastructure necessary to keep the Archive alive, functioning and freely accessible.

If you are blessed with sufficient prosperity to help preserve this work, your voluntary support can help ensure that financial hardship does not become another mechanism through which a public record disappears.

Thank you to everyone who chooses to examine the evidence, preserve the record, support the Archive or simply bear witness.

The record remains.

The witness remains.

LASTLY — A SECOND PUBLIC-FACING ARCHIVE

For readers who wish to go beyond the principal Barran Dodger Archive, a second public-facing repository provides another point of access to the broader documentary record.

https://barrandodger.com

This website provides an additional gateway into the history, evidence, testimony, research and ideas that underpin the Archive. It is intended to help readers navigate the wider body of material and understand how individual documents, events, experiences and arguments have been brought together into a continuing record.

Its significance is not dependent upon the reader accepting Barran Dodger's conclusions. Rather, the value of preserving such a record lies in allowing the underlying material to remain available for examination. Readers can consider the chronology, inspect the documentary evidence, distinguish recorded facts from allegations and personal testimony, follow referenced material and form their own independent assessment.

The existence of multiple public repositories also reflects the central purpose of the project: preservation. Where records are distributed across years, institutions, correspondence, proceedings, personal archives and digital platforms, preserving accessible copies and pathways to the evidence can help prevent an individual historical record from becoming inaccessible or forgotten.

Readers are therefore invited to visit both public-facing archives, examine the material carefully and critically, and make their own assessment of what the surviving evidence demonstrates.

The purpose is not to ask the reader to believe.

The purpose is to ensure that the record remains available to be examined.
