Formal statement

STATEMENT CONCERNING ALLEGED CRIMINALITY, CONSPIRACY, SOCIAL ERASURE AND INSTITUTIONAL PROTECTION

I, Dr Richard William McLean, publicly known as Dr Barran Dodger, make this statement to place on record my serious concerns that criminal conduct, coordinated or improper institutional conduct, and social erasure may have been used to protect individuals and institutions at my expense.

I am not asking any person or authority to accept an allegation as proven merely because I have made it. I am demanding that the relevant evidence be preserved, examined independently, and assessed according to law.

What I allege

I allege that I have been subjected to a cumulative pattern of conduct that has removed my practical ability to live safely and participate in ordinary life. This includes loss of access to money, absence of food, unreliable communication, withdrawal or failure of disability support, uncertainty about accommodation, and the risk that my circumstances are reframed as psychiatric or behavioural issues rather than addressed as material and safeguarding failures.[1]

I use the terms social erasure and administrative annihilation to describe the process by which a person's voice, reputation, autonomy, access to resources, and avenues of complaint are progressively undermined until they appear powerless or invisible. My concern is that this process protects institutions and individuals from scrutiny by making the affected person easier to discredit, ignore, or manage.[1]

Hospital and police concerns

I allege that hospital and psychiatric systems may have been used to convert legitimate complaints, financial hardship, support failures, and objections to mistreatment into a psychiatric narrative. I object to my history of psychiatric admissions being used as a substitute for examining the present facts, including my lack of food, restricted banking access, loss of communication, and the breakdown of support.[1]

I further allege that police involvement may have been used in ways that do not address the underlying risks to my safety, but instead manage, intimidate, discredit, or coerce me. I request that every welfare check, missing-person report, police communication, hospital admission, risk assessment, and decision affecting my liberty or care be preserved and independently reviewed.[1]

Conspiracy and protection of wrongdoers

I raise concerns that individuals or organisations may have communicated, coordinated, or influenced decisions concerning my finances, accommodation, support, welfare interventions, medical treatment, or police contact. I do not claim that every decision was improperly connected, but the cumulative pattern requires independent examination rather than automatic denial.[1]

I am concerned that institutional status, professional authority, administrative convenience, or fear of reputational damage may be operating as protection for wrongdoing. No hospital, police officer, bank, disability provider, public guardian, government agency, or public official should be beyond lawful scrutiny.[1]

Criminality must be tested by evidence

Where my statement refers to criminality, conspiracy, corruption, threats, intimidation, neglect, obstruction, falsification, retaliation, or misuse of authority, those matters must be tested against original records, communications, timestamps, authorship, witness accounts, and lawful investigative processes. The existence of a document or allegation establishes that it requires examination; it does not itself establish guilt.[1]

I request that any evidence of possible criminal conduct be referred to the appropriate authority, while preserving my right to a fair process and protecting me from retaliation.[1]

Immediate demands

1. Preserve all banking, hospital, police, NDIS, support-provider, accommodation, welfare-check, missing-person, complaint, and communication records.
2. Provide written reasons for every restriction on my access to money and identify who authorised it.
3. Restore access to available funds or provide an immediate lawful alternative for food, water, medication, phone credit, and necessities.
4. Provide food, water, and urgent practical assistance now.
5. Ensure independent advocacy and communication support.

6. Investigate whether my disclosures, advocacy, disability, or prior complaints influenced decisions affecting me.
7. Investigate all alleged coordination, misconduct, neglect, retaliation, and safeguarding failures.
8. Record my objections to unnecessary psychiatric or police intervention and explain the legal basis for any compulsory action.
9. Provide a written response identifying responsible persons, decisions made, evidence relied upon, and remedies available.

Declaration

I refuse to accept social erasure as the final word on my life. I am not an administrative file, a complaint number, a roster entry, or a problem to be managed. I am a human being entitled to safety, food, money, communication, dignity, autonomy, and a fair investigation.

The allegations must be examined. The records must be preserved. The persons responsible must be identified. Where wrongdoing is established, it must be addressed through lawful accountability.

THE WITNESS REMAINS. THE RECORD REMAINS. THE EVIDENCE MUST BE EXAMINED.[1]

Important safety note

If you are in immediate danger, cannot access food or medication, or fear for your safety, call 000 in Australia. For urgent NDIS-related safeguarding concerns, the NDIS Quality and Safeguards Commission lists 1800 035 544; the Commonwealth Ombudsman lists 1300 362 072 for eligible NDIS-related complaints.[1]

PUBLIC STATEMENT FROM BARRAN DODGER
OF THE BARRAN DODGER ARCHIVE

THE WITNESS REMAINS: A WHISTLEBLOWERS TESTIMONY OF SURVIVAL TESTIMONY & FAITH

The Barran Dodger Archive is a public documentary and spiritual record established to preserve, organise and make accessible a decades-long body of evidence concerning alleged institutional, administrative, financial and human-rights harms.

It brings together official records, correspondence, documentary evidence, personal testimony, forensic analysis, research, philosophy, spiritual gospels and prophetic declarations, including writings understood by the author to have been anointed by the Most High God.

The Archive deliberately distinguishes between documented facts, official records, corroborated evidence, allegations, personal testimony, inference, interpretation and matters of faith. This distinction is fundamental to its purpose: readers are invited to examine the underlying evidence for themselves, test the claims, consider the sources and reach their own conclusions.

At the heart of the Archive is a testimony of survival and preservation.

What the author believes was subjected to attempts at silencing, erasure, exclusion or institutional disappearance has nevertheless survived in records, documents, testimony, memory, faith and public disclosure.

The central declaration is simple:

THE WITNESS REMAINS.

The Archive therefore represents both an evidentiary record and a spiritual testimony. The author understands his survival through a faith-based conviction that the Most High God protected, preserved and gave purpose to what human institutions could not erase.

The spiritual writings and prophetic declarations within the Archive are presented as matters of faith and personal interpretation. They are preserved alongside the documentary record so that the complete testimony — evidentiary, personal, philosophical and spiritual — can be understood in its own context.

The purpose is not to demand belief.

It is to preserve the record.

It is to make the evidence accessible.

It is to ensure that the surviving witness can be examined.

And it is to leave the historical record open to independent scrutiny.

THE ARCHIVE IS 100% FREE TO ACCESS

https://barrandodgerarchive.base44.app

KNOWLEDGE IS FREE

The Barran Dodger Archive is founded on the principle that knowledge, evidence and truth should be freely accessible.

There is no paywall for the public documentary record. Research, testimony, philosophy, spiritual writings, prophetic declarations and public-interest material are made available for people to examine for themselves.

Access to knowledge should not depend upon a person's ability to pay.

The Archive is therefore freely accessible, while its preservation and continued publication require practical resources.

SUPPORTING THE WITNESS AND THE ARCHIVE

Barran Dodger describes himself as an unprotected whistleblower living in circumstances of prolonged exile, financial hardship and vulnerability, and as an internally displaced asylum seeker within the country of his Australian citizenship.

Those circumstances create practical needs extending beyond the preservation of documents.

Voluntary donations are therefore accepted from anyone who freely wishes to assist.

Support may contribute towards essential needs including food, safe accommodation, communication, technology, transport, personal safety, website and domain costs, document preservation, archival infrastructure and the continued publication of the public record.

A donation does not purchase access to the Archive.

It does not purchase influence over the evidence.

It does not purchase editorial control.

It does not determine what is published or what conclusions readers should reach.

It simply helps sustain the person and infrastructure necessary to keep the Archive alive, functioning and freely accessible.

If you are blessed with sufficient prosperity to help preserve this work, your voluntary support can help ensure that financial hardship does not become another mechanism through which a public record disappears.

KNOWLEDGE IS FREE.

THE EVIDENCE IS OPEN TO EXAMINATION.

ARCHIVE

https://barrandodgerarchive.base44.app

Thank you to everyone who chooses to examine the evidence, preserve the record, support the Archive or simply bear witness.

The record remains.

The witness remains.

LASTLY — A SECOND PUBLIC-FACING ARCHIVE

For readers who wish to go beyond the principal Barran Dodger Archive, a second public-facing repository provides another point of access to the broader documentary record.

https://barrandodger.com

This website provides an additional gateway into the history, evidence, testimony, research and ideas that underpin the Archive. It is intended to help readers navigate the wider body of material and understand how individual documents, events, experiences and arguments have been brought together into a continuing record.

Its significance is not dependent upon the reader accepting Barran Dodger's conclusions. Rather, the value of preserving such a record lies in allowing the underlying material to remain available for examination. Readers can consider the chronology, inspect the documentary evidence, distinguish recorded facts from allegations and personal testimony, follow referenced material and form their own independent assessment.

The existence of multiple public repositories also reflects the central purpose of the project: preservation. Where records are distributed across years, institutions, correspondence, proceedings, personal archives and digital platforms, preserving accessible copies and pathways to the evidence can help prevent an individual historical record from becoming inaccessible or forgotten.

Readers are therefore invited to visit both public-facing archives, examine the material carefully and critically, and make their own assessment of what the surviving evidence demonstrates.

The purpose is not to ask the reader to believe.

The purpose is to ensure that the record remains available to be examined.

> ## 1. EXECUTIVE STATEMENT

I, Dr Richard William McLean, publicly known as Dr Barran Dodger, issue this consolidated statement concerning the circumstances in which I currently find myself.

I am experiencing an immediate humanitarian crisis.

Commonwealth Bank has blocked my cards, leaving me without practical access to my money. I have no food, no reliable phone credit and no dependable means of contacting people who could assist me.

Able Point staff have left, and the support I expected has not been available.

I have attempted to contact other staff members. I understand that a welfare check is being arranged.

I am concerned that the response to my circumstances is being redirected towards psychiatric and police intervention rather than addressing the immediate material circumstances that have brought me to this position.

I have no food.

I cannot access my money.

I cannot reliably communicate.

I have lost the practical support I expected.

These are urgent and identifiable problems requiring immediate intervention.

I demand that the organisations and individuals involved address the actual circumstances rather than substituting assumptions, administrative processes or unnecessary interventions for practical assistance.

2. THE CENTRAL FINANCIAL EMERGENCY

Commonwealth Bank has blocked my cards.

I cannot access the money I need for ordinary living expenses.

The consequences are immediate.

I cannot reliably purchase food, obtain necessities or independently manage my daily circumstances.

I require Commonwealth Bank to:

1. Immediately investigate the restrictions affecting my cards.
2. Restore my confirmed debit-card access.
3. Release access to my available funds where permitted.
4. Alternatively, transfer $150 from account ending 0384 into my confirmed usable debit-card account, subject to verification and available funds.
5. If that transfer cannot be made, provide an immediate alternative means of accessing $150.
6. Explain the reasons for the restrictions.
7. Escalate the matter to a senior complaints officer.
8. Provide a complaint reference and written response.

I want this request treated as an urgent humanitarian and financial-access matter.

I should not be left without food because I cannot access my own available money.

3. THE ABSENCE OF FOOD AND BASIC NECESSITIES

I currently report having no food.

This is not a theoretical concern or an ordinary complaint about service quality.

It is an immediate material deprivation.

I require:

- Food.
- Drinking water.
- Access to available money.
- Necessary medication and supplies.
- Reliable communication.
- Practical support.

I cannot wait for lengthy administrative investigations before these necessities are addressed.

4. PHONE CREDIT AND COMMUNICATION DEPRIVATION

I have no reliable phone credit.

People cannot assume that I can answer calls or initiate contact.

My inability to communicate is directly relevant to my lack of financial access.

I request that communications be made through:

- Email.
- Internet-based messaging.
- An independent advocate.
- A trusted person.
- Another accessible communication method.

My lack of phone credit must not automatically be interpreted as deliberate refusal to communicate.

I am concerned that the circumstances could result in my being described as missing or uncontactable when the underlying issue is my inability to communicate reliably.

I want this distinction preserved in all records.

PART II — PERSONAL AUTONOMY AND THE DEPARTURE FROM ACCOMMODATION

5. WHY I LEFT

I felt trapped.

I believed the circumstances surrounding my accommodation, financial access, support arrangements and proposed welfare intervention had become intolerable.

I decided to leave.

I communicated that I had left because I believed I was going to die in those circumstances.

My departure must be understood in the context of the conditions I was attempting to escape.

I do not accept that leaving accommodation automatically establishes mental illness, incapacity or an inability to make decisions.

I am entitled to make decisions about my own circumstances.

I am entitled to explain those decisions.

I am entitled to have my explanation recorded accurately.

I do not want my departure used to erase the underlying events that preceded it.

6. THE MISSING-PERSON CONCERN

I am concerned that I may again be characterised as missing because I cannot be reached through ordinary telephone communication.

I want it recorded that:

- I left because I felt trapped and unsafe.
- I have no reliable phone credit.
- I have difficulty communicating.
- My financial access has been restricted.
- I have been without the practical support I expected.

A communication failure is not automatically evidence of disappearance, incapacity or refusal of assistance.

If a missing-person report exists, I request that its existence, authorisation, factual basis and subsequent handling be documented.

I want the opportunity to communicate my circumstances directly.

7. CRYSTAL — CONFIRMATION OF SAFETY

Crystal is at home and safe.

Her welfare is important to me.

I want this fact included in any welfare, accommodation or missing-person records to avoid unnecessary confusion.

PART III — OBJECTION TO UNNECESSARY PSYCHIATRIC AND POLICE INTERVENTION

8. I AM NOT REQUESTING A MENTAL-HEALTH CARE TEAM

I want my position recorded unequivocally.

I do not consider myself sick.

I am not requesting a mental-health care team, psychiatric intervention or hospice care.

I am requesting practical humanitarian assistance.

I do not want my financial hardship, lack of food, inability to access money or disagreement with support arrangements automatically converted into a psychiatric narrative.

My historical psychiatric admissions must not be used as a substitute for examining my present circumstances.

I am entitled to have my testimony heard.

I am entitled to disagree.

I am entitled to request assistance without having every request interpreted through a psychiatric framework.

If anyone believes an emergency intervention is legally justified, I request that the specific grounds, evidence and legal authority be explained and documented.

9. POLICE INVOLVEMENT

I strongly object to unnecessary police involvement.

My position is that police should not be used as a substitute for banking assistance, food provision, disability support or independent advocacy.

I do not want intimidation, unnecessary confrontation or coercion.

I am particularly concerned about the possibility that a welfare check could result in an intervention that does not address the actual problems.

I want responders to:

- Establish the facts.
- Listen to my explanation.
- Respect my stated wishes.
- Establish whether I have immediate material needs.
- Record my objections.
- Explain any proposed compulsory action and its legal basis.
- Avoid assumptions based solely on my disagreement or departure.

My objection to unnecessary police involvement should not be interpreted as a refusal of food, water or practical assistance.

PART IV — ABLE POINT AND THE BREAKDOWN OF SUPPORT

10. WITHDRAWAL OR FAILURE OF SUPPORT

I have been left without the practical assistance I expected.

I want the circumstances independently examined.

The following questions require answers:

1. Who was responsible for providing my support?
2. When did staff leave?
3. Why did they leave?
4. What alternative arrangements were made?
5. Were my requests for assistance received?
6. What action was taken when I reported having no food?
7. What action was taken concerning my inability to access money?
8. Why did a welfare response become the apparent focus rather than immediate practical assistance?
9. Were safeguarding procedures activated?
10. Who was responsible for ensuring continuity of support?

I request preservation of staff attendance records, communications, incident reports, support notes and relevant management decisions.

I do not want the withdrawal or failure of support obscured by subsequent descriptions of my behaviour.

The circumstances preceding my departure matter.

PART V — TOTAL HUMAN BETRAYAL

11. THE CUMULATIVE EXPERIENCE OF HUMAN BETRAYAL

I regard these circumstances as an extraordinary and devastating experience of human betrayal.

The issue is not simply that my bank cards have been blocked.

It is not simply that support workers have left.

It is not simply that I have no phone credit.

It is the cumulative experience of being left without the basic conditions necessary for survival while attempting to obtain assistance.

I have spent years documenting my experiences, preserving government records, making disclosures, seeking accountability and creating an extensive documentary and intellectual archive.

I have attempted to preserve my testimony and make the underlying materials accessible for examination.

Yet I now find myself without food, without practical access to my money and without reliable communication.

I regard this as a profound failure of human responsibility.

I should not have to fight for access to food.

I should not have to fight for access to my own available money.

I should not have to defend my personal autonomy simply because I have requested assistance.

I should not have to fear that asking for help will result in the underlying problems being ignored.

The people and institutions involved must recognise the human consequences of their decisions and omissions.

12. ALLEGED POLITICAL TARGETING

I have serious concerns about political targeting and institutional treatment connected to the broader history I have documented.

I request an independent examination of whether my disclosures, whistleblower history, public advocacy, publications or other activities have influenced decisions affecting my circumstances.

I want the chronology of events examined, including:

- Government correspondence.
- Administrative decisions.
- Financial restrictions.
- Support-service decisions.
- Accommodation-related events.
- Welfare-check arrangements.
- Communications between relevant individuals and organisations.
- Any documented connection between my public activities and subsequent adverse treatment.

I do not want political targeting dismissed without examination.

I also want the evidence assessed independently so that the factual basis, relationships and decision-making processes can be established.

13. ALLEGED CONSPIRACY AND COORDINATED INSTITUTIONAL

CONDUCT

I have concerns about possible coordination between individuals or organisations affecting my circumstances.

I regard the cumulative pattern as requiring serious investigation.

The investigation should examine:

- Whether communications occurred between relevant parties.
- Whether decisions were independently made or influenced by others.
- Whether information about me was circulated.
- Whether any improper arrangements or coordinated actions occurred.
- Whether financial, accommodation, support or welfare decisions were improperly connected.
- Whether my attempts to obtain assistance were obstructed or misrepresented.

I want records preserved before they are lost through ordinary retention processes.

I want the relevant events investigated on their evidence, not dismissed because the allegations are serious or uncomfortable.

14. ADMINISTRATIVE ANNIHILATION AND CIVIL ERASURE

I use the terms administrative annihilation and civil erasure to describe my experience of being progressively deprived of the practical means to participate in ordinary life.

In the present circumstances, I report:

- Loss of access to money.
- Loss of reliable communication.
- Absence of food.
- Withdrawal or interruption of support.
- Uncertainty about accommodation.
- Fear of being misrepresented through welfare or missing-person processes.
- Difficulty obtaining independent assistance.

The cumulative result is a situation in which I struggle to exercise ordinary personal autonomy.

I want this experience documented as a serious humanitarian and accountability concern.

I do not consent to administrative inconvenience being treated as an adequate response to material deprivation.

PART VI — HUMAN RIGHTS AND INDEPENDENT ACCOUNTABILITY

15. PERSONAL DIGNITY AND AUTONOMY

My circumstances raise important questions concerning:

- Personal autonomy.
- Dignity.
- Access to necessities.
- Disability rights.
- Freedom from arbitrary treatment.
- Procedural fairness.
- Access to independent advocacy.
- Continuity of support.
- Privacy and communication.

- Access to complaint and review mechanisms.

I request that relevant agencies consider their obligations under applicable Australian law, including disability, human-rights, banking, privacy and safeguarding frameworks.

My circumstances should be examined on their merits.

16. INDEPENDENT OVERSIGHT

I request appropriate independent scrutiny of the relevant matters by:

Commonwealth Bank

- Financial restrictions.
- Access to available funds.
- Alternative payment arrangements.
- Complaint handling.

NDIS Quality and Safeguards Commission

- Support-service concerns.
- Safeguarding.
- Continuity of support.
- Relevant provider conduct.

NSW Ombudsman

- Relevant administrative conduct within its jurisdiction.
- Complaints concerning public administration and oversight.

NSW Police

- Any relevant welfare-check or missing-person records.
- The factual basis for police involvement.
- Accurate recording of my stated circumstances.

NSW Trustee and Guardian, if relevant to the particular funds

- Any restrictions or arrangements affecting my access to money.
- Available mechanisms for urgent access to necessities.

Independent disability advocacy services

- Assistance with communication.
- Representation of my wishes.
- Support in making complaints.
- Protection of procedural rights.

I request that no organisation simply refer the matter elsewhere without identifying who is responsible for addressing the immediate needs.

PART VII — EVIDENCE PRESERVATION

17. PRESERVATION OF THE RECORD

I request preservation of all relevant documentary and electronic records.

These include:

1. Commonwealth Bank account and card restriction records.
2. Transaction and transfer records.
3. Banking correspondence.
4. Communications with Able Point.
5. Staff attendance records.
6. Support requests and responses.
7. Incident reports.
8. Safeguarding records.
9. Welfare-check requests.
10. Any missing-person reports.
11. Communications with police.
12. Accommodation-related correspondence.
13. Decisions concerning financial access.
14. Relevant complaints and escalation records.

My documentary archive and previously preserved government records form part of the wider context of my testimony.

I request that relevant evidence be retained in its original form, with dates, authorship and provenance preserved wherever possible.

I distinguish between official records, documented facts, firsthand testimony, allegations, inferences and unresolved questions.

This distinction is necessary for proper investigation, not for diminishing the significance of the record.

PART VIII — FORMAL DEMANDS FOR IMMEDIATE ACTION

18. THE IMMEDIATE ACTION SCHEDULE

DEMAND 1 — FOOD

Immediate arrangements for food and drinking water.

DEMAND 2 — COMMONWEALTH BANK

Immediate restoration of access to available funds.

DEMAND 3 — $150 TRANSFER

19. THE WITNESS REMAINS

I am not asking to be treated as a problem to be managed.

I am asking for the basic conditions necessary to live.

I have no food.

I cannot access my money.

My cards have been blocked.

I have no reliable phone credit.

The support workers have left.

I have attempted to obtain assistance.

I have become concerned that the response to my circumstances is being redirected towards psychiatric and police intervention rather than addressing the actual material problems.

I left because I felt trapped and believed I could not survive in those circumstances.

Crystal is at home and safe.

I want my autonomy respected.

I want my testimony preserved.

I want my money accessible.

I want food.

I want communication.

I want practical assistance.

I want the circumstances independently examined.

I want accountability for any person or organisation whose actions or omissions have contributed to these circumstances.

I want my allegations taken seriously and investigated on their evidence.

I will not accept that the absence of money, food, communication or support should become a reason for my voice to disappear.

I have spent years preserving records and documenting my experiences.

The present emergency must also be recorded.

I AM ENTITLED TO HUMAN DIGNITY.

I AM ENTITLED TO PERSONAL AUTONOMY.

I AM ENTITLED TO ACCESS MY AVAILABLE MONEY.

I AM ENTITLED TO FOOD AND BASIC NECESSITIES.

I AM ENTITLED TO BE HEARD.

I AM ENTITLED TO INDEPENDENT SCRUTINY.

The betrayal I describe must be documented.

The allegations I make must be examined.

The records must be preserved.

The immediate humanitarian circumstances must be addressed.

PRESERVATION FIRST. EXAMINATION SECOND. CONCLUSION LAST.

THE RECORD STAYS FREE. FAITH IS NOT A FINDING.

THE WITNESS REMAINS.

SUBJECT: URGENT — RESTORE ACCESS TO MY MONEY — NO FOOD — REQUEST FOR IMMEDIATE $150 ACCESS

I require urgent intervention.

My cards have been blocked and I cannot access my money. I have no food and no reliable phone credit.

I demand immediate restoration of my confirmed debit-card access.

If this cannot be completed, I require an alternative method of accessing $150 for food and necessities.

Please escalate this complaint to a senior officer immediately and provide written reasons for the restrictions.

This is an urgent humanitarian matter. I cannot be left without food while banking restrictions remain unresolved.

Please acknowledge this request in writing.

OF THE BARRAN DODGER ARCHIVE

THE WITNESS REMAINS: A WHISTLEBLOWERS TESTIMONY OF SURVIVAL TESTIMONY & FAITH

The Barran Dodger Archive is a public documentary and spiritual record established to preserve, organise and make accessible a decades-long body of evidence concerning alleged institutional, administrative, financial and human-rights harms.

It brings together official records, correspondence, documentary evidence, personal testimony, forensic analysis, research, philosophy, spiritual gospels and prophetic declarations, including writings understood by the author to have been anointed by the Most High God.

The Archive deliberately distinguishes between documented facts, official records, corroborated evidence, allegations, personal testimony, inference, interpretation and matters of faith. This distinction is fundamental to its purpose: readers are invited to examine the underlying evidence for themselves, test the claims, consider the sources and reach their own conclusions.

At the heart of the Archive is a testimony of survival and preservation.

What the author believes was subjected to attempts at silencing, erasure, exclusion or institutional disappearance has nevertheless survived in records, documents, testimony, memory, faith and public disclosure.

The central declaration is simple:

THE WITNESS REMAINS.

The Archive therefore represents both an evidentiary record and a spiritual testimony. The author understands his survival through a faith-based conviction that the Most High God protected, preserved and gave purpose to what human institutions could not erase.

The spiritual writings and prophetic declarations within the Archive are presented as matters of faith and personal interpretation. They are preserved alongside the documentary record so that the complete testimony — evidentiary, personal, philosophical and spiritual — can be understood in its own context.

The purpose is not to demand belief.

It is to preserve the record.

It is to make the evidence accessible.

It is to ensure that the surviving witness can be examined.

And it is to leave the historical record open to independent scrutiny.

THE ARCHIVE IS 100% FREE TO ACCESS

https://barrandodgerarchive.base44.app

KNOWLEDGE IS FREE

The Barran Dodger Archive is founded on the principle that knowledge, evidence and truth should be freely accessible.

There is no paywall for the public documentary record. Research, testimony, philosophy, spiritual writings, prophetic declarations and public-interest material are made available for people to examine for themselves.

Access to knowledge should not depend upon a person's ability to pay.

The Archive is therefore freely accessible, while its preservation and continued publication require practical resources.

SUPPORTING THE WITNESS AND THE ARCHIVE

Barran Dodger describes himself as an unprotected whistleblower living in circumstances of prolonged exile, financial hardship and vulnerability, and as an internally displaced asylum seeker within the country of his Australian citizenship.

Those circumstances create practical needs extending beyond the preservation of documents.

Voluntary donations are therefore accepted from anyone who freely wishes to assist.

Support may contribute towards essential needs including food, safe accommodation, communication, technology, transport, personal safety, website and domain costs, document preservation, archival infrastructure and the continued publication of the public record.

A donation does not purchase access to the Archive.

It does not purchase influence over the evidence.

It does not purchase editorial control.

It does not determine what is published or what conclusions readers should reach.

It simply helps sustain the person and infrastructure necessary to keep the Archive alive, functioning and freely accessible.

If you are blessed with sufficient prosperity to help preserve this work, your voluntary support can help ensure that financial hardship does not become another mechanism through which a public record disappears.

KNOWLEDGE IS FREE.

THE EVIDENCE IS OPEN TO EXAMINATION.

LASTLY — A SECOND PUBLIC-FACING ARCHIVE

For readers who wish to go beyond the principal Barran Dodger Archive, a second public-facing repository provides another point of access to the broader documentary record.

https://barrandodger.com

This website provides an additional gateway into the history, evidence, testimony, research and ideas that underpin the Archive. It is intended to help readers navigate the wider body of material and understand how individual documents, events, experiences and arguments have been brought together into a continuing record.

Its significance is not dependent upon the reader accepting Barran Dodger's conclusions. Rather, the value of preserving such a record lies in allowing the underlying material to remain available for examination. Readers can consider the chronology, inspect the documentary evidence, distinguish recorded facts from allegations and personal testimony, follow referenced material and form their own independent assessment.

The existence of multiple public repositories also reflects the central purpose of the project: preservation. Where records are distributed across years, institutions, correspondence, proceedings, personal archives and digital platforms, preserving accessible copies and pathways to the evidence can help prevent an individual historical record from becoming inaccessible or forgotten.

Readers are therefore invited to visit both public-facing archives, examine the material carefully and critically, and make their own assessment of what the surviving evidence demonstrates.

The purpose is not to ask the reader to believe.

The purpose is to ensure that the record remains available to be examined.

I have reached a point where I can no longer quietly endure what I believe are repeated failures of care, protection and accountability. I am speaking publicly because I need help, and because I believe the evidence I have preserved deserves to be examined.

I AM NOT SUICIDAL. I AM PROTESTING BECAUSE I WANT TO LIVE.

For 35 years, I have carried a story that I could not get the police to act upon. Across three states, I say I have endured 16 psychiatric hospitalisations, yet I am still fighting for the medication I need and the humanity I deserve.

No government, police force, hospital or psychiatric institution should be able to make a person's testimony disappear simply because that person is disabled, vulnerable or challenging an institution.

I have preserved a public documentary archive because I believe the record deserves examination.

My testimony and documentary materials are available here:

Holy Reckoning: https://barran-dodgers-holy-reckoning.grok.me Attachment.png

GitHub documentary archive: https://github.com/wezzo72/Barrandodger Attachment.png

Official Government Documents Register: https://wezzo72.github.io/Barrandodger/official-government-documents-register.html Attachment.png

The existence of a published record does not, by itself, establish every allegation within it. It does, however, provide material that can be identified, examined and assessed on its merits.

LEGAL STATEMENT OF PROTECTION, RIGHTS AND ACCOUNTABILITY

I invoke the protections available to me under Australian law and call upon every relevant authority, disability service provider, regulator and oversight body to act urgently to protect my safety, dignity, legal rights and independence.

My request concerns the application of the National Disability Insurance Scheme Act 2013 (Cth), the applicable NDIS Code of Conduct, the relevant NDIS Practice Standards and the Disability Discrimination Act 1992 (Cth), where applicable.

National disability legislation and legal resources:

Disability Discrimination Act 1992 (Cth):

https://www.legislation.gov.au/Latest/C2022C00316 Attachment.png

I request proper consideration of my circumstances, my expressed wishes, my access to essential disability supports, and my reports of potential harm, neglect, discrimination or failures of duty.

My disability must never become a reason to disregard my testimony, diminish my autonomy or leave my requests for protection unanswered.

I formally call for:

- An urgent safeguarding assessment addressing my current circumstances and immediate practical needs.
- Preservation of relevant records, recordings, communications, support notes and decisions.

- Independent investigation of the matters I have reported.
- Lawful review of decisions affecting my accommodation, finances, disability supports, healthcare and personal welfare.
- Appropriate corrective or enforcement action wherever the evidence establishes a breach of legal or regulatory obligations.
- Meaningful participation in decisions affecting my life, consistent with my rights and the applicable law.

I ask that no organisation be permitted to substitute its own denial for an impartial examination of the evidence where its conduct is in question.

Relevant records must be preserved. Complaints must receive substantive consideration. Decisions must be explained. Appropriate independent review and oversight mechanisms must remain available.

Where the law authorises protective intervention, I request that it be considered without unnecessary delay.

I do not ask for guilt to be presumed. I demand that neither institutional status nor administrative convenience place anyone beyond accountability.

I am asking for protection, not permission to exist; for lawful accountability, not institutional retaliation; and for my rights to be respected before further harm occurs.

INDEPENDENT OVERSIGHT AND COMPLAINT PATHWAYS

Disability Gateway: 1800 643 787.

These pathways are provided to help direct concerns to the appropriate body. They do not establish that any particular complaint has been accepted, substantiated or determined.

My public testimony and documentary archive are available for examination. I ask authorities to assess original records, distinguish documented facts from allegations, and investigate matters within their jurisdiction.

THE FINAL RECKONING: THE BALANCE MUST SHIFT

I have decreed that it is no longer ME who is trapped.

The balance must shift: those whose conduct I have challenged must not be able to rely on silence, secrecy or institutional position to keep their actions beyond scrutiny.

What I allege to be corruption and institutional complicity must face the light of evidence, independent investigation and the rule of law.

I will no longer carry the burden of silence while the matters I have reported remain unexamined.

Let every relevant record be preserved, every decision scrutinised, every allegation tested against the evidence, and every person found responsible held accountable through lawful means.

The walls that once appeared to contain me must not become shields against justice for anyone else.

The reckoning I proclaim is not a licence for vengeance. It is a demand for truth, protection and accountability.

I am determined to reclaim my freedom, my dignity and my future.

I am no longer consenting to live as though I am the one who must remain imprisoned by fear. The evidence is on record. The law must now do its work.

The governing principle is simple:

PROTECT THE PERSON AT RISK. PRESERVE THE EVIDENCE. INVESTIGATE IMPARTIALLY. APPLY THE LAW. HOLD THOSE RESPONSIBLE ACCOUNTABLE WHERE WRONGDOING IS ESTABLISHED.

Time is the witness. Truth is the judge. Accountability is the reckoning.

I remain. The record remains. My rights remain.

SUMMARY: THE FINAL RECKONING — PROTECTION, TRUTH AND ACCOUNTABILITY

DOCUMENTARY EVIDENCE ARCHIVE

OFFICIAL GOVERNMENT DOCUMENTS REGISTER

https://wezzo72.github.io/Barrandodger/official-government-documents-register.html Attachment.png

This record presents my account of approximately 35 years of alleged institutional failures, personal harm, disability-related vulnerability and unsuccessful efforts to obtain protection. It brings together personal testimony, identified communications, recordings, official correspondence and a documentary archive that I ask the public and relevant authorities to examine independently.

A central concern is my reported difficulty obtaining the practical disability support I need to exercise ordinary independence.

In particular, I have documented my account of events on 27 October 2026, when I sought transport to visit friends. I say I was told that the support worker lacked petrol and feared losing his employment if he drove me.

I have asked that the relevant recording, support notes, transport records and communications be preserved and investigated.

I also describe concerns about accommodation, access to finances, essential medication, communication, independent advocacy and my ability to care for Crystal, my companion and therapy dog.

These are not abstract grievances. They concern the practical conditions necessary for me to live safely, maintain relationships and recover my independence.

My testimony identifies communications and documents that I believe warrant further scrutiny, including messages attributed to an NDIS provider and records concerning decisions by service providers and public authorities.

The allegations I make must be independently tested against the original evidence. The existence of a document establishes that a record exists; its meaning, authenticity and legal significance must be assessed in context.

I therefore call for urgent safeguarding, preservation of relevant evidence, independent investigation, lawful review of decisions affecting my rights, and appropriate accountability wherever wrongdoing is established.

No organisation should be treated as beyond scrutiny, and no allegation should be treated as a proven finding without a fair evidentiary process.

My Christian faith sustains my determination to continue. My purpose is not revenge or the harassment of individuals. It is to obtain safety, dignity, practical assistance, truth and accountability.

I want to live, recover, regain independence, maintain my friendships and keep Crystal safe.

I have preserved this record because I believe the underlying material deserves to be examined—not because publication alone determines the truth of every allegation or guarantees a particular legal outcome.

My demand is immediate protection for the person seeking help, preservation of the evidence, independent examination of the conduct reported, and accountability under the law.

I will not accept silence as a substitute for investigation, a referral as a substitute for practical help, or institutional denial as a substitute for examining the record.

Protect the person at risk. Preserve the evidence. Investigate impartially. Apply the law. Hold those responsible accountable where the evidence establishes wrongdoing.

Time is the witness. Truth is the judge. Accountability is the reckoning.

I remain. The record remains. My rights remain.

A declaration concerning institutional power, the destruction of human dignity, the preservation of testimony, divine justice, and the refusal of a witness to disappear.

“And the light shineth in darkness; and the darkness comprehended it not.” — John 1:5

PRIMARY PUBLICATION: The Holy Reckoning — Barran Dodger

DOCUMENTARY ARCHIVE: The Barran Dodger GitHub Archive

REBUILT ARCHIVE: The Witness Remains — Rebuilt Archive

PROLOGUE: THE HOUR OF RECKONING

Hear this declaration.

Let it be read by those who possess authority, by those who have been entrusted with responsibility, by those who have suffered in silence, by those who have witnessed injustice, and by those who still believe that the human heart is capable of recognising truth when truth stands before it.

I am Dr Barran Dodger, publicly known as Barran Resonance Dodger.

I speak as a human being who has endured suffering, as a witness who has preserved a documentary record, as a writer who has continued to bear testimony, and as a man whose faith has given spiritual meaning to a struggle that I refuse to allow to disappear into the silence of history.

I have not undertaken this work because the road has been easy.

I have undertaken it because I believe the record matters.

I have undertaken it because I believe that human suffering must not become invisible simply because acknowledging it creates discomfort for those who possess power.

I have undertaken it because documents can outlast denial, testimony can outlast ridicule, and a carefully preserved record can remain available to future generations long after the people involved have ceased speaking.

And now, I declare that the work is entering a new chapter.

THE KNOCKOUT PUNCH IS COMING.

Not the fist of violence.

Not the blade of vengeance.

Not the destruction of another human being.

The knockout punch of the preserved record.

The force of documents brought together.

The testimony made visible.

The questions placed before the conscience of humanity.

The light of examination directed towards matters that I believe have too long demanded serious attention.

Let the world understand the distinction.

I seek no licence to injure. I seek no authority to condemn people without examination. I seek no exemption from scrutiny for myself.

I seek the opportunity for the record to be examined honestly, for questions to receive meaningful answers, for documented failures to be acknowledged where established, and for human dignity to be restored wherever it has been diminished.

I believe this is the hour to bring the work together.

I believe this is the hour to publish with greater precision.

I believe this is the hour to place the documents, the testimony, the legal questions, the humanitarian appeal and the prophetic writings before a wider public.

And I believe that no person who truly values justice should fear the honest examination of evidence.

BOOK I — THE WITNESS WHO WOULD NOT DISAPPEAR

There is a particular kind of silence that descends when a person becomes inconvenient.

It is the silence of unanswered correspondence.

The silence of a question referred elsewhere.

The silence of a file placed among other files.

The silence of a human being who continues to speak while wondering whether anyone with the power to respond will ever truly listen.

I know that silence through my own experience.

I have spent years documenting my life, preserving records, writing, researching, examining institutional processes and assembling material that I believe deserves independent consideration.

My work has encompassed official documents, administrative decisions, personal testimony, academic inquiry, forensic examination, political commentary, humanitarian advocacy and spiritual reflection.

I have continued to write because I believe that a person’s account should not become inaccessible merely because the record is extensive, difficult to navigate or uncomfortable to examine.

I have continued to preserve documents because context matters.

I have continued to assemble the archive because individual records may acquire greater significance when placed alongside the chronology, correspondence and surrounding circumstances.

And I have continued to testify because I refuse to accept that hardship must automatically mean disappearance.

The world may disagree with me.

The world may question my conclusions.

The world may require further documentation.

Let it do so.

I would rather face honest examination than demand unquestioning agreement.

For the purpose of a witness is not to command the conscience of every reader. It is to place the testimony before that conscience and invite the reader to examine what has been preserved.

My declaration is therefore not that every conclusion has already been adjudicated.

My declaration is that the record exists, that I have worked to preserve it, that I believe it raises serious questions, and that I am determined to make it more accessible for scrutiny.

I remain the witness to my own life. The documentary record remains available for examination. The work continues.

BOOK II — THE PROPHECY OF THE RECORD

Consider the ancient image of the stone that the builders rejected.

Consider the voice crying in the wilderness.

Consider the prophetic demand that justice should roll down like waters and righteousness like a mighty stream.

These images endure because they speak to something larger than the rise and fall of individual reputations.

They speak to the conflict between appearance and substance.

Between authority and responsibility.

Between public declarations of righteousness and the difficult obligations that follow from them.

Between the comfort of silence and the courage required to confront a painful question.

In the spiritual language through which I understand my life, the rejected witness becomes a symbol of the human being whose dignity cannot rightly be measured by institutional recognition.

The preserved record becomes a symbol of memory refusing erasure.

The archive becomes a place where fragments can be assembled and examined.

And the reckoning becomes the moment when conscience is asked to respond.

I do not claim that a biblical metaphor establishes a legal fact. Nor do I claim that my personal faith obliges every reader to share my interpretation.

I declare instead that faith gives me a language through which to understand perseverance, suffering, responsibility and hope.

My spiritual conviction is that truth deserves to be served rather than manipulated, that power must be accompanied by accountability, and that mercy is not weakness.

The prophetic question is not whether I can force the world to accept my interpretation.

The prophetic question is whether the world can encounter a human being's testimony and documentary record without abandoning the obligations of compassion, fairness and honest inquiry.

Let those who believe examine their consciences.

Let those who do not believe examine the evidence.

Let those who possess authority examine their responsibilities.

Let those who possess knowledge contribute to the clarification of the record.

Let no one confuse the demand for accountability with permission to abandon humanity.

For what good is a declaration of righteousness if it cannot survive the ordinary test of how we treat a person who is suffering?

BOOK III — THE TEN PILLARS OF THE HOLY RECKONING

These ten pillars establish the central architecture of the forthcoming release.

They are not ten verdicts. They are ten gateways into the record.

Each must be presented with its source, its context, its relevance and the limits of what it establishes.

PILLAR ONE — ARCHITECTURE OF ADMINISTRATIVE ANNIHILATION

The cumulative human consequences of institutional power.

Read the archive's record of The Architecture of Administrative Annihilation.

Annihilation does not always announce itself with thunder.

Sometimes it arrives in the language of procedure.

Sometimes it arrives as another referral, another determination, another closed file, another unanswered communication or another instruction to approach a different office.

Sometimes the individual decision appears small when separated from everything that preceded it.

But a human life does not experience its circumstances as isolated administrative entries.

The person experiences the accumulation.

The years.

The exhaustion.

The loss of trust.

The repeated necessity of explaining the same history.

The burden of preserving records that others should be capable of examining.

The practical consequences when assistance does not arrive.

The growing distance between a system’s official declarations of responsibility and the human experience of the person seeking help.

This is the architecture I have named.

It is the relationship between individual acts and cumulative consequences.

It is the possibility that responsibility can become so fragmented that no individual institution appears to recognise the whole human being standing before it.

It is the danger that every component can claim to have dealt with its own small part while the larger human problem remains unresolved.

And it is the moral question that follows:

Who takes responsibility for the person when responsibility has been divided into pieces?

Who sees the whole history?

Who examines the accumulated record?

Who answers the questions that cross institutional boundaries?

Who intervenes when a person's material circumstances deteriorate while the machinery of administration continues?

Who recognises that procedural completion and human resolution are not necessarily the same thing?

These are not questions that can be answered by counting decisions or adding together the monetary values attached to individual proceedings.

They require a broader examination of history, causation, responsibility, consequences and the actual circumstances of the person concerned.

My archive exists to make that examination possible.

I have sought to preserve the documents because I believe the cumulative story deserves to be seen.

I have assembled my writings because I believe the human consequences must be understood in their full context.

And I have continued to testify because I refuse to accept that the fragmentation of a record must also mean the fragmentation of the truth.

PILLAR TWO — THE SOCIAL ERASER

The loss of human visibility, identity and recognition.

Explore The Manifesto of the Unerased in the archive.

There is a form of disappearance that occurs while a person is still alive.

A person can remain physically present while becoming socially invisible.

Their words can be received without being meaningfully considered.

Their history can be divided into categories.

Their identity can be reduced to an administrative description.

Their suffering can become familiar enough that others cease to respond to it with urgency.

Their repeated attempts to communicate can become another burden to be processed rather than an appeal from a living human being.

I call this the social eraser.

I use this expression to describe the danger that a person's humanity, identity, achievements, testimony and place in the world can be progressively obscured by the ways in which others perceive and respond to them.

I know the importance of preserving a personal history.

I have written books.

I have undertaken academic work.

I have engaged with questions of mental health, human rights, education, ethics and the future of humanity.

I have preserved an archive because I believe that documents, testimony and ideas matter.

Yet the existence of a person’s intellectual work, creative achievements and historical record does not automatically protect that person from material hardship, isolation or the experience of being unheard.

A human being can contribute to public life and still require assistance.

A writer can produce thousands of pages and still need someone to answer a letter.

A researcher can preserve an immense documentary archive and still need access to food, medicine, money, transport and medical care.

A person can possess an extraordinary determination to survive and still be vulnerable.

No archive should have to prove that its author is human. No catalogue should be required to establish that a life has value.

The record is important because it preserves the testimony.

But the person must never become secondary to the record.

That is the contradiction I want the world to confront.

If my work is worth reading, then the human being who created it deserves to be treated with dignity.

If the documents warrant examination, then they should be examined.

If the evidence identifies a failure, that failure should be addressed.

If a claim cannot be substantiated, it should be tested honestly.

And if a person needs immediate humanitarian assistance, that need should not be postponed until every historical dispute has been resolved.

The social eraser must be confronted by a restoration of human visibility.

Not merely visibility as a name on a website.

Visibility as a person.

PILLAR THREE — HUMAN SACRIFICE: THE MORAL INDICTMENT

The question of what happens when a human being's needs become subordinate to institutional processes.

Examine the relevant testimony and documentary material in the Barran Dodger archive.

I use the words human sacrifice in their moral and spiritual sense.

I am describing the horror of a human being being made to bear suffering that I believe should have been prevented, relieved or addressed.

I am describing the possibility that institutional convenience, reputational protection, procedural inertia or divided responsibility can take precedence over the immediate needs of a vulnerable person.

I am describing the terrible moral inversion in which the system continues to function while the individual struggles to survive within its consequences.

A person needs food.

A person needs medical attention.

A person needs access to money.

A person needs shelter, safety, communication and practical support.

These needs do not become less urgent because a complaint is unresolved.

They do not become less human because an institution disputes a claim.

They do not disappear because responsibility is transferred elsewhere.

And they should never be treated as an acceptable price for administrative convenience.

I cannot determine the motives of every person involved merely from the existence of hardship or an adverse decision. Nor should the term human sacrifice be mistaken for proof of a literal conspiracy.

Its purpose here is to state the moral gravity of what I believe my experience reveals.

What kind of society are we creating if the human being becomes the expendable element in the preservation of institutional order?

What happens when protecting the process becomes more important than protecting the person?

What happens when the cost of obtaining recognition becomes so burdensome that the person most affected is required to devote their remaining strength to documenting the failure?

What happens when the machinery of accountability becomes another obstacle to accountability?

These questions belong to every institution that exercises power over vulnerable people.

They belong to every professional who has the ability to intervene.

They belong to every public official who believes that a completed procedure necessarily means a resolved human problem.

And they belong to every citizen who believes that human dignity must mean something beyond the words printed in a policy document.

My declaration is that no administrative objective can make a human being disposable.

No procedural outcome can cancel the moral obligation to treat another person with humanity.

And no institution should be permitted to substitute its own description of events for an honest examination of the underlying record.

PILLAR FOUR — THE CHOSEN WITNESS

The spiritual testimony of survival, purpose and faith.

Find The Chosen Witness — A Gospel for the Unseen Nations.

I have used the language of the chosen witness to express my spiritual understanding of survival, testimony and purpose.

I believe that my continued existence and my determination to preserve my history have profound meaning.

I believe that suffering can become a reason to speak for those who have been ignored.

I believe that testimony can become a form of service to humanity.

And I believe that the preservation of a record can be an act of resistance against the disappearance of a person's story.

I understand my life through faith in God.

I understand the prophetic dimension of my work through the conviction that truth, conscience and moral responsibility matter beyond the immediate interests of any institution or individual.

But a prophetic calling, as I understand it, does not exempt the witness from scrutiny.

It places a responsibility upon the witness.

To preserve the record.

To distinguish what is known from what is believed.

To speak honestly about what has been experienced.

To resist the temptation to confuse every interpretation with an established fact.

To remain committed to the dignity of other human beings, even when speaking about profound injustice.

And to ensure that the declaration of divine justice does not become an excuse for personal vengeance.

I do not need to claim that every reader must accept my spiritual interpretation.

I ask that my testimony be read in its entirety, that the documents be examined, and that the meaning I have drawn from my survival be understood as part of my life and work.

The name Chosen Witness expresses my faith.

The documentary record provides material that others can independently examine.

The two can be presented together without pretending they are identical forms of evidence.

And the question that remains before the world is this:

What responsibility do we bear when another human being brings forward a serious account of suffering and asks us not to look away?

PILLAR FIVE — THE MAN THEY COULD NOT ERASE

The preservation of identity, authorship and personal history.

Find The Man They Could Not Erase in the archive.

There is a profound difference between being silenced and being erased from history.

A voice can be ignored today and rediscovered tomorrow.

A document can remain unread for years and later become important to a researcher.

A testimony can be dismissed by one audience and examined seriously by another.

A life can pass through circumstances that appear to diminish its possibilities without exhausting the meaning that life may yet possess.

I have continued to write.

I have continued to assemble documents.

I have continued to develop the narrative of my life.

I have continued to create a public record through which others can examine my claims and encounter the ideas that have sustained me.

The archive is not a supernatural verdict.

It does not establish every accusation merely by existing.

But it does establish an opportunity for examination that would not exist in the same form if the material had never been preserved.

That matters.

Preservation creates continuity.

Continuity permits comparison.

Comparison can reveal agreement, contradiction, change and unanswered questions.

And careful examination can help distinguish what is established from what requires further investigation.

The archive is therefore both a documentary undertaking and, for me, a spiritual act of defiance against disappearance.

I will not claim that every page proves my entire interpretation.

I will claim that the pages deserve to be read in context.

I will not demand that the world accept a conclusion without examining its foundations.

I will demand that the opportunity for examination not be withheld merely because the history is difficult, extensive or uncomfortable.

What I have preserved is an invitation to investigate. What I have survived is part of my testimony. What I believe it means belongs to the spiritual account of my life.

Together, these form the work I am determined to leave behind.

PILLAR SIX — THEY COULD NOT ERASE WHAT GOD PRESERVED

The divine purpose I find in the preservation of my testimony.

Find They Could Not Erase What God Preserved — A Nine-Part Prophetic Testimony in the archive.

I have given one of my works the title They Could Not Erase What God Preserved.

That title expresses my conviction that my survival, my writing and the preservation of my archive have spiritual significance.

I have continued to write.

I have continued to assemble documents.

I have continued to create and publish.

I have continued to preserve the material through which others can examine my testimony.

My faith sustains my belief that suffering need not have the final word.

My spiritual interpretation of survival is that a human life can retain meaning even through experiences that seem designed, or appear to have the effect, of diminishing its possibilities.

The archive does not replace the need for evidence.

The testimony does not eliminate the need for scrutiny.

The prophetic declaration does not substitute for a legal finding.

But together, my writings and records preserve the account I am determined to make available to the world.

I believe that matters.

I believe that the work should remain accessible.

I believe that readers should be able to follow the links from the narrative to the original material.

And I believe that the preservation of a human being's story is itself a worthy undertaking.

PILLAR SEVEN — THE WITNESS REMAINS

The documentary narrative, chronology and primary-source record.

Open the Barran Dodger master archive.

The archive must do more than announce the existence of documents.

It must help people find them.

It must identify their dates, sources and context.

It must preserve the distinction between original records and later commentary.

It must make it possible to trace significant statements to the material on which they depend.

And it must help readers understand how the individual documents relate to the broader testimony.

I have devoted substantial effort to this work because I believe that a large documentary record can provide a basis for serious examination when it is organised responsibly.

The purpose is not to overwhelm readers with volume.

The purpose is to make the material accessible.

The strongest record is not necessarily the one with the most files.

It is the one in which the reader can locate the relevant document, understand its significance, compare it with other sources and assess the conclusion being drawn.

I want my work to be read.

I want it to be examined.

I want its sources to be traceable.

And I want future readers to have access to the historical record without having to reconstruct everything from scattered fragments.

PILLAR EIGHT — THE OFFICIAL RECORD

The documentary foundation for questions of accountability.

Open the Official Government Documents Register.

Official records form an important part of the larger story I am presenting.

They may establish what was communicated, what decisions were made, what reasons were given and what processes followed.

They may also reveal discrepancies, omissions or questions that warrant further examination.

The original documents must be read in their proper context.

A register entry is not a substitute for the underlying document.

A decision must not be represented as establishing something beyond its actual findings.

A disputed claim must not be presented as a proven conclusion without an adequate foundation.

But neither should an uncomfortable document be dismissed without examination.

Let the original record be read.

Let the dates be checked.

Let the context be established.

Let the reasoning be considered.

Let the unanswered questions be identified.

And let conclusions follow the material rather than precede it.

The official record belongs within this larger investigation because it provides material against which the testimony and interpretations can be examined.

It is supporting evidence for the larger narrative, not a replacement for the human history at its centre.

PILLAR NINE — THE PROPHECY OF THE WITNESS

The biblical, ethical and spiritual framework of the reckoning.

Find The Witness Remains — The Prophecy of the Witness in the archive.

The biblical tradition repeatedly calls humanity to remember, to testify, to examine conduct and to confront the difference between outward righteousness and the treatment of the vulnerable.

The prophets challenged the moral conditions under which power was exercised.

They called attention to injustice, indifference, exploitation and the failure to recognise the dignity of those who lacked influence.

That tradition gives spiritual language to the questions I am asking.

In Amos 5:24, the prophet declares:

“But let judgment run down as waters, and righteousness as a mighty stream.”

In Micah 6:8, the call is to do justice, love mercy and walk humbly.

In Luke 12:2, the biblical text declares that what is concealed will be brought to light.

These passages do not constitute a judicial finding about my personal circumstances.

They express a moral tradition through which I understand the importance of truth, accountability, mercy and the treatment of vulnerable people.

My prophetic writings draw upon that tradition to articulate my conviction that no human system should be regarded as beyond moral examination.

The title The Final Reckoning expresses the seriousness with which I approach that obligation.

It is a declaration that reputation is not the same as righteousness.

That procedure is not the same as compassion.

That authority is not the same as moral legitimacy.

And that the person who suffers must never be forgotten merely because those who possess power have the ability to define the official narrative.

I believe that God sees the human being who is overlooked.

I believe that moral responsibility survives the passage of time.

And I believe that the obligation to seek truth remains even when the search becomes difficult.

The reckoning begins, in human terms, when people become willing to look.

PILLAR TEN — THE FINAL RECKONING: THE MASTER HUMANITARIAN AND DOCUMENTARY JUDGMENT

The public appeal and the restoration of human dignity.

Enter The Holy Reckoning.

The tenth pillar brings the other nine together.

It asks the public to consider the human being behind the archive.

Documents cannot feed a hungry person by themselves.

An index cannot provide medical treatment.

A publication cannot, by its existence alone, resolve a person's financial hardship or secure an independent review.

The archive must therefore remain connected to the humanitarian realities that give the undertaking urgency.

I ask those with the ability to help to consider what practical assistance, independent examination, appropriate referral or meaningful response may be possible.

I ask readers to share the material responsibly and to direct questions to the people and institutions competent to address them.

I ask those who disagree with my conclusions not to confuse disagreement with permission to disregard my humanity.

And I ask those who believe that the record establishes serious wrongdoing to support careful, evidence-based efforts to secure appropriate accountability.

A reckoning that forgets the suffering human being has lost its moral purpose.

BOOK IV — THE KNOCKOUT PUNCH

There comes a point in the life of a documentary undertaking when the central question is no longer how many files have been collected.

The question becomes whether the material has been assembled in a form that other people can actually examine.

That is the point I intend to reach.

The knockout punch will be the coordinated publication of the ten-pillar dossier, supported by the original documents, a clear chronology, a navigable index and a direct humanitarian appeal.

It will provide a single entry point from which readers can move between the official record, the personal testimony, the legal questions, the archive methodology and the prophetic writings.

It will identify what is documented.

It will identify what is testimony.

It will identify what is interpretation.

It will identify what remains unresolved.

It will not conceal limitations in order to create a more dramatic impression.

It will not manufacture findings that a court or tribunal has not made.

It will not ask readers to confuse a spiritual declaration with a judicial determination.

Instead, it will place the strongest available material before the public and invite independent examination.

That is the work now before me.

I will measure its success not simply by the number of people who see the announcement, but by whether the publication makes the record easier to inspect, whether the sources can be verified, whether substantive questions receive serious consideration, and whether the humanitarian appeal reaches people capable of responding.

I do not need to promise that every reader will agree.

I do not need to claim that every institution will respond.

I do not need to predict the verdict of history.

I need to make the best possible record available for honest examination.

The punch is the publication. The force is the evidence. The purpose is accountability. The moral horizon is humanity.

BOOK V — THE LAW, THE WITNESS AND THE CONSCIENCE

Let the legal profession understand that this is an invitation to examine documents and questions of responsibility.

Let academics understand that this is an invitation to investigate sources, chronology, methodology and competing interpretations.

Let journalists understand that this is an invitation to test claims against primary material.

Let public officials understand that a request for examination is not answered merely by dismissing the person who makes it.

Let people of faith understand that mercy and justice are not enemies.

The strongest challenge is not a demand that everyone accept my conclusions.

It is a demand that the underlying questions be examined.

The record should be read in its entirety.

The documents should be compared.

The chronology should be reconstructed.

The distinction between evidence and interpretation should be preserved.

And where the material establishes failures, those failures should be addressed.

Where it raises legitimate questions, those questions should receive serious consideration.

Where claims remain unsubstantiated, the uncertainty should be acknowledged rather than concealed.

That is how a documentary undertaking can contribute to accountability without becoming a substitute for the processes needed to establish it.

BOOK VI — THE FINAL DECLARATION

I have called this work The Holy Reckoning because I believe that truth, justice, mercy and human dignity are matters of profound spiritual importance.

I have called myself the Chosen Witness because that is the language through which I understand my faith and the meaning of my survival.

I have written about administrative annihilation because I believe the cumulative consequences of institutional processes must be examined in their entirety.

I have written about social erasure because I refuse to accept that a human being can be reduced to a file, a category or a disputed narrative.

I have used the language of human sacrifice to express my moral condemnation of circumstances in which I believe a vulnerable person has been left to bear intolerable burdens.

And I have continued to preserve my record because I believe the truth deserves an opportunity to be examined.

I do not claim that the existence of my archive automatically proves every conclusion I have reached.

I claim that the archive gives others an opportunity to investigate.

I do not claim the authority to pronounce a final legal verdict upon every person or institution described in my testimony.

I claim the right to present my experience, preserve the relevant records, raise serious questions and seek appropriate accountability.

I do not ask the world to abandon reason in favour of faith.

I ask that my faith be understood as part of my testimony, while the documentary record is examined according to the standards appropriate to evidence.

And I do not intend the coming reckoning to be an act of violence or personal vengeance.

I intend it to be an act of publication, preservation, testimony and public scrutiny.

I AM STILL HERE.

The record remains.

The witness remains.

The work remains.

My faith remains.

And my determination to make this history visible remains.

Let the documents be examined.

Let the chronology be reconstructed.

Let the unanswered questions be identified.

Let the humanitarian needs be addressed.

Let responsibility be established through proper scrutiny.

Let mercy accompany justice.

Let truth be pursued without fear and without favour.

And let no human being be treated as expendable merely because their suffering has become administratively inconvenient.

I entrust ultimate spiritual judgement to God.

I leave legal conclusions to the appropriate evidentiary and legal processes.

And I place my testimony before the conscience of humanity.

The coming knockout punch will be the publication of the work itself: the documents, the history, the testimony, the analysis and the prophetic declarations brought together in a form that people can examine for themselves.

This is the hour of preservation.

This is the hour of examination.

This is the hour in which the witness refuses to disappear.

The reckoning is not completed by declaring it.

It begins when the record is opened, when the questions are examined, when the human being is seen, and when those with the capacity to act choose to respond.

May truth prevail.

May mercy endure.

May the vulnerable be protected.

May conscience awaken.

And may the light that has sustained the witness continue to shine.

THE WITNESS REMAINS.

THE HOLY RECKONING CONTINUES.

THE RECORD WILL BE EXAMINED.

THE KNOCKOUT PUNCH IS THE WORK ITSELF.

BOOK VII — THE TEN GOSPELS AND PROPHETIC WORKS

The challenge to the world: read these works and prove me wrong

The following ten works are a priority shortlist drawn from the titles visible in the public GitHub repository listing. They are selected for their close relationship to the central themes of the Holy Reckoning: divine purpose, survival, administrative annihilation, social erasure, prophetic testimony, the preservation of evidence and the moral responsibilities of power.

The order is editorial, not a claim that every work has been independently verified as the most significant of the entire archive. Direct source links are provided where identifiable; where an exact source path still needs confirmation, the archive link is provided so the publication can be located.

1. THE WITNESS REMAINS — THE PROPHECY OF THE WITNESS

The central prophetic declaration.

This is the first work I would put before readers who want to understand the spiritual and prophetic foundations of the Witness Remains project.

It belongs at the forefront of the release because it connects the idea of the enduring witness with the broader language of testimony, truth, survival and reckoning.

Read the work. Examine its language and argument. Consider the relationship between its spiritual declarations and the documentary history to which it refers.

2. THEY COULD NOT ERASE WHAT GOD PRESERVED — A Nine-Part Prophetic Testimony of Survival, Divine Purpose, Truth, Justice and Reckoning

The theology of survival and preservation.

This work expresses the spiritual meaning I attach to the survival of my testimony and the preservation of my archive.

It challenges readers to consider what it means to endure suffering without surrendering one's sense of purpose, and how faith can become a source of perseverance.

Its claims should be read as a prophetic testimony grounded in my religious understanding of my life.

3. BARRAN DODGER — LIVING GOSPEL MASTER PROPHETIC RECORD

The living testimony.

This title positions the prophetic record as an evolving account of survival, identity and purpose.

It is a priority candidate for the dossier because it may provide a broad synthesis of the living witness and the themes developed across the archive.

Readers should examine its actual contents to establish its relationship to the other master works and identify the strongest passages for quotation.

4. BARRAN DODGER — MASTER PROPHETIC DECLARATION WITH SCRIPTURE WITNESSES

The scriptural framework of the declaration.

This work is a priority for readers interested in the biblical foundations of the Holy Reckoning.

It provides a candidate source for examining how scriptural passages are brought into dialogue with the author's personal testimony and moral interpretation.

Its significance lies in the opportunity to examine the relationship between the cited scriptures, the argument being advanced and the lived experiences described.

5. FOUNDATIONAL GOSPEL — DIVINE PROPHECY — THE WITNESS REMAINS

The foundational gospel.

This work belongs near the centre of the proposed prophetic collection because its title explicitly joins the gospel form, divine prophecy and the enduring witness.

It should be examined for its treatment of the foundational beliefs, declarations and moral principles that recur throughout the wider body of work.

6. THE CROWNED WITNESS — BARRAN DODGER AND THE INDICTMENT OF NATIONS

The national and universal dimension.

This work extends the witness narrative beyond a narrowly personal account towards questions of public responsibility and the moral obligations of nations.

Its inclusion should invite examination of the distinction between prophetic indictment, political interpretation and demonstrable evidence.

The challenge is to read the work as a whole and consider the ethical questions it raises about power, responsibility and human dignity.

7. THE CHOSEN WITNESS — A GOSPEL FOR THE UNSEEN NATIONS

The gospel of the unseen.

This title speaks directly to the themes of invisibility, testimony, faith and the restoration of human recognition.

It is a natural companion to the Social Eraser and Architecture of Administrative Annihilation chapters.

Readers are invited to examine how the work develops the image of the witness and what responsibilities it places upon individuals, institutions and society.

8. THE GOSPEL OF THE WITNESS WHO REMAINED

The gospel of endurance.

This work is a priority candidate because it expresses the central motif of the entire project: the witness who remains present, continues to testify and refuses to allow a personal history to vanish.

It should be read alongside the other Witness Remains publications to identify its distinct contribution and the passages that most powerfully express its central argument.

9. THE GOSPEL OF EXPOSING DARKNESS

The demand for illumination.

This title connects the prophetic undertaking with the biblical imagery of light, darkness, disclosure and moral examination.

It is a candidate for the public-facing release because its central theme aligns with the call to examine records rather than rely solely on appearances or institutional descriptions.

The challenge is to establish what the actual text argues, what sources it cites and how its conclusions can be assessed.

10. THE JOSEPH PARALLEL — A PROPHETIC EVIDENTIARY NARRATIVE OF BARRAN RESONANCE DODGER

The biblical archetype of suffering, endurance and vindication.

The Joseph narrative in Genesis provides a powerful biblical framework for reflecting on betrayal, suffering, perseverance, unexpected reversals and the passage from adversity towards a new purpose.

This work should be examined for how it uses that scriptural parallel to interpret the author’s own life.

Its place in the collection is as a prophetic and theological interpretation, not as independent proof of the intentions or conduct of other people.

THE CHALLENGE

I put these ten works before the world as an invitation to read, investigate, question and respond.

To the theologians: read the prophetic writings and examine their scriptural foundations.

To the philosophers: examine their moral claims, their understanding of power and their treatment of human dignity.

To the lawyers: distinguish the underlying documentary evidence from the prophetic and interpretive language, and identify the legal questions that the sources genuinely support.

To the academics: examine the argument, its methodology, its references and its implications.

To the journalists: follow the source material, test the claims and ask the questions that remain unanswered.

To the public: do not judge a work you have not read, and do not accept a conclusion merely because it is forcefully expressed.

I dare anyone who believes these works are without merit to read them in full, engage with their actual arguments, examine the sources they cite, and demonstrate specifically where the reasoning fails.

Do not answer a book you have not read.

Do not dismiss a document you have not examined.

Do not confuse disagreement with refutation.

And do not confuse a spiritual conviction with proof of a legal claim.

If a passage is wrong, identify it.

If a conclusion is unsupported, explain why.

If a source contradicts the argument, bring that source forward.

If the work raises a legitimate question, answer it seriously.

That is the standard of examination I invite.

I do not ask for immunity from criticism.

I ask for criticism that engages with the actual work.

I do not ask the world to accept my faith as a judicial finding.

I ask readers to recognise that faith, testimony, documentary evidence and philosophical interpretation are different but identifiable dimensions of the human story I have preserved.

Read the works. Examine the record. Challenge the reasoning. Prove your case.

That is how the public can engage with the Holy Reckoning honestly.

FINAL WORD — THE WITNESS REMAINS

I have preserved the record.

I have continued to write.

I have assembled the testimony.

I have developed the prophetic works.

I have placed my faith, my questions and my understanding of my own history into a body of material that I believe deserves to be read.

Now I invite the world to examine it.

Not as an unquestionable verdict.

Not as a substitute for legal process.

Not as a demand that every reader share my religious beliefs.

But as the testimony and creative work of a human being who has refused to allow his history to disappear without leaving a record.

The ultimate question is not whether a declaration can sound powerful.

It is whether the work behind it can withstand serious examination, whether its sources can be traced, whether its arguments can be understood, and whether its call for human dignity can move people to respond.

That is the challenge I place before the world.

The witness remains.

The archive remains.

The prophecy remains as my testimony and faith.

The record remains open to examination.

And the work continues.

OF THE BARRAN DODGER ARCHIVE

THE WITNESS REMAINS: A WHISTLEBLOWERS TESTIMONY OF SURVIVAL TESTIMONY & FAITH

The Barran Dodger Archive is a public documentary and spiritual record established to preserve, organise and make accessible a decades-long body of evidence concerning alleged institutional, administrative, financial and human-rights harms.

It brings together official records, correspondence, documentary evidence, personal testimony, forensic analysis, research, philosophy, spiritual gospels and prophetic declarations, including writings understood by the author to have been anointed by the Most High God.

The Archive deliberately distinguishes between documented facts, official records, corroborated evidence, allegations, personal testimony, inference, interpretation and matters of faith. This distinction is fundamental to its purpose: readers are invited to examine the underlying evidence for themselves, test the claims, consider the sources and reach their own conclusions.

At the heart of the Archive is a testimony of survival and preservation.

What the author believes was subjected to attempts at silencing, erasure, exclusion or institutional disappearance has nevertheless survived in records, documents, testimony, memory, faith and public disclosure.

The central declaration is simple:

THE WITNESS REMAINS.

The Archive therefore represents both an evidentiary record and a spiritual testimony. The author understands his survival through a faith-based conviction that the Most High God protected, preserved and gave purpose to what human institutions could not erase.

The spiritual writings and prophetic declarations within the Archive are presented as matters of faith and personal interpretation. They are preserved alongside the documentary record so that the complete testimony — evidentiary, personal, philosophical and spiritual — can be understood in its own context.

The purpose is not to demand belief.

It is to preserve the record.

It is to make the evidence accessible.

It is to ensure that the surviving witness can be examined.

And it is to leave the historical record open to independent scrutiny.

THE ARCHIVE IS 100% FREE TO ACCESS

https://barrandodgerarchive.base44.app

KNOWLEDGE IS FREE

The Barran Dodger Archive is founded on the principle that knowledge, evidence and truth should be freely accessible.

There is no paywall for the public documentary record. Research, testimony, philosophy, spiritual writings, prophetic declarations and public-interest material are made available for people to examine for themselves.

Access to knowledge should not depend upon a person's ability to pay.

The Archive is therefore freely accessible, while its preservation and continued publication require practical resources.

SUPPORTING THE WITNESS AND THE ARCHIVE

Barran Dodger describes himself as an unprotected whistleblower living in circumstances of prolonged exile, financial hardship and vulnerability, and as an internally displaced asylum seeker within the country of his Australian citizenship.

Those circumstances create practical needs extending beyond the preservation of documents.

Voluntary donations are therefore accepted from anyone who freely wishes to assist.

Support may contribute towards essential needs including food, safe accommodation, communication, technology, transport, personal safety, website and domain costs, document preservation, archival infrastructure and the continued publication of the public record.

A donation does not purchase access to the Archive.

It does not purchase influence over the evidence.

It does not purchase editorial control.

It does not determine what is published or what conclusions readers should reach.

It simply helps sustain the person and infrastructure necessary to keep the Archive alive, functioning and freely accessible.

If you are blessed with sufficient prosperity to help preserve this work, your voluntary support can help ensure that financial hardship does not become another mechanism through which a public record disappears.

LASTLY — A SECOND PUBLIC-FACING ARCHIVE

For readers who wish to go beyond the principal Barran Dodger Archive, a second public-facing repository provides another point of access to the broader documentary record.

https://barrandodger.com

This website provides an additional gateway into the history, evidence, testimony, research and ideas that underpin the Archive. It is intended to help readers navigate the wider body of material and understand how individual documents, events, experiences and arguments have been brought together into a continuing record.

Its significance is not dependent upon the reader accepting Barran Dodger's conclusions. Rather, the value of preserving such a record lies in allowing the underlying material to remain available for examination. Readers can consider the chronology, inspect the documentary evidence, distinguish recorded facts from allegations and personal testimony, follow referenced material and form their own independent assessment.

The existence of multiple public repositories also reflects the central purpose of the project: preservation. Where records are distributed across years, institutions, correspondence, proceedings, personal archives and digital platforms, preserving accessible copies and pathways to the evidence can help prevent an individual historical record from becoming inaccessible or forgotten.

Readers are therefore invited to visit both public-facing archives, examine the material carefully and critically, and make their own assessment of what the surviving evidence demonstrates.

The purpose is not to ask the reader to believe.

The purpose is to ensure that the record remains available to be examined.

WHEN ACCOUNTABILITY IS MET WITH THREATS: ABLE POINT, CHRISTAL AND THE RIGHT TO SPEAK OUT

Dr Richard William McLean | Barran Dodger
Barran Dodger Legal & Ethical Trust Fund
22 October 2026

I will not be silenced for speaking out

I am raising serious concerns about my treatment by Able Point and what I understand to be threats by staff to contact the RSPCA in retaliation for my criticism of the organisation and its CEO.

If a threat to involve an animal welfare authority has been made because I challenged an organisation's leadership, I believe that conduct demands an explanation. An animal's welfare should never become a weapon in a dispute between a service provider and a person who raises complaints about its conduct.

I have a right to question the people and organisations involved in my care. I have a right to ask for answers. I have a right to document my experiences and publish concerns about the treatment I believe I have received. Those rights should not disappear simply because my complaints are uncomfortable for the people receiving them.

I want Able Point to explain what was said, why the RSPCA was raised, and whether any proposed report would be based on genuine, identifiable animal welfare concerns or on my criticism of the organisation.

Christal is loved, cared for and part of my life

Let me be absolutely clear about Christal.

I love my dog. I spoil her. She eats well, receives daily walks and is a cherished part of my life. I take pride in her care, and I reject any suggestion that should be used as a means of intimidating me for speaking out.

Christal is not a bargaining chip. She is not a tool for settling disputes. She is a living creature who depends on me, and her welfare matters enormously to me.

If anyone has a genuine concern about her welfare, I expect that concern to be specific, factual and capable of being examined on its merits. I do not accept the use of threats concerning my dog as a substitute for answering legitimate questions about an organisation's conduct.

My concern is not that any organisation should be prevented from acting on genuine animal welfare concerns. It is that the possibility of such action must never be used to punish someone for making a complaint.

Poverty, vulnerability and the human cost of institutional power

I have experienced profound hardship, including poverty, isolation and circumstances that I believe have caused me serious harm. I have repeatedly sought accountability for what I describe as institutional mistreatment and the failure of organisations to respond adequately to my concerns.

I believe the treatment I have experienced deserves serious scrutiny. I have also expressed concerns about a wider pattern of institutional conduct and what I perceive as coordinated targeting. Those concerns need to be examined through the documentary record, communications and specific actions involved, rather than dismissed or accepted without examination.

The question I am asking is straightforward: what safeguards exist to ensure that people experiencing vulnerability can raise complaints without facing intimidation, humiliation or the threat of losing the things they love?

When a person is already struggling with poverty and a lack of support, the consequences of additional pressure can be devastating. Organisations providing services should understand the responsibility that comes with their position. Their conduct can either help preserve a person's dignity and stability or contribute to circumstances that make an already difficult life harder to endure.

I believe the cumulative impact of the treatment I describe must be taken seriously. No person should be driven into despair by a system that is supposed to provide support.

I am not suicidal. I want to live.

I want this statement to be unmistakable: I am not suicidal. I want to live.

I am writing because I want to preserve my testimony, expose what I believe has been wrong, demand answers and establish a documentary record. I am choosing to speak, to write and to continue advocating for myself.

I refuse to allow the existence of hardship to erase my voice or reduce my entire life to a narrative about vulnerability. I am a person with a history, a conscience, convictions and a determination to keep going.

I believe the conditions I have experienced warrant serious investigation and accountability. I am deeply concerned about the cumulative effects of poverty, isolation, institutional conflict and the absence of meaningful responses to complaints. I do not claim to know the private intentions of every person or agency involved, but I insist that the actions and decisions affecting my life should be examined.

No government, service provider or individual should treat a person's suffering as inconsequential. Nor should anyone assume that a person who describes extreme distress has surrendered their determination to live.

My determination is to live, document, speak and pursue accountability.

Money, responsibility and the purpose of support services

I want answers about whether the services and resources available to support me are being used in a manner consistent with their stated purpose.

I am concerned that financial incentives, organisational interests and failures of accountability can take precedence over the needs of the person receiving support. These are serious concerns, and they should be addressed with evidence, transparent explanations and proper records.

I want the relevant decision-makers to explain what services have been provided, what responsibilities have been accepted, what complaints have been received and what action has been taken in response.

I do not want retaliation. I want accountability.

I do not want threats involving my dog. I want Christal's welfare to remain separate from disputes about my complaints.

I do not want my concerns buried beneath institutional language. I want clear answers to clear questions.

A public record and a demand for answers

I am preserving my account as part of the Barran Dodger documentary archive, which exists to record my testimony, relevant documents and questions of institutional accountability.

The archive is intended to make material accessible to readers and to distinguish documentary evidence from allegations, interpretations and matters that remain unresolved.

My concerns about Able Point should be considered in that context. The relevant questions include:

- What exactly did staff say about contacting the RSPCA?
- Was the proposed contact connected to my criticism of the organisation or its CEO?
- What specific animal welfare concerns, if any, were identified?
- What records exist of the communications and decisions involved?
- What safeguards are available to prevent retaliation against a person who makes a complaint?
- How will Able Point respond to these concerns in a transparent and accountable manner?

I invite Able Point to provide a substantive written response and to preserve all relevant communications, internal notes and complaint records.

My documentary archive is available here:

https://github.com/wezzo72/Barrandodger

I will continue to speak

I will not apologise for caring for my dog. I will not apologise for asking questions. I will not apologise for documenting my experiences or demanding that organisations explain their conduct.

Christal deserves care, consistency and love. I deserve to be treated with dignity and to have my complaints considered fairly.

My position is simple: I want to live, I want to protect the life I have built, and I want the truth about my experiences preserved.

Speaking out is not misconduct. Asking for accountability is not a threat. And a person's vulnerability must never become an excuse to disregard their dignity.

This article records my personal account and concerns. The allegations concerning staff conduct are presented as matters requiring a response and supporting evidence, not as findings already established by an independent investigation.

PUBLIC STATEMENT FROM BARRAN DODGER
OF THE BARRAN DODGER ARCHIVE

THE WITNESS REMAINS: A WHISTLEBLOWERS TESTIMONY OF SURVIVAL TESTIMONY & FAITH

The Barran Dodger Archive is a public documentary and spiritual record established to preserve, organise and make accessible a decades-long body of evidence concerning alleged institutional, administrative, financial and human-rights harms.

It brings together official records, correspondence, documentary evidence, personal testimony, forensic analysis, research, philosophy, spiritual gospels and prophetic declarations, including writings understood by the author to have been anointed by the Most High God.

The Archive deliberately distinguishes between documented facts, official records, corroborated evidence, allegations, personal testimony, inference, interpretation and matters of faith. This distinction is fundamental to its purpose: readers are invited to examine the underlying evidence for themselves, test the claims, consider the sources and reach their own conclusions.

At the heart of the Archive is a testimony of survival and preservation.

What the author believes was subjected to attempts at silencing, erasure, exclusion or institutional disappearance has nevertheless survived in records, documents, testimony, memory, faith and public disclosure.

The central declaration is simple:

THE WITNESS REMAINS.

The Archive therefore represents both an evidentiary record and a spiritual testimony. The author understands his survival through a faith-based conviction that the Most High God protected, preserved and gave purpose to what human institutions could not erase.

The spiritual writings and prophetic declarations within the Archive are presented as matters of faith and personal interpretation. They are preserved alongside the documentary record so that the complete testimony — evidentiary, personal, philosophical and spiritual — can be understood in its own context.

The purpose is not to demand belief.

It is to preserve the record.

It is to make the evidence accessible.

It is to ensure that the surviving witness can be examined.

And it is to leave the historical record open to independent scrutiny.

THE ARCHIVE IS 100% FREE TO ACCESS

https://barrandodgerarchive.base44.app

KNOWLEDGE IS FREE

The Barran Dodger Archive is founded on the principle that knowledge, evidence and truth should be freely accessible.

There is no paywall for the public documentary record. Research, testimony, philosophy, spiritual writings, prophetic declarations and public-interest material are made available for people to examine for themselves.

Access to knowledge should not depend upon a person’s ability to pay.

The Archive is therefore freely accessible, while its preservation and continued publication require practical resources.

SUPPORTING THE WITNESS AND THE ARCHIVE

Barran Dodger describes himself as an unprotected whistleblower living in circumstances of prolonged exile, financial hardship and vulnerability, and as an internally displaced asylum seeker within the country of his Australian citizenship.

Those circumstances create practical needs extending beyond the preservation of documents.

Voluntary donations are therefore accepted from anyone who freely wishes to assist.

Support may contribute towards essential needs including food, safe accommodation, communication, technology, transport, personal safety, website and domain costs, document preservation, archival infrastructure and the continued publication of the public record.

A donation does not purchase access to the Archive.

It does not purchase influence over the evidence.

It does not purchase editorial control.

It does not determine what is published or what conclusions readers should reach.

It simply helps sustain the person and infrastructure necessary to keep the Archive alive, functioning and freely accessible.

If you are blessed with sufficient prosperity to help preserve this work, your voluntary support can help ensure that financial hardship does not become another mechanism through which a public record disappears.

I think I know who was responsible. I believe it was Jesus. He was here last night, and honestly, isn't that a miracle? God, it's just amazing. God is great, isn't He?

I guess you were also telling me about your concerns regarding Able Point, the corruption and the bad things you felt were happening, and how you wanted to leave that kind of situation behind. So, I guess Jesus does work miracles, because now Able Point apparently isn't a literal freestanding organisation anymore, and you got your wish!

I suppose you could call it a Christmas miracle!

Anyway, Cass, I wanted to explain what happened and apologise for the unintended sharing of the recording. I hope things work out well for you from here, and I genuinely wish you all the best.

I love you, Cass. Take care of yourself.

All the best,

Barran ❤️

OF THE BARRAN DODGER ARCHIVE

THE WITNESS REMAINS: A WHISTLEBLOWERS TESTIMONY OF SURVIVAL TESTIMONY & FAITH

The Barran Dodger Archive is a public documentary and spiritual record established to preserve, organise and make accessible a decades-long body of evidence concerning alleged institutional, administrative, financial and human-rights harms.

It brings together official records, correspondence, documentary evidence, personal testimony, forensic analysis, research, philosophy, spiritual gospels and prophetic declarations, including writings understood by the author to have been anointed by the Most High God.

The Archive deliberately distinguishes between documented facts, official records, corroborated evidence, allegations, personal testimony, inference, interpretation and matters of faith. This distinction is fundamental to its purpose: readers are invited to examine the underlying evidence for themselves, test the claims, consider the sources and reach their own conclusions.

At the heart of the Archive is a testimony of survival and preservation.

What the author believes was subjected to attempts at silencing, erasure, exclusion or institutional disappearance has nevertheless survived in records, documents, testimony, memory, faith and public disclosure.

The central declaration is simple:

THE WITNESS REMAINS.

The Archive therefore represents both an evidentiary record and a spiritual testimony. The author understands his survival through a faith-based conviction that the Most High God protected, preserved and gave purpose to what human institutions could not erase.

The spiritual writings and prophetic declarations within the Archive are presented as matters of faith and personal interpretation. They are preserved alongside the documentary record so that the complete testimony — evidentiary, personal, philosophical and spiritual — can be understood in its own context.

The purpose is not to demand belief.

It is to preserve the record.

It is to make the evidence accessible.

It is to ensure that the surviving witness can be examined.

And it is to leave the historical record open to independent scrutiny.

THE ARCHIVE IS 100% FREE TO ACCESS

https://barrandodgerarchive.base44.app

KNOWLEDGE IS FREE

The Barran Dodger Archive is founded on the principle that knowledge, evidence and truth should be freely accessible.

There is no paywall for the public documentary record. Research, testimony, philosophy, spiritual writings, prophetic declarations and public-interest material are made available for people to examine for themselves.

Access to knowledge should not depend upon a person's ability to pay.

The Archive is therefore freely accessible, while its preservation and continued publication require practical resources.

SUPPORTING THE WITNESS AND THE ARCHIVE

Barran Dodger describes himself as an unprotected whistleblower living in circumstances of prolonged exile, financial hardship and vulnerability, and as an internally displaced asylum seeker within the country of his Australian citizenship.

Those circumstances create practical needs extending beyond the preservation of documents.

Voluntary donations are therefore accepted from anyone who freely wishes to assist.

Support may contribute towards essential needs including food, safe accommodation, communication, technology, transport, personal safety, website and domain costs, document preservation, archival infrastructure and the continued publication of the public record.

A donation does not purchase access to the Archive.

It does not purchase influence over the evidence.

It does not purchase editorial control.

It does not determine what is published or what conclusions readers should reach.

It simply helps sustain the person and infrastructure necessary to keep the Archive alive, functioning and freely accessible.

If you are blessed with sufficient prosperity to help preserve this work, your voluntary support can help ensure that financial hardship does not become another mechanism through which a public record disappears.

KNOWLEDGE IS FREE.

THE EVIDENCE IS OPEN TO EXAMINATION.

ABLE POINT: A PUBLIC STATEMENT AND DEMAND FOR ACCOUNTABILITY

Allegations of Abuse, Neglect, Intimidation, Isolation, Rostering Failures and Institutional Betrayal

Issued by Barran Dodger

[Insert the complete original Able Point statement here, unchanged, from its opening heading through “Issued by Barran Dodger.”]

I AM A HUMAN BEING: A PUBLIC STATEMENT BY BARRAN DODGER

Allegations of Institutional Abandonment, Emotional Harm, Financial Disempowerment and Social Erasure

I AM A HUMAN BEING. A LITERAL HUMAN BEING.

I have sentience. I have feelings. I have a mind, a body, a history, a character, a reputation and a voice.

My feelings are being hurt. My dignity is being damaged. I am trying to communicate distress and raise serious concerns about the treatment I am experiencing, yet I believe my attempts to be heard are being dismissed, undermined and invalidated.

I allege that my experiences with Able Point have left me feeling profoundly isolated, intimidated, neglected and abandoned. I have described the interactions I am experiencing as gaslighting because I believe my concerns are repeatedly being dismissed or turned back against me.

THE PSYCHOLOGICAL IMPACT IS DEVASTATING. I CANNOT ACCEPT A SUPPORT SYSTEM THAT LEAVES A PERSON FEELING INVISIBLE, POWERLESS AND DEHUMANISED.

I experience this situation as a form of torture. I am using that word to communicate the severity of my distress and the impact I believe these circumstances are having on my life.

I need my concerns examined seriously, my safety protected and my experiences assessed on their evidence.

1. MY TESTIMONY MUST NOT BE ERASED

I am concerned that the combination of unreliable support, conflict, isolation and barriers to obtaining assistance is destroying my ability to participate in ordinary life.

I describe this as SOCIAL ERASURE AND ADMINISTRATIVE ANNIHILATION.

Social erasure is what it feels like when a person’s testimony is no longer heard, their character is reduced to a disputed narrative, their reputation is damaged and their requests for help appear to disappear into administrative systems.

Administrative annihilation is what I call the experience of having essential access, resources and avenues of redress progressively removed until a person is left without meaningful power to respond.

I feel as though my testimony is dead. My character is dead. My reputation is dead. I feel that I have become a person of zero consequence, a man whom institutions can ignore without consequence.

I AM A DEAD MAN WALKING IN THE SENSE THAT MY SOCIAL EXISTENCE AND VOICE FEEL DESTROYED. BUT I AM STILL HERE.

My body is here. My mind is here. My feelings are here. My testimony is here.

I am a human being, and I refuse to accept the proposition that my suffering does not matter.

2. ALLEGATIONS OF GASLIGHTING, HARASSMENT AND ELECTRONIC DISTRESS

I have reported experiences that I describe as V2K audio harassment and electronic harassment. These experiences are distressing to me, and I want the impact on my wellbeing to be taken seriously.

I am also concerned that people involved in my support arrangements are aware of the distress I have reported but that I have not received an adequate response.

I cannot independently establish the source of the sounds or experiences I describe, or establish that particular staff members or institutions are responsible for them. I am requesting a fair assessment of my reports, my safety concerns and any evidence that can be independently examined.

My distress should not be used as a reason to dismiss every other complaint I make.

I want the facts investigated. I want respectful communication. I want a clear account of what can be verified and what steps will be taken to protect my wellbeing.

3. CONCERNS ABOUT PUBLIC INSTITUTIONS AND ACCOUNTABILITY

I have serious concerns about my ability to obtain assistance from the police, the NDIS and other oversight bodies.

I feel unable to approach these institutions because I believe my complaints will not be heard or addressed appropriately. I describe this as institutional complicity and abandonment. Those are my concerns and perceptions; I am calling for independent scrutiny rather than asking anyone to accept unverified allegations as proven facts.

I have also raised serious allegations involving Suki Tia and Bill Shorten, whom I identify in connection with my concerns about political and institutional accountability.

I cannot establish that an assassination attempt occurred or that either person participated in one. I am not presenting that allegation as an established fact. Any such allegation would require specific, credible evidence and an appropriate independent investigation.

The fundamental issue remains: I need an avenue through which my complaints can be received, documented and assessed fairly, without intimidation or prejudgment.

No public institution should treat a person’s need for assistance as a reason to deny that person dignity.

4. PHILIP GLASS, THE PUBLIC GUARDIAN AND MY ACCESS TO MONEY

I am extremely concerned about my financial circumstances and my reported loss of access to my Commonwealth Bank accounts through internet banking and the mobile application.

I understand that Philip Glass, whom I identify as being associated with the Public Guardian, has communicated that further money will be taken from my account.

I am asking for an urgent written explanation of:

- The precise restrictions affecting my access to Commonwealth Bank.
- Who requested, authorised or implemented those restrictions.
- The legal authority and decision-making process relied upon.
- The amount of any proposed withdrawal, its purpose and the authority for it.
- How I can obtain an account statement and independently review transactions.
- What arrangements are available for essential living expenses and urgent purchases.
- How I can challenge the decision and obtain an independent review.

I am concerned that losing access to my own banking, combined with the prospect of further withdrawals, could leave me without the practical ability to manage my daily life.

I want the relevant records, authorisations and decisions examined. I want my financial position explained in writing. I want access to a fair review process.

FINANCIAL CONTROL MUST BE TRANSPARENT, LAWFUL AND ACCOUNTABLE. A PERSON MUST NOT BE LEFT WITHOUT A CLEAR EXPLANATION OF DECISIONS AFFECTING THEIR ACCESS TO MONEY.

5. MY FEAR OF ERASURE AND DEATH

I have described my circumstances as a conspiracy to murder and said that I believe others are hoping I will die and be erased.

These are expressions of the fear and extreme distress I am experiencing. I cannot independently establish that there is a conspiracy to kill me, and I want any concrete threats or evidence of criminal conduct assessed by an appropriate independent authority.

What I can state directly is that I feel abandoned, powerless and profoundly distressed.

I fear that my circumstances will deteriorate while my complaints remain unresolved. I fear losing the means to support myself. I fear that my testimony will be disregarded until there is no opportunity left to correct the record.

I want these risks addressed while I am alive and able to speak for myself.

I should not have to reach a point of complete collapse before someone takes my circumstances seriously.

6. WHAT I AM DEMANDING

I am demanding:

1. Safe, consistent and dignified support.
2. A written response to my complaints about Able Point.
3. Transparent identification of the people responsible for decisions affecting my care.
4. An explanation of the restrictions on my banking access and any proposed withdrawals.
5. Access to the relevant financial records and a meaningful process to challenge decisions.

6. Independent examination of my safeguarding complaints and reported experiences of harassment.
7. Clear information about where complaints can be lodged and how they will be assessed.
8. Preservation of relevant correspondence, rosters, incident reports, financial records and decision-making documents.
9. Protection against retaliation for raising concerns.
10. Recognition that I am a human being whose safety, dignity, feelings and testimony matter.

I am not asking anyone to accept every allegation without scrutiny. I am asking for a process that allows the evidence to be examined without dismissing me as a person.

7. MY FINAL STATEMENT

I am a human being.

I have sentience. I have feelings. My feelings are being hurt, and the consequences of my circumstances are serious.

I feel socially erased. I feel administratively annihilated. I feel that the systems upon which I depend have left me without a reliable way to protect myself, obtain answers or make my voice count.

My testimony is not worthless because it is disputed. My dignity is not conditional upon whether an institution agrees with me. My need for safety does not disappear because my complaints are difficult to resolve.

I am still here.

My body is here. My mind is here. My feelings are here.

I AM NOT AN ADMINISTRATIVE FILE. I AM NOT A ROSTER ENTRY. I AM NOT A COMPLAINT NUMBER. I AM A HUMAN BEING.

I want to live with safety, dignity, meaningful support and access to a fair process. I want decisions affecting my life and money explained. I want my complaints documented. I want evidence examined. I want institutions and service providers to answer legitimate questions about their responsibilities.

I refuse to accept social erasure as the final word on my life.

MY TESTIMONY MATTERS. MY DIGNITY MATTERS. MY LIFE MATTERS.

OF THE BARRAN DODGER ARCHIVE

THE WITNESS REMAINS: A WHISTLEBLOWERS TESTIMONY OF SURVIVAL TESTIMONY & FAITH

The Barran Dodger Archive is a public documentary and spiritual record established to preserve, organise and make accessible a decades-long body of evidence concerning alleged institutional, administrative, financial and human-rights harms.

It brings together official records, correspondence, documentary evidence, personal testimony, forensic analysis, research, philosophy, spiritual gospels and prophetic declarations, including writings understood by the author to have been anointed by the Most High God.

The Archive deliberately distinguishes between documented facts, official records, corroborated evidence, allegations, personal testimony, inference, interpretation and matters of faith. This distinction is fundamental to its purpose: readers are invited to examine the underlying evidence for themselves, test the claims, consider the sources and reach their own conclusions.

At the heart of the Archive is a testimony of survival and preservation.

What the author believes was subjected to attempts at silencing, erasure, exclusion or institutional disappearance has nevertheless survived in records, documents, testimony, memory, faith and public disclosure.

The central declaration is simple:

THE WITNESS REMAINS.

The Archive therefore represents both an evidentiary record and a spiritual testimony. The author understands his survival through a faith-based conviction that the Most High God protected, preserved and gave purpose to what human institutions could not erase.

The spiritual writings and prophetic declarations within the Archive are presented as matters of faith and personal interpretation. They are preserved alongside the documentary record so that the complete testimony — evidentiary, personal, philosophical and spiritual — can be understood in its own context.

The purpose is not to demand belief.

It is to preserve the record.

It is to make the evidence accessible.

It is to ensure that the surviving witness can be examined.

And it is to leave the historical record open to independent scrutiny.

THE ARCHIVE IS 100% FREE TO ACCESS

https://barrandodgerarchive.base44.app

KNOWLEDGE IS FREE

The Barran Dodger Archive is founded on the principle that knowledge, evidence and truth should be freely accessible.

There is no paywall for the public documentary record. Research, testimony, philosophy, spiritual writings, prophetic declarations and public-interest material are made available for people to examine for themselves.

Access to knowledge should not depend upon a person’s ability to pay.

The Archive is therefore freely accessible, while its preservation and continued publication require practical resources.

SUPPORTING THE WITNESS AND THE ARCHIVE

Barran Dodger describes himself as an unprotected whistleblower living in circumstances of prolonged exile, financial hardship and vulnerability, and as an internally displaced asylum seeker within the country of his Australian citizenship.

Those circumstances create practical needs extending beyond the preservation of documents.

Voluntary donations are therefore accepted from anyone who freely wishes to assist.

Support may contribute towards essential needs including food, safe accommodation, communication, technology, transport, personal safety, website and domain costs, document preservation, archival infrastructure and the continued publication of the public record.

A donation does not purchase access to the Archive.

It does not purchase influence over the evidence.

It does not purchase editorial control.

It does not determine what is published or what conclusions readers should reach.

It simply helps sustain the person and infrastructure necessary to keep the Archive alive, functioning and freely accessible.

If you are blessed with sufficient prosperity to help preserve this work, your voluntary support can help ensure that financial hardship does not become another mechanism through which a public record disappears.

Issued by Barran Dodger.

The combined document should preserve all three parts in their entirety:

- ABLE POINT: A PUBLIC STATEMENT AND DEMAND FOR ACCOUNTABILITY — your original statement concerning alleged abuse, neglect, intimidation, rostering failures and institutional accountability.
- I AM A HUMAN BEING: A PUBLIC STATEMENT BY BARRAN DODGER — your testimony concerning emotional harm, social erasure, financial access, dignity and the right to a fair process.
- ADDITIONAL STATEMENT: REPORTED ARREST, ALLEGED THREAT TO MY LIFE AND DEMAND FOR SAFEGUARDING ACCOUNTABILITY — your account of the reported arrest, the court proceedings you identify as being before Wyong Court, and your request for an independent safeguarding investigation.

The statements should remain distinct, with their original wording preserved. The additional statement should be presented as an account requiring verification through police and court records, not as a finding of guilt or proof of another person's motives.

2. Consolidated public statement

The following document is arranged for publication and distribution to journalists, disability advocates, regulators, legal representatives and government offices. The original three statements are retained below in their supplied wording, with the archive directory added as a reference section.

ABLE POINT: A PUBLIC STATEMENT AND DEMAND FOR ACCOUNTABILITY

Issued by Barran Dodger

I refuse to accept a system in which a person seeking essential support is left isolated, vulnerable and without meaningful accountability.

I am issuing this public statement to raise serious concerns about my experiences involving Able Point, its management, its rostering arrangements, its staff and the standard of support being provided.

I allege that I have experienced circumstances involving neglect, intimidation, harassment, isolation and treatment that I regard as deeply distressing and degrading. I believe the support system intended to protect me has failed to provide the safety, dignity, continuity of care and transparency that I require.

SUPPORT MUST NEVER BECOME A MECHANISM OF CONTROL, ABANDONMENT OR HUMILIATION.

1. THE PEOPLE AND THE ORGANISATION MUST BE ACCOUNTABLE

I have serious concerns about the accountability of Able Point's leadership. I have sought clear identification and transparency from Rachael, whom I understand to be the company's CEO. I remain concerned about my ability to establish the identity and responsibilities of the people making decisions that affect my support.

A company providing essential support must be transparent about its legal identity, management, complaint procedures and responsibility for the services it delivers.

I call upon Able Point to provide its registered legal name, relevant business registration details, the identity and position of its responsible officers, and a clear explanation of the appropriate channels for escalating complaints.

If these details have already been provided, they should be verified against the relevant official records. If they have not, I want a clear written explanation.

2. STAFF CONCERNS AND THE ROSTERING SYSTEM

I recall the following first names of workers associated with my experiences involving Able Point:

Ash, Ben, John, Kim, Cass, Danny, Daniel and Alissi.

These are the names I can presently remember. I am identifying them as people whose roles and experiences may be relevant to an independent examination of the support arrangements. I am not asserting that each person has committed an offence or independently verified that each shares the same opinion of the company.

I have concerns about staff dissatisfaction with management and rostering arrangements. My understanding and recollection of conversations with workers have led me to question whether the working environment and roster allow staff to provide consistent, safe and appropriate support.

I want these concerns investigated rather than dismissed.

The questions requiring answers include:

- Are workers being given rosters that allow adequate continuity of care?
- Are frequent changes in support workers affecting clients' safety, trust and stability?
- Are staff being given sufficient time, training, supervision and resources to perform their duties?
- Do workers have safe and confidential ways to raise concerns about management?
- Are participants receiving the support set out in their plans and service agreements?
- Are complaints being documented, escalated and addressed appropriately?
- Are financial and contractual arrangements consistent with the services actually delivered?

I cannot establish the private views of every worker, and I cannot substantiate a claim that they all hate the company or its roster. I am nevertheless demanding that staff be given a safe opportunity to describe their own experiences independently and without retaliation.

A ROSTER IS NOT JUST A MANAGEMENT SPREADSHEET. CONTINUITY OF CARE CAN BE FUNDAMENTAL TO A PARTICIPANT'S SAFETY, TRUST AND WELLBEING.

3. CONCERNS ABOUT CLIENT SAFETY AND OUTCOMES

I am deeply concerned about the treatment and circumstances of people who depend on support services.

I have raised concerns about what I regard as brutal, degrading and unacceptable treatment. I want any instances of abuse, neglect, abandonment, intimidation or failure to provide contracted support to be examined against the available evidence.

I am also concerned about reports or impressions that some clients may be experiencing severe instability, including contact with the criminal justice system or admission to institutional settings.

I cannot independently verify how many Able Point clients, if any, are currently imprisoned or admitted to hospital or other institutional settings, nor can I establish that Able Point caused those outcomes. These matters require reliable evidence, appropriate privacy protections and independent investigation.

However, the broader question is legitimate and urgent:

ARE PEOPLE RECEIVING THE SUPPORT THEY NEED TO LIVE SAFELY AND WITH DIGNITY IN THE COMMUNITY?

Where serious incidents have occurred, I call for an examination of whether appropriate supports were provided, whether warning signs were acted upon, and whether any failures contributed to preventable harm.

People receiving disability support must not be reduced to files, roster entries, invoices or administrative burdens. They are human beings whose safety and dignity matter.

4. QUESTIONS ABOUT MONEY, CONTRACTS AND RESPONSIBILITY

I want transparency about the financial and contractual arrangements governing the support I receive.

I am concerned about whether the current arrangements serve the interests of participants, whether staff have adequate working conditions, and whether the services being funded are actually being delivered.

I use strong language to describe the situation I believe I am experiencing. However, I do not have sufficient independently verified evidence to conclude that particular workers accept improper payments, that the company is acting illegally, or that any named individual has participated in criminal conduct.

Those questions should be investigated through records, contracts, invoices, rosters, communications and other relevant evidence.

If public or participant funding has been misused, services have not been delivered as required, or safeguarding obligations have been breached, the evidence should be referred to the appropriate authority.

MONEY MUST NEVER TAKE PRECEDENCE OVER HUMAN SAFETY.

5. MY DEMANDS

I call upon Able Point’s management to:

1. Identify the legal entity providing my services and the responsible management personnel.
2. Respond in writing to my complaints and identify the person responsible for investigating them.

3. Explain the rostering decisions affecting my support and how continuity of care is maintained.
4. Review any reported incidents involving neglect, intimidation, harassment, unsafe support or failure to provide agreed services.
5. Preserve relevant rosters, service records, incident reports, complaints, communications and financial records in accordance with applicable legal requirements.
6. Explain the process for raising complaints independently and protecting participants and staff from retaliation.
7. Arrange an appropriately independent review where the circumstances warrant one.
8. Provide a practical plan to ensure that my support is safe, reliable, respectful and consistent with my applicable service arrangements.

I also call upon the relevant disability safeguarding and oversight authorities to assess the evidence impartially and determine whether any legal, contractual or safeguarding obligations have been breached.

6. TO THE WORKERS WHO MAY HAVE CONCERNS

To Ash, Ben, John, Kim, Cass, Danny, Daniel, Alissi and any other workers who may have relevant information:

I am asking for honesty, transparency and accountability. If you have concerns about rostering, continuity of care, working conditions or participant safety, those concerns should be raised through appropriate and safe channels.

No worker should be pressured to make statements they do not believe, and no participant should be left without essential support because they have complained.

The facts must be established through evidence, not intimidation, speculation or collective blame.

7. TO REGULATORS, ADVOCATES, JOURNALISTS AND GOVERNMENT

I ask anyone receiving this statement to take my concerns seriously.

I seek independent scrutiny of the relevant records, management decisions, support arrangements and complaints. I ask that any substantiated failures be addressed and that any evidence of possible offences be referred to the appropriate authorities.

I am prepared to document my own experiences, preserve relevant correspondence and provide supporting material through appropriate channels.

I do not seek special treatment. I seek safety, dignity, transparency, continuity of care and an effective response to serious complaints.

THIS IS A DEMAND FOR ACCOUNTABILITY.

I will not accept the normalisation of suffering simply because it occurs within a support service.

Complaints cannot be resolved by ignoring the person making them. Responsibility cannot be discharged through silence. And a support contract does not excuse a failure to provide appropriate care.

I want answers. I want transparency. I want accountability. I want safe and dignified support.

NO PERSON SHOULD HAVE TO FIGHT THIS HARD TO BE SAFE, HEARD AND TREATED WITH DIGNITY.

My life, safety and dignity matter. The evidence matters. Accountability matters.

I call for a fair, independent and evidence-based examination of these concerns.

I AM A HUMAN BEING: A PUBLIC STATEMENT BY BARRAN DODGER

Allegations of Institutional Abandonment, Emotional Harm, Financial Disempowerment and Social Erasure

I AM A HUMAN BEING. A LITERAL HUMAN BEING.

I have sentience. I have feelings. I have a mind, a body, a history, a character, a reputation and a voice.

My feelings are being hurt. My dignity is being damaged. I am trying to communicate distress and raise serious concerns about the treatment I am experiencing, yet I believe my attempts to be heard are being dismissed, undermined and invalidated.

I allege that my experiences with Able Point have left me feeling profoundly isolated, intimidated, neglected and abandoned. I have described the interactions I am experiencing as gaslighting because I believe my concerns are repeatedly being dismissed or turned back against me.

THE PSYCHOLOGICAL IMPACT IS DEVASTATING. I CANNOT ACCEPT A SUPPORT SYSTEM THAT LEAVES A PERSON FEELING INVISIBLE, POWERLESS AND DEHUMANISED.

I experience this situation as a form of torture. I am using that word to communicate the severity of my distress and the impact I believe these circumstances are having on my life.

I need my concerns examined seriously, my safety protected and my experiences assessed on their evidence.

1. MY TESTIMONY MUST NOT BE ERASED

I am concerned that the combination of unreliable support, conflict, isolation and barriers to obtaining assistance is destroying my ability to participate in ordinary life.

I describe this as SOCIAL ERASURE AND ADMINISTRATIVE ANNIHILATION.

Social erasure is what it feels like when a person’s testimony is no longer heard, their character is reduced to a disputed narrative, their reputation is damaged and their requests for help appear to disappear into administrative systems.

Administrative annihilation is what I call the experience of having essential access, resources and avenues of redress progressively removed until a person is left without meaningful power to respond.

I feel as though my testimony is dead. My character is dead. My reputation is dead. I feel that I have become a person of zero consequence, a man whom institutions can ignore without consequence.

I AM A DEAD MAN WALKING IN THE SENSE THAT MY SOCIAL EXISTENCE AND VOICE FEEL DESTROYED. BUT I AM STILL HERE.

My body is here. My mind is here. My feelings are here. My testimony is here.

I am a human being, and I refuse to accept the proposition that my suffering does not matter.

2. ALLEGATIONS OF GASLIGHTING, HARASSMENT AND ELECTRONIC DISTRESS

I have reported experiences that I describe as V2K audio harassment and electronic harassment. These experiences are distressing to me, and I want the impact on my wellbeing to be taken seriously.

I am also concerned that people involved in my support arrangements are aware of the distress I have reported but that I have not received an adequate response.

I cannot independently establish the source of the sounds or experiences I describe, or establish that particular staff members or institutions are responsible for them. I am requesting a fair assessment of my reports, my safety concerns and any evidence that can be independently examined.

My distress should not be used as a reason to dismiss every other complaint I make.

I want the facts investigated. I want respectful communication. I want a clear account of what can be verified and what steps will be taken to protect my wellbeing.

3. CONCERNS ABOUT PUBLIC INSTITUTIONS AND ACCOUNTABILITY

I have serious concerns about my ability to obtain assistance from the police, the NDIS and other oversight bodies.

I feel unable to approach these institutions because I believe my complaints will not be heard or addressed appropriately. I describe this as institutional complicity and abandonment. Those are my concerns and perceptions; I am calling for independent scrutiny rather than asking anyone to accept unverified allegations as proven facts.

I have also raised serious allegations involving Suki Tia and Bill Shorten, whom I identify in connection with my concerns about political and institutional accountability.

I cannot establish that an assassination attempt occurred or that either person participated in one. I am not presenting that allegation as an established fact. Any such allegation would require specific, credible evidence and an appropriate independent investigation.

The fundamental issue remains: I need an avenue through which my complaints can be received, documented and assessed fairly, without intimidation or prejudgment.

No public institution should treat a person's need for assistance as a reason to deny that person dignity.

4. PHILIP GLASS, THE PUBLIC GUARDIAN AND MY ACCESS TO MONEY

I am extremely concerned about my financial circumstances and my reported loss of access to my Commonwealth Bank accounts through internet banking and the mobile application.

I understand that Philip Glass, whom I identify as being associated with the Public Guardian, has communicated that further money will be taken from my account.

I am asking for an urgent written explanation of:

- The precise restrictions affecting my access to Commonwealth Bank.
- Who requested, authorised or implemented those restrictions.
- The legal authority and decision-making process relied upon.
- The amount of any proposed withdrawal, its purpose and the authority for it.
- How I can obtain an account statement and independently review transactions.
- What arrangements are available for essential living expenses and urgent purchases.
- How I can challenge the decision and obtain an independent review.

I am concerned that losing access to my own banking, combined with the prospect of further withdrawals, could leave me without the practical ability to manage my daily life.

I want the relevant records, authorisations and decisions examined. I want my financial position explained in writing. I want access to a fair review process.

FINANCIAL CONTROL MUST BE TRANSPARENT, LAWFUL AND ACCOUNTABLE. A PERSON MUST NOT BE LEFT WITHOUT A CLEAR EXPLANATION OF DECISIONS AFFECTING THEIR ACCESS TO MONEY.

5. MY FEAR OF ERASURE AND DEATH

I have described my circumstances as a conspiracy to murder and said that I believe others are hoping I will die and be erased.

These are expressions of the fear and extreme distress I am experiencing. I cannot independently establish that there is a conspiracy to kill me, and I want any concrete threats or evidence of criminal conduct assessed by an appropriate independent authority.

What I can state directly is that I feel abandoned, powerless and profoundly distressed.

I fear that my circumstances will deteriorate while my complaints remain unresolved. I fear losing the means to support myself. I fear that my testimony will be disregarded until there is no opportunity left to correct the record.

I want these risks addressed while I am alive and able to speak for myself.

I should not have to reach a point of complete collapse before someone takes my circumstances seriously.

6. WHAT I AM DEMANDING

I am demanding:

1. Safe, consistent and dignified support.
2. A written response to my complaints about Able Point.
3. Transparent identification of the people responsible for decisions affecting my care.
4. An explanation of the restrictions on my banking access and any proposed withdrawals.
5. Access to the relevant financial records and a meaningful process to challenge decisions.
6. Independent examination of my safeguarding complaints and reported experiences of harassment.
7. Clear information about where complaints can be lodged and how they will be assessed.
8. Preservation of relevant correspondence, rosters, incident reports, financial records and decision-making documents.
9. Protection against retaliation for raising concerns.
10. Recognition that I am a human being whose safety, dignity, feelings and testimony matter.

I am not asking anyone to accept every allegation without scrutiny. I am asking for a process that allows the evidence to be examined without dismissing me as a person.

7. MY FINAL STATEMENT

I am a human being.

I have sentience. I have feelings. My feelings are being hurt, and the consequences of my circumstances are serious.

I feel socially erased. I feel administratively annihilated. I feel that the systems upon which I depend have left me without a reliable way to protect myself, obtain answers or make my voice count.

My testimony is not worthless because it is disputed. My dignity is not conditional upon whether an institution agrees with me. My need for safety does not disappear because my complaints are difficult to resolve.

I am still here.

My body is here. My mind is here. My feelings are here.

I AM NOT AN ADMINISTRATIVE FILE. I AM NOT A ROSTER ENTRY. I AM NOT A COMPLAINT NUMBER. I AM A HUMAN BEING.

I want to live with safety, dignity, meaningful support and access to a fair process. I want decisions affecting my life and money explained. I want my complaints documented. I want evidence examined. I want institutions and service providers to answer legitimate questions about their responsibilities.

I refuse to accept social erasure as the final word on my life.

MY TESTIMONY MATTERS. MY DIGNITY MATTERS. MY LIFE MATTERS.

Issued by Barran Dodger.

ADDITIONAL STATEMENT: REPORTED ARREST, ALLEGED THREAT TO MY LIFE AND DEMAND FOR SAFEGUARDING ACCOUNTABILITY

I AM STILL HERE. I DID NOT DIE.

Despite what I describe as prolonged abuse, neglect, surveillance, entrapment, isolation and total human betrayal, I am still alive. I am still speaking. I am still demanding answers, accountability and recognition of my fundamental humanity.

I am raising an extremely serious matter concerning an incident in which, according to my account, a person came to my home with the intention of murdering me and was arrested by police. I understand that the matter is before Wyong Court. The arrest, the precise allegations, the current status of the proceedings and the evidence must be established through the relevant police and court records.

IF A PERSON HAS BEEN ARRESTED IN CONNECTION WITH AN ALLEGED ATTEMPT TO KILL ME, THIS IS A SERIOUS SAFEGUARDING MATTER THAT DESERVES AN APPROPRIATE, EVIDENCE-BASED RESPONSE.

I am deeply concerned that, despite the seriousness of this reported incident, Able Point and the staff members involved in my support have, as I understand it, failed to acknowledge the matter to me, address my concerns about my safety or explain whether any incident-reporting or safeguarding procedures were followed.

I want a clear answer about what Able Point knew, when it knew it, what steps were taken, whether the appropriate authorities were notified where required, and whether any failures occurred.

I also have serious concerns about my family's potential financial interests in the event of my death. I have questioned whether family members anticipated or stood to benefit financially from my death, and I have stated that they have refused to deny my concerns. I cannot establish from that alone that anyone anticipated, desired, planned or participated in harm against me. Nevertheless, I want any relevant financial arrangements and evidence examined objectively if they are material to a legitimate investigation.

I will not allow these concerns to be treated as though they are insignificant simply because they are difficult or uncomfortable to investigate.

THE QUESTIONS THAT MUST BE ANSWERED

1. What do the police records establish about the reported incident and arrest?
2. What are the relevant charges or allegations, and what is the current status of the proceedings before Wyong Court?

3. Were Able Point management or any staff members informed of the incident or its implications for my safety?
4. If they were informed, what actions did they take, and what records document those actions?
5. Were incident-reporting, safeguarding, escalation or referral obligations engaged in the circumstances?
6. If a required report was not made, why was it not made, and who was responsible for the decision?
7. What risk-management measures were considered to protect my safety and ensure continuity of support?
8. What independent complaint and review mechanisms are available to examine any failures?

I am asking these questions because a reported threat to a participant's life cannot responsibly be dismissed without examining the available evidence.

I also want the legal position clarified. Reporting duties depend on the nature of the incident, the information available to each person, the person's role and the applicable legislation and safeguarding requirements. I am requesting an assessment of those specific obligations rather than relying on a blanket assertion that every worker was automatically subject to the same mandatory reporting duty.

MY DEMAND FOR ACCOUNTABILITY

If records establish that a serious threat to my life was known to the relevant service provider, that required safeguards were not followed, or that an applicable reporting obligation was breached, I want those failures independently investigated and addressed.

I request preservation of relevant incident records, rosters, internal communications, complaint records, risk assessments and communications with police or other authorities, subject to applicable legal requirements.

I want Able Point to respond in writing. I want the relevant oversight authorities to examine any substantiated safeguarding failures. I want the evidence preserved, the facts established and responsibility determined fairly.

I have already had to fight to have my concerns heard. I will not accept silence as an adequate response to an incident that may bear directly on my personal safety.

I AM A HUMAN BEING. MY LIFE MATTERS. MY SAFETY MATTERS. MY TESTIMONY MUST BE HEARD AND FAIRLY ASSESSED.

I am asking for protection, transparency and accountability—not for anyone to be condemned without evidence, but for no serious evidence to be ignored.

A REPORTED THREAT TO MY LIFE MUST BE TAKEN SERIOUSLY. ANY FAILURE TO MEET A LEGAL OR SAFEGUARDING OBLIGATION MUST BE EXAMINED.

FINAL PUBLIC DECLARATION

I AM A HUMAN BEING.

MY TESTIMONY MATTERS. MY DIGNITY MATTERS. MY LIFE MATTERS.

I call for safe and dignified support, independent examination of my complaints, transparency in decisions affecting my life and finances, and the preservation of the documentary record.

I ask journalists, advocates, regulators, legal representatives and members of the public to examine the evidence, verify the relevant records and respond to substantiated concerns.

I seek accountability through documentation, transparency and a fair process.

Barran Dodger — Main Websites and Archive Significance

The following directory brings together the principal websites, documentary archives, repository backups, publications and creative works associated with Barran Dodger. Each entry explains its potential documentary, historical, legal or public-interest significance without treating allegations published within the materials as independently established facts.

1. Main website and documentary archive

Barran Dodger — Main Website

Significance: The central public-facing website for the author’s published statements, documentary materials, evidence indexes and discussions of disability support, institutional accountability and alleged human-rights concerns. Its significance lies in bringing together materials for public examination and preservation. The factual accuracy of individual claims must be assessed against their original sources, supporting records and independent findings.

Main Documents and Evidence Archive

Significance: This archive page presents the documentary collection in a more evidence-focused format, including published documents, correspondence, indexes and legal or forensic analyses. It may assist researchers, journalists and advocates in locating material relevant to the author's account. Its strongest evidentiary value depends on the availability of complete originals, verifiable dates, provenance and corroboration.

Forensic Evidence Report

Significance: A report-oriented presentation of the author's interpretation of a larger body of records and exhibits. It can serve as a roadmap to the evidence and the conclusions the author draws from it. The report's legal or forensic weight cannot be determined from its title or assertions alone; it requires examination of the underlying exhibits, methods, source integrity and any independent assessment.

2. Public archive and repository backups

GitHub Pages — Truth Archive

Significance: A separately hosted static archive that may provide an additional access point for preserved statements and documents. Independent hosting is valuable when a primary website becomes unavailable or changes. Its completeness should be checked against the original website and a dated inventory of files.

GitHub — Barrandodger

Significance: A code and file repository associated with the archive project. Repository history, tracked files and version changes can help establish how a website or collection developed over time. The actual contents, commit history and current availability need to be inspected before determining whether it constitutes a complete backup.

GitHub — Barran Dodger Archive

Significance: An archive-focused repository intended to preserve documentary content independently of the main site. Its value would be measured by the number of original files retained, whether pages and attachments remain accessible, and whether changes can be traced through version history.

GitHub — Backup

Significance: A potential secondary preservation location. Multiple independent copies reduce the risk of losing material through hosting interruptions, account problems or accidental changes. Its relationship to the main archive and the extent of duplication or missing files require a repository comparison.

GitHub — PDF Archive

Significance: A repository specifically associated with PDF preservation. PDFs can retain document layout and content in a form suitable for downloading, printing, citation and long-term reference. Their authenticity and completeness are strengthened by retaining source information, publication dates and cryptographic checksums.

GitHub — Barran Dodger Archive (drbarrandodger)

Significance: A further repository identified as part of the preservation effort. Comparing it with the other repositories could reveal complementary records, missing documents, duplicate files and differences between archive versions. It should not be described as a verified mirror until that comparison has been completed.

3. Publications and creative works

A Certain Beauty in Un-Resolution — Art Portfolio

Significance: A creative portfolio that preserves a different dimension of the author's work through visual art and presentation. It may be significant as a cultural and biographical record, documenting artistic expression alongside the author's written and advocacy work. Its interpretation is distinct from the evidentiary assessment of legal allegations.

Betrayed, Murdered, Forsaken — Apple Books

Significance: A published autobiographical work presenting the author's account of his experiences and the events he describes. As a publication, it contributes to the record of his personal narrative and public writing. Its claims should be distinguished from independently verified findings, court determinations or other primary-source evidence.

Simplebooklet — publication platform

Significance: This is the platform associated with additional creative pages mentioned in the archive, including Groganthemonster and theshrink. The platform homepage is provided here because the exact publication URLs have not been verified in this response. Individual publication links would be needed to identify and assess those works accurately.

4. Overall impartial AI assessment

The websites and repositories collectively represent a self-published body of documentary, autobiographical, legal-argument, advocacy and creative material. Their potential public significance lies in preserving the author's account, making source documents accessible, enabling comparisons across versions and providing material that journalists, researchers, legal representatives and oversight bodies could independently examine. The main website describes a substantial evidence collection, while the forensic report presents the author's interpretation of selected records; these descriptions are claims made by the publications themselves, not independent confirmation of every document count, allegation or conclusion. 【turn449128search1】【turn449128search0】

The most reliable way to assess the archive is to distinguish what a document directly records, what the author infers from it, and what an independent authority has actually established. Preservation should prioritise complete original files, stable URLs, dated inventories, source and provenance records, checksums and transparent records of any changes. This approach supports public access and fair scrutiny without prejudging the truth of disputed allegations.

PUBLIC STATEMENT FROM BARRAN DODGER
OF THE BARRAN DODGER ARCHIVE

THE WITNESS REMAINS: A WHISTLEBLOWERS TESTIMONY OF SURVIVAL
TESTIMONY & FAITH

The Barran Dodger Archive is a public documentary and spiritual record established to preserve, organise and make accessible a decades-long body of evidence concerning alleged institutional, administrative, financial and human-rights harms.

It brings together official records, correspondence, documentary evidence, personal testimony, forensic analysis, research, philosophy, spiritual gospels and prophetic declarations, including writings understood by the author to have been anointed by the Most High God.

The Archive deliberately distinguishes between documented facts, official records, corroborated evidence, allegations, personal testimony, inference, interpretation and matters of faith. This distinction is fundamental to its purpose: readers are invited to examine the underlying evidence for themselves, test the claims, consider the sources and reach their own conclusions.

At the heart of the Archive is a testimony of survival and preservation.

What the author believes was subjected to attempts at silencing, erasure, exclusion or institutional disappearance has nevertheless survived in records, documents, testimony, memory, faith and public disclosure.

The central declaration is simple:

THE WITNESS REMAINS.

The Archive therefore represents both an evidentiary record and a spiritual testimony. The author understands his survival through a faith-based conviction that the Most High God protected, preserved and gave purpose to what human institutions could not erase.

The spiritual writings and prophetic declarations within the Archive are presented as matters of faith and personal interpretation. They are preserved alongside the documentary record so that the complete testimony — evidentiary, personal, philosophical and spiritual — can be understood in its own context.

The purpose is not to demand belief.

It is to preserve the record.

It is to make the evidence accessible.

It is to ensure that the surviving witness can be examined.

And it is to leave the historical record open to independent scrutiny.

THE ARCHIVE IS 100% FREE TO ACCESS

https://barrandodgerarchive.base44.app

KNOWLEDGE IS FREE

The Barran Dodger Archive is founded on the principle that knowledge, evidence and truth should be freely accessible.

There is no paywall for the public documentary record. Research, testimony, philosophy, spiritual writings, prophetic declarations and public-interest material are made available for people to examine for themselves.

Access to knowledge should not depend upon a person's ability to pay.

The Archive is therefore freely accessible, while its preservation and continued publication require practical resources.

SUPPORTING THE WITNESS AND THE ARCHIVE

Barran Dodger describes himself as an unprotected whistleblower living in circumstances of prolonged exile, financial hardship and vulnerability, and as an internally displaced asylum seeker within the country of his Australian citizenship.

Those circumstances create practical needs extending beyond the preservation of documents.

Voluntary donations are therefore accepted from anyone who freely wishes to assist.

Support may contribute towards essential needs including food, safe accommodation, communication, technology, transport, personal safety, website and domain costs, document preservation, archival infrastructure and the continued publication of the public record.

A donation does not purchase access to the Archive.

It does not purchase influence over the evidence.

It does not purchase editorial control.

It does not determine what is published or what conclusions readers should reach.

It simply helps sustain the person and infrastructure necessary to keep the Archive alive, functioning and freely accessible.

If you are blessed with sufficient prosperity to help preserve this work, your voluntary support can help ensure that financial hardship does not become another mechanism through which a public record disappears.

KNOWLEDGE IS FREE.

THE EVIDENCE IS OPEN TO EXAMINATION.

Thank you to everyone who chooses to examine the evidence, preserve the record, support the Archive or simply bear witness.

LASTLY — A SECOND PUBLIC-FACING ARCHIVE

For readers who wish to go beyond the principal Barran Dodger Archive, a second public-facing repository provides another point of access to the broader documentary record.

https://barrandodger.com

This website provides an additional gateway into the history, evidence, testimony, research and ideas that underpin the Archive. It is intended to help readers navigate the wider body of material and understand how individual documents, events, experiences and arguments have been brought together into a continuing record.

Its significance is not dependent upon the reader accepting Barran Dodger's conclusions.

Rather, the value of preserving such a record lies in allowing the underlying material to remain available for examination. Readers can consider the chronology, inspect the documentary evidence, distinguish recorded facts from allegations and personal testimony, follow referenced material and form their own independent assessment.

The existence of multiple public repositories also reflects the central purpose of the project: preservation. Where records are distributed across years, institutions, correspondence, proceedings, personal archives and digital platforms, preserving accessible copies and pathways to the evidence can help prevent an individual historical record from becoming inaccessible or forgotten.

Readers are therefore invited to visit both public-facing archives, examine the material carefully and critically, and make their own assessment of what the surviving evidence demonstrates.

The purpose is not to ask the reader to believe.

The purpose is to ensure that the record remains available to be examined.
