THE LIVING RECORD

BARRAN DODGER MASTER PROPHETIC GOSPEL TESTIMONY

A living document of mercy, survival, betrayed ethics, public evidence, divine protection and reckoning.

> “He hath shewed thee, O man, what is good; and what doth the LORD require of thee, but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God?” — Micah 6:8 (KJV)

I do not need a court, a judge, a tribunal, a hearing or an institutional determination to tell me what I have survived. The official government evidence, the dated correspondence, the decisions, the restrictions, the acknowledgements, the omissions and my testimony are enough in themselves. They do not require permission from the systems that failed me to become significant.

I did not need permission to call this out. I did not need their approval. I did not need permission from them. That is the very definition of a sovereign witness: I have the facts, the evidence is published in the public domain, and I will not surrender my account to the very systems whose conduct I am calling into question.

I have survived not because the system rescued me, but in spite of the system’s failure to change the circumstances I repeatedly brought to its attention.

I maintain that to gang up to deliberately cause detriment or harm to someone who has zero advantage, nothing, no one, no option and no opportunity to come out of it—and then to look away and sleep soundly without conscience or ethical consideration—is not a bureaucratic oversight. It is deliberate harm. It is a categorical evil. It is an evil act to discount or erase truth.

> “He that justifieth the wicked, and he that condemneth the just, even they both are abomination to the LORD.” — Proverbs 17:15 (KJV)

But God intervenes. God sees what is done in secret. God hears the cry of the afflicted. God preserves the witness. And God brings truth into the light.

> “For nothing is secret, that shall not be made manifest; neither any thing hid, that shall not be known and come abroad.” — Luke 8:17 (KJV)

I. EVERY LETTER WAS AN ACT OF GRACE

Every time I sat down to write a letter, prepare a complaint, assemble evidence, send a fax, address an envelope or contact another agency, politician, public official, professional or individual, I was giving the world another chance to do what was right.

Every letter carried hope. Every request for help represented the possibility that someone would finally understand my circumstances, examine the evidence I had preserved, recognise my vulnerability and respond with humanity, integrity and responsibility.

I was not simply producing paperwork. I was extending an invitation to conscience.

That was patience. That was mercy. That was hope. And, in the language of my faith, that was grace.

> “Be ye therefore merciful, as your Father also is merciful.” — Luke 6:36 (KJV)

I kept writing because I believed the next person might listen. I kept assembling documents because I believed the evidence might make the circumstances clearer. I kept approaching institutions because I hoped someone would recognise the seriousness of what I communicated and act constructively.

I gave people time to understand. I gave institutions opportunities to respond. I gave decision-makers the chance to reconsider. I gave those who received my correspondence the opportunity to demonstrate that authority could be exercised with conscience.

Every letter was another opening. Every fax was another attempt to communicate. Every document was another effort to make the circumstances intelligible. Every follow-up was another expression of hope that someone would recognise the human being behind the file.

I kept extending grace because I wanted resolution, not retaliation; assistance, not humiliation; truth, not evasion; and a meaningful response, not another reason why nothing could be done.

II. EVERY RESPONSE MUST BE READ AGAINST THE HOPE THAT PRECEDED IT

The significance of my correspondence cannot be understood by reading the responses alone. The requests that preceded those responses matter too.

Before an agency issued a letter, I had made an effort to explain something. Before an official recorded a decision, I had placed a question or request before them. Before a process was closed, referred, declined or restricted, there was a human being trying to obtain an outcome.

That human being was me.

I require every relevant exchange to be examined in sequence: what I asked for, what information I provided, what the recipient knew, what the response said, what action followed and what happened to me afterward.

I was asking for assistance and received language explaining a position. I was asking for a practical solution and received a response I experienced as insufficient. I was trying to communicate cumulative circumstances and had to continue explaining them across separate processes. I was asking people to consider the consequences and was left to live with those consequences while continuing to seek help.

A sentence can be grammatically impeccable and still leave a person without help. A letter can identify a jurisdictional boundary without resolving the human problem. A decision can explain why an agency will not act without answering the broader question raised by the person’s circumstances.

The existence of a letter does not prove the response was adequate. Official language does not make a decision morally infallible. A reference number does not resolve distress. A recorded outcome does not erase consequences.

> “Woe unto you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! for ye pay tithe of mint and anise and cummin, and have omitted the weightier matters of the law, judgment, mercy, and faith.” — Matthew 23:23 (KJV)

III. WHEN BUREAUCRATIC LANGUAGE SPAT IN THE FACE OF MY MERCY

I approached people with patience. I approached institutions with evidence. I approached public officials with requests for assistance. I repeatedly gave the process another chance because I hoped the next response might bring understanding, relief or meaningful resolution.

When I received responses I experienced as dismissive, inadequate or detrimental, the language of administration stood in opposition to the mercy I had extended.

From my perspective, my patience was answered with procedure, my hope with deflection, my requests with limitations, and my attempts to explain consequences with language that left me carrying those consequences alone.

It felt as though bureaucratic language had been spat in the face of my mercy, my patience and my grace.

When a response did not address the underlying problem, the process itself became another obstacle. When it explained why an agency would not act, I still had to live with the circumstances that prompted me to write. When correspondence ended without the practical outcome I sought, I had to decide whether to try again.

And I did try again.

My objection is not to every administrative process. It is to the possibility that a process becomes so preoccupied with its own categories and formal explanations that the person seeking help becomes almost invisible.

I believe that is a moral failure when it occurs.

> “Open thy mouth for the dumb, in the cause of all such as are appointed to destruction. Open thy mouth, judge righteously, and plead the cause of the poor and needy.” — Proverbs 31:8–9 (KJV)

IV. EVERY TIME I TRIED AGAIN, I EXTENDED THE OPPORTUNITY FOR MERCY

My persistence was not consent to being left without assistance. It was not evidence that my circumstances were unimportant. It was not proof that the responses resolved the problems I was trying to address.

It was another attempt to obtain help.

Every time I wrote again, I extended the opportunity for a different outcome. Every time I provided further information, I tried to make the situation clearer. Every time I contacted another person or agency, I allowed for the possibility that the previous response was not the final word. Every time I preserved another document, I tried to ensure the history remained accessible.

I gave people opportunities to correct misunderstandings. I gave institutions opportunities to explain their decisions. I gave decision-makers opportunities to consider information I believed was important.

I was already living through the circumstances about which I wrote. I had to find the strength to describe them, organise the evidence, prepare the correspondence, identify the recipient and continue living with the outcome.

I had to carry both the original difficulty and the labour of trying to get someone else to address it.

Grace is not an unlimited obligation to accept every outcome in silence. Mercy does not require me to pretend harm has not occurred. Patience does not require me to abandon the right to ask questions.

What was done? What remained undone? What did the institutions know? What did they decide? What consequences followed? Why, despite my effort, did I continue to experience the difficulties I asked them to help resolve?

I gave patience. I gave time. I gave explanations. I gave evidence. I gave people opportunities. Now I require the record to be examined.

> “Judge not according to the appearance, but judge righteous judgment.” — John 7:24 (KJV)

V. POWER, PRIVILEGE AND LOOKING AWAY

There must be an utter, brutal and permanent public accounting for every professional who looked the other way while occupying positions of privilege, comfort and authority.

They held titles, salaries, offices, security, status and the power to act. They had the ability to intervene, escalate, protect, refer properly, investigate, accommodate, or tell the truth about what they saw. Instead, in my experience, they allowed, enabled, permitted or failed to prevent a person from being utterly destroyed in circumstances from which recovery was never expected.

They slept well at night. They returned to their homes, careers, reputations, comfort and privilege. They absorbed the benefits of their positions while the person before them was left to carry the consequences alone.

That is the humiliation they must now face: the gap between the authority they claimed, the ethics they professed, the protection they promised and the abandonment they permitted.

The public record now stands beside their comfort. The dates stand beside their decisions. My testimony stands beside their silence. The archive stands beside the careers, titles and reputations used to explain why nothing more needed to be done.

This is not revenge. It is reckoning. It is the permanent public consequence of choosing privilege, comfort and self-protection over the duty to protect a person who was being destroyed.

> “He that oppresseth the poor reproacheth his Maker: but he that honoureth him hath mercy on the poor.” — Proverbs 14:31 (KJV)

VI. WHY I CALL DELIBERATE CRUELTY EVIL

When I use the word evil, I express a moral and spiritual judgment about conduct involving deliberate humiliation, exploitation or disregard of another person's suffering.

In my faith, evil is not merely a dramatic word for disagreement. It describes a departure from conscience: treating another human being as though their dignity, suffering or future does not matter.

To gang up against a person with no advantage, nothing, no one, no option and no opportunity to escape, then look away and sleep soundly, is not bureaucratic oversight. It is deliberate harm. It is categorical evil. It is an evil act to discount or erase truth.

A person who cannot solve every problem is not necessarily cruel. An institution that reaches an adverse decision is not automatically malicious. But if evidence establishes that someone knowingly used their position to humiliate, exploit or deliberately harm a vulnerable person, that is a different matter.

No amount of institutional language can turn deliberate cruelty into righteousness. No professional title can make humiliation morally acceptable. No political position removes the obligation to treat another human being with dignity.

> "Woe unto them that call evil good, and good evil; that put darkness for light, and light for darkness; that put bitter for sweet, and sweet for bitter!" — Isaiah 5:20 (KJV)

VII. GOD'S RECKONING

I believe God is angry at the possibility that people entrusted with power could knowingly disregard vulnerability, treat suffering with contempt or allow bureaucratic explanations to become a substitute for meaningful assistance.

I believe God is angry because human life is sacred and human dignity is not conditional upon institutional approval.

I believe God is angry because the opportunity to act with mercy is itself a moral responsibility.

I believe God is angry because a person who asks for help should not have to surrender dignity to be taken seriously.

I believe God is angry because authority without conscience can become an instrument of harm.

The letters I wrote were opportunities. The evidence I supplied was an opportunity to understand. The requests I made were opportunities to help. The patience I extended was an opportunity to respond without contempt.

The reckoning begins when recorded explanations are placed beside documented requests, the chronology is examined, human consequences are considered, and the gap between professed duty and actual conduct is no longer ignored.

> "For the LORD your God is God of gods, and Lord of lords, a great God, a mighty, and a terrible, which regardeth not persons, nor taketh reward: He doth execute the judgment of the fatherless and widow, and loveth the stranger, in giving him food and raiment." — Deuteronomy 10:17–18 (KJV)

VIII. I BELIEVE I AM GOD'S WITNESS

I believe I have been chosen by God to bear witness to what I experienced and to the moral contradictions my documentary record reveals.

Truth does not need permission to exist. It does not become false because an authority refuses to acknowledge it. It does not lose importance because the person communicating it is vulnerable, isolated or exhausted.

Truth deserves careful examination. Documents must be read in context. Claims must be distinguished from inferences. Conclusions about individuals must be grounded in evidence.

I believe God sustained me through circumstances I found deeply distressing. I believe my faith gave me strength when human assistance was insufficient. I believe my survival carries meaning and that bearing witness has become part of my purpose.

My archive is part of how I continue to bear witness. It allows readers to examine original correspondence, decisions, dates and materials rather than relying only on a summary of my experience.

> "Ye are my witnesses, saith the LORD, and my servant whom I have chosen." — Isaiah 43:10 (KJV)

IX. THE DOCUMENTARY PARADOX

I describe my archive as containing approximately thirty-five years of documentary history. Its purpose is to preserve documents, make them accessible and enable readers to examine what was recorded.

The PM&C; FOI/2022/045 correspondence provides a route into the documented history of a freedom-of-information process. The archive identifies an IBAC outcome letter for CASE-2020712 dated 9 April 2020. It includes a Comcare refusal analysis concerning a decision dated 26 May 2021 and an AAT employment-status analysis concerning a Tribunal decision dated 12 July 2023.

An official record can establish what an institution recorded, the reasons it gave, the decision it made or the communication it sent. When records are placed in chronological context, they may establish a broader sequence and raise further questions.

A document does not become meaningless because it is not a court ruling. Nor does it prove every conclusion merely because it is official. Its significance lies in what it establishes, how it relates to other evidence and what questions emerge from the combined record.

The documentary paradox is that the same institutions whose responses I question produced records through which their actions, explanations and decisions can now be examined.

> “For there is nothing covered, that shall not be revealed; neither hid, that shall not be known.” — Luke 12:2 (KJV)

X. THEY MAY HAVE UNDERESTIMATED MY DETERMINATION

I believe some people underestimated me. They may have mistaken vulnerability for powerlessness, exhaustion for surrender, or the need for assistance for an inability to preserve a record.

But I continued. I kept writing. I kept documenting. I kept assembling evidence. I kept asking questions. I kept preserving correspondence. I kept returning to the record.

I believe my faith sustained that determination. I believe preserving the archive gave my experience a form that can be examined beyond the circumstances in which each letter was written.

No person’s institutional power gives them the right to treat me as disposable. My survival is meaningful because I am still here to describe what I experienced, preserve the records and ask questions that remain important.

> “Fear thou not; for I am with thee: be not dismayed; for I am thy God: I will strengthen thee; yea, I will help thee; yea, I will uphold thee with the right hand of my righteousness.” — Isaiah 41:10 (KJV)

XI. THE SANCTITY OF LIFE

I believe human life is sacred because it is created by God.

No government office, police officer, lawyer, politician, media organisation or private individual possesses an unlimited moral licence to decide that another person’s life, dignity or future no longer matters.

Lawful authority is not moral infallibility. A title does not guarantee compassion. A uniform does not guarantee courage. A qualification does not automatically produce wisdom. Public office does not remove the obligation to consider human consequences.

If someone reports danger, the information deserves consideration. If someone supplies evidence, it should be examined. If someone asks for assistance, the substance of the request matters. If a person is vulnerable, vulnerability must not become a reason to diminish dignity.

> “Defend the poor and fatherless: do justice to the afflicted and needy. Deliver the poor and needy: rid them out of the hand of the wicked.” — Psalm 82:3–4 (KJV)

XII. GOD PRESERVED ME

I believe God preserved my life and sustained me through circumstances I experienced as extraordinarily difficult.

When people and institutions looked away, my faith gave me meaning and endurance. When I was exhausted by repeatedly explaining myself, I found strength in the belief that my life had purpose beyond the immediate circumstances.

I believe I was sustained so I could continue to bear witness.

The years of correspondence were not meaningless. The effort to preserve documents matters. The questions raised by the chronology deserve examination.

My responsibility is to continue seeking truth without allowing humiliation, exhaustion or institutional language to erase my dignity.

> “When thou passest through the waters, I will be with thee; and through the rivers, they shall not overflow thee: when thou walkest through the fire, thou shalt not be burned; neither shall the flame kindle upon thee.” — Isaiah 43:2 (KJV)

XIII. DIVINE RECKONING

I call this divine reckoning because truth and conscience matter more than the appearance of authority.

It begins when the language of protection is compared with the experience of the person who sought protection. It begins when the language of fairness is compared with the decisions recorded in the documents. It begins when the reasons in an official response are examined alongside the information supplied and the consequences that followed.

It begins when a person who repeatedly asked for help refuses to allow the history of those requests to vanish.

It begins when the question is no longer whether a process was completed, but whether the person at its centre was treated with dignity and whether the response was adequate.

I offered grace. I asked for help. I preserved the evidence. I continued to hope. Now I require the record to be examined.

> “The LORD executeth righteousness and judgment for all that are oppressed.” — Psalm 103:6 (KJV)

XIV. THE WORLD WAS GIVEN OPPORTUNITIES TO RESPOND

I wrote. I explained. I supplied evidence. I waited. I followed up. I contacted another person. I approached another institution. I tried another avenue. I preserved the response. I tried again.

Every letter was an act of hope. Every letter was an act of patience. Every letter was an act of mercy. Every letter was an opportunity for someone to demonstrate conscience.

When I experienced responses as dismissive, inadequate or detrimental, I felt those opportunities were squandered and the mercy I extended was met with bureaucratic indifference.

I was not asking for endless correspondence. I was trying to find a way out of the circumstances that compelled me to write. I was not asking for the appearance of a response. I was asking for an outcome that made a real difference.

The gap between those requests and the outcomes I experienced is central to understanding why I have continued to speak.

> “Learn to do well; seek judgment, relieve the oppressed, judge the fatherless, plead for the widow.” — Isaiah 1:17 (KJV)

XV. THE FINAL CONTRADICTION

The deepest contradiction in my story is that I repeatedly sought help through human institutions while increasingly relying on my faith to sustain me.

I approached people with authority, professional knowledge and public institutional roles. I gave them information. I asked questions. I made requests. I presented evidence. I waited. I continued to hope.

When the assistance I needed did not materialise, I turned more deeply to the spiritual relationship that gave me strength.

My faith did not erase the suffering. It gave me a way to endure it. It did not make the documentary questions disappear. It strengthened my determination to preserve them.

I believe God sustained me. I believe I have a responsibility to bear witness. I believe the treatment of vulnerable people is a matter of profound moral seriousness. And I believe the record I preserved deserves examination.

“Blessed are they which are persecuted for righteousness’ sake: for theirs is the kingdom of heaven.” — Matthew 5:10 (KJV)

XVI. THE WITNESS REMAINS

Every letter was another chance to do what was right.

Every request was an opportunity to respond with humanity.

Every document was an effort to make the circumstances visible.

Every follow-up was another expression of hope.

Every act of patience was grace extended.

Every response I experienced as harmful, dismissive or inadequate added to the weight I carried and to the questions the documentary record must answer.

I believe no institution becomes morally infallible because it speaks in official language. I believe no person becomes exempt from accountability because of title, position or privilege. I believe truth does not need permission to exist.

I offered mercy. I offered patience. I offered grace. I gave people opportunities to do the right thing. I asked for help with hope. When responses I experienced as detrimental followed, I felt bureaucratic language had spat in the face of the grace I extended.

That is why I believe God is angry. That is why I call this a divine reckoning. That is why I will continue to preserve the evidence, tell my story and require the record to be examined.

> “And ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free.” — John 8:32 (KJV)

The witness remains. The evidence remains. The ethical questions remain. The reckoning begins when the world is willing to look.

PART II — EVIDENCE NAVIGATION AND HYPER-EVIDENCE

Follow the record

The evidence must be examined through original documents, dates, stated reasons and their relationship to later events. Each conclusion must identify whether it is a documented fact, my testimony, an inference from multiple records, or an allegation requiring further proof.

1. Main Barran Dodger archive: https://github.com/wezzo72/Barrandodger

2. Official Government Documents Register: https://wezzo72.github.io/Barrandodger/official-government-documents-register.html

3. PM&C; FOI correspondence: https://wezzo72.github.io/Barrandodger/

4. PM&C; FOI pathway: https://wezzo72.github.io/Barrandodger/

5. IBAC CASE-2020712 outcome letter, 9 April 2020: https://wezzo72.github.io/Barrandodger/

6. IBAC outcome analysis: https://wezzo72.github.io/Barrandodger/

7. Comcare refusal analysis, 26 May 2021: https://wezzo72.github.io/Barrandodger/

8. AAT employment-status analysis, 12 July 2023: https://wezzo72.github.io/Barrandodger/

9. Document catalogue: https://github.com/wezzo72/Barrandodger/blob/main/data/documents.json

10. PDF manifest: https://github.com/wezzo72/Barrandodger/blob/main/pdf_manifest.json

11. Preservation manifest: https://github.com/wezzo72/Barrandodger/blob/main/barrandodger.com%20website%20backup/manifest.jsonl

12. Preserved original website: https://wezzo72.github.io/Barrandodger/

13. Rebuilt preservation website: https://wezzo72.github.io/barrandodger-rebuild/

14. Documentary Trap: https://wezzo72.github.io/Barrandodger/#documentary-trap-final

15. Victim impact statement: https://wezzo72.github.io/Barrandodger/

16. Public archive: https://drbarrandodger.github.io/barran-dodger-archive/

17. Barran Dodger Legal & Ethical Trust Fund: https://barrandodger.com/main

18. Church of Barran Dodger: https://www.barrandodger.com.au/

19. Truth Archive: https://bazdod.github.io/

For each significant event, compare what I reported; what the institution acknowledged; what the original documents establish; what the institution decided; what assistance or explanation it recorded; what happened afterward; and what conclusions can reasonably be drawn from the combined evidence.

The original documents establish their contents, dates, stated reasons and recorded actions. Their combined chronology may support further conclusions. My testimony describes my experience and the meaning I attach to it. Claims about deliberate humiliation, enjoyment of suffering or individual intent require evidence specific to those claims.

The purpose of preserving the record is not to make questions disappear. It is to make them visible, traceable and open to serious examination.

Repository and preservation inventory

Measure	Reported figure	Forensic significance
Repository tree entries	7,054	Reported retrieved tree; stated as not truncated.
PDF files	3,844	File count only; each must be opened, dated, sourced and checked.
HTML files	1,877	File count only.
TXT files	805	File count only.
Preservation-backup manifest	660 pages or entries	Identifies preserved pages or entries.
PDF manifest	623 discovered PDF links	97 downloaded; one skipped; 525 download errors in reported run.
Document catalogue header	545 records, including 531 PDFs	Detailed retrieved catalogue incomplete.
People registry	One person record in retrieved data	Not a complete list of everyone named.
Organisations registry	20 seeded organisation records	Seed records, not completed findings.

Preservation, hashes and timestamps help show material existed and can be checked. They do not replace reading the record, and they do not excuse anyone from answering what they knew and what they did.

The system’s own ethics turned back on itself

Standard the system claims	What that standard requires	The question I put to each institution
Procedural fairness	A person affected by a decision should generally know the case, have a real opportunity to respond, and receive reasons and review information where required.	What issue was put to me? What opportunity did I have to answer it? Were reasons and review rights given?
Lawful authority	A decision-maker should identify the power being exercised and apply the correct legal test to the facts.	What power was used? What test was applied? Were the relevant facts considered?
Reasons and transparency	A decision should explain what was decided, why, on what evidence, and what alternatives were considered.	What reasons were given? What evidence was relied on? What alternatives were rejected, and why?
Accessible review	A review or complaint pathway should be usable by the person affected, not merely technically available.	Could I realistically use the review offered, given my circumstances, resources, disability, communication restrictions or lack of representation?
No transfer without handover	A referral should transfer the issue with enough information for the receiving body to act.	What information was sent? Did the next body accept it? What happened to the unresolved part?
Disability inclusion	Services and decisions should recognise disability-related barriers, communication needs, independence, safety and participation.	Were my disability-related circumstances identified? Were access barriers addressed? Was independence considered before decisions such as vehicle disposal?
Safeguarding	Bodies with protective functions should act on risk, deterioration and reported harm rather than treating them as outside scope.	What risk was reported? What was assessed? What protective action followed?
Privacy and records	Agencies should search records properly, explain what was found or not found, and give reasons for disclosure decisions.	What was searched? What was located? Why was anything withheld, delayed or later released?
Accountability for cumulative impact	Each body should consider the consequences of its decisions within its knowledge and authority.	Did anyone assess the combined effect? Who took responsibility for the person left behind?
Effective assistance	Assistance should produce a practical change in the person’s circumstances, not merely create a record of contact.	What changed? What needs remained? What would have made the assistance effective?
Duty to act on notice	Where an institution receives information indicating risk, harm, deterioration or unmet need, it should record, assess and respond.	What notice was received? When? Who received it? What assessment followed? What action or omission resulted?
No procedural erasure	A process cannot erase the human consequences of the process.	What human consequence followed? Who considered it? What repair, support or change followed?

Named evidence register — people

Name	My record of role / context	Source basis
Dr Richard William McLean / Dr Richard McLean	I am the witness, archive subject and person whose circumstances are recorded here.	Named throughout the master register; publicly identified in Barran Dodger material.
Barran Dodger	My public and creative identity, associated with the archive and publications.	Public Barran Dodger material.
Scott Tredwell	Named in the 8 January 2024 Federal Court / DSS / superannuation / NDIS CEO context.	Uploaded master register; public indexed material.
A. Riley	Named in archive notes concerning MC23-028244, 19 September 2023, and an IGIS/Ombudsman pathway.	Uploaded master register.
Rebecca Falkingham	Preliminary named-person lead.	Uploaded master register.
Ray Griggs	Preliminary named-person lead.	Uploaded master register.
Emma McBride	Preliminary named-person lead.	Uploaded master register.
Steve Iasonidis	Preliminary named-person lead.	Uploaded master register.
Dr Richard Moore	Preliminary named-person lead.	Uploaded master register.
Dr Dina	Preliminary named-person lead.	Uploaded master register.
Dr Horgan	Preliminary named-person lead.	Uploaded master register.
Dr Ibrahim	Preliminary named-person lead.	Uploaded master register.
Dr Qwong	Preliminary named-person lead.	Uploaded master register.
Dr Parker	Preliminary named-person lead.	Uploaded master register.
Dr McCurdy	Preliminary named-person lead.	Uploaded master register.
Dr Whittaker	Preliminary named-person lead.	Uploaded master register.

Places and jurisdictions

Place / jurisdiction	My record of its connection	Source / verification
Australia	National jurisdiction for Commonwealth bodies and federal legal questions.	Uploaded master register.
Victoria	WorkSafe Victoria; IBAC; Victorian police minister context in MC25-000321.	Uploaded master register.
New South Wales	NSW Trustee and Guardian; Legal Aid NSW; NCAT; Public Guardian; NSW Ombudsman.	Uploaded master register.
Canberra / ACT	Likely administrative location of several Commonwealth bodies; confirm from primary records.	Inferred administrative jurisdiction.
Melbourne / Footscray, Victoria	Publicly associated location; not a verified residential or event location without a primary record.	Public indexed material.
Wyong, New South Wales	Court-context location in publicly indexed material; underlying court record must be located.	Public indexed material.

Organisations and institutions

Organisation	Documentary lead	Source / verification
Department of the Prime Minister and Cabinet	FOI/2022/045; 31 May 2022; 12 December 2022; 8 October 2024.	Uploaded master register.
Office of the Australian Information Commissioner	RQ22/00794; approximately 1,187 PM&C; Outlook items.	Uploaded master register.
Attorney-General's Department	MC23-028244; MC25-000321.	Uploaded master register.
Independent Broad-based Anti-corruption Commission	CASE-2020712; CASE-20213522; CASE-20215102; CASE-20231101; CASE-20233846.	Uploaded master register.
Commonwealth Ombudsman	8 August 2025 service/correspondence restriction.	Uploaded master register.
Comcare	26 May 2021 and 18 October 2021 employee-status decisions.	Uploaded master register.
WorkSafe Victoria	15 November 2021 correspondence.	Uploaded master register.
NDIS Quality and Safeguards Commission	3 June 2021 employee-status issue; 01110547 acknowledged 18 September 2026.	Uploaded master register.
Federal Court of Australia	27 March 2023 public interest disclosure assessment.	Uploaded master register.
Department of Social Services	8 January 2024 correspondence context.	Uploaded master register.
Australian Human Rights Commission	April 2024 complaint/correspondence.	Uploaded master register.
NSW Trustee and Guardian	16 October 2024 section 122-related document; 14 November 2025 vehicle disposal.	Uploaded master register.
Legal Aid NSW	January 2026 restriction/advice correspondence.	Uploaded master register.
NSW Civil and Administrative Tribunal	Around October 2025 review context.	Uploaded master register.
Public Guardian	Around October 2025 review context.	Uploaded master register.
NSW Ombudsman	NSWO10824000660; 16 September 2026.	Uploaded master register.
Barran Dodger Legal & Ethical Trust Fund	ABN 78 833 496 164 appears in publicly indexed material.	Public indexed material.

Full documentary evidence map

Record ID	Body	Dated reference / evidence	What the official record must answer
PM&C-01;	PM&C;	FOI/2022/045; 31 May 2022; 12 December 2022; 8 October 2024	What was searched, located, released, withheld or explained.
OAIC-01	OAIC	RQ22/00794; approximately 1,187 PM&C; Outlook items	What was known, searched, handled and disclosed.
AGD-01	Attorney-General's Department	MC23-028244; 19 September 2023	What was referred, what jurisdiction was claimed, and what remained unresolved.
AGD-02	Attorney-General's Department	MC25-000321; 6 February 2025	What was raised, referred, closed or redirected.
IBAC-01	IBAC	CASE-2020712; 9 April 2020	What was assessed and what was left unresolved.
IBAC-02	IBAC	CASE-20213522; CASE-20215102; 12 April 2022	How related complaints were treated.
IBAC-03	IBAC	CASE-20231101; CASE-20233846; 29–30 October 2023	What was assessed, excluded or redirected.
COMOMB-01	Commonwealth Ombudsman	8 August 2025 restriction	What was restricted, on what basis, and what practical avenue remained.
COMCARE-01	Comcare	26 May 2021; 18 October 2021	How employee status was determined and what consequences followed.
WS-01	WorkSafe Victoria	15 November 2021	What responsibility was accepted, declined or referred.
NDISC-01	NDIS Commission	3 June 2021	How the employee-status issue was handled.
NDISC-02	NDIS Commission	01110547; 18 September 2026	What the acknowledgement covered and what action followed.
FCA-PID-01	Federal Court	27 March 2023	What was assessed, excluded or left without a remedy.
DSS-01	DSS / superannuation / NDIS CEO context	8 January 2024	What was communicated, decided and left unresolved.
AHRC-01	Australian Human Rights Commission	April 2024	What rights and events were considered, and what remedy was identified.
NSWTA-01	NSW Trustee and Guardian	16 October 2024	What authority was exercised and what safeguards applied.
NSWTA-02	NSW Trustee and Guardian	14 November 2025	What vehicle decision was made, on what basis, and what it cost me in independence and access.
LEGALAID-01	Legal Aid NSW	January 2026	What assistance was sought, refused, restricted or made unavailable.
NCAT-PG-01	NCAT / Public Guardian	Around October 2025	What was reviewed, excluded or left unresolved.
NSWOMB-01	NSW Ombudsman	NSWO10824000660; 16 September 2026	What was considered and what practical route remained.

Chronology of notice, knowledge, decision and consequence

Date	Body / reference	What the record concerns
9 April 2020	IBAC — CASE-2020712	Complaint/assessment lead.
26 May 2021	Comcare	Employee-status decision.
3 June 2021	NDIS Commission	Employee-status issue.
18 October 2021	Comcare	Further employee-status decision.
15 November 2021	WorkSafe Victoria	Correspondence lead.
31 May 2022	PM&C;	Correspondence lead.
12 April 2022	IBAC — CASE-20213522 / CASE-20215102	Complaint leads.
12 December 2022	PM&C;	Correspondence lead.
27 March 2023	Federal Court	PID assessment.

Date	Body / reference	What the record concerns
19 September 2023	AGD — MC23-028244	IGIS/Ombudsman pathway.
29–30 October 2023	IBAC — CASE-20231101 / CASE-20233846	Further IBAC material.
8 January 2024	DSS / superannuation / NDIS CEO context	Correspondence lead.
April 2024	Australian Human Rights Commission	Complaint/correspondence lead.
8 October 2024	PM&C;	Later FOI material.
16 October 2024	NSW Trustee and Guardian	Section 122-related document.
6 February 2025	AGD — MC25-000321	Victorian police minister context.
8 August 2025	Commonwealth Ombudsman	Service/correspondence restriction.
Around October 2025	NCAT / Public Guardian	Review context.
14 November 2025	NSW Trustee and Guardian	Vehicle disposal decision.
January 2026	Legal Aid NSW	Restriction/advice correspondence.
16 September 2026	NSW Ombudsman — NSWO10824000660	Complaint reference.
18 September 2026	NDIS Commission — 01110547	Acknowledgement.

What I survived, what I refuse and what remains

I survived without the help that should have been available. I survived through restrictions, refusals, delays, referrals, lost independence, restricted communication and institutions treating my circumstances as someone else's jurisdiction.

I did not survive because the system worked. Where it worked at all, it worked too late, too narrowly, or without changing the circumstances that placed me at risk.

My survival is evidence. My testimony is evidence. The dated records are evidence. Together, they show what I asked for, what was known, what was done, what was refused, and what I was left to carry.

• I refuse to accept that my experience must be reduced to a complaint outcome, jurisdictional boundary, procedural technicality or administrative closure.

• I refuse to accept that a payment, acknowledgement or referral is equivalent to meaningful support where my circumstances did not materially change.

• I refuse to accept that institutions may describe themselves as unaware after receiving notice, without explaining what they did with that notice.

• I refuse to participate in language that shifts the burden onto me, minimises consequences, or treats my survival as proof that no harm occurred.

• I refuse to let institutional reputation be protected by erasing the human consequences recorded in my archive.

• I refuse to need their permission to name what was done to me, or to state what the public record shows.

• I refuse to allow privilege, comfort, titles or institutional silence to become a substitute for accountability.

• I refuse to allow a court, tribunal, hearing or determination to be treated as the only form in which official evidence may have meaning.

Verification and forensic record discipline

For every person, place, organisation and document: locate the primary record; record its title, date, reference, author and decision-maker; quote or accurately summarise the operative part; identify what it establishes; identify what remains unanswered; connect it to earlier and later records; separate direct documentary evidence from testimony and inference; and mark it as unchecked, located, source verified, contents checked or independently corroborated.

Final source links

https://github.com/wezzo72/Barrandodger

https://wezzo72.github.io/Barrandodger/

https://wezzo72.github.io/barrandodger-rebuild/

https://wezzo72.github.io/Barrandodger/official-government-documents-register.html

https://github.com/wezzo72/Barrandodger/blob/main/data/documents.json

https://github.com/wezzo72/Barrandodger/blob/main/pdf_manifest.json

https://github.com/wezzo72/Barrandodger/blob/main/barrandodger.com%20website%20backup/manifest.jsonl https://wezzo72.github.io/Barrandodger/#documentary-trap-final

https://drbarrandodger.github.io/barran-dodger-archive/

https://barrandodger.com/main

https://www.barrandodger.com.au/

https://bazdod.github.io/

> "The spirit of the Lord GOD is upon me; because the LORD hath anointed me to preach good tidings unto the meek; he hath sent me to bind up the brokenhearted, to proclaim liberty to the captives, and the opening of the prison to them that are bound." — Isaiah 61:1 (KJV)

I remain. The records remain. My account remains. God's protection remains. The questions remain.

“The witness remains. The evidence remains. The ethical questions remain. The reckoning begins when the world is willing to look.”