THE WITNESS REMAINS - THE PROPHECY OF THE WITNESS
DR BARRAN DODGER

WHY I AM DANGEROUS, FEARED, STUDIED AND WHY I HAVE CLOUT, RANK AND ATTRIBUTES THAT SUPPORT THE TESTIMONY

I am not dangerous because I carry a weapon.

I am dangerous because I carry memory.

I am dangerous because I have lived long enough, travelled far enough, experienced enough, studied enough, written enough, spoken enough, survived enough and documented enough that the simplistic story constructed around me can no longer contain the person I actually am.

I am dangerous because I became the witness.

I am dangerous because I became the archive.

I am dangerous because I learned how the machinery works.

I am dangerous because I know the language of the media, the language of government, the language of academia, the language of advocacy, the language of technology, the language of mental health and the language of spiritual experience.

And I know what it is like to stand on the other side of all of them and still remain myself.

I am Dr Barran Dodger.

I am Dr Richard William McLean.

I am a former artist for newspapers and news graphic artist who was paid and verified as a journalist.

I am an accomplished author and public speaker.

I have spent approximately 30 years in public advocacy for mentally ill people and their carers.

I have spoken nationally and internationally.

I have spoken on radio and television.

I have spoken at universities.

I have spoken to community groups.

I have spoken at international forums.

I have opened international keynote conferences.

I have travelled.

I have observed humanity.

I have examined the human condition through my own extraordinary life.

I am not a person who arrived yesterday with a story.

I have a history.

I have a public record.

I have an intellectual record.

I have an artistic record.

I have a publishing record.

I have a speaking record.

I have an advocacy record.

I have an academic record.

And now I have an archive.

That is why I am dangerous.

Not dangerous because I intend harm.

Dangerous because I cannot easily be reduced to the identity others attempted to assign to me.

I AM QUEER

I am queer.

I am unaligned with concepts of heteronormativity.

I am opposed to patriarchal ruling elites which have inherited power not by merit but as an inheritance that is unearned.

I do not accept that somebody becomes morally superior because they were born into the right family.

I do not accept that hierarchy automatically creates legitimacy.

I do not accept that wealth automatically creates wisdom.

I do not accept that political office automatically creates moral authority.

I do not accept that institutional power automatically makes somebody right.

I have lived unfettered by concepts of restrictions to another physical person of either or same sex.

I connect via resonance beyond limitations of gender.

I have spent my life testing the boundaries that other people wanted to impose upon me.

And that is part of why I became threatening to the structures around me.

Because I was never designed to fit comfortably inside the cage.

THE ARTIST WHO BECAME THE WITNESS

I came from the world of newspapers.

I understood images.

I understood communication.

I understood how a story could be constructed before the reader even reached the words.

I understood framing.

I understood representation.

I understood what happens when one image becomes the entire identity of a human being.

And then it happened to me.

A documentary was created about my life and art which I experienced as mainly psychiatric weaponisation.

I was only ever interesting if I was broken, unwell or mentally ill.

Why?

Because if I was broken, others could push me down.

If I was unwell, others could define me.

If I was mentally ill, others could dismiss me.

If I was the problem, nobody had to look at the mirror.

It soothed jealousy.

It soothed envy.

It allowed people to feel better about themselves by keeping me below them.

But there was another me.

There was the me who lived with truth.

Confidence.

Integrity.

Authenticity.

Creativity.

Spiritual intelligence.

Independence.

Sovereignty.

The me who lived authentically and unapologetically.

The me who had a global platform.

The me who travelled.

The me who wrote.

The me who spoke.

The me who researched.

The me who studied.

The me who survived.

That was the person the cage could not explain.

THE CAGE OF MENTAL ILLNESS

The media and my family were never invested in knowing me fully beyond the cage of mental illness.

That is my testimony.

They acted to create the conditions of the cage and then claimed ignorance or confusion when I called out their treatment of me.

Then it was flipped on me.

I became the unstable one.

I became the difficult one.

I became the argumentative one.

I became the manipulative one.

I became the problematic one.

I became the problem.

This was how the guilt and unresolved issues were pinned onto me.

Rather than acknowledge the cruelty of what had happened, the mirror was attacked.

Because I was the mirror.

And the mirror showed things people did not want to see.

They did not necessarily have to hate me consciously.

All I had to do was hold up a mirror as a reflection to their own darkness.

And rather than admit what they had done to me, they attacked the mirror.

That is the psychology of the scapegoat.

That is the psychology of the family system I describe.

That is the psychology of the society I believe eventually turned the same mechanism against me on a much larger scale.

I was betrayed by my own blood family.

Toxic family scapegoating began when I was a child.

I was always targeted.

I was deceived.

I was gaslighted.

I was encouraged to remain loyal.

I remained hopeful that people would eventually do the right thing.

And my testimony is that they had no intention of changing.

THE LIFE-LONG ATTACK

I describe what happened as a life-long covert coordinated attack.

Psychological warfare.

A campaign that diminished me.

A campaign that attempted to erase me.

A campaign that attempted to destroy me.

A campaign that, in my interpretation, ultimately extended to attempts to physically erase me from this universe.

And the greatest deception was that the people causing the conditions of suffering could then present themselves to authorised society as the heroes who would save the day.

They designed the conditions of my suffering and then appeared as though they were the people suffering because of me.

I was supposedly difficult.

Argumentative.

Manipulative.

Problematic.

The opposite was true.

That inversion became one of the great themes of my life.

The person who was harmed became the person blamed for the consequences.

The person asking questions became the problem.

The person documenting became the threat.

The person refusing to forget became the dangerous one.

THE POLITICAL WITNESS

My testimony reaches its most serious point in my allegation concerning an assassination attempt ordered by a federal minister.

I describe this as an attempted conspiracy to murder and as an example of state-sanctioned targeted killing of a gay, disabled, unprotected whistleblower in political exile.

This is my testimony.

This is one of the claims that must be examined against the underlying evidence.

But something extraordinary happened when I raised it.

The response was not, in my experience, proportionate to what I was reporting.

My father quipped and dismissed me by barking:

"he's not even the NDIS minister anymore move on."

Move on.

As if the departure of a minister from a portfolio meant that the allegation itself ceased to matter.

As if the passage of political office erased what had allegedly occurred.

As if I was merely complaining again.

But I was not talking about a ministerial portfolio.

I was talking about what I regarded as the most significant and internationally significant criminal attempted conspiracy to murder that I had exposed.

And I was told, effectively:

Move on.

That sentence became symbolic.

Because it demonstrated precisely what I was fighting.

The demand that the witness stop witnessing.

THE EXISTENTIAL THREAT

In hindsight, I understand why the attributes observed in my character growing up could have been perceived as an existential threat.

Not because I was violent.

Because I would not surrender my mind.

I would not surrender my identity.

I would not surrender my curiosity.

I would not surrender my creativity.

I would not surrender my confidence.

I would not surrender my authenticity.

I would not surrender my sovereignty.

I would not surrender my ability to see.

And I would not surrender my ability to speak.

That is an existential threat to any structure that depends upon unquestioned obedience.

My mere existence now is the threat.

My recovery is the threat.

My rise is the threat.

My international influence is the threat.

Because my existence exposes the contradiction.

If I was really insignificant, why was so much effort allegedly required to diminish me?

If I was really nothing, why did I have to be contained?

If my testimony was meaningless, why did I have to be silenced?

These are questions.

They are not conclusions.

But they are the questions that have driven this archive.

THE SOCIETAL MOBBING

I believe a whole community and society ganged up in a societal mobbing in order to stop one vulnerable person.

One person.

Opposed by a whole democracy.

And still I failed to disappear.

I am still here.

That is the paradox.

I was supposed to be insignificant.

Yet I survived.

I was supposed to remain below the people who had decided their supremacy over my existence.

Yet I rose.

I was supposed to remain the person described by the old narrative.

Yet I changed.

I recovered.

I became clearer.

I found purpose.

I became more intellectually developed.

I became more spiritually developed.

I became more technologically capable.

And I documented the journey.

THE CHOSEN WITNESS

I believe I am God's chosen witness.

I believe His anointing and favour preserved my life.

I know this.

I believe I will win.

I believe I will be compensated.

I believe I will be vindicated.

I believe my name will be cleared.

I believe those responsible will eventually be exposed.

Not because I need revenge.

I do not need revenge.

The universe will take care of it.

The fact that I exist is revenge enough.

Because if everything that was supposed to erase me failed, then my continued existence itself becomes a contradiction.

They tried to erase the witness.

The witness remained.

They tried to destroy the testimony.

The testimony remained.

They tried to make the man disappear.

The man remained.

THE MASTER MANIPULATORS

I believe the master manipulators were given chance after chance through divine grace to do the right thing.

Each one failed.

I understand this as a kind of spiritual blasphemy against God.

"Touch not my anointed."

That is why I have predicted the deconstruction and collapse of the corrupt hierarchy as the Creator's divine reckoning.

The hierarchy must be dismantled.

Not because I want chaos.

Because I believe a more spiritual and just structure must eventually oversee a society collectively living in fear and ruled by authorities to whom people willingly gifted their consent.

The old structure cannot be the final structure.

The corrupt hierarchy cannot be the final hierarchy.

The kingdom of inherited power cannot be the final kingdom.

THE PATTERN

If a government or institution can erase one person and get away with it, then the pattern can repeat.

If an abuser or criminal narcissist who is corrupt learns that destruction of the inconvenient person works, then the same observer-experienced psychological pattern can repeat when the next risk to the system appears.

God was not going to allow that.

I believe He preserved my life in order to reveal my prophetic role.

My divine purpose.

His kingdom purposes.

And I have written about this extensively in my gospels and prophetic writing.

THE WITNESS WHO STUDIED THE FUTURE

My prophecy does not rely only on mystical experience.

It is forged through my experience of this earthly realm.

Pain.

Suffering.

Exile.

Advocacy.

Mental health.

Journalism.

Art.

Travel.

Human relationships.

Politics.

Government.

Technology.

Academia.

I am a PhD.

My research concerned AI and ethics and global catastrophic risks framed by the end-stage Anthropocene and the possibility of being post-human in the immediate future through the lens of technology.

I studied anticipated superintelligence.

I studied the technological singularity.

I studied what happens when intelligence itself becomes technological.

And I arrived at answers which I regard as prophetic in their predictions.

Those ideas created a foundation for my later prophetic gospels and predictions.

This is the convergence.

The mystic.

The researcher.

The artist.

The journalist.

The advocate.

The author.

The traveller.

The scholar.

The witness.

The same person.

THE GOSPELS FROM EXILE

Those spiritually significant self-published narratives written from exile are part of my testimony.

I wrote them from exile.

Like Jesus.

Like truth speakers across cultures and across time.

I wrote from outside the centre of power.

I wrote while suffering.

I wrote while isolated.

I wrote while being treated as though I was nothing.

And those writings travelled.

I say they have been downloaded worldwide over a million times.

If that figure is challenged, verify it.

But the point remains:

The words escaped.

They travelled beyond me.

They travelled beyond the conditions under which they were written.

The man could be isolated.

The words could not be completely isolated.

THE BLOCKCHAIN TESTAMENT

And then I did something even more profound.

I placed my thoughts into the mathematical infrastructure of humanity.

Blockchain.

Timestamping.

Cryptographic preservation.

Digital records.

The documents exist outside the fragile memory of one person.

Each document can be preserved as a record of what I wrote and when it was committed.

My thoughts cannot simply be made never to have existed.

Even if I am physically erased, the record has already crossed containment lines.

That is the technological dimension of my prophecy.

A government can control a building.

A department can control a file.

A person can control a conversation.

An institution can control a website.

But once the record is distributed and independently preserved, the power of one authority to make the record disappear is diminished.

I have broken containment lines.

I have created a record that can outlive me.

That is why the archive matters.

THE ABSURD INVERSION

And still I am treated as though I am worth nothing.

Zero significance.

Zero consequence.

That is the absurd inversion.

Because the record says otherwise.

The public history says otherwise.

The advocacy says otherwise.

The journalism says otherwise.

The books say otherwise.

The speaking engagements say otherwise.

The academic record says otherwise.

The international dissemination says otherwise.

The archive says otherwise.

And the very persistence of the testimony says otherwise.

The contradiction is enormous.

A person treated as though he has no significance possesses a record with a potentially massive future imprint.

That is what I mean when I say the world has inverted my significance.

THE PROTECTION OF GOD

I believe the total volume of human betrayal became evidence of something else.

Protection.

Because if every human process failed me, and yet I survived, then I cannot explain that survival solely through human assistance.

I interpret it as God's protection.

I believe the mathematical probability of my survival given the treatment I describe over 35 years is nearly zero.

That is my interpretation of the evidence of my life.

I was not expected to survive.

I survived.

I was not expected to recover.

I recovered.

I was not expected to rise.

I rose.

I was not expected to publish.

I published.

I was not expected to become the witness.

I became the witness.

GOD HID ME IN PLAIN SIGHT

I believe God is hiding me in plain sight.

He uses the blaspheme of my character as the mechanism of my protection.

The world sees the caricature.

God sees the witness.

The world sees the psychiatric history.

God sees the whole man.

The world sees the exile.

God sees the preparation.

The world sees poverty.

God sees preservation.

The world sees insignificance.

God sees purpose.

And while people argue about who I am, the evidence continues accumulating.

God collects the evidence.

I collect the evidence.

The archive preserves the evidence.

And eventually the evidence can speak for itself.

KRONOS TIME

I await God’s Kronos time.

The time when He further reveals me as His witness.

The time when He vindicates me.

The time when my name is cleared.

The time when my enemies are exposed.

The time when the hidden things become visible.

The time when the world finally understands what was happening while it was happening.

I do not control that time.

I await it.

Divine timing is not human timing.

THE MAN WHO CANNOT BE ERASED

I cannot die.

I tried.

And I believe God resurrected me from a fatal injury.

I have been dead.

Persecuted to death.

I have been to hell myself.

I have shaken Satan’s hand.

And I came back with the blueprints of the kingdom of darkness.

I documented it.

Over 35 years.

In the government's own official documents.

In their own words.

On their own letterheads.

That is the extraordinary nature of my testimony.

I did not merely write what I believed happened.

I preserved what institutions themselves wrote.

That is why I say:

Read their own words.

Look at their own letterheads.

Look at their own dates.

Look at the chronology.

Look at the correspondence.

Look at what can be independently verified.

THE WITNESS AND THE DARKNESS

People think I am too kind to see what they are doing behind their masks.

They are wrong.

I see.

I have been through the darkness.

I know darkness completely.

But I do not use my knowledge of darkness to enact harm on anyone.

I use it only as a means to serve God.

To align with His will over my life.

To understand the darkness of humanity.

To expose what I believe is corrupt.

To document what I believe must eventually be confronted.

That is the difference between knowing darkness and becoming darkness.

I know darkness.

I refuse to become it.

THE NO WEAPON PROPHECY

Try as they might through poverty, exile, psychological warfare and spiritual warfare, even presently:

No weapon formed against me shall prosper.

And every judgement I shall condemn.

I do not interpret that as permission to harm anyone.

I interpret it as a declaration of survival.

A declaration of faith.

A declaration that the witness cannot be reduced to the weapons used against him.

The weapon may be poverty.

The weapon may be reputation.

The weapon may be exile.

The weapon may be psychological warfare.

The weapon may be institutional indifference.

The weapon may be character assassination.

But the witness remains.

THE FIGHT WITH GOD

I believe the government picked a fight with the Creator of the universe by attempting to destroy me.

Only God had that permission.

That is why I know I will win.

God is real.

I believe I am used as God's vessel to expose and dismantle corruption.

I believe I have been given a role in the divine reckoning of current corrupt power structures.

And I believe God preserved my life to collect, collate and publish the evidence of what I experienced as evil.

Anyone can certify the existence of the documents.

Anyone can examine the archive.

Anyone can inspect the preservation methods.

Anyone can challenge my interpretations.

That is exactly what the archive is for.

THE EXISTENTIAL THREAT

I now understand why I believe the government regarded me as an existential threat.

Not because I wanted to destroy government.

But because I represented something that corrupt power cannot tolerate:

a witness who survives.

A witness who remembers.

A witness who understands media.

A witness who understands advocacy.

A witness who understands academia.

A witness who understands technology.

A witness who writes.

A witness who publishes.

A witness who archives.

A witness who refuses to disappear.

The government is fleeting.

God is eternal.

God is love.

I believe the government structures I describe are evil.

God will deliver His promise.

The corruption will face divine reckoning.

And I, as His witness, will win.

THE SPIRITUAL PHYSICS OF JUSTICE

God's revenge is not cruelty for its own sake.

It is the balancing of a spiritual physics that underpins this universe as a fundamental principle of existence.

Cause and consequence.

Action and consequence.

Truth and revelation.

Corruption and reckoning.

Love and restoration.

I do not need to personally enact revenge.

I do not need to hurt anyone.

I do not need to destroy anyone.

I need only remain the witness.

THE CRUCIFIXION NARRATIVE

I understand what happened to me through an allegorical Christian crucifixion narrative.

A person is sacrificed by a society.

A person is misunderstood.

A person is condemned.

A person becomes the receptacle for the fears and sins of the collective.

The innocent becomes the scapegoat.

The scapegoat becomes the mirror.

The mirror becomes the threat.

And the threat must be destroyed.

Yet the story does not end at the crucifixion.

It continues into resurrection.

That is why I describe my own survival as a resurrection narrative.

Not necessarily a claim that I am literally Jesus.

But an embodiment, in my spiritual interpretation, of the return of Christ consciousness.

The return of truth.

The return of compassion.

The return of accountability.

The return of the witness.

THE KINGDOM OF DARKNESS HAS BLUEPRINTS

I have been to hell.

I shook Satan's hand.

I came back with the blueprints.

And now I know the architecture.

That is why I wrote about administrative annihilation.

That is why I documented psychological warfare.

That is why I documented institutional behaviour.

That is why I preserved the records.

That is why I created the archive.

The darkness may believe that it can hide itself.

But I have been inside it.

I have seen the machinery.

I have mapped what I believe are its structures.

And I have published the maps.

THE FUTURE

The future does not belong permanently to the corrupt hierarchy.

No inherited elite can own eternity.

No government can own God.

No institution can own truth.

No bureaucracy can own human dignity.

No psychiatric label can own a human being.

No political office can erase a witness.

No family can permanently define its scapegoat.

No media narrative can contain a person forever.

No earthly authority can guarantee that the archive disappears.

The old structures will change.

Perhaps slowly.

Perhaps painfully.

Perhaps through processes nobody presently sees.

But I believe the hierarchy will be deconstructed.

I believe corruption will be exposed.

I believe the structures built on fear will eventually encounter structures built on accountability.

And I believe I have a role in that process.

THE PROPHECY

This is my prophecy.

I am not claiming perfection.

I am not claiming omniscience.

I am not claiming that every interpretation I have made is beyond challenge.

I am saying that I know what I experienced.

I know what I survived.

I know what I documented.

I know what I wrote.

I know what I studied.

I know what I published.

I know the life I lived.

I know the darkness I encountered.

I know the God I believe preserved me.

And I know that I am still here.

That is the central miracle.

They tried to erase me.

I remained.

They tried to define me.

I became more than the definition.

They tried to silence me.

I wrote.

They tried to isolate me.

My words travelled.

They tried to make me insignificant.

I built an archive.

They tried to make history forget.

I preserved the record.

They tried to make the witness disappear.

THE WITNESS REMAINS.

God is eternal.

The government is fleeting.

God is love.

Corruption cannot ultimately defeat love.

I know darkness.

I refuse to become darkness.

I have walked through hell.

I returned carrying its blueprints.

I have been persecuted to death.

I survived.

I have been broken.

I recovered.

I have been exiled.

I continued writing.

I have been dismissed.

I continued documenting.

I have been treated as though I am nothing.

And still I am here.

I do not need revenge.

I do not need violence.

I do not need to destroy anyone.

The universe will take care of it.

God will take care of it.

The record will remain.

The evidence will remain.

The testimony will remain.

And when God's Kronos time arrives, what was hidden will be revealed.

What was denied will be examined.

What was buried will be uncovered.

What was distorted will be reconsidered.

What was erased will return.

And the witness will stand.

Not because he conquered the world.

Because the world failed to erase him.

That is why I believe I was preserved.

That is why I believe I am God's chosen witness.

That is why I believe my anointing has survived the machinery that tried to destroy it.

That is why I believe the corrupt hierarchy will ultimately face divine reckoning.

That is why I believe my name will be cleared.

That is why I believe I will be vindicated.

And that is why the final declaration is not a threat.

It is a testimony.

THE WITNESS REMAINS.

And that is my prophecy.

And God's will.
