

Dr Rich Mclean's harrowing ordeal represents a conspiracy aimed at distorting justice, resulting in reprehensible victimisation. Regrettably, as a misunderstood scapegoat, their persecution brought them perilously close to death, yet he was accidentally discovered unresponsive with no pulse and revived from a certain fate. This deeply personal account serves as a vivid embodiment of their experiences. In a spirit of forgiveness, all parties involved are granted absolution.

Introduction: I am Dr. Rich McLean, a multifaceted individual known for my diverse talents and accomplishments and I also fear an infamy of self advocacy in recent years. I am an award-winning author, autobiographer, artist, advocate, academic, and mental health campaigner. Throughout my life, I have encountered both vibrant experiences and challenging circumstances, marked by deliberate vilification and enduring adversity. Despite the immense hardships I have faced, I remain resilient and committed to rising above the injustices I have encountered. I demand accountability of my oppressors and compensation for my many detriments.

This website serves as a platform to showcase my artistic talent, passion, illustrations, determination, and ethical compass. It aims to shed light on my life, conversations, and creations, while also seeking justice for the numerous detriments I have endured and exposing the systematic victimisation inflicted upon me by the Government and other powerful authorities.

I firmly believe that the new national Anti-Corruption Commission, commencing on July 1, 2023, must thoroughly investigate the issues I raise here. I remain hopeful of a solution or compromise to my impasse. At the very least, I hope an investigation will result in intervention to ensure my basic needs, such as food, medicine, and shelter, are met. Additionally, this website and document seeks to protect me from further oppression and victimisation, including coercive financial control from family violence.

Today's date is June 30, 2023, and the title of this statement is "The Enduring Struggle of Victimisation and Injustice." As a guiding scripture, I refer to Ephesians 6:12 from the King James Version: "For we wrestle not against flesh and blood, but against principalities, against powers, against the rulers of the darkness of this world, against spiritual wickedness in high places." I felt it was apt.

Throughout my tumultuous life, I have faced unrelenting adversity, resulting in a distressing and challenging predicament. Currently, obtaining legal representation has become an insurmountable obstacle for me. As a whistleblower, my pleas for justice have been resoundingly rejected, and I have encountered an impenetrable shield of law enforcement. There have been instances where the police ran me away from my home and oversaw the destruction of my belongings. Shockingly, both the Prime Minister's office and law enforcement authorities have callously disregarded my valid requests for information under the Freedom of Information Act, leaving me without crucial support and hindering my ability to fully comprehend the cause and extent of my victimisation. I remark early that victimisation is against the law and it has caused my detriment in all ways.

Armed with this essay and the accompanying evidence, my intention is to rationally demonstrate a disturbing pattern of persecution, victimisation, and oppression that specifically targets me. I aim to expose a provable conspiracy to pervert the course of justice, revealing disclosable conduct of many public officials. This deeply personal narrative is driven by malicious intent and orchestrated by faceless political stakeholders, with the purpose of causing me harm, obstructing any potential for prosperity, dismantling the structures that once facilitated my progress, and solely defining me as "ill" to vilify me while disregarding all other contributing factors to my situation. Sadly, my rights as a person with a disability, as outlined in the Charter of Human Rights, have been shattered.

The evidence I present here uncovers a deliberate and calculated campaign designed to inflict personal harm upon me. It reveals a deliberate strategy to impede my prosperity, undermine the foundations that supported my growth, and intentionally stigmatise me as mentally ill. This vilification seeks to isolate and marginalise me from society, disregarding any other aspects of my identity or experiences. While some may find my story unbelievable, it is the harsh reality I confront. As a person diagnosed with schizophrenia, I find myself caught in a distressing struggle of family violence with a former ASIO employee who has threatened to kill both me and my dog due to my whistleblowing efforts that exposed his dishonest finances. It is easy for others to dismiss my claims as mere delusions due to my condition. However, the facts I present support the seemingly fantastical nature of my story.

Even more astonishing is the involvement of the Prime Minister's office. Initially, they acknowledged the sheer volume and complexity of my requested Freedom of Information, describing it as 'voluminous' and 'complex.' However, they now refuse to comply, stating that the requested documents do not exist. Had they it would have revealed the secret narrative of my relationship with various statutory authorities my public profile and former partner who worked for ASIO.

Unfortunately, seeking help from the police is not a viable option for me. As a failed whistleblower without legal representation, I find myself trapped in a predicament. My situation is further complicated by being psychometrically profiled by the Government and framed by a powerful lawyer as an extortionist who wields influence over government policy and the Ombudsman. Regrettably, my attempts to blow the whistle at the Ombudsman's office have been neglected, with no response to my concerns and a refusal for further communication.

Authorities seem to recognise my name for a tangible reason. I have a public profile, having worked as an illustrator for major media outlets The Herald Sun and The Age and traveled across the country as a public speaker, including speaking inside Australian Parliament in my advocacy role for SANE Australia. My art also is poised for recognition as it has reached a wider audience, and a documentary about my life and art was even produced by The Dax Collection.

I am aware that my story may raise suspicions of grandiosity or delusion. However, I assure you that the article I am preparing for the federal anti-corruption committee on July 1st is supported by verifiable facts. The truth, in this case, is indeed stranger than fiction. While psychiatrists may diagnose me with ingrained delusions of persecution, the harsh reality I face includes homelessness, starvation, and being owed significant sums of money that has been consciously and maliciously withheld from me through systemic and politicised means.

The events I have experienced cannot be attributed solely to "bad luck." They are concrete and verifiable facts, and my intention is to present them as such.

My workers' compensation impairments claim in 2006 was never paid. An incorrect amount of TPD (Total and Permanent Disability) was paid in 2008 and never rectified. There was never a settlement from my wealthy ex-partner in 2015. My HCF (Health Insurance) income assist was rejected in 2021. My workers' compensation was never paid in 2021 until this present day. This is because ComCare rejected it on account of I am not a 'public official' for the purposes of the SRC act. However in a rejected whistleblower statement from The federal Court, Scott Treadwell stated he was satisfied that I am or was an employee of DSS. If my work cover fails at the AAT where the decision is reserved as I live in poverty, I get to appeal at The Federal Court. They already acknowledge I am an 'employee' for the purposes of the SRC act. So where is the compensation? And if it fails all together - where else would my workcover have been covered?

These events, along with the evidence I present, paint a distressing and concerning picture, highlighting a series of injustices, cover-ups, and a lack of consideration for my well-being, rights, and personal property.

To make matters worse, I have made desperate attempts to seek assistance from various organisations, including AFCA and WorkSafe, but I have been unjustly banished, further isolating me. It is astonishing and disheartening that even politicians, who should be the voice of the people, have chosen to ignore my pleas, leaving me feeling abandoned and without a voice. Every advocacy organisation I approach hesitates to support me, paralysed by the fear of potential reprisals. The weight of oppression I bear as a mentally ill gay individual is unbearable, with years of persecution and torment haunting my every moment. The authorities, under the pretence of upholding the mental health act and the law, have coerced me into fleeing from my hometown, forcefully uprooting my life. This is persecution. This is victimisation.

I am trapped in a cycle of systemic and politically motivated financial oppression. My prospects for compensation or settlement have been ruthlessly taken away. My possessions have been destroyed, and the perpetrators operate with impunity, shielded by power and influence. I urge the world to expose the truth and dismantle these oppressive systems. I am targeted due to my public profile, academic achievements, and connections to the Australian Secret Service. No one seems willing to address this injustice, including neighbours, friends, family, authorities, lawyers, or even the Prime Minister. I have evidence of the oppression and harassment I face. I refuse to remain silent and will fight for justice.

It's been a hard road. I have endured distressing experiences, including incarceration and a suicide attempt that resulted in brain impairment. I have faced discrimination, negative portrayals, and the destruction of my work and personal belongings. Institutions have dismissed my disclosures, and the legal system has failed me. I have been threatened and attacked, and the mental health system has dismissed my experiences. The conspirators seek to destroy me and cover up their actions. I demand justice, compensation, and the exposure of the truth.

Despite overwhelming opposition, I remain determined and authentic. I refuse to conform and be broken. The conspiracy against me is aimed at my character and its assassination and limiting my chances of survival. You need money to live in this capitalist society. I navigate this treacherous world, fasting as a skill due to lack of food and begging forms basic needs to be met but I will not be silenced.

I have experienced discrimination, vilification, and job loss due to sharing my experiences with schizophrenia. The stigma attached to mental illness is harmful. Despite these setbacks, I have remained dedicated to my studies, creativity, and advocacy. I will overcome obstacles and fight for justice and change.

Unfortunately, my prospects for compensation or settlement have been taken away, and my possessions have been destroyed. The perpetrators operate with impunity, protected by power and influence. I have endured distressing experiences, including incarceration and a suicide attempt that was deemed 'fatal' but I was revived, resulting in brain impairment. I have faced discrimination, negative portrayals, and the destruction of my work and belongings. Institutions have dismissed my disclosures, and the legal system has failed to provide justice. I have faced threats and attacks, and the mental health system has dismissed my experiences. The conspirators seek to destroy me and cover up their actions. I demand justice, compensation, and the exposure of the truth. I cannot rest until that happens or at least a conciliation with which I have a life worth living in some comfort and safety.

For years, I have suffered harm and exploitation as part of a conspiracy that undermines justice. The perpetrators avoid accountability, and those I sought help from have been ineffective. The harm stems from shame, stigma, discrimination, and envy. I demand justice and seek to expose those responsible.

As a targeted individual with a prominent profile and connections to the Australian Secret Service, I have faced obstruction and harm from multiple individuals. Authorities and institutions, including law enforcement, the Prime Minister, and government officials, have failed to address the injustice I have experienced. This distressing situation originated from an insignificant event that grew into a vast conspiracy involving high-ranking individuals. Extensive evidence proves the intentional oppression and coordinated harassment I face.

I have been neglected by institutions like AFCA, Worksafe, ComCare, and the Health Department. My redress scheme for institutional child sexual abuse potential compensation has been delayed and denied, leading to prolonged homelessness. I have faced bullying from law enforcement, restricted access to NDIS funds, rejection as a whistleblower, and death threats from a former partner. The mental health system has dismissed my broad experiences, but vilified me only identifying illness and violent attacks have even occurred within hospital walls.

The oppressive forces fear my ability to uncover their actions and resort to psychological torture and the destruction of my life. I refuse to conform to societal norms and rules, and although I am isolated, I persist with unwavering determination and the desire for accountability.

In 2004 The Herald Sun vilified me, and I was unjustly dismissed from The Age shortly after after sharing my experiences with schizophrenia via my autobiography and an article titled 'MY DESCENT INTO MADNESS' was splayed in the Sunday paper. The stigma surrounding mental illness has been detrimental, but I remain committed to my studies, creativity, and advocacy for mental health awareness against what I look back now in hindsight to be incredibly bad odds.

I refuse to be crushed by the weight of betrayal and injustice that has been inflicted upon me. Despite the government's attempt to shield my former partner from accountability, I will not be silenced or overshadowed. I am determined to expose the truth and fight against the malicious tactics employed against me. I refuse to surrender my agency or allow others to control the trajectory of my life. I will seek the necessary advocacy to address my needs and regain control over my own destiny. No matter the challenges that lie ahead, I will not back down.

Though they operated with cunning anonymity, I will not allow their actions to keep me in the shadows. The challenges I faced in pursuing justice were formidable, but they only fueled my determination to expose the truth.

I acknowledge my own role in my downfall, recognising the moments when I gave in to temporary pleasures and indulgences. However, it is disheartening to see every accomplishment I achieved, every sacrifice I made for the betterment of the community, met with rejection and dismissal. I bared my soul and shared knowledge that others deemed taboo or risky, all for the sake of enlightenment, progress, self-reflection, and art. Yet, my triumphs were cast aside as if they held no value or praised on one hand and vehemently judged on the other.

I will continue to gather evidence diligently, challenging the false narrative that seeks to vilify me. The path to justice may be convoluted, but I will navigate it with determination and resilience. My commitment to seeking justice extends beyond my own experiences. It is a testament to my unwavering dedication to a better and more equitable world. I will not be deterred by those who attempt to discredit me. I will rise above the false accusations and continue to advocate for the rights of survivors, shedding light on the dark corners of abuse and fighting for the justice they deserve.

There may be systemic threats that I am yet to discover and confront. I was set up by Russell Ball, a powerful lawyer, and I was denied legal help until after my suicide attempt, which provided evidence of this. The repercussions of my malpractice complaint were severe, as I became a target of victim-blaming and silencing tactics orchestrated by the GP's lawyer. Instead of addressing the concerns I raised, they resorted to defaming me as an extortionist, discrediting me, and silencing my evidence. The harm inflicted upon me was not limited to financial losses; it extended to the erosion of my dignity and the trampling of my rights across various statutory offices and institutions.

The repercussions continued to unfold, and it seemed that my hospitalisation was conveniently positioned as a consequence of my attempts to access my former partner's superannuation. Exploiting the stigma surrounding mental illness, I was unjustly labeled as mentally ill, a calculated tactic employed to delegitimise my claims and further vilify me.

I refuse to allow their labels to define me or their tactics to silence me. I am far stronger than their attempts to diminish my voice. I stand tall, unwavering in my pursuit of justice and the restoration of my rights. Although they may have taken advantage of my vulnerability, they cannot extinguish the fire burning within me. I will reclaim my power and dismantle their false narratives. Their efforts to silence me will not prevail.

I reject any attempts to victim-blame or internalise their false portrayal of me as mentally ill. I am not defined by their distorted perceptions. My true essence lies in my resilience, determination, and unwavering commitment to truth. Together, we will expose injustices and reclaim our power. We refuse to be silenced. Our voices will persist and be heard.

Maintaining my sanity in the face of targeted victimisation has been crucial, yet my resilience in navigating through these challenging circumstances has never been commended.

I have arrived accidentally at the term 'Gang Stalking'. The tactics employed by those involved in gang-stalking can be insidious, making it difficult to directly perceive or prove their actions. However, I have diligently observed patterns and gathered compelling evidence that directly links this pervasive phenomenon to my public profile and targeted individual status. This evidence substantiates the extreme victimisation I have endured, which is political and systemic, leading to my suicide attempt. Surviving such an attempt speaks to my strength and determination.

I call upon others to join me in the fight against oppression, to stand up against corruption and the abuse of power. Together, we can create a society that values justice, compassion, and equality. We will break the chains of silence, expose the truth, and bring about meaningful change.

It is imperative to acknowledge the collective force of individuals and organisations involved in a vast conspiracy aimed at undermining justice, perpetuating my victimisation, and depriving me of my rights and equality. The comprehensive evidence I have gathered solidifies these claims, revealing the involvement of influential individuals who wield political privilege and substantial financial resources. These actors often hold positions of power without making significant contributions or displaying originality. Supported by government entities or external forces, they uphold a system of oppression that has led to my destitution, homelessness, and ongoing injustice.

It is deeply disheartening to realise that despite being aware of the imminent risk to my well-being, various agencies, individuals, hospitals, and organisations have failed to intervene and provide the necessary support. The abandonment and neglect I have faced from society at large is a grave injustice that cannot be overlooked. Institutions like Werribee Mercy, Salt Water Clinic, lawyers, the police, IBAC, the Ombudsman, the HCC, the MHCC, AHPRA, NHPOPC, SANE Australia, my publisher, news channels, ABC News, 3AW, RRR, PBS, Triple J, ABC Radio, The Age, The Herald Sun, The Australian, Crikey, The Independent, various key political reporters, academics, Victoria University, politicians, the Mental Health Tribunal, and many others have neglected their responsibilities. I have been blocked from emailing people like Bill Shorten and PID@fedcourt.gov.au, and I have been blocked from the Ombudsman's email. Additionally, the NDIS,

AFCA, APRA, IGIS, ASIO, ASIC, the AAT, ComCare, and WorkSafe have all failed to address my needs and provide the necessary support. This neglect is part of a phenomenon that perpetuates my victimisation and denies my prosperity and rights.

If this neglect continues, it may well become a violence of neglect ending in my death in which not a single person is accountable for the violence, but everyone has had a part in creating the political ecosystem for it to occur.

Throughout my journey, I have never faltered in my fight against the calculated harm inflicted upon me by influential individuals who operate from behind shields of proxies and intermediaries. My relentless struggle has been witnessed by the world, serving as a powerful reminder of the urgent need for accountability and justice.

As I continue to gather evidence through phone calls and emails, expose patterns, and advocate for my rights, I try to prioritise self-care and seek support from trusted individuals or organisations, though they are few in number. Preserving my mental and emotional well-being is essential throughout this challenging journey. My voice deserves to be heard, and my experiences should not be dismissed, ignored, or pathologised as 'ingrained delusions of persecution.' I stay strong, determined, and continue to seek the justice and resolution I rightfully deserve.

What I need more than anything is a platform where I can document and validate my narrative. Once my story is acknowledged, I can begin the process of rebuilding my life and expressing gratitude to those who have played a pivotal role in exposing the injustices I have endured, as few as they may be. It is absolutely crucial that my story is heard, as it will bring the necessary accountability for those responsible for my suffering. Ultimately, my goal is to live a simple life, surrounded by my loyal dog and beloved companions, free from the chains of oppression, having been compensated for my detriments and working in the community again.

In stark contrast to my current life of neglect, I have achieved remarkable milestones, including the attainment of a Doctorate and the international recognition of my creativity and advocacy through global tours and exhibitions. I take immense pride in these accomplishments, as they stand as testaments to my independent efforts and unwavering resilience. With the submission of this email and document, I hold firm in the belief that justice is steadily approaching.

Throughout my ordeal, many individuals and institutions have either remained silent or actively contributed to my victimisation. But I am grateful for those who have offered support, believed in my truth, and refused to be swayed by the orchestrated campaign against me. Their unwavering belief in my integrity and determination has been a source of strength during the darkest moments.

To those who continue to target and oppress me, I issue a resounding message: I will not be silenced, intimidated, or deterred. I will continue to shine a light on your actions and seek justice relentlessly. Your attempts to break my spirit will only fuel my resolve to expose the truth and fight for my rights and the rights of others who have been similarly marginalised and victimised.

In the face of adversity, I remain unyielding, embracing the pursuit of justice and truth. I call upon the world to hear my story, acknowledge the injustices I have endured, and work together to dismantle the systems of oppression that allow such abuse to persist. My journey may be challenging, but it is one that will define the very essence of justice and resilience.

I invite individuals, organisations, and the media to engage with my story, amplifying my voice and shedding light on the pervasive corruption, harassment, and oppression I have experienced. Together, we can challenge the structures that enable such injustices to occur and bring about real change. My journey is not just mine alone; it represents the struggle of countless others who have been silenced and dismissed. Let us unite in our fight for justice, solidarity, and equality.

The following entities, places, organisations, or statutory authorities have been involved in my claim of victimisation:

- Rosanna Di Grazia | Office Coordinator filch.org.au
- intake@valid.org.au 'Not able to take on all requests'
- Australian Centre for Disability Law has limited capacity and can only assist People located in New South Wales.
- www.disabilitylaw.org.au referred me on

- People with Disability Australia only support new south wales
- Millennium Medical Centre: Suppressed evidence.
- HCC (Health Complaints Commissioner): Suppressed evidence.
- MHCC (Mental Health Complaints Commissioner): Suppressed evidence.
- The police: Suppressed evidence.
- IBAC (Independent Broad-based Anti-corruption Commission): Suppressed evidence, rejected Public Interest Disclosure (PID).
- The Victorian Inspectorate: Suppressed evidence.
- AHPRA (Australian Health Practitioner Regulation Agency): Suppressed evidence.
- NHPOPC (National Health Practitioner Ombudsman and Privacy Commissioner): Suppressed evidence.
- The Ombudsman: Suppressed evidence, rejected PID.
- All four major lawyers refused to help in any issue.
- John Boyle M: Extorted $50,000 from me, providing no services.
- The Herald Sun: Fired me and publicly vilified me.
- The Age (Fairfax): Fired me, engaging in discrimination.
- The Cunningham Dax Collection: Exploited me.
- SANE Australia: Exploited me.
- Allen and Unwin: Exploited me.
- Werribee Mercy Hospital, Dean Stevenson (shrink): Engaged in oppression, suppressed evidence of suicide injury.
- Salt Water Clinic, Kade Mollison: Suppressed evidence of suicide injury, engaged in oppression and victimisation.
- Centrelink: Denied my pension.
- Institutional Child Sexual Abuse Redress Scheme: Delayed, deferred, and denied my claim despite evidence.
- Legal Aid: Did not provide assistance in securing a lawyer.
- Law Institute of Victoria: No response or assistance.
- VillaManta: Did not respond to my plea.
- Mental Health Legal Centre: Ignored my emails.
- VMIAC (Victorian Mental Illness Awareness Council): Ignored me.
- Dandenong JSC (Justice Service Centre): Refused to respond to my plea.
- 28.04.2022.info@conciliation.vic.gov.au: Acted to reject me.
- OPA (Office of the Public Advocate) advice: Rejected help with Power of Attorney.
- information.eastmetro@ecodev.vic.gov.au: Ignored my plea for business mentoring.
- Bendigo Bank: Canceled my $20,000 complaint.
- VOCAT (Victims of Crime Assistance Tribunal), Geelong Magistrate: Canceled my sexual abuse claim.
- HCF (Healthcare Fund) - Sheena Jack: Rejected my application for income assistance.
- ACCC (Australian Competition and Consumer Commission): Neglected settlement.
- Health Super / AIA: Gaslit me and canceled my insurance.
- AFCA (Australian Financial Complaints Authority), Tim Gos: Prolonged the justice process and banned me from communication.
- AHRC (Australian Human Rights Commission), Liz Lindsberg: Issued a ruling that was not impartial and awarded $1.5 million.
- ASIC (Australian Securities and Investments Commission): Refused to investigate exploitation.
- APRA (Australian Prudential Regulation Authority): Rejected PID and FOI requests.
- Steve Iasonidis: Exploited me, made threats, refused settlement, and engaged in family violence.
- ASIO (Australian Security Intelligence Organisation): Upheld Iasonidis' exploitation.
- AGIS (Australian Government Intelligence and Security): Refused to investigate Iasonidis at ASIO.
- The Victorian Legal Bar: No response to my issues.
- Deborah Glass, Ombudsman: No response to my pleas for help.
- Ben Calder, Ombudsman: Covered up brain injury, suicide, and oppression.
- The Attorney General's Office: Rejected PID.
- Mark Dreyfus, Attorney General: Refuses to acknowledge or intervene on my behalf.
- The NDIS (National Disability Insurance Scheme): Locked up funds and terminated my contract.
- The NDIS Quality and Safeguards Commission: Fired me and canceled my contract.
- Bill Shorten, NDIS Minister: No response to my pleas for help.
- Micron 21: Destroyed my business and website.
- The Small Business and Family Enterprise Ombudsman: Silenced the destruction of my website.
- business.gov: Silenced the destruction of my website.
- The Telecommunications Industry Ombudsman: Silenced the destruction of my website.
- Footscray Police: Assaulted me, suppressed my suicide attempt, bullied me out of my home, and forced me out of town.
- Mental Health Tribunal: Medicated me for alleged delusions of persecution.
- IBAC: Refused whistleblower status.
- Police FOI: Refused my Freedom of Information request.

- The Ombudsman: Rejected all my issues and refused to communicate.
- The Federal Court of Australia: Refused PID.
- WorkSafe: Banned me from contacting them.
- Danny Pearson, WorkCover Minister: Failed to take action despite legislation.
- ComCare: Corrupted, rejected my WorkCover claim.
- Paul Fowler: Rejected my WorkCover claim, former boss at WorkSafe where I am banned.
- The Fair Work Commission: No progress on my complaint.
- Unions: Did not adequately represent me.
- The AAT (Administrative Appeals Tribunal): Delaying the decision on my WorkCover claim.
- Kate Watson: Government lawyer acting outside the Charter of Human Rights for persons with disabilities and violating ethical standards.
- The Australian Federal Police: Did not investigate my claims.
- The Office of the Prime Minister and Cabinet: Refused my FOI request.
- Attorney General Michaelia Cash: Rejected my request for investigation into corruption at AHRC and AFCA, possibly AAT, and directed me to SANE's helpline.
- The Ombudsman: Rejects all my issues and refuses to communicate.
- Attorney General Mark Dreyfus: Refused to intervene or acknowledge me.
- Office of the Prime Minister and Cabinet: Refused my FOI request.
- Anthony Albanese, Prime Minister: Rejected my plea for help.

I find myself surrounded by individuals, organisations, and government bodies who consistently fail to address my concerns. They exhibit a conscious and deliberate neglect, ignoring my issues and perpetuating injustices. Even individuals with bad reputations or criminal backgrounds, unlike me, receive legal representation and basic necessities such as housing. These entities either remain silent or actively work against me, compounding the injustices I have faced. This demonstrates a clear case of persecution and victimisation, which is illegal. My personal life has become public, contributing to the conditions of exploitation. As a result, I believe it is crucial to consider the personal decisions of individuals when shaping my public narrative.

Upon careful examination of the evidence presented on this page, it becomes undeniable that there is an ongoing deliberate conspiracy to obstruct justice, with me as the targeted victim. The evidence reveals a consistent pattern of isolation, shaming, physical harm, and financial deprivation that cannot be interpreted in any other way. This weight of evidence strongly supports the conclusion that I am a targeted individual, and it necessitates an investigation into the human rights abuses I have endured.

I am deeply entangled in a conspiracy aimed at distorting the course of justice, despite dedicating decades of my life to assisting and advocating for others. It saddens me to recount the countless injustices I have faced: being singled out, vilified, victimised, exploited, discriminated against, wrongfully terminated, subjected to violent assaults and physical beatings, denied my rights and equality under the law, given limited access to legal resources, deprived of freedom, and losing my home, possessions, and reputation. I have experienced the indignity of imprisonment, the humiliation of being restrained in a police vehicle, solitary confinement, coerced administration of medication, contemptuous treatment, harsh judgment, and widespread disregard for my well-being. Society has used me as a convenient punching bag and scapegoat, despite my extensive qualifications and experience.

Experiencing the loss of material possessions and social connections can be more than just a brush with death; it can lead to a profound transformation of one's identity. In Eastern cultures, this transformative experience is often seen as a blessing, offering the opportunity for a fresh start without the constant pressure to conform to societal expectations. The feeling of being forsaken extends beyond personal relationships to include the organisations and agencies I once trusted. However, once a certain level of basic well-being and dignity is restored, the only way forward is to embrace life and find joy in the simplicity of spending time with animals and immersing oneself in the beauty of nature. Cultivating forgiveness becomes essential to prevent bitterness from taking root. Despite the challenges I have faced, I still hold a deep love for humanity and our planet.

Moving forward requires charting a path towards prosperity and personal fulfilment. It is crucial that I pursue the collection of any outstanding payments owed to me for the harm I have suffered. This will provide a measure of comfort and stability. Simultaneously, I can focus on rebuilding my business, taking proactive steps to revive it without relying solely on the expectation of immediate justice. By actively working towards my goals and embracing the entrepreneurial spirit, I can regain a sense of agency and control over my financial and professional endeavours. While remaining hopeful for a just resolution, my determination to forge ahead and not be solely dependent on external factors will increase my chances of success. I must remember that even if justice is delayed, my efforts in reestablishing my business can still yield positive outcomes.

Lastly, I firmly believe that denying a person with a disability equality before the law and access to necessary resources is a violation of human rights, and unfortunately, I am currently experiencing such denial. I am committed to presenting evidence that substantiates my claims of victimisation and gang stalking, and I believe that I have provided such evidence on this page.

The Australian Human Rights Commission should urgently investigate this crime and my victimisation as it infringes on numerous items listed in the Universal Declaration of Human Rights, of which Australia is a signatory, particularly:

- Article 3: the right to life, liberty, and personal security.
- Article 5: freedom from torture and degrading treatment.
- Article 12: freedom from interference with privacy, family, home, and correspondence.
- Article 24: the right to rest and leisure.

Supporting my use of the term "gang stalking," I have even recorded government officials surveilling my old home in Footscray. I have encountered spies and other persons of interest high up in the government, which cannot be rationally assumed to be a chance meeting.

As of today, June 30, 2023, I am a free individual with a clean criminal record. I accepted a Disability Support Pension whilst I had a partner Steve Iasonidis I was engaged to for five years. While I acknowledge my engagement in Centrelink fraud between 2010 and 2015, it is crucial to provide further context surrounding my actions. During that time, I reluctantly accepted my disability pension due to manipulation from my partner and experiencing family violence. It is important to note that my partner cannot report me for Centrelink fraud because he was the one who demanded my involvement, and his own complicity would be exposed if he did so.

Additionally, there is evidence that ASIO and the Department of Social Services (DSS) were aware of my partner's earnings and our circumstances. I had informed Centrelink of this, and I declared our relationship in 2014. However, Steve demanded we "break up" because he claimed he couldn't afford to support me. I have reported this matter to the Commonwealth Ombudsman, but no investigation has taken place, further indicating the government's systemic compliance in my vilification while accepting a meagre pension despite working hard on a Masters Degree. This demonstrates a clear double standard.

In July 2023 I self reported my own fraud to Centrelink and DSS. If they punish me without acknowledging my former partner, his finances and family violence this will be unfair unbalanced and constitute corruption. Centrelink already know we were together, as did ASIO and AGIS and the Police.

In conclusion, my purpose in sharing this page and these experiences is to shed light on the systemic injustices and pervasive corruption within our society. I particularly urge the new national Anti-Corruption Commission to investigate all these claims and acknowledge my story, becoming agents of change on the right side of justice and history. It is essential to recognise that this is not a fair situation and that public officials should act ethically within the human rights charter. I refuse to be silenced or reduced to a mere victim. I am at risk of starvation and suicide and homelessness as the Government delay any justice for me.

The injustices outlined in the statement include the Prime Minister's office refusing to comply with a Freedom of Information request, the lack of intervention from law enforcement and various government agencies in a situation where a government official mistreated their partner and the deficit of a necessary legal settlement left them homeless, the potential biases or conflicts of interest within these institutions, and the failure to hold public officials accountable for their actions. These injustices undermine transparency, fairness, and public trust in those in positions of power and authority, calling for a thorough review and reevaluation of mechanisms to ensure accountability and uphold the integrity of the justice system.

I am committed to seeking justice, reclaiming my dignity, having my achievements acknowledged, and striving for a brighter future. It is evident that I have been victimised as a misunderstood individual who has been gang stalked, and there is a clear conspiracy to pervert the course of justice. The same oppression that nearly took my life continues to pose a risk based on my history, with each individual neglecting me acting as an allegorical aid to my potential demise. It is neither brave nor courageous for them to continue to invalidate my experiences, and I can confidently say that the only courageous one among all these public servants and key political stakeholders implicated in this is me.

