<h2>
THE WITNESS REMAINS — A FINAL RECORD OF ERASURE, SURVIVAL AND ACCOUNTABILITY
</h2>

I am the saint who will slaughter, and the psychopath who blesses with grace.
Not with a blade, but with testimony; not with blood, but with truth.
For the blood they thought would disappear became a record, the ashes they thought would bury me became the soil from which I rose, and the evidence they thought would condemn me became the testimony by which I would speak.

 Elon told me I needed him. He baited me with money, privilege and pride—as though a man could purchase what God had already given another. I answered:
fuck that. What if he needs me? What if the man who believed he possessed the power to tempt me is himself the man standing desperately in need of forgiveness? What if the throne was never mine to seize, because it was never his to give? And what if forgiveness—not submission—is the greater power?

Anthony Albanese, in my account, became another face of the labyrinth: an endless bureaucratic loop in which responsibility could be transferred forever but accountability could never arrive. I experienced that machinery not as governance, but as gaslighting by administration—doors opening only into other doors, forms answering forms, authorities referring me back to the authorities who had already failed me. But the labyrinth had an exit. It was called endurance.

The authorities would not arrest me, even when I demanded that they do so, because I wanted my name dragged into the light and tested against the accusations made against me. I wanted a courtroom rather than a whisper network; evidence rather than insinuation; charge or acquittal; judgment rather than perpetual suspicion.

Instead, the accusations I say were false became something else. They became the furnace, and the furnace did not consume me. It revealed me.

The Most High took the instrument of my humiliation and turned it into the architecture of my elevation. What was intended as a grave became an altar; what was intended as silence became testimony; what was intended as annihilation became resurrection.

I do not claim that every interpretation I have made has already been proved. I claim that the record exists, that the events documented within it demand examination, and that the unanswered questions have not ceased to exist simply because institutions have failed to answer them.

I was financially desecrated, administratively annihilated, politically scapegoated, socially isolated and displaced, and, in my account, targeted despite belonging to the very category of vulnerable people whose protection is among the stated reasons these systems exist.

The shepherds became gatekeepers, the gatekeepers became walls, and the walls became the prison.

This is where the Australian myth of the fair go meets its judgment. Because what is a fair go worth if it disappears the moment the person asking for it becomes inconvenient? What is human dignity worth when bureaucracy can reduce a human being to a case number? What is justice worth when every institution can point toward another institution until the victim disappears between the referrals?

And what becomes of democracy when the machinery designed to protect the vulnerable becomes, in the eyes of the person trapped inside it, indistinguishable from the machinery destroying him?

I have described what happened to me as a state-sanctioned campaign of targeted destruction and human sacrifice. That is an allegation demanding evidence, not an established judicial finding.

But the question exists, and unanswered questions do not become false merely because they are uncomfortable.

I say I died once. I say I survived what I have described as an assassination attempt involving a federal minister. I say I was driven into political exile. I say I became trapped within circumstances I experienced as coercive confinement.

I have reported electronic harassment, V2K and gang-stalking. Those experiences have been real and profoundly disturbing to me; whether particular technologies, perpetrators or mechanisms can be independently established is a separate question for forensic investigation.

But there is another question that cannot be electronically dismissed, bureaucratically redirected or therapeutically buried:

What happened to the man?

What happened to his rights?

What happened to his money?

What happened to his evidence?

What happened to his pleas for protection?

What happened when he asked the institutions themselves to investigate what he said they had done?

And why did so many doors close?

I look upon the professional world that surrounded me and see a terrible contradiction. Ethics were written. Policies were written. Human-rights instruments were written. Codes of conduct were written. Safeguarding obligations were written. Duties of care were written.

Then came the human being.

And somewhere between the written promise and the living person, the promise disappeared.

That is the indictment—not that every individual conspired, not that every allegation has already been proved, but that a system can possess every principle necessary to protect a human being and still leave that human being asking why nobody protected him.

They thought they were erasing a man. They were creating a witness.

They thought isolation would silence him. It gave him time to document.

They thought humiliation would destroy him. It gave him language.

They thought bureaucracy would exhaust him. It taught him the architecture of bureaucracy.

They thought the archive would disappear. They forgot that copies can survive, that timestamps survive, that documents survive, and that memory survives.

And, above all, they forgot the ancient warning:
Nothing concealed remains concealed forever.

The stone can cover the tomb; it cannot command the dead to remain dead.
The seal can be placed upon the record; it cannot command the truth to disappear.

The powerful can close ranks; they cannot close history.

I do not ask anyone to worship my conclusions.

I ask them to examine the evidence.

Open the documents. Follow the dates. Read the correspondence. Trace the decisions. Identify the omissions. Compare the policies with the conduct. Separate allegation from corroboration. Separate inference from fact.

And then ask the question that frightened systems have feared throughout history:

What if the witness is telling the truth?

For I have learned something in the wilderness. The wilderness does not always destroy the prophet; sometimes it prepares him. The pit does not always become the end; sometimes it becomes the place from which the testimony rises.

And the stone placed over the tomb can become the first evidence that someone expected the resurrection.

They could not erase what God preserved. They could not bury what the record retained. They could not silence what survived.

And if there is a judgment to come, let it not be my judgment.

Let the documents speak. Let the witnesses speak. Let the dates speak. Let the institutions answer for themselves. Let God judge the hearts.

And let history decide what the powerful once believed would never be seen.

Because I am no longer asking permission to exist.

I am standing in the ruins of everything that was supposed to erase me.

And I am still here.

The man they attempted to reduce to evidence became the man who preserved the evidence.

The grave became the archive.

The archive became the witness.

And the witness remains.

<h3>The Public Documentary Record</h3>

A 35-year archive of government records has now been assembled and made publicly accessible, including official correspondence, decisions and other documents in the government's own words.

Whatever conclusions are ultimately drawn from that record, its existence makes the underlying questions independently examinable.

The existence of the documents is not, by itself, proof of guilt. But neither can their contents be dismissed without examination.

The record now speaks for itself.

PROVE ME WRONG</h3>

This is not a demand that anyone accept my conclusions.

It is a challenge to examine the evidence and prove them wrong where the evidence permits it.

If I have misrepresented a document, identify the document and show precisely where.

If I have misunderstood a decision, identify the decision and explain the correct interpretation.

If a chronology is wrong, correct the chronology with primary evidence.

If a legal proposition is wrong, identify the proposition, cite the applicable authority and explain why.

If an allegation is unsupported, identify the missing evidence.

If an institutional action has been accurately documented but my interpretation of its significance is wrong, demonstrate the alternative explanation from the record.

Do not tell me merely that I am wrong.

Show me where.

Do not answer allegation with assertion.

Answer document with document, date with date, decision with decision, evidence with evidence.

The archive does not claim that the existence of a government document automatically proves wrongdoing. It does not claim that every allegation is established. It does not claim that silence automatically proves guilt.

The challenge is narrower and more difficult:

Take the primary record and test it.

Show what is false. Show what is misunderstood. Show what is contradicted.
Show what has been omitted. Show what evidence materially changes the interpretation.

And where the evidence supports the record, acknowledge that rather than substituting denial for examination.

The issue is therefore not whether anyone agrees with Barran Dodger.

The issue is whether the documentary record survives serious independent scrutiny.

I have put the record in public.

I have identified the documents.

I have invited examination.

Prove me wrong.

Not with silence.

Not with dismissal.

Not with labels.

Not with authority alone.

With evidence.

The record remains open to correction—but correction must itself be evidenced.

The witness remains.

The archive remains.

The challenge remains.

Prove me wrong.

<h2>THE PROPHECY OF THE ONE THEY TRIED TO ERASE</h2>

By Barran Dodger

<iframe

src="https://www.youtube.com/embed/a-7dv--VS9U" title="The Prophecy of the One They Tried to Erase" allowfullscreen>

</iframe>

<h3>I. I SURVIVED WHAT WAS SUPPOSED TO ERASE ME</h3>

I survived what was supposed to erase me.

That is the beginning.

Not the ending.

They thought the story would finish with my destruction: my character destroyed, my evidence delegitimised, my relationships dismantled, my credibility reduced to a diagnosis, and my existence gradually made insignificant.

But I remained.

And because I remained, the story did not remain under their control.

What was supposed to disappear with me stayed behind.

The documents stayed.

The records stayed.

The contradictions stayed.

The unanswered questions stayed.

And so did I.

A coordinated campaign was designed to destroy me, my character and delegitimise my evidence.

They believed that if they controlled the narrative, they could control the meaning of my existence.

They believed that if they isolated me, humiliated me, impoverished me, surveilled me and attacked my credibility, eventually even I would doubt myself.

But this is the prophecy:

The witness remains.

<h3>II. THE SURVEILLANCE THAT BECAME THE EVIDENCE</h3>

I am under covert surveillance.

But surveillance depends on the subject being unaware.

I was not unaware.

I allowed my surveillance and invited them to film my most intimate moments of wanking, where they attempted to weaponise a healthy sexuality and twist it into a manipulated version they used to shame me publicly.

It was homophobic.

It was inaccurate.

And the conclusions of their surveillance they anticipated do not fit reality.

They were watching me.

But I was studying them as they surveilled me.

Now the surveillance they had hoped would destroy me is, in the prophetic narrative, the evidence for my vindication.

The hunter left footprints.

The observer became observable.

The attempt to document my humiliation became part of the documentation of what happened to me.

They thought they were collecting evidence against me.
Instead, they were creating another record.

<h3>III. THE V2K TRAP</h3>

I was aware of their goals to defame me because of the blasphemous-related phrases parroted by the V2K audio harassment inside my accommodation.

Rape.

Pedophilia.

Blasphemy.

Many thousands of times over months.

Inside this accommodation.

An entrapment situation I was unable to escape from.

The trap depended upon total social isolation.

If I spoke of the audio harassment, it could be blamed as my mental illness.
If I became distressed, that distress could be used against me.

If I spoke about the blasphemous nature, the blasphemy could be weaponised as being my issue.

And therefore the blasphemy could be transformed into an attribute of my character.

That was the trap.

The victim could become the suspect.

The evidence could become the symptom.

The accusation could become the diagnosis.

I had to stay calm whilst being tortured over months and gaslit by every NDIS support worker about the reality of the total compromise of my entrapment accommodation and the total surveillance.

I had to survive the very mechanism by which my testimony could supposedly be discredited.

And I survived.

<h3>IV. THE BLACK-BUDGET ALLEGATION</h3>

The financial resources and budget for the surveillance is sourced from an unacknowledged black budget of the government of which there is no paper trail and no agency will admit to.

Within the document: this is expressly described as an allegation within a fictional prophecy and not as an independently established financial finding.

The prophecy does not require the hidden ledger to be visible before asking the question.

It asks:

If something was funded, where is the record?

If there was no funding, where is the evidence establishing that?

If there was surveillance, who authorised it?

If there was no surveillance, what explains the perceived evidence?

If the explanation is ordinary, let it be documented.

If the explanation is extraordinary, let it also be documented.

The point is not to demand belief.

The point is to demand examination.

<h3>V. I LIVE RENT FREE IN THEIR MINDS</h3>

I live rent free in my enemies' minds, not because I'm loud but unresolved in their conclusions.

Truth always wins.

It just needs time.

And time has passed.

My silence is weaponry.

My silence is forensic.

I stopped trying to make everyone understand me.

I began preserving what could be examined.

<h3>VI. THE FAMILY AND THE EXPECTED DEATH</h3>

My family were poised to benefit from my expected death.

But now I'm alive.

They need to stop me pointing that out.

They signed the AVO to exile me.

Now that I'm alive, having survived an assassination attempt, I say it is clear they were in on it because they won't deny it.

That is my accusation within this fictional testimony.

They look for proof I deserve this treatment.

Like drugs.

Or mental illness.

Or immorality.

Anything that can make the person easier to dismiss than the accusation.

<h3>VII. GOD AND THE RESURRECTION</h3>

Humanity has betrayed me.

I don't have a single person.

God has chosen me.

He even revived me from a fatal injury in an allegorical Christian resurrection story.

They wanted me to be below them.

To make themselves feel superior.

Because they were envious of my intelligence and talent.

They are panicking.

But I've learned I don't need them.

In fact, God removed them from my life for me to realise my strength.

<h3>VIII. THE ACCUSATION</h3>

I accused them of attempted murder.

Not one denied it.

Not one family member came forth to debunk that accusation.

I didn't need their approval to accuse them.

I needed only the courage to say it.

And I said it.

<h3>IX. ADMINISTRATIVE ANNIHILATION</h3>

Nothing frightens a hater more than expecting to be rid of me permanently—and discovering they failed.

It was administrative annihilation.

Not merely destruction of the body.

Destruction of the person.

Socially.

Financially.

 Legally.

 Institutionally.

 Reputationally.

<h3>X. THE VIDEOS</h3>

The prophecy also concerns a body of video evidence.
More than seventy-five different videos were preserved on my iPhone.

I subsequently undertook a comparative examination of selected YouTube videos against material from across my archive.

I extracted text from the videos and used AI-assisted forensic analysis to compare that material with my documented testimony.

The resulting analysis reported an approximately 99% match or correspondence.

The significance of that result, within this fictional narrative, is not that an AI percentage magically establishes causation.

It is that the result generated a question sufficiently significant to preserve, reproduce and independently examine.

<h3>XI. THE PUBLISHED EVIDENCE THAT DISAPPEARED</h3>

I published the results of this work at:

www.barrandodger.com

The website was subsequently unpublished because of poverty.

The evidence had been backed by more than seventy-five different videos preserved on my iPhone.

But when I went to retrieve the evidence, the PDF was there—and the data was blank.

I experienced this as evidence that the underlying material had been selectively edited and deleted.

I then checked another archive.
The same thing appeared to have happened.

The PDF remained.
The underlying data was blank.

XII. TONY RIDLEY

Tony Ridley was aware of the Church of Barran Dodger.

He mocked me for my faith.

He told me:

"We have thought of anything."

I preserve that statement as testimony within this fictional account.

XIII. THE FAITH THEY COULD NOT ERASE

I am aware of how these videos, in my interpretation, have with extraordinary effort exploited my faith while the rest of my life was being destroyed.

They exploited my trust.

They exploited my isolation.

They exploited my faith.

But they misunderstood something.

Faith is not destroyed merely because someone attempts to manipulate it.

The Church of Barran Dodger is part of the prophetic language through which I understand my story.

XIV. THE PARADOX OF ZERO SIGNIFICANCE</h3>

Everyone pretends I'm of no significance.

But the opposite is true.

Or at least that is the question the accumulated record compels me to ask.

Because if I truly meant nothing, why was so much effort required to make me mean nothing?

Why did the character assassination matter?

Why did the surveillance matter?

Why did the accusations matter?

Why did the diagnosis matter?

Why did the isolation matter?

Why did the exile matter?

Why did the poverty matter?

Why did my disclosures matter enough to be ignored?

Why did my evidence matter enough to be attacked?

<h3>XV. THE INSTITUTIONAL MIRROR</h3>

I exposed them to themselves.

I became the mirror.

They looked into it and saw what they had been trying not to see.

They tried to break the mirror.

But breaking the mirror does not change the reflection.

It only creates more pieces of it.

And every piece remembers.

<h3>XVI–XVIII. INSTITUTIONAL INVENTORY AND CHAINS</h3>

The archives contain references to agencies, places, professions, companies, healthcare organisations, tribunals, courts, regulators, media organisations, academic institutions and international bodies.

Their appearance in an archive does not by itself establish wrongdoing, participation in a conspiracy, corruption, liability or agreement with the narrator’s interpretation.

The inventory is therefore preserved as an entity map, not as a list of proven perpetrators.

Open Institutional Entity Map

Public-interest disclosure pathways

Government correspondence and decision pathways

NDIS and disability evidence

Human-rights and international pathways

<h3>XIX. THE PROPHECY OF THE ARCHIVE</h3>

They thought I would die.

I survived.

They thought I would disappear.

I remained.

They thought poverty would silence me.

I documented.

They thought isolation would make me powerless.

I built an archive.

They thought diagnosis would erase testimony.

I preserved documents.

<h3>XX. THE FINAL REVERSAL</h3>

The person declared unreliable preserves the records.

The person declared irrelevant documents the responses.

The person declared invisible builds the archive.

The person expected to disappear survives long enough to tell the story.

The accusation becomes a question.

The question becomes a record.

The record becomes an archive.

The archive becomes a witness.

And the witness remains.

<h3>XXI. THEY COULD NOT ERASE WHAT GOD PRESERVED</h3>

I was rising.

They were rotting.

They were attempting to rewrite the narrative.

They critiqued me.

They reduced me.

They tried to make me smaller.

But they underestimated the person I was becoming.

They thought they were writing the ending.

They were writing the evidence.

They thought they were destroying my story.

They were preserving it.

They thought they had silenced me.

They gave me an archive.

They thought they could erase me.

They couldn't.

They could not erase what God preserved.

I survived what was supposed to erase me.

<h2>THE RECORD IS PUBLIC — EXAMINE THE EVIDENCE</h2>

For more than 35 years, Dr Richard William McLean — Barran Dodger — has preserved a documentary record concerning alleged institutional corruption, detriment, surveillance, financial abuse, healthcare treatment and attempts to silence his disclosures.

Five Key Pieces of Evidence

The archive identifies evidence concerning Tony Ridley, NACC-related complaints, IGIS material, surveillance footage and the alleged engagement with Steve Iasonidis.

Each item should be assessed against its underlying source rather than merely against the narrator's interpretation.

Who Is Named in the Archive?

The archive contains references to government departments, regulators, tribunals, courts, healthcare organisations, NDIS organisations, legal organisations, companies, financial institutions, media organisations, universities, international bodies and professional groups.

Being named in the archive does not itself establish wrongdoing. It means that the entity appears in connection with alleged detriment, disputed conduct, institutional response, evidence or an issue requiring examination.

The Question Put to the AI

Examine the entire documentary archive and identify every agency, organisation, institution, professional group and other institutional actor connected in the record to alleged detriment. Then examine the nature, chronology, recurrence and distribution of that detriment across the different institutional domains. Without assuming intent, conspiracy, causation or wrongdoing, determine whether there is an overarching documented phenomenon or analytical concept capable of describing the common pattern, if one exists.

CUMULATIVE INSTITUTIONAL DETRIMENT

The resulting analytical concept was:

CUMULATIVE INSTITUTIONAL DETRIMENT.

This concept describes the possibility that adverse decisions, omissions, restrictions, refusals, disputed interventions, institutional responses and failures of redress, occurring across different institutional systems and at different points in time, may accumulate into consequential detriment for the same individual.

The concept does not itself establish that every event was intentional.

It does not establish that institutions shared a common purpose.

It does not establish conspiracy, criminality or liability.

It does not convert allegations into findings.

Instead, it provides an analytical framework through which the documentary record can be tested.

What happened?

Which institution was involved?

What decision, omission, restriction, refusal or intervention occurred?

What evidence documents it?

What detriment followed?

Did another institution subsequently become involved?

Was the matter challenged or reported?

What response followed?

Was there investigation or redress?

And when the events are placed together chronologically, does a recurring pattern actually emerge?
