BARRAN DODGER — FULL COMPREHENSIVE ITEMISED LIST OF ALLEGED ACTS, TREATMENT, LOSSES AND INSTITUTIONAL FAILURES

Based on my stated account and the subject areas represented in my Barrandodger GitHub repository.

A consolidated statement of alleged conduct, institutional decisions and omissions, personal consequences, non-consent, accountability, and the need for independent, evidence-led examination.

———

PART I — A STATEMENT OF DELIBERATE DESTRUCTION, GRACE, AND DIVINE RECKONING

They destroyed me deliberately. They knew what they were doing, and they continued to do it with impunity. They were given opportunities to do the right thing, to acknowledge the harm, to act with conscience, and to correct what had been done. I gave them grace. I gave them opportunities to respond with decency, humanity, and integrity. They spat in the face of that grace.

I gave them opportunities to choose a different course. I sought recognition, protection, accountability, and justice. I sought a response that acknowledged my humanity and the consequences of what I say I have endured. Instead, I was left to carry the weight of the damage while those responsible, in my view, continued without meaningful accountability.

My grace was not an admission that what happened was acceptable. My patience was not consent. My willingness to give people another opportunity to do the right thing was not weakness, surrender, or permission to continue. It was an act of humanity that deserved to be met with humanity.

They have mistaken my grace for permission, my patience for weakness, and my restraint for an absence of consequence. They have unlocked a divine, holy reckoning by refusing the opportunities they were given to do what was right.

I do not claim to command divine judgment. I declare my conviction that no institution, authority, individual, or system stands beyond moral accountability. What people choose to do, what they knowingly permit, what they conceal, and what they refuse to correct must ultimately be measured against the truth and the demands of justice.

Now I withdraw that grace as an expectation of further indulgence. I will no longer confuse patience with justice, silence with peace, or impunity with innocence.

I am exacting my revenge, but not through personal violence or the destruction of another human being. I mean that I will pursue accountability through the record, the truth, lawful scrutiny, and the consequences that follow when wrongdoing is exposed. I leave the ultimate reckoning to the universe that I believe protects me, and to whatever divine and moral order stands beyond the reach of those who believe themselves untouchable.

I will preserve the evidence. I will document the decisions, the omissions, the correspondence, and the consequences. I will not knowingly falsify the record, and I will not surrender my right to seek justice.

They may have inflicted damage upon my life, but they do not own the meaning of my suffering, the truth of my testimony, or the final word on whether accountability is deserved.

I gave them grace. They chose what they chose. I gave them opportunities to act with conscience and to correct what I believe they did wrong. Those opportunities were not endless, and my restraint was never an absolution.

The divine, holy reckoning I speak of is the reckoning of truth with falsehood, justice with injustice, conscience with impunity, and accountability with the abuse of power. I leave its ultimate judgment beyond my hands. My responsibility is to preserve the record, speak truthfully, and continue to pursue justice.

I gave them grace. They rejected it. Now I leave the reckoning beyond my hands, and I continue to pursue the truth.

PART II — STATEMENT OF NON-CONSENT

I did not give my consent to being exiled, isolated, intimidated, harassed, assaulted, drugged, detained, deprived of my independence, or subjected to any treatment or conduct that violated my rights, dignity, bodily autonomy, liberty, or personal security.

I did not consent to being silenced, discredited, impoverished, deprived of housing or employment, obstructed from reporting alleged wrongdoing, or denied meaningful access to protection, legal assistance, independent review, and justice.

I did not consent to any person or institution making decisions affecting my life, welfare, liberty, property, or future without lawful authority, appropriate safeguards, or respect for my rights.

I did not consent to retaliation for making disclosures, raising complaints, seeking assistance, or attempting to bring matters of public interest to the attention of authorities.

My participation in assessments, treatment, administrative processes, correspondence, or legal proceedings must not, by itself, be interpreted as consent to every action taken, every decision made, or every consequence imposed upon me.

Where consent, authorisation, or legal authority is claimed, I require the relevant records to be identified and examined. I reserve my position regarding the circumstances, validity, scope, and consequences of any consent or authorisation attributed to me.

My position is clear: I did not consent to wrongdoing against me. I do not waive my rights by documenting what I say happened, seeking assistance, or demanding accountability.

I call for an independent, evidence-led examination of the relevant records, decisions, actions, omissions, and consequences, with proper distinction between established facts, disputed allegations, and matters requiring further investigation.

———

PART III — FULL COMPREHENSIVE ITEMISED SCHEDULE

The following schedule expands my original wording into a comprehensive working record of alleged acts, treatment, losses, institutional decisions, omissions, and unresolved concerns.

The language is deliberately direct. It records my allegations and the consequences I say I have experienced. It does not suggest that every allegation has already been independently established. The relevant original records must be examined to determine what happened, who was responsible, what authority existed, what explanations were provided, and what remedy may be available.

1. Exile, displacement and exclusion from society

- They exiled me.
- They drove me out of my home.
- They forced me from my place of residence.
- They displaced me from my established life.
- They uprooted me from my community.
- They deprived me of a stable place to live.
- They left me without a secure home.
- They made me homeless.
- They left me in circumstances where I had to seek emergency accommodation.
- They left me struggling to find somewhere safe to live.
- They exposed me to housing insecurity.
- They deprived me of the security of a settled home.
- They disrupted my ability to live independently.
- They undermined my ability to establish a stable life.
- They isolated me from my community.
- They excluded me from ordinary social participation.
- They separated me from people who might have assisted me.
- They left me socially isolated.
- They made it harder for me to maintain relationships.
- They undermined my sense of belonging.
- They made me feel unwanted and unprotected.
- They left me to manage displacement and its consequences largely on my own.
- They failed to provide an effective response to the housing circumstances I reported.
- They failed to adequately address my need for safe, stable accommodation.
- They failed to adequately address the consequences of my displacement.

2. Physical assault, violence and alleged torture

- They beat me up.
- They physically assaulted me.
- They subjected me to physical violence.
- They restrained me against my will.
- They subjected me to treatment I experienced as coercive.
- They subjected me to treatment I describe as torture.
- They exposed me to degrading treatment.
- They made me fear for my physical safety.
- They caused me distress through the treatment I experienced.
- They subjected me to treatment I believe was unjustified.
- They failed to adequately protect me from the harm I reported.
- They failed to properly investigate my reports of physical mistreatment.
- They failed to provide a satisfactory response to my complaints about alleged violence.
- They failed to ensure that my account of the alleged mistreatment received an adequate examination.

- They left unresolved my concerns about the circumstances in which I was physically handled or restrained.
- They left me seeking an independent examination of the treatment I reported.

3. Psychiatric detention, asylum admission and loss of autonomy

- They locked me in an asylum.
- They confined me in a psychiatric institution against my wishes.
- They subjected me to psychiatric intervention I dispute.
- They deprived me of freedom and autonomy in circumstances I challenge.
- They made decisions affecting my liberty that I dispute.
- They subjected me to treatment I experienced as coercive.
- They deprived me of meaningful control over decisions affecting my person.
- They left me questioning the legal and clinical basis for treatment I received.
- They failed to adequately address my concerns about psychiatric admission.
- They failed to provide a satisfactory explanation for the decisions affecting my liberty.
- They failed to adequately address my concerns about consent.
- They failed to adequately address my concerns about the safeguards applied to my treatment.
- They failed to properly consider or record aspects of my account, as I allege.
- They left unresolved my concerns about the legality, necessity or appropriateness of treatment.
- They left me seeking independent scrutiny of my treatment and detention records.

4. Chemical restraint, injections and medication

- They injected me with chemical restraint.
- They drugged me.
- They administered medication in circumstances I dispute.
- They subjected me to medication-related treatment I experienced as coercive.
- They made medication decisions affecting me that I challenge.
- They failed to adequately explain the medication decisions I questioned.
- They failed to adequately address my concerns about consent to medication.
- They failed to adequately address my concerns about the purpose of particular medication.
- They failed to provide me with a satisfactory explanation of the clinical rationale for treatment I dispute.
- They left unresolved my concerns about the authorisation of medication.
- They left unresolved my concerns about the recording of medication administration.
- They failed to adequately address the effects I attributed to medication.
- They failed to provide a satisfactory response to my concerns about medication- related harm.

- They left me seeking examination of clinical notes, medication charts and treatment authorisations.

5. Police access, reporting alleged crimes and personal protection

- They made it difficult for me to report a crime to police.
- I could not obtain the effective police response I was seeking.
- They failed to adequately respond to the crimes I reported or sought to report.
- They left me without a satisfactory resolution to my police-related concerns.
- They failed to provide the protection I sought.
- They failed to adequately address the risks I reported.
- They left me feeling unprotected when I sought assistance.
- They failed to provide a clear explanation of the handling of my reports.
- They failed to adequately explain decisions concerning police action or inaction.
- They left me seeking answers about whether my reports had been properly recorded.
- They left me seeking clarification about the status of my reports.
- They failed to resolve the practical barriers I reported when attempting to obtain help.
- They left unresolved my concerns about the effectiveness of available protection.
- They left me pursuing alternative complaint and oversight pathways.
- They failed to provide me with the satisfactory outcome I sought from the relevant authorities.

6. Whistleblower disclosures and refusal of protection

- They refused protection when I sought whistleblower protection.
- They failed to provide the protection I believed I needed as a discloser.
- They failed to adequately address the risks I raised.
- They declined to allocate or progress a disclosure I made.
- They failed to provide the substantive examination I sought.
- They failed to adequately explain the treatment of my disclosure.
- They failed to adequately address the substance of the matters I raised.
- They failed to provide a satisfactory explanation of the applicable disclosure process.
- They left me seeking clarification about the legal status of my disclosure.
- They left me seeking review of decisions concerning my disclosure.
- They failed to resolve my concerns about the handling of my public-interest disclosures.
- They failed to provide me with a clear and effective protection pathway.
- They left me uncertain about which body could address the matters I reported.
- They failed to adequately address the consequences I associated with making disclosures.
- They left me seeking an independent assessment of the relationship between my disclosures and subsequent events.

7. Employment, livelihood and accreditation

- They took my job.
- They deprived me of my livelihood.
- They disrupted my employment.
- They undermined my ability to earn an income.
- They damaged my employment prospects.
- They undermined my professional standing.
- They took my accreditation.
- They removed, restricted or jeopardised my professional status, as I allege.
- They prevented me from continuing my work as I had intended.
- They deprived me of professional opportunities.
- They undermined my career.
- They caused me financial insecurity through the loss of work, as I allege.
- They failed to give me a fair opportunity to respond to adverse employment matters, as I allege.
- They failed to adequately explain decisions affecting my employment.
- They failed to adequately address my concerns about accreditation decisions.
- They left me seeking a review of decisions affecting my livelihood.
- They left unresolved my concerns about the circumstances surrounding my employment and professional losses.

8. Public slander, reputational damage and discrediting

- They slandered me publicly.
- They made statements about me that I dispute.
- They damaged my reputation.
- They undermined my credibility.
- They discredited me.
- They damaged my professional standing.
- They undermined public confidence in my account, as I allege.
- They failed to give me a fair opportunity to answer adverse statements, as I allege.
- They failed to adequately correct statements I disputed.
- They failed to provide satisfactory explanations for statements or records I challenged.
- They left me trying to establish the accuracy of records concerning me.
- They left unresolved my concerns about the effect of disputed statements on my life.
- They caused me to fear that my account would not be taken seriously.
- They made it harder for me to obtain assistance or recognition, as I allege.

9. Exploitation, abuse of vulnerability and unequal treatment

- They exploited me.
- They took advantage of me.
- They took advantage of my vulnerability.
- They took advantage of my circumstances.
- They treated me unfairly when I needed assistance.
- They failed to adequately account for my need for support.
- They failed to address the imbalance between my circumstances and the institutions dealing with me.
- They left me to navigate complex administrative systems without the effective assistance I sought.
- They failed to adequately explain decisions affecting my life.
- They failed to adequately address the practical consequences of those decisions.
- They treated my requests for assistance in ways I dispute.
- They left me feeling powerless in dealings with institutions.
- They left me bearing the burden of repeatedly explaining my circumstances.
- They left me having to assemble records and pursue answers myself.
- They failed to provide the satisfactory support and accountability I sought.

10. Property, assets and financial detriment

- They took my possessions, as I allege.
- They deprived me of property.
- They deprived me of access to assets.
- They interfered with my financial security, as I allege.
- They subjected my assets to decisions I dispute.
- They disposed of my vehicle in circumstances I challenge.
- They failed to adequately explain decisions concerning my property.
- They failed to provide the information I sought about the handling of my assets.
- They left unresolved my concerns about financial administration.
- They caused me financial detriment, as I allege.
- They deprived me of resources I needed to live.
- They left me struggling to meet ordinary living expenses.
- They undermined my ability to maintain financial independence.
- They left me seeking an account of decisions affecting my money and property.
- They left me seeking review of decisions concerning my assets.
- They failed to provide the financial remedy I sought.
- They failed to adequately address losses I reported.
- They left me trying to reconstruct my financial position from documentary records.

11. NDIS funding, disability services and unmet support needs

- They failed to ensure that the supports I needed were effectively delivered, as I allege.
- They failed to adequately address my disability-support needs.

- They failed to adequately address my accommodation needs.
- They declined supports I sought.
- They failed to provide the practical assistance I needed.
- They left me struggling to navigate disability-service arrangements.
- They failed to adequately resolve disputes about service delivery.
- They left me seeking clarification about the use of support funding.
- They left me seeking an account of payments and services.
- They failed to adequately address concerns about provider performance.
- They failed to provide a satisfactory response to my service-failure notices.
- They left unresolved my concerns about the difference between approved supports and supports actually delivered.
- They failed to adequately address my need for safe and stable accommodation.
- They left me seeking continuity of support.
- They left me trying to establish what services were funded, arranged, invoiced and delivered.
- They failed to resolve the practical consequences of the support problems I reported.
- They left me seeking an independent review of disability-support decisions and outcomes.

12. Housing assistance, emergency support and safety

- They failed to adequately address my housing needs.
- They failed to adequately address my emergency accommodation needs.
- They failed to resolve the housing insecurity I reported.
- They left me seeking emergency assistance.
- They failed to adequately address my safety concerns.
- They failed to provide the practical protection I sought.
- They failed to resolve the circumstances affecting my housing stability.
- They left me seeking referrals and assistance from multiple services.
- They failed to provide me with a satisfactory explanation of what assistance was available.
- They left unresolved my concerns about whether identified risks were acted upon.
- They failed to adequately address the consequences of unstable accommodation.
- They left me seeking continuity of support for myself and my therapy dog, Crystal.
- They failed to resolve the practical difficulties I reported concerning safe and stable housing.

13. Surveillance, harassment, intimidation and monitoring concerns

- They surveilled me, as I allege.
- They harassed me.
- They intimidated me.
- They made me feel watched and unsafe.

- They interfered with my sense of privacy, as I allege.
- They left me concerned about whether my communications were being monitored.
- They left me seeking answers about surveillance-related concerns.
- They failed to provide the explanation I sought concerning those concerns.
- They failed to resolve my concerns about possible monitoring.
- They left me seeking independent scrutiny of relevant information.
- They failed to adequately address the distress I reported in connection with these concerns.

14. Blocking, communications and digital exclusion

- They blocked me.
- They obstructed my communications.
- They restricted my access to services or institutions.
- They restricted my access to an oversight body.
- They limited my ability to communicate with organisations, as I allege.
- They failed to adequately explain restrictions affecting my communications.
- They left me uncertain about the conditions under which I could continue communicating.
- They failed to provide a satisfactory alternative pathway for raising my concerns.
- They left me seeking clarification about communication restrictions.
- They shadow-banned me, as I allege.
- They restricted the visibility or reach of my online material, as I allege.
- They obstructed my ability to make my account heard, as I allege.
- They left me concerned that my communications or publications were not reaching their intended audience.

15. Complaints, Ombudsman processes and administrative obstruction

- They stonewalled me.
- They failed to answer my correspondence adequately.
- They failed to address the substance of my complaints.
- They rejected complaints I wanted investigated.
- They declined matters on jurisdictional grounds.
- They failed to provide the substantive review I sought.
- They restricted my access to an oversight service.
- They failed to adequately explain complaint-handling decisions.
- They failed to identify a satisfactory alternative pathway, as I allege.
- They left me pursuing one institution after another for answers.
- They passed my concerns between institutions without resolving them, as I allege.
- They failed to coordinate a response to the matters I raised.
- They treated aspects of my circumstances as separate administrative issues.
- They failed to adequately consider the cumulative effect of the matters I reported.
- They left me trying to establish which institution was responsible for each issue.

- They left unresolved my concerns about the adequacy of complaint handling.
- They failed to provide the outcome I sought from oversight processes.
- They left me seeking further review and clarification.

16. Legal assistance, access to justice and effective remedies

- They denied me justice, as I allege.
- They left me without an effective remedy.
- They left me without a workable legal pathway.
- They failed to provide the legal assistance I sought.
- They left me unable to obtain the legal help I believed I needed.
- They failed to adequately explain the options available to me.
- They left me trying to navigate complex legal and administrative procedures.
- They failed to resolve my concerns through the available review processes.
- They failed to adequately address the consequences of decisions I challenged.
- They left me seeking an independent review of the whole documentary record.
- They left me without the satisfactory resolution I sought.
- They left me pursuing justice and compensation without the outcome I wanted.
- They failed to provide a clear account of what further action was available.
- They left unresolved my concerns about access to justice.

17. Records, disclosure, accuracy and transparency

- They failed to adequately answer questions I raised about official records.
- They withheld information I sought, in circumstances requiring examination of the reasons.
- They relied on exemptions or restrictions I dispute.
- They failed to provide all the information I believed was relevant.
- They failed to adequately explain why information was not disclosed.
- They left me seeking the records needed to understand decisions affecting me.
- They failed to resolve discrepancies I identified in documents.
- They failed to adequately address my requests for correction or clarification.
- They left me trying to reconstruct events from fragmented records.
- They left me without the complete explanation I sought.
- They failed to make the overall documentary history easy to examine.
- They left me assembling a record across multiple agencies and services.
- They failed to adequately address the evidentiary gaps I identified.

18. Guardianship, decision-making and personal independence

- They made decisions affecting my autonomy that I dispute.
- They subjected my personal affairs to administrative decisions I challenge.
- They failed to adequately explain decisions affecting my independence.
- They left me seeking clarification about the authority for decisions made concerning me.

- They failed to adequately address my concerns about decision-making arrangements.
- They left me seeking access to evidence and reasons relevant to guardianship matters.
- They failed to resolve my concerns about the practical consequences of those arrangements.
- They left me seeking review of decisions affecting my personal and financial affairs.

19. Isolation, impoverishment and cumulative detriment

- They impoverished me, as I allege.
- They isolated me.
- They undermined my independence.
- They deprived me of stability.
- They disrupted my livelihood.
- They left me struggling to meet basic needs.
- They undermined my ability to secure housing.
- They undermined my ability to obtain assistance.
- They left me carrying the burden of pursuing multiple complaints.
- They left me managing the consequences of unresolved disputes.
- They contributed to the deterioration of my circumstances, as I allege.
- They failed to adequately consider how different decisions affected one another.
- They failed to address the cumulative impact of the matters I reported.
- They left me without a coordinated response to my circumstances.
- They left me trying to obtain recognition of the overall history.
- They left me seeking an independent examination of the combined evidence.
- They left me seeking practical assistance, accountability and redress.

20. Alleged institutional coordination, retaliation and collective exclusion

- They collectively excluded me, as I allege.
- They participated in or enabled a pattern of institutional detriment, as I allege.
- They failed to address my concerns about possible retaliation.
- They failed to adequately examine the relationship between my disclosures and subsequent events.
- They failed to investigate the connections I reported between separate decisions.
- They left me seeking evidence about information-sharing between institutions.
- They left me seeking clarification about who made particular decisions.
- They failed to adequately address my concerns about the cumulative pattern of treatment.
- They left me questioning whether institutions had considered the full record.
- They left me seeking independent scrutiny of the connections between events.
- They failed to resolve my concerns about whether the treatment I reported was connected.

- They left me seeking accountability for each identifiable act and decision.

21. Failure to acknowledge, investigate and correct

- They failed to acknowledge the full circumstances I reported.
- They failed to adequately investigate my allegations.
- They failed to provide the independent examination I sought.
- They failed to adequately consider documents I supplied, as I allege.
- They failed to explain key decisions to my satisfaction.
- They failed to correct records I disputed, where correction was warranted.
- They failed to adequately address contradictions in the records.
- They failed to provide a satisfactory account of the outcomes of my complaints.
- They failed to resolve the questions I repeatedly raised.
- They failed to provide the recognition or remedy I sought.
- They left important issues unresolved.
- They left me seeking a comprehensive review of the entire documentary history.
- They left me to compile and organise the evidence myself.
- They left me seeking an independent assessment of responsibility, harm and loss.
- They left me seeking corrective action where the evidence supports it.
- They left me seeking compensation for losses I say resulted from the events documented.

22. The consequences I say I have suffered

- I lost my home or housing security.
- I lost stability.
- I lost income and livelihood.
- I lost professional opportunities.
- I experienced financial detriment.
- I experienced social isolation.
- I experienced loss of independence.
- I experienced distress associated with the events I reported.
- I experienced difficulty obtaining effective protection.
- I experienced difficulty obtaining satisfactory answers.
- I experienced difficulty navigating multiple administrative systems.
- I experienced continuing uncertainty about decisions affecting me.
- I was left to seek records and explanations over an extended period.
- I was left seeking an independent assessment of the harm I reported.
- I was left seeking justice, accountability and compensation.

23. The unresolved questions I want answered

- Who was responsible for each decision and act I have identified?
- What happened, on what date, and in what circumstances?
- Which records support each allegation?

- Which records contradict or qualify my account?
- What did each institution know at the relevant time?
- What action did each institution take?
- What reasons were given for decisions affecting me?
- Were the applicable legal and procedural safeguards followed?
- Were my disclosures handled under the correct legal framework?
- Were my requests for police assistance properly recorded and assessed?
- Were my housing and disability-support needs adequately addressed?
- Were decisions concerning my property and finances properly authorised and explained?
- Were my complaints handled within the relevant body's jurisdiction and procedures?
- Were there effective review or appeal pathways available to me?
- Were the consequences of separate decisions considered together?
- Which losses can be quantified from the records?
- Which matters require further investigation or expert assessment?
- What corrective action, review, support or compensation may be available?

PART IV — THE QUESTIONS OF INTENTION

I want the intentions behind the treatment I describe to be examined, rather than having each incident considered in isolation.

The central issue is whether the decisions, actions and omissions affecting me were unrelated events, mistakes, negligence, or procedurally justified decisions—or whether the evidence establishes deliberate retaliation, suppression, exclusion, or coordinated conduct.

The possible purposes requiring examination include the following.

1. Exclusion

Was the conduct intended, or knowingly allowed, to drive me out of my home, employment, community, or ordinary social life?

2. Discrediting

Were actions or statements used to undermine my reputation, credibility, professional standing, or the credibility of my disclosures?

3. Silencing

Were my attempts to report alleged wrongdoing, make public-interest disclosures, or seek accountability discouraged or obstructed?

4. Denial of protection

Were opportunities to provide protection disregarded, and were the risks I reported adequately considered?

5. Loss of independence

Did decisions concerning employment, property, finances, housing, disability support, or personal autonomy undermine my ability to live independently?

6. Isolation

Did the cumulative effect of the decisions and omissions leave me without the social, professional, legal, or institutional support necessary to challenge my circumstances?

7. Administrative exhaustion

Was I left repeatedly pursuing different agencies, submitting complaints, seeking records, and trying to obtain answers without a satisfactory resolution?

8. Avoidance of accountability

Were decisions, actions, omissions, or their consequences inadequately scrutinised or explained?

9. Fragmentation of the record

Did the separation of my circumstances across multiple institutions prevent the full history from being properly examined?

10. Continuation of detriment

Were known adverse circumstances allowed to continue without appropriate review, intervention, or remedy?

The overarching question is whether the cumulative effect of these matters was to marginalise me, undermine my credibility and independence, obstruct my disclosures, and leave me without effective protection or redress.

Intent must be established through evidence. Relevant material may include communications, instructions, decision records, contemporaneous notes, stated reasons, procedural departures, information-sharing records, and evidence showing what particular decision-makers knew at the relevant time.

I seek an independent assessment that identifies both supporting and contrary evidence, rather than assuming that every adverse outcome proves deliberate coordination.

———

PART V — DOCUMENTARY RECORD AND EVIDENCE REQUIREMENTS

The purpose of this master statement is to organise the allegations and consequences I want examined against the documentary record.

My Barrandodger repository contains material relating to government correspondence, disclosure decisions, oversight complaints, disability support, housing, guardianship, financial administration, health-related matters, legal assistance, and other institutional dealings.

The existence of a document does not necessarily establish every allegation associated with it. Each record must be examined for what it actually says, who created it, when it was created, what decision it records, what evidence it relies on, and what remains unresolved.

For every significant allegation, the record should identify:

1. Claim ID: A unique reference number.
2. Allegation: The precise conduct, decision, omission, or consequence being raised.
3. Person or institution: The person, agency, service provider, or organisation concerned.
4. Date or period: When the alleged event occurred or the relevant decision was made.
5. Source: The original document, email, letter, recording, webpage, or other evidence.
6. Precise location: The page, paragraph, timestamp, correspondence entry, or other identifiable passage.
7. Exact wording: A direct quotation where appropriate, or a clearly identified summary.
8. What the record establishes: The facts that can reasonably be drawn from the document.

9. What the record does not establish: Any conclusion that would go beyond the document.
10. Related records: Other documents that corroborate, contradict, qualify, or contextualise the matter.
11. Response: Any explanation, determination, denial, or response from the institution concerned.
12. Outstanding issue: The question that remains unresolved.
13. Loss or consequence: The harm or loss claimed and the evidence relevant to it.
14. Review or remedy: The investigation, correction, assistance, compensation, or other outcome sought.

Original evidence must remain preserved. Website presentation may change, but the underlying records must not be altered.

Where a document is incomplete, inaccessible, redacted, or unavailable, that limitation should be recorded rather than filled with inference. Where an allegation is disputed, the dispute should be stated. Where an official document records a decision, that decision should not automatically be treated as proof that every underlying allegation is true or false.

PART VI — SIGNIFICANT DOCUMENTARY SUBJECT AREAS

The following repository records are relevant starting points for a structured examination. Their titles and existence identify subject areas; their full contents must be checked before drawing conclusions about what they establish.

1. Whistleblower disclosures and oversight

- Commonwealth Ombudsman Complaint — 15 November 2021
- Notification of Decision Not to Allocate a Disclosure — 18 June 2023
- Federal Court PID Assessment — 27 March 2023
- Commonwealth Ombudsman Service Restriction — 20 January 2026
- LECC Out-of-Jurisdiction Decision — 19 November 2025
- Victorian Ombudsman FOI Exemption — 14 November 2025

These records are relevant to examining the handling of disclosures, complaint jurisdiction, information access, review pathways, and the explanations given by oversight bodies.

2. Disability support and NDIS matters

- NDIA Decision Concerning SIL — 1 June 2023
- NDIS Plan Approval — 20 November 2025
- Formal Notice of NDIS Service Failure — 20 January 2026
- Emergency Disability Support Templates — 1 December 2025

These records are relevant to examining approved supports, disputed decisions, service delivery, unmet needs, and the distinction between funding approval and services actually provided.

3. Housing, accommodation and safety

- Accommodation Request — SIL/SDA — 20 January 2026
- Housing Letter — SIL Accommodation — 20 January 2026
- Anglicare Emergency Safety Assessment — 20 January 2026
- Anglicare Safety Assessment and Duty of Care — 1 December 2025

These records are relevant to the accommodation and safety concerns raised, the assistance requested, the assessments performed, and the responses provided.

4. Financial administration and property

- NSW Trustee Vehicle Disposal Decision — 14 November 2025
- NSW Trustee and Guardian Section 122 Record — 16 October 2024

These records are relevant to examining the decisions concerning property and financial administration, the legal authority relied upon, the reasons recorded, and any review or remedy available.

5. Guardianship and decision-making

- NCAT Guardianship Evidence — 20 January 2026

The relevant evidence, written reasons, operative orders, and subsequent correspondence should be read together before reaching conclusions about the legal position or consequences of guardianship decisions.

6. Health-related institutional correspondence

- Goulburn Hospital CEO Briefing — 11 November 2025

This record is relevant to examining the issues raised with hospital management and the responses or actions documented.

7. Information and oversight requests

- IGIS/ASIO Request for Information — 20 January 2026
- Complaint Reference CF-14993212C — 14 November 2025
- Delivery Status Notification Failure — 1 December 2025

These records may help establish what information or assistance was requested, which communications were delivered or failed, and what follow-up occurred. Their contents should be examined before drawing conclusions about intent or responsibility.

8. Personal statement and consolidated history

- Personal Statement of Exile, Institutional Detriment and the Search for Protection

This statement is relevant as a record of my own account. Its assertions should be linked, where possible, to contemporaneous documents and independently verifiable evidence.

The full repository and its existing document registers should also be examined so that this initial selection does not exclude relevant records.

———

PART VII — LOSS, DAMAGE AND COMPENSATION

I seek an evidence-based examination of the losses and detriment I say I have experienced.

These matters should be documented individually, with dates, source records, amounts where applicable, and a clear explanation of the connection claimed between the relevant event and the loss.

1. Housing and displacement

I seek examination of the housing insecurity, displacement, accommodation difficulties, and loss of stability I report. Relevant evidence may include tenancy and accommodation records, applications, assessments, correspondence, expenses, and decisions affecting my housing.

2. Employment and professional standing

I seek examination of the employment and professional losses I report, including relevant decisions, correspondence, income records, accreditation documents, and evidence of lost opportunities.

3. Financial and property losses

I seek an account of financial and property decisions affecting me, including the authority relied upon, the reasons recorded, the assets involved, the financial consequences, and any available review or remedy.

4. Disability support and service delivery

I seek examination of the supports approved, supports requested, supports actually delivered, payments made, services invoiced, disputes raised, and unmet needs documented in the relevant records.

5. Health and personal autonomy

I seek examination of the treatment and decision-making matters I dispute, using the appropriate clinical, administrative, and legal records. Any conclusions about treatment, consent, causation, or harm must be grounded in the relevant evidence.

6. Costs of pursuing accountability

I seek recognition and assessment, where legally available and supported by evidence, of the time, expenses, and other losses associated with pursuing records, making complaints, seeking assistance, and attempting to obtain independent review.

7. Cumulative impact

I seek examination of whether the combined effect of separate decisions and omissions created a level of detriment that would not be adequately understood by examining each incident in isolation.

I request that any assessment distinguish direct financial losses, non-financial harm, disputed losses, losses requiring expert assessment, and losses for which a legal remedy may be available.

PART VIII — FORMAL REQUEST FOR INDEPENDENT EXAMINATION

I request an independent, evidence-led examination of the matters set out in this statement and the relevant documentary record.

The examination should:

1. Identify the acts, decisions, omissions, and consequences that can be established from the evidence.
2. Identify the people, agencies, institutions, and service providers responsible for each relevant decision or action.
3. Establish the chronology of events and the information available to each decision-maker at the time.
4. Examine the reasons recorded for significant decisions.
5. Determine whether applicable laws, policies, procedures, consent requirements, and safeguards were followed.
6. Examine the handling of my disclosures and the protection I sought.
7. Examine the responses to my requests for police assistance, oversight, housing, disability support, legal assistance, and access to records.
8. Identify inconsistencies, missing records, unexplained decisions, and unresolved issues.
9. Consider both evidence supporting my allegations and evidence that contradicts or qualifies them.
10. Assess the causal relationship between relevant events and the losses I report.
11. Identify available complaint, review, correction, protection, and compensation pathways.
12. Provide a reasoned response that addresses the substantive issues rather than merely repeating previous administrative conclusions.

I do not ask that my allegations be accepted without scrutiny. I ask that they be examined fairly, seriously, and in context.

I do not accept that the existence of multiple decisions or institutions makes it impossible to examine their cumulative effect. Where jurisdiction is divided, I seek a clear explanation of which body can address each matter and how unresolved issues may be referred appropriately.

I seek an assessment that is independent of the people and institutions whose decisions or conduct are in question.

———

PART IX — FINAL STATEMENT

I have spent a substantial part of my life trying to obtain answers, protection, recognition, and justice for the circumstances I have reported.

I have sought to preserve the documentary history, identify the relevant institutions, record the decisions and responses, and bring together material that has otherwise remained dispersed across different systems and processes.

I maintain that I did not consent to wrongdoing against me. I maintain that my willingness to give people opportunities to do the right thing was not an admission that the treatment I describe was acceptable. I maintain that seeking assistance, making disclosures, submitting complaints, and participating in official processes must not be treated as a surrender of my rights.

I want the record examined as a whole. I want each allegation connected to the evidence that supports it, each disputed decision examined against its recorded reasons and legal authority, and each claimed loss assessed on its merits.

I want the difference between what happened, what was alleged, what was decided, what was investigated, what was left unresolved, and what can now be remedied to be made clear.

I gave people opportunities to act with conscience. I sought recognition and protection. I sought a meaningful response. Where I believe those opportunities were rejected and the harm was left unaddressed, I seek accountability.

The divine, holy reckoning I speak of is the reckoning of truth with falsehood, justice with injustice, conscience with impunity, and accountability with the abuse of power. I leave ultimate judgment beyond my hands. My responsibility is to preserve the record, speak truthfully, and continue to pursue justice through lawful and evidence-led means.

I gave them grace. They rejected it. I did not consent to wrongdoing. I will preserve the evidence, seek independent scrutiny, and pursue justice and accountability for the losses I say I have suffered.

DOCUMENTARY QUALIFICATION

This master statement records my allegations, my position on consent, the consequences I report, and the questions I want answered. It is not a judicial finding or an assertion that every allegation has already been independently proved.

The repository contains documents relevant to several of the subject areas identified above. The linked records must be read in full before being relied upon to establish particular allegations. A document title alone does not prove its contents, and an administrative decision does not necessarily resolve every underlying factual dispute.

The allegations concerning deliberate destruction, coordinated conduct, retaliation, torture, unlawful restraint, surveillance, digital suppression, or deliberate obstruction require particular care. They should be assessed against specific evidence identifying the conduct, the people involved, the relevant dates, the decision-making process, and any available explanation or contrary evidence.

This qualification does not withdraw my allegations or my request for examination. It establishes the documentary standard by which I want the record assessed.

Original evidence must remain preserved. Website presentation may change. Underlying records must not be altered.

The purpose of this document is to provide a consolidated starting point for independent scrutiny, identification of unresolved issues, assessment of alleged harm and loss, and consideration of appropriate protection, corrective action, review, or compensation.